How Prodigality Runs Riot in Executive Mansion at Sacramento.

Secret Service Fund Melts Just Before Convention in Windy City.

Big Salary and Perquisites Are Dissipated With Royal Abandon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The wires carried the story one day last week of the refusal by Gov. Marshall of Indiana to receive money from the State to pay his house rent, light, heat and water. This must have inspired smiles of pity and amusement at Sacramento. The Governor of Indiana receives $8000 a year salary and pays all his living expenses out of his private purse. And while this is far above the average remuneration of Governors of States in the Union, it is beggarly as compared with the emoluments of the Governor of California.

Probably no State in the Union appropriates as much money for the personal use of its Governor as does California, and Hiram Johnson does not seem to find it easy to keep within the limit.

The average salary of the Governors in this country is $5364, and many of them must make that sum cover all their expenses. One State, Illinois, pays its Governor $12,000. This is the only State that even nominally pays

BIG SURPLUS FOR WILSON.

Republicans Leave Millions of Dollars in the Federal Treasury.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The booming of customs receipts and the record drinking and smoking of Americans, yielding enormous internal revenue returns, have given the Federal government a surplus of $7,379,000 for the current fiscal year as compared with a deficit of $20,570,000 a year ago. Total receipts for February reached $54,303,000, from which was expended $52,339,000. The working balance which the Democratic administration will find in the treasury as indicated by today's statement will be about $78,000,000. The general fund contains $147,000,000.

Injection of Lecithin or Adrenalin Determines Whether Offspring Will Be Male or Female, Says Scientist, Who Will Test Theory on Human Beings.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Controversy rages over the announcement of Dr. R. Robinson that he has found a way to control the sex of the unborn which he has proved, he says, as to animals, but has not verified in the cases of human beings.

Briefly, their theory is that an injection of lecithin or cholin will cause the offspring to be female, while the injection of adrenalin will incline the offspring to be of a male sex.

Emelin is announced as a specific cure for dysentery, often a fatal malady, by Prof. Chauffard. He makes the assertion to the Paris Academy of Sciences.

THE SKY. Cloudy. Wind at 5 p.m., southwest; velocity, 5 miles. Thermometer, highest, 60 deg.; lowest, 44 deg. Forecast: Cloudy Sunday, light southeast winds. For complete weather report see page 13, Part I.

THE CITY. Los Angeles capital has been pledged to build a railroad through Death Valley to lift the veil of mystery in that historic forbidding place. It is believed that vast mineral resources lie hidden there.

The Legislature is to be asked to pass a bill which will restrict hasty and sometimes ill-advised marriages, and Santa Ana's hymeneal forces were much exercised yesterday over the prospect.

[illegible] thousand dollars was added to the known total of the profits gleaned by the gang of swindlers which has been reaping a rich harvest from credulous persons in the city and vicinity.

The first real mix-up among counsel of the Darrow trial occurred yesterday morning when Earl Rogers of the defense accused Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford of ulterior motives in cross-examining a witness, and was told in reply that he lied. The court routine was dismissed to give the judge an opportunity to punish the offenders, but he passed the incident with a lecture because of mitigating circumstances.

The lady tramp has been evolved and the police say that she is coming to this city more frequently every day and that the prospects of dealing with this class of undesirables is becoming alarming.

The city has instituted a second-hand store to dispose of tools and supplies now useless for the purposes for which purchased—the Los Angeles Aqueduct—and a considerable trade has been developed.

The Mt. Wilson trail is to be rigidly policed to break up the "Saturday night gang," which has brought the beautiful mountain resort route into disfavor, and it is to be made as it once was—safe for the youngest children.

An auto driven by a woman knocked down a three-year-old child and killed it yesterday near Central avenue and Twelfth street.

One thousand corporations in the Sixth District became delinquent yesterday in failing to pay the income tax, and they are subject to heavy penalties.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. Two Long Beach physicians were arrested on a charge of aiding persons to secure morphine. As the men are among the leaders in their profession at the beach, the arrests have caused a sensation.

No trace of the Ocean Park minister who disappeared, leaving a note declaring his intention of ending his life has been found. The theory of suicide is rejected generally.

PACIFIC SLOPE. Ernest Sudon of Denver perished of thirst and hunger in Devil's Canyon, in Arizona, while his Los Angeles companion is in precarious condition from exposure.

An attempt will be made by two sons to break the will of J. C. Westphal, Oakland pioneer millman, who left an estate of a million dollars.

The Utah Senate yesterday passed the Mother's Pension Bill, and it now goes to the Governor for his signature.

Miss Mary Foy has left Los Angeles for Washington, carrying the proxy of National Committeeman Sanford for the meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

Santa Ana was yesterday selected as the convention city for 1914 of the mutual fire insurance companies of California.

GENERAL EASTERN. The nephews and grand nephew of Thomas F. Hayden, yesterday filed suit at St. Louis to break the will of the latter. They were cut off with a dollar apiece and name Archbishop Glennon and twelve Catholic institutions as defendants.

Jacob and Maurice Wertheim will withdraw from Executive Committee of the United Cigar Manufacturers Company.

WASHINGTON. President Taft yesterday presented the gold medal authorized by Congress to Capt. Arthur H. Rostron for his courage and gallantry in rescuing the survivors of the Titanic.

A resolution of the California Legislature urging the establishment of a national university at Washington, was presented in Congress yesterday.

MEXICO. Rebels against the Huerta regime are mobilizing at Colonia Morelos and other points in Sonora.

A congress of northern rebel chiefs in Mexico is to be held at Ahumada, Gen. Pascual Orozco being anxious to make peace with Gen. Huerta.

Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the Mexican rebel general, appealed yesterday to the United States Supreme Court. He is held on a charge of conspiracy to export arms into Mexico.

FOREIGN. The Russian government has decided to add three new army corps to the peace footing of the active army.

Crowds Gather For Inauguration.

Washington Ablaze With Flags and New Regime Afire With Hope.

Police Promise to Keep Order in Throng of Three Hundred Thousand.

Wilson Farewells Trenton; Taft Says Good-by to White House Friends.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Inauguration festivities began in full blast today. Crowds of people from all sections are arriving in the city on every train.

Washington is all a-flutter, with banners and flags and souvenir venders are already reaping a harvest.

It is estimated that between 250,000 and 300,000 visitors will be here, and Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, who will be grand marshal, says there will be 40,000 men in the parade.

The Citizens' Inaugural Committee has provided gold medals for the President-elect, the Vice-President-elect, and Chairman Eustis; silver badges for the chairmen of the subcommittees and bronze badges for members of the committees.

Mr. Marshall is already here at the Shoreham, and Mr. Wilson will arrive Monday afternoon.

THE MAIN FEATURES.

The principal features of the inauguration will be:

Swearing-in of President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall, and the inaugural address of the President.

Parade from the Capitol to the White House immediately thereafter. Luncheon at the White House for Wilson and Marshall, and leading Democrats of the nation.

Display of $15,000 fireworks from the big ellipse of the White House the night of March 4. The city will be decorated in patriotic colors and provided with hundreds of reviewing stands.

The President-elect will leave Princeton Monday morning on a special train, escorted by 1000 Princeton students. Upon his arrival here he will be met by Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, chairman of the sub-committee appointed to receive him, and taken to the Shoreham Hotel, where he will be the guest of his cousin, John E. Wilson.

The night of March 3, at the New Willard Hotel, the Princeton Alumni Association will give a reception and smoker in honor of Mr. Wilson to which 8500 graduates have been invited.

At 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the Congressional Committee will go to the Shoreham to escort the President-elect and the Vice-President-elect to the White House where they will be greeted by President Taft. A few minutes later the party will start for the Capitol to be inaugurated.

President Taft will go to the White House with President Wilson and remain a short while before departing for Augusta, Ga., where he will spend several weeks with Mrs. Taft.

To the luncheon at the White House have been invited the members of the Democratic National Committee, the officers of the inaugural committees, personal friends and relatives of President Wilson and prominent Democrats who gave their hearty support to the campaign last fall.

Immediately after the luncheon President Wilson will go to the reviewing stand in front of the White House to see the parade, which will be marching up Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol.

FIFTY THOUSAND VISITORS ARRIVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Fifty thousand visitors, it was estimated by railroad officials, had reached Washington tonight as the vanguard of the quarter of a million expected to witness the first inauguration in twenty years of a Democratic President of the United States. The Inaugural Committee announced late in the day that every detail for the elaborate ceremonies of Tuesday had been completed and the city, bedecked in patriotic and holiday array, has assumed a jovial spirit.

Official completion of the inauguration plans now await the arrival of Woodrow Wilson, the President-elect, who will reach Washington at 3:45 o'clock Monday afternoon, escorted by special train loads of Princeton University students and the Essex troops from New Jersey which will act as his official escort in the inaugural procession.

Vice-President-elect Marshall spent the second day in his new home looking over his prospect. After an early morning greeting from the black horse troop of cadets from Culver, Ind., who are to be his escort on inauguration day, Mr. Marshall visited the Senate, over which he is to preside for the next four years, and inspected the office in the Capitol building that will be his. Late in the afternoon he called on President Taft.

Among the arrivals tonight were Gov. Mann of Virginia and his staff. Governors of other States will begin to arrive tomorrow night, the majority of visiting executives, however, to reach here Monday.

FAIR DAUGHTER OF NAVY ENGAGED TO LIEUTENANT

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] No date has been announced for the marriage of Miss Alys Von Meyer, youngest daughter of Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. G. L. Von Meyer, to Lieut. Raymond Rodgers, United States Navy. The engagement, announcement of which was made at a dinner given by Secretary and Mrs. Von Meyer on Miss Alys' birthday, came as a surprise to Washington society.

Miss Von Meyer is the youngest daughter of Secretary and Mrs. Von Meyer and is one of the prettiest and most popular girls in Washington. She and her sister, Miss Julia, spent five years in Rome and St. Petersburg, during their father's term as Ambassador to those capitals.

Lieut. Rodgers, who is commander of the Sylph, is at present detailed as one of the naval aides at the White House. He is the son of Col. Alexander Rodgers, United States army, retired.

THEIR WIVES NOT AGREED.

MRS. MARSHALL DIFFERS WITH MRS. WILSON.

Second Lady Voices Her Doubt that the First Lady of the Land Can Dress Properly on One Thousand Dollars a Year—She's Neither for Nor Against Suffrage.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of Vice-President-elect, is not sure that Mrs. Wilson can dress on $1000 a year.

"What I want to be understood as being my idea," she said, "is that I doubt if it is possible for a woman in high social life in Washington, and especially wife of the President, to dress on that amount of money—although possibly it may be done. I am not saying that it cannot. I am not familiar with conditions in this city and, of course, am in no position to speak authoritatively as to what it would cost a woman to keep well dressed."

Mrs. Marshall said she was "neither for nor against" woman suffrage.

TOBACCO MAGNATES TO RETIRE.

Jacob Wertheim, Pioneer American Cigar Manufacturer, Leaves Field as a Multi-millionaire.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Jacob and Maurice Wertheim will withdraw from the Executive Committee of the United Cigar Manufacturers Company within the next few weeks, although it is likely both will remain on the board of directors.

The policies of the United will be directed by Frederick Hirschhorn, Alfred Esberg and Preston Herbert. The two last are now actively affiliated with M. A. Gunst & Co., a Pacific Coast cigar manufacturers' company.

Jacob Wertheim is the last of the famous pioneer American cigar manufacturers to retire from the field. He is a multi-millionaire. His son, Maurice, married the heiress of Morgenthaler, the candy magnate.

NEW NICKEL IS INITIALED.

AND THE MINT MAY DO IT ALL OVER AGAIN.

Great Chance for the Numismatists to Get Rich Quick if the Government Decides to Suppress the Vanity of the Designer of the Coin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Indian-Buffalo 5-cent piece issued by the Mint today has aroused criticism and it may be necessary for the Mint to have new dies made to eliminate the feature objected to. This feature is the initials of the designer, James A. Frasier, a sculptor of New York City. What appears to be an infinitesimal capital "F" is cleverly worked in the design and is found immediately under the numerals 1913. On some of the nickels the initial is barely perceptible.

As the result of the objection made to the designer of the Lincoln penny putting his initial on the coin, the Mint was compelled to eliminate the initial and make new dies. Street fakers hawked the new 5-cent piece to inauguration crowds here today at 10 cents each and did a thriving business.

GREAT MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

England Hears German Prince on an Airship Was Prevented from Landing Only by the Wind.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There have been a number of stories printed recently of a strange aircraft having been seen hovering over England. These have been generally suspected to be German airships spying on British fortifications.

C. G. Grey, editor of the Aeroplane, now comes out with a story to the effect that he has definite knowledge that one of the German Hansa airships was chartered by Prince Henry of Pless, who with ten German officers intended to make a surprise visit to an English nobleman friend. The wind was too strong, however, for a landing and the ship returned her

Red, Red, Red!

FIERCE LABORITE BILLS BACKED BY JOHNSON RING.

Dangerous Legislation Likely to Be Put Over at Sacramento.

Bold Measures that Would Give the Finn-Tveitmoe-McNamara Gang a Strangle Grip on the Industries of California—Some of the Worst of Them Introduced by Southern California Members.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The cunning of labor union bosses and agitators who seek to fill the statutes of California with fiery Red and anti-capital laws is strikingly shown in the myriads of anarchistic measures offered by legislative slaves of the union labor clique during the first half of the bifurcated session and to come up for passage this month. There never was a time in this State when the labor union bosses were making such a dangerous raid on the laws of this great State.

Of the 3800 measures offered during the thirty-day session, nearly one-third bear the red brand of union labor and the "direct action" McNamara clan. Hundreds of the measures reek with insane and Marxian features, each and every one designed to strike a brutal blow at legitimate industry and successful business. Many of the bills aim at the foundation stones of State and national government. The glassy-eyed legislation proposed by legislative "crusaders for the Lord" per orders from Boss Finn, the Johnson-Lissner and union labor whipcracker in the Senate, would make a Russian nihilist gape. Many of the bills were framed for the specific purpose of ameliorating the "financial and living" conditions of I.W.W. loafers and hobos, the taxpayers of course to do the ameliorating. The union labor measures provide for everything the McNamaras, Gompers and Debs have been advocating for years, and them some. Many of the bills provide for fat jobs and salaries for union labor henchmen. If the out-and-out union labor measures are enacted into laws they would place over 500 union labor hirelings on the State pay roll.

Many of the labor union measures are administrative measures. The Johnson-Lissner outfit of uplifters is playing to the unionites, and no union bill, no matter how anarchistic, is too red to be introduced by one of the Bull Moose members of the Legislature.

Although nearly all of the union labor legislators hail from San Francisco and the northern part of the State, it remained for the Los Angeles legislators to offer more than half of the union labor and red bandana measures during the first half of the divided session. The "Progressives" from the Southland apparently fell over one another in their haste to introduce measures lopsided with anarchy and Red tendencies. And, mind you, all this is in addition to the introduction of over a thousand prize freak and sensational bills providing for every economic quackery under the sun.

THE UNION LOBBY.

The lobby at Sacramento was alive during the session with labor union hirelings and agents. There were more labor union lobbyists at Sacramento than all the other corporations and organizations combined. Even Senator Boynton, the "Progressive" leader in the Senate, admitted as much in a speech delivered near the end of the session. There were at least thirty hired agents of the unions at Sacramento headed by Congressman-elect Nolan, Paul Scharrenberg and Theodore Johnson. The union labor lobbyists were the most active persons in the capital and it was a dull day when twenty-five or more of them were not lolling around the lobby buzzing in the ears of the lawmakers who "stand in" with the Clancy-Tveitmoe-Finn crowd.

THE BIG BOSS.

Of course the big boss is Senator Tom Finn of San Francisco. Finn is the Johnson-Lissner representative on the water front in San Francisco and handles union labor for the holier-than-thou machine at election time. They all scrape their vests on the marble to Finn, and what he says goes. "Roughhouse" McDonald, a former prize fighter, is the union-labor representative in the Assembly. McDonald is one of Finn's henchmen on the water front and pulls down a fat salary from the State. He is one of the Johnson-Lissner leaders in the lower house and is a staunch "Progressive." "Buddy" Ryan, another San Francisco Assemblyman and Johnsonite, is one of the leading union-labor agitators in the Assembly. Senator Henry Lyon of Los Angeles, one of the Lissner-Eddie-Brundige pets, is one of the rankest union-labor agents in the Legislature. Lyon kow-tows to the unionites every time he turns around, and introduced over a dozen union-labor bills.

Other Los Angeles legislators who offered glassy-eyed legislation and did the bidding of the Finn-Ryan-McDonald ring were Senators Gates and Brown and Assemblymen Roberts, Farwell, Mouser and Kingsley. All of the members of the Los Angeles delegation played to the unionites more or less, but the above named were the main offenders.

Following are a number of bills and constitutional amendments introduced by members of the present Legislature in both houses:

BY "GATES AJAR."

A McNamara bill by Senator Gates to abolish poverty at one fell swoop by establishing free State soup and bunk houses for loafers. It was drafted by Theodore Johnson, a labor union agitator, and Carl Browne of Coxey's army fame. Gates has introduced 112 other bills.

Senator Regan of San Francisco, a union-labor leader, would abolish both the Supreme and Appellate courts of the State. Regan isn't a lawyer, but some of his friends have been hard hit by recent decisions of the higher courts. Messrs. Tveitmoe and Clancy, late of Leavenworth prison, are bosom companions of Regan.

Senator Finn wants the State to pay criminals and murderers in State prisons $1 a day every working day. Finn has offered more than a score of anti-capital and pro-union labor measures to date. Finn introduced the bill making it a misdemeanor to use a wiping rag without first boiling it forty minutes in a solution containing 5 per cent. caustic soda.

Senator Beban of San Francisco, a union-labor henchman, offered a drastic anti-injunction measure per orders from the Finn-Ryan-McDonald ring. The proposed bill was drafted by Congressman-elect Nolan and Tom Griffin of San Francisco. It prohibits the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes, except when property is actually destroyed. Picketing is legalized by it. The application for an injunction must allege that property has been or is about to be destroyed before an injunction can be secured. A companion measure provides for trial by jury in contempt cases growing out of injunctions. The union-labor lobbyists are fighting hard to take out of the hands of the courts the right to punish for contempt, except when the act is committed within sight or hearing of the court. The unionites will make every effort to secure the passage of the Beban bill. Assemblyman Johnston of Richmond, a unionite, and Kingsley of Los Angeles, a Red Socialist, also offered anti-injunction bills.

A FIERCE GRAB.

Assemblyman Farwell would create a system of old-age pensions to entail an expenditure of $1,000,000 the first year and bring thousands of beggars to California. Also another to pension mothers and stepmothers from any State in the Union to the extent of $1,000,000 a year. Also a constitutional amendment to regulate the press of the State, making the newspapers the playthings of cheap and unscrupulous politicians. The unionites are behind these measures. Assemblyman Roberts of Los Angeles has asked for $50,000 for a commission to investigate wages. It provides for the appointment by the Governor of five commissioners at $4800 per. It also provides for a secretary and "extra help." O. K.'d by Finn and McDonald.

One by our celebrated Mouser increasing the pay of the State Labor Commissioner and deputies, which jobs are now held by rabid union labor henchmen. Mouser lives in a strong union labor district; he wants a mere $20,000 for catching 'em.

Senator Lyon (who once absented himself from the city in the old Harper days) offered a drastic eight-hour law affecting every industry and mercantile establishment in California. It is the most sweeping eight-hour bill ever introduced in the Union. Lyon draws $2100 per annum as a deputy State Labor Commissioner by grace of Boss Lissner and "Holy Hiram." Another bill by Lyon, provides for a commission to be known as the wage investigating commission to be composed of five members at fat salaries and scores of deputies and clerks at snug sums. One by Lyon provides for establishing and supporting a bureau of labor statistics. The commission shall ap-

OROZCO ALIGNED WITH HUERTA.

Rebel Chieftain Breaks His Long Silence.

Pacification Is Promised Within Sixty Days.

Northern Leaders to Confer at Ahumada.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) March 1.—Pascual Orozco, Jr., the commander-in-chief of the northern revolution, until today silent regarding his stand in the Mexican dilemma, declared that he is eager to arrange peace by negotiations.

Gen. Orozco, from his camp at Villa Ahumada, Chihuahua, made declarations as to the cause of his disappearance, if not as to his whereabouts and connection with the revolution since his disappearance after the rebel defeats at Ojinaga last September.

"The government of Madero having fallen, I am disposed to recognize Huerta and to complete arrangements. I have sent my representative, Col. Cordova, to Mexico City," said Orozco today. "Regarding the manner of Madero's death, I cannot express an opinion, for I lack data of the circumstances."

SALAZAR SUBORDINATE.

Regarding the naming of Gen. Inez Salazar as commander-in-chief of the northern revolution at Guadalupe some weeks ago, Gen. Orozco insisted that no change had been made in his relation to the other rebel chiefs; that Salazar merely had been acting commander in view of Orozco's disablement.

"The chiefs of the various columns operating in the north are still under my orders," he declared. "They occupy the same positions as they did at the beginning of the revolt against Madero."

PACIFICATION OF NORTH.

"Col. Jose Cordova, Orozco's secretary, has been with Orozco constantly. Through his agency, the rebel chief proposes to take up directly and at once, the matter of the pacification of the north, but to see first what will be offered by Provisional President Huerta and his advisers. Orozco himself will remain some time at Ahumada, between Juarez and Chihuahua City, where he is in touch with the outside world by telegraph and railway.

CONFERENCE AT AHUMADA.

Manuel Garza Aldape, named on Gen. Huerta's provisional Cabinet, will arrive here tomorrow from San Antonio, Tex. With others, he will proceed by special train to Ahumada to confer with Orozco. Rebel chiefs still in arms, are marching toward Ahumada, where will be held a general congress of all revolutionary leaders, to come to some conclusion regarding the requests to be made on the party in power at the national capital.

So far, the many rebel generals have expressed varying versions of what the demands of the northern revolutionists will be.

The meeting of rebel chiefs at Ahumada would be preliminary to the projected meeting of the northern revolutionists and delegates of the Huerta government at San Antonio, Tex., which apparently has been fostered by the United States government.

Senor Aldape, however, is said to represent formally, Gen. Huerta. Negotiations are under way by telegraph between Orozco and Gen. Antonio Rabago, commander of the northern military zone, with headquarters at Chihuahua City.

"Peace will be restored in Mexico within sixty days," declared Gen. Victoriano Huerta, in telegrams received here today. Asked by American, English and German property owners in Chihuahua State regarding the safety of their property, the provisional President gave assurances that full guarantees would be given to all foreign capital in the republic.

SIX HUNDRED TROOPS REBEL AT PARRAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) March 1.—Virtually all troops at Parral at Chihuahua, center of a large mining district, revolted yesterday and marched from the city with their arms, leaving only 200 troops to protect property. The mutineers, numbering 600, are ex-insurrecto volunteer troops. On their way they destroyed the branch of the Mexican Central Railway running to Jiminez on the main line. There was no fighting.

American Target Practice Had Nothing to Do With Death and Injury of Vera Cruz Fishermen.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Rear-Admiral Fletcher, commanding the American battleship squadron off Vera Cruz, Mex., in a dispatch to the Navy Department today, emphatically denied published reports that one person had been killed and three injured by the explosion of a shell fired from one of the battleships during the target practice yesterday. He adds that the Nebraska sailed for Tampico at noon yesterday to permit the Virginia to go down to Vera Cruz to coal.

The report that a fisherman had been killed and three wounded by shots from the American battleships was based on the fact that laborers at Alvarado, thirty miles to the south of Vera Cruz, had attempted to break an unexploded shell from a Mexican gunboat with the result that one of them was killed and three hurt.

SIX AMERICANS ARRESTED.

United States Consul in Vera Cruz Enters a Protest and the Men Are Then Released.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VERA CRUZ (Mex.) March 1.—The arrest by Federal soldiers today of six American seamen from the Ward liner Monterey, following the firing of a shot near the customhouse, brought a protest from William W. Canada, American Consul.

The men were thereupon released and an apology offered by the military commander. Evidence showed they were all unarmed and sober.

MEXICAN CONSUL ARRESTED.

Has Fist Fight With an American in Yuma and Is Charged With Carrying a Concealed Weapon.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) Feb. 28.—Mexican Consul A. G. Lerma was arrested here last night, charged with having carried a concealed weapon. The arrest followed a fist fight between the Consul and an American. The battle was the result of the feeling existing between Americans and Mexicans. Lerma afterward armed himself and was arrested, but was released later on order of a justice of the peace.

WILSON FAREWELLS CITY OF TRENTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) March 1.—Thousands of the home folk of Princeton and with them the students of Princeton University, gave Woodrow Wilson a farewell demonstration tonight as they bade him godspeed to the White House.

A brass band, a glare of fireworks and continuous cheering brought the President-elect to the door of his bungalow just as the procession of students and residents turned the corner of Cleveland, Lane, marching by the house where Grover Cleveland lived and died. When they reached the Wilson home a great cheer went up. C. S. Robinson, a Republican, and A. S. Leigh, a Democrat, bore a silver loving cup. Col. David M. Flynn presented it in a brief speech. The President-elect stood on a box just outside the portico of his home and said good-by to his fellow townsfolk.

The President-elect said he meant to enjoy the three days between his resignation of the Governorship and inauguration day, in which he was a "plain and untitled citizen," not because he had no particular responsibility, but because of the reminiscence of the years that had preceded. "I want you to believe me," he said, "when I say I shall never lose the consciousness of those years. I would be a very poor President if I did lose it. I have always believed that the real rootages of patriotism were loyal; that they resided in one's consciousness of an intimate touch with persons who were watching him with a knowledge of his character.

"I am turning away from this place in body, but not in spirit, and I am doing it with genuine sadness. The real trials of life are the connections you break, and when a man has lived in one place as long as I have lived in Princeton, and had as many experiences as I have had here, first as an undergraduate, and then as a resident, he knows what it means to change his residence and to go into strange environment and surroundings. I have never been inside of the White House, and I shall feel very strange when I get inside of it. I shall think of this little house behind me, and remember how much more familiar it is to me than that is likely to be, and how much more intimate a sense of possession there must be in the one case than in the other.

"With your confidence, and the confidence of those like you, the task that lies before me will be gracious and agreeable. It will be a thing to be proud of because I am trying to represent those who have so graciously trusted me."

An outburst of applause arose from the crowd after the speech. Lines formed and Mr. Wilson shook hands for nearly an hour.

It was the climax of a busy day for Mr. Wilson. He had witnessed the inauguration of his successor in Trenton and spoken a farewell to members of the Legislature.

Just before dinner all the Princeton mail carriers came in a body to say good-by. Friends called in a continuous stream. Virtually the whole town said good-by to him tonight and the farewells will be continued tomorrow.

WOODROW WILSON QUITS GOVERNORSHIP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TRENTON (N. J.) March 1.—Woodrow Wilson formally turned over at 12:20 o'clock today the office of Governor of New Jersey to Senator James F. Fielder, President of the State Senate.

"The people of this country are going to be served by conscience and not by expediency," was the assurance which Mr. Wilson gave in an impromptu speech of farewell.

The President-elect was cheered by a big crowd as he came into the Assembly chamber followed closely by Mr. Fielder. After the latter took the oath of office, the President-elect was invited to address the joint session of the Legislature and deliver the seal of the State to his successor. His speech was brief but impressive. He spoke in measured tones and with apparent emotion. It was his farewell to the State.

WILSON TALKS.

Gov. Wilson said:

"I cannot pretend that I am not moved by very deep emotions today. I had not expected to say anything. It would, indeed, have been my preference not to say anything because there are some feelings that are too deep for words and that seem to be cheapened by being put into words.

"I already loved the State of New Jersey when I became its Governor, but that love has been deepened and intensified during the last two and a half years. I now feel a sense of identification with the people of this State and the interests of this State which has seemed to enlarge my own personality and which has been the greatest privilege of my life.

"Therefore, in handing the seal of the State to the new Governor, I want to utter my poignant regret that I cannot serve this great State directly any longer.

"Yet I have the greatest feeling of confidence in the man to whom I am about to hand this seal. I have found in him qualities of honesty and courage which commend men more than any other qualities do in public life.

"The best thing in public life is courage and the man who has courage is marked for distinction; the man who has not is marked for extinction, and deserves submersion.

"The people of this country are going to be served by conscience and not by expediency. When you strike a man of courage you feel you have struck the bedrock of our institutions. It is therefore with a feeling of confidence and affection for him personally that I hand him the seal of office."

Senator Fielder took the oath as Acting Governor—his official title will be such until his successor, elected next fall, takes office.

SECRET SERVICE TO INVESTIGATE.

GOVERNMENT CHEMIST TO TEST ALLEGED GREENBACKS.

Doubt Is Thrown on Blank Pieces of Paper Which Stockton Woman Declares Represent Twelve Hundred Dollars She Accidentally Dropped Into Chloride of Lime.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Apropos the claim of Mrs. Fanny Gruesky, a resident of this city, that she had lost $1200 in paper bills through the chemical action of chloride of lime, a local bank this morning completed an experiment which refutes the woman's claim. The woman said her loss was due to an accident.

Immediately following Mrs. Gruesky's appearance at the bank recently with several pieces of blank paper, which she claimed represented $1200, the officials placed one-half of a dollar bill in a strong solution of chloride of lime to ascertain whether or not the printing would disappear and leave the paper intact.

DISINTEGRATED ENTIRELY.

Today the bottle was examined and not a particle of the bill remained. It had disintegrated entirely. The fragment was kept in the solution three days, the length of time Mrs. Gruesky claims her money was in a bucket of the same fluid.

The result of this test may cause secret service men to make an investigation. Several pieces of the paper which the woman took to the bank have been sent to a government chemist and his findings are being eagerly awaited by local officers and bank officials.

GLUCOSE TRUST PUT ON RACK.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ASKS FOR ITS DISSOLUTION.

Eighty-Million-Dollar Corporation, With Standard Oil Directors at Its Head, Is Charged With Selling Corn Products Too Low in Order to Crush Its Competitors.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—Dissolution of the Corn Products Refining Company, an alleged starch, glucose and syrup trust, is sought by the Federal government in a civil anti-trust suit here today charging the $80,000,000 combination with entering into conspiracies and contracts to destroy competition in violation of the Sherman law. It is alleged to have kept the prices of corn products at unreasonably low figures to harass and discourage independent manufacturers.

Controlling 66 per cent. of the entire American production of starch and glucose and 30 per cent. of the interstate trade in mixed syrups, the alleged trust is charged with fixing resale prices; with manufacturing cheap-grade candy at unreasonably low prices in retaliation against confectioners who buy starch and glucose from independents, with practically suppressing the private brands of mixed syrups of grocers by quoting low prices on its own syrups; and with unlawful threats and contracts to destroy competition.

GOVERNMENT ASKS INJUNCTION.

Aside from dissolution, the government asks for an injunction prohibiting the alleged restraint of trade.

It is alleged the defendant combination dismantled many of the starch and glucose factories it absorbed, selling the property, in most instances, under covenants that the land conveyed should never, or not for a long term of years, be used in connection with the manufacture of similar products.

BAKING POWDER FACTOR.

When the Royal Baking Powder Company acquired control of the American Maize Products Company, the defendant combination, it is alleged, threatened to engage in the making of baking powder, resulting in an agreement whereby the maize company sold to the defendant the surplus product not consumed by the baking powder company.

GLUCOSE IN CANDY.

When the National Candy Company organized in 1906 the Clinton Sugar Refining Company, whose output would come in competition with that of the Corn Products Refining Company, the latter, the bill says, informed candy manufacturers throughout the country that unless they bought a sufficient percentage of the glucose they needed from the defendant combination, it would go into the candy business itself in competition with them.

Until prohibited by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the company is alleged to have secured from railroads an excessive share of the through rates on account of its own switching lines, which was alleged to amount to rebates.

PRESIDENT ISSUES REPLY.

E. T. Bedford, president of the Corn Products Refining Company, issued today a statement commenting on the government's suit in which he maintains that the defendant concern has had only a "fair share of the country's business and has been a factor in reducing the cost of living."

STANDARD OIL INFLUENCE.

E. T. Bedford, director of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, is president of the company and several other Standard Oil men, including C. M. Pratt and the late James A. Moffett are named among its directors. Its headquarters, until recently, were in the same building as those of the Standard Oil Company, No. 26 Broadway, but the latter company has frequently disclaimed any connection with the Corn Products concern.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 1.—The mothers' pension bill, providing for a minimum pension of $10 a month to mothers having one child dependent on them for support and $7 a month for each additional child, was passed by the Senate yesterday.

The bill already has been passed by the House and now goes to the Governor for his approval.

Brilliant.

CROWD LAVISH DISPLAY INTO SIMPLE CEREMONY.

Jeffersonian Idea Practically Forgotten by the Plans Formed by Democratic Committee to Make Wilson Inaugural the Most Brilliant Ever Held in Washington Despite President-elect's Wishes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall ride down Pennsylvania avenue Tuesday, March 4, on the way to the Capitol to take the oath of office as President and Vice-President of the United States, the greatest crowd that ever welcomed an incoming President and Vice-President is counted on by the Democratic managers to shout itself hoarse.

A mass of humanity will line both sides of the broad avenue to honor the first Democratic President and Vice-President that the capital has seen in sixteen years. The street decorations will be brilliant, and if the weather be kind, the day will be one to live long in the memory of the thousands who witness the inauguration.

SIMPLE AS POSSIBLE.

At the request of the President-elect, the committee in charge of the ceremonies attending the inauguration have arranged to have the entire celebration as simple as possible, and at the same time, as impressive and dignified as the inauguration of a President of the republic demands.

But "Jeffersonian simplicity," as the phrase is construed in the public mind is impossible in the present day, the inauguration committee has explained, when it is remembered that between 150,000 and 200,000 visitors will flock to Washington to witness the inaugural celebration.

The Inaugural Committee has used every means in its power to make the celebration one that will live in the minds of all who witness it, for years to come. In point of brilliance of decorations, in the matter of the inaugural parade, in the arrangements for the illumination of the city and a display of fireworks the night of March 4, it is believed that the Wilson and Marshall inauguration will surpass all others.

LEAVES HOME MARCH 3.

Woodrow Wilson and his family will leave Princeton the morning of March 3, on his journey to Washington. A special escort of 1000 Princeton students will accompany the President-elect. They have chartered two special trains, and a car in one of the trains will be turned over to Mr. Wilson and his party. At the Union station in Washington the President-elect will be welcomed by a sub-committee of the Reception Committee, of which Dr. Thomas Nelson Page, the author, is chairman, and by the special joint Congressional committee in charge of the inaugural ceremonies. He will be taken to the Shoreham Hotel, where he is to be the guest of his cousin, John E. Wilson of Franklin, Pa., for the night of March 3.

The Princeton Alumni Association of Washington will give a reception and smoker in honor of the President-elect that night at the New Willard Hotel, to which the 8500 Princeton graduates now living in this country have been invited.

UNDERGRADS NOT INVITED.

Owing to the lack of space, the undergraduates of the New Jersey university have not been included. This reception recalls that given by the Yale Alumni Association of Washington in honor of President Taft four years ago, the night before he took the oath of office. For two hours or more the President-elect will be a Princeton man, nothing more, surrounded by many of his own classmates, a large number of whom have signified their intention of attending the reception.

The part which the President-elect and the Vice-President-elect are to take in the ceremonies inauguration day, has been carefully prescribed according to etiquette and the precedents. At 10:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning, members of the Congressional committee will wait upon Mr. Wilson at the Shoreham Hotel to escort him to the White House. A similar party will wait upon Mr. Marshall, who also will be stopping at the Shoreham Hotel. In fact, Mr. Marshall expects to make his home at the hotel during the months following his inauguration, and has already engaged quarters there.

TAFT WILL GREET THEM.

The incoming President and Vice-President will be greeted by President Taft and in a few minutes will begin the trip to the Capitol. The President-elect will have as a special guard of honor the Essex County Troop of Newark, N. J., and the Vice-President will have a similar escort consisting of the Culver Black Horse Troop from Indiana. This is the first time in the history of inaugural ceremonies that a guard of honor has escorted a Vice-President to and from the Capitol. President Taft, the President-elect and two members of the Congressional Committee on Arrangements will occupy the first carriage, and, as there is no Vice-President, the Vice-President-elect will have three members of the committee in his carriage.

Neither Mrs. Wilson nor Mrs. Marshall will have any part in the parade either to or from the Capitol for the inaugural ceremonies. A special military aid will be designated to go to the Shoreham Hotel and escort Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters to the Capitol, and a similar attention will be accorded Mrs. Marshall. After the ceremonies are over the ladies will be escorted to the White House, where they will join the new President and Vice-President.

WILL EXCHANGE SEATS.

Going to the Capitol, President Taft will sit on the right-hand side of the carriage, and on the return trip the seat of honor will be given the new President and Mr. Taft will have the seat on the left side.

Once arrived at the Senate wing of the Capitol, the President and President-elect will go to the President's room and the Vice-President-elect to the Vice-President's room.

Presently the Committee on Arrangements will wait upon the President and the President-elect and escort them to the Senate chamber, where they will be given seats reserved for them in front of the Vice-President's desk. The committee will also escort the Vice-President-elect to the Senate chamber. The members of the House and of the Supreme Court will be in the Senate chamber, too.

A few minutes before the adjournment of the present Senate the President pro tempore of the Senate will administer to the Vice-President-elect the oath of office. When this impressive ceremony has been completed the chaplain of the Senate will offer a prayer. Then the new Vice-President will deliver his inaugural address, and administer the oath of office to the Senators-elect.

WILSON'S OATH-TAKING.

This ends the ceremonies within the Senate chamber, and after the organization of the Senate has been completed those assembled in the chamber will form a procession and march to the rotunda of the Capitol and then to the platform which has been erected on the east front of the building. Here the big event of the day, the actual swearing in of the President, is to take place.

Thousands of persons will have seats on the platform, and many more thousands will be standing in the wide plaza in front of the Capitol. The procession from the Senate chamber to the platform is solemn and impressive, and the order in which the high dignitaries will march is carefully set by etiquette.

The sergeant-at-arms of the Senate and the sergeant-at-arms of the House will lead. Then will come the marshal of the Supreme Court and the marshal of the District of Columbia.

REMAINDER IN LINE.

They will be followed by the Chief Justice and the associate justices of the Supreme Court, the Committee on Arrangements, the President and the President-elect, Ambassadors to the United States, ministers plenipotentiary to the United States, the Vice-President, former Vice-Presidents, the Vice-President pro tempore and the secretary of the Senate, the Senate of the United States and former Senators, the Speaker and the clerk of the House of Representatives, the retiring members, members-elect and officers of the House of Representatives; heads of the executive departments, Governors of States and Territories, the admiral of the navy, George Dewey, and his aid; the chief of staff, Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, and his aid; officers of the army and navy who by name have received the thanks of Congress, all other persons who have been admitted to the floor of the Senate chamber, followed by the occupants of the Senate galleries. The last will be led by the members of the diplomatic corps.

CHIEF JUSTICE TO GIVE OATH.

When all have assembled the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court will administer the oath of office to the President-elect. This ceremony completed, the new Chief Executive will deliver his inaugural address. Accompanied by guards of honor the President and the Vice-President will go to the White House, where they are due to partake of luncheon. Mr. Taft will ride back up the avenue to the White House with his successor, following the established precedent, which was broken four years ago by Roosevelt, who went directly from the Capitol to the Union station to board a train for Oyster Bay.

TAFTS GOING TO GEORGIA.

Mr. Taft will join Mrs. Taft at the White House and together they will leave the Executive Mansion by a rear exit and go to the Union station to take the 3:05 o'clock train for Augusta, Ga., where Mr. Taft will remain for several weeks before going to New Haven to take up his work as professor of law in Yale University.

Through the courtesy of President and Mrs. Taft all arrangements for the luncheon for the new President and his guests will have been made days before. To this luncheon will be bidden the members of the Democratic National Committee, the officers and chairmen of the subcommittees of the Inaugural Committee, headed by Chairman William Corcoran Eustis; personal friends and relatives of the new President, and men who gave him their hearty support during the strenuous campaign last summer and fall.

WILL REVIEW PARADE.

The President and his guests will not linger long over the luncheon, however, for he must hurry to the reviewing stand in front of the White House to review the great parade which is marching up the Avenue from the Capitol, even while the luncheon is under way. From a spectacular point of view this parade will be the big feature of the inauguration. It will be viewed by several hundred thousand American citizens, as many as can pack themselves along Pennsylvania avenue, on sidewalk, in window and in reviewing stand.

The reviewing stand for the President, seating about 1500 persons, and the larger stand across the way in Lafayette Park, will be decorated. The designs for these stands and for the entire court of honor, which extends the length of the White House grounds on the Pennsylvania avenue side, have been made by the chairman of the Street Decorations Committee, Waddy B. Wood.

OF COLONIAL DESIGN.

The architect has chosen to weave into the stands' design the characteristics of Mt. Vernon, the old home of the first President, and of Monticello, the home of that patron saint of democracy, Thomas Jefferson. The color scheme of the decorations for the court of honor, and, in fact, for the entire city, selected by the committee is green and white. Huge firs and other evergreen trees will be used to mark off and decorate the court of honor and as a background for the stands.

The section of the stand occupied by the President and his immediate party will be inclosed in glass, as a protection for the Chief Executive against the chill March winds and pneumonia. Should the day be fair and warm the glass windows will be rolled back.

GEN. WOOD GRAND MARSHAL.

Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, U.S.A., chief of staff, is grand marshal of the parade, and under his direction plans have been made for a military display at once impressive and brilliant.

The first grand division of the parade will be composed of the regular military and naval forces, and will be under the direct command of Maj.-Gen. W. W. Wotherspoon, U.S.A. In it will march picked men of the army, navy and marine corps. The cadets from West Point, in their spick and span gray uniforms, and the midshipmen from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, the best drilled corps in the Executive to Call Election fo Federal Judge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Hunt's message to the Legislature a few days ago announcing his intention of keeping the convicts closer to prison walls had the effect of forestalling seriously adverse action on the part of the Legislative Committee which has been investigating conditions in the penitentiary. As a consequence, the report filed today was relatively mild in character and was signed by all members, where a split had been expected.

The report admits that prisoners were allowed to go outside the prison walls without guard and in citizens' attire, but adds that inasmuch as the Governor has already stated that this condition would be remedied there was no need for action by the committee or the Legislature concerning this charge.

RECOMMENDS PRISON GARB.

The report recommends the enactment of legislation providing for a suitable garb or uniform for all inmates of the prison "not of a humiliating character, but readily distinguishable as the prison dress."

The suggestion is also made that no person shall be made a trusty or placed on honor except by action of the parole board.

Legislation prohibiting the sale of goods by the State or State institutions to employees or officers of the State also is recommended, as is a measure providing for the working of convicts on a prison farm, or on road construction, with the proviso that they shall at all times be properly guarded.

PLEBISCITE FOR JUDGE.

The Phoenix Gazette this evening is authority for the statement that Gov. Hunt undoubtedly will call an election within the next sixty days for an expression of the will of the people in the selection of a judge for the United States Court in Arizona, an office which will be surrendered by Judge R. E. Sloan on March 4, for lack of confirmation of his appointment. It is stated that Senators Smith and Ashurst are committed to this policy. All candidates are to sign an agreement to resign if so requested by an advisory vote in the future.

SANTA ANA GETS CONVENTION.

Los Angeles Man Elected Secretary-Treasurer of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies of California.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WOODLAND (Cal.) March 1.—Resolutions favoring State insurance on school buildings but opposing assembly bill No. 1577 as framed now, were adopted yesterday by the delegates to the convention of mutual fire insurance companies of California now in session in this city.

Santa Ana was selected for the 1914 convention. C. F. Crose of Orange county was elected president and J. J. Fox of Napa, vice-president, and G. F. Cromer of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

The main discussion revolved about the proposal to make a flat rate of 50 per cent. of the standard board rates for all mutual companies in the State. The discussion was warmly waged by both sides and will not be finally determined until the report of the Committee on Resolutions is filed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—A strike of the electrical workers employed by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company became less likely today when new concessions were made by the company in a four-hour conference between Eugene E. Smith, vice-president of the Pacific District Council, International Union of Electrical Workers, and telephone officials. Mr. Smith did not care to enumerate the matters worked out today, but said he hoped a final understanding would be reached on Monday, when the conference will be resumed. He expressed confidence that the company will come to the men's terms next week and the annual agreement be signed up.

The negotiations involve telephone employees in five States and affect about 2500 men.

Smith, vice-president of the Pacific District Council, International Union of Electrical Workers, and telephone officials. Mr. Smith did not care to enumerate the matters worked out today, but said he hoped a final understanding would be reached on Monday, when the conference will be resumed. He expressed confidence that the company will come to the men's terms next week and the annual agreement be signed up.

The negotiations involve telephone employees in five States and affect about 2500 men.

SNAP FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Troops A, B and C of the Presidio Will Do Duty in National Parks Next Summer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Troops A, B and C, stationed at the Presidio, have been assigned to duty this summer in the national parks. Troops A and B will leave April 15 for the Yosemite. Troop C will leave May 1 for Sequoia.

Hold Italian for Murder.

OAKLAND (Cal.) March 1.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] John Perrone, an Italian laborer, was arrested and charged with the murder of Fank Simenes today.

WIFE A STOWAWAY.

Negro Citizen Brings Into San Francisco a Filipino Bride Whose Name He Did Not Know.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first woman stowaway to cross the Pacific in a United States Army transport was found in the vegetable "garden" in the hold of the Thomas two days out of Manila on January 4. She is an emaciated little Filipino woman. She peeled potatoes for her board and keep, and landed at Ft. Mason today a free woman and the wife of an American citizen.

Nobody aboard the transport, not even Quartermaster Capt. H. K. Taylor, knows the Filipino name of the woman. Her husband, George Washington English, a negro helper in the gallery, is not sure about it, though he thinks it was something like Fiji or Phoebe.

English married the Filipino woman three days before the ship sailed from Manila. Unable to secure for her passage on the vessel, he stowed her away.

ROW IN CHURCH CHANCEL.

Woman Blames Discolored Eye on Rector and He Charges Her With Tearing Bible to Tatters.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROSS VALLEY (Cal.) March, 1.—Battery, committed in the chancel of a fashionable church, is the charge that Mrs. J. K. Fields must face next Wednesday. On complaint of the Rev. Hubert Cowley Carroll, rector of the Episcopal Church here, Mrs. Fields was arrested after a scuffle last Thursday night.

Exhibiting a discolored eye, she accused the rector of having struck her. He charged that she had confronted him in the church with allegations of improper conduct, and in her fury had torn to tatters a bible on the lectern.

The clergyman denied all Mrs. Fields's charges and retorted that she had persecuted him with attentions for four years.

Accompanied by two of his vestrymen, he reported the case to Bishop William Ford Nichols in San Francisco.

ATTORNEY MEETS MRS. BOURNE.

Wife of Oregon Senator Arrives at Portland to Talk With Lawyer About Possible Divorce Suit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 1.—Without definite intention of beginning divorce proceedings against her husband, United States Senator Jonathan Bourne, but admitting that the possibility of such action is under consideration, Mrs. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., arrived in Portland last night.

Mrs. Bourne traveled alone from Washington, D. C., having left the capital Monday. Her attorney met her at the Union Station.

Mrs. Bourne said that she had read what the papers had printed about her contemplated divorce action, but declared that she had not formed any plans. Not until she talks with her attorney on the subject will she determine her course.

ARIZONA AT EXPOSITIONS.

Bill Introduced in Legislature for Appropriation Said to Be in Danger of Defeat.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) March 1.—A bill appropriating $250,000 for an Arizona building and exhibit at the Panama-California exposition in San Diego in 1915, was introduced in the lower house of the Arizona Legislature today by Representative Kerr, who announced that he soon would introduce a measure providing for the appropriation of a similar amount for the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco.

Other members of the Assembly declared there was little likelihood of either measure being passed and that if any appropriation was made for either exposition it would be much less than the amount named in the Kerr bill.

HATES TO ENTER PRISON.

Millionaire Whose Conviction Was Sustained by the Supreme Court Makes a Final Effort for Freedom.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Application for the parole of J. Thorburn Ross, millionaire bank receiver, convicted in connection with the failure of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company of Portland, of which he was the president, will be presented to Circuit Judge Kelly here next week, and will mark the beginning of a final battle to be waged by his attorneys to keep him from a five-year term in the pen.

The conviction was sustained, not only by the Supreme Court of the State, but by the Supreme Court of the United States.

STATE FINISHES A ROAD.

Contractor Falls Down on the Job in Mendocino After It Was Ninety Per Cent. Done.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO (Cal.) March 1.—The State Highway Commission is completing thirteen miles of highway between Hopland in Mendocino county and the county line south, a $60,000 job, because the General Contracting Corporation of San Francisco failed. The contracting firm gave up the work when 90 per cent. was completed and creditors were clamoring. Bondsmen are the sufferers.

LODI CLERGYMAN STRICKEN.

The Rev. C. C. Kirtland Reported Unconscious and at the Point of Death from Paralysis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. C. C. Kirtland, a clergyman of this county, residing at Lodi, is at the point of death from paralysis. His physicians announced today that there was little hope for his recovery. While seemingly in robust health, the Rev. Kirtland suffered a stroke last Tuesday and has not regained consciousness since.

WRITER HELD AS MADMAN.

NEW YORKER ARRESTED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) March 1.—H. F. Rysdell of New York City has been detained by the local police on the charge of insanity. Rysdell, who is an artist and a writer, had $2100 in $500 and $100 bills on his person. H gave his mother's name as Catherine Rysdell and his home address as No. 414 East Fifty-seventh street, New York.

Upheaval.

NEPOTISM IS CHARGED.

Two Nevada State Officials Are Under Fire.

Orphans' Home Head Slated for Resignation.

Warden of Penitentary to Succeed Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An upheaval in Nevada politics occurred today when George W. Cowing, warden of the State Penitentiary, tendered his resignation to the Prison Commissioner to take effect March 10, immediately after the execution of Nimrod Urie. Former Gov. Denver S. Dickerson will be appointed to succeed Cowing.

J. E. McKinnon, superintendent of the Orphans' Home, was given an opportunity by Gov. Oddie to tender his resignation immediately or the investigation being conducted into his conduct would be made public. Charges had been lodged against McKinnon and a special committee of the Legislature has been looking into the matter. McKinnon was formerly a printer in Reno.

COWING SLATED FOR JOB.

Surveyor-General Deady, who, with Treasurer McMillan and Superintendent of Public Instruction Bray compose the Board of Orphans' Home Directors tonight confirmed the report that McKinnon would be allowed to resign or be ousted.

George Cowing, who resigns as warden of the penitentiary, will be appointed superintendent of the Orphans' Home.

OTHERS UNDER FIRE.

Charges were recently brought against Joe Joseph's clerk of the Supreme Court by a young woman. Assemblyman Bachenberg also introduced a resolution charging nepotism in State offices.

DEFEND THEIR SAUSAGES.

Butchers Appear Before State Board of Health Which Hears Cases of Misbranding.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO (Cal.) March 1.—The California State Board of Health refused to accept responsibility of modifying the government Department of Agriculture's order making the sale of absinthe illegal. Wholesale absinthe dealers of San Francisco who say the government's order left them with about $50,000 worth of the liquor on hand made the plea to the board. They were told the Department of Agriculture must decide the question of whether they had been treated fairly or not. The Board of Health also refused to intercede with the government in behalf of the absinthe men.

Several cases involving the adulteration and misbranding of sausages by butchers were heard. The defendants assert their adulteration of sausages with cereals and other meats was not injurious.

A new industry in the "egg" business was uncovered when the board heard evidence in the case of a Berkeley man. The defendant was charged with disposing of eggs which could not be hatched in incubators. He acknowledged he had built up a large business by buying "streaked" eggs from large poultry concerns and selling them to a clientage. The eggs could be bought cheap after the poultry companies found they would not hatch. The man contended the eggs were still good to use in cakes.

MORE AUTOS THAN EVER.

February Registrations at Sacramento Exceed Any Former Month. Three Hundred New Corporations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Secretary of State Jordan in a statement of the business transactions of his office for February, shows the number of motor cars registered during the month to have been 2604, the greatest number ever registered in the month of February in the history of the department. There had been registered a total of 96,589 cars in the State when the February books of the automobile department were closed.

Two hundred and ninety-one new corporations filed articles of incorporation during the month while ten were dissolved, twenty-two increased their capital stock, and ten decreased their capital stock. The total capitalization of corporations incorporated in the State or admitted to do business during the month amounted to $60,785,250. Of this amount domestic corporations represented $43,840,350 and foreign concerns the remainder, $16,945,000.

Of the domestic corporations organized during February, 282 were registered with the Secretary of State as "profit" concerns. Thirty-three were recorded as "non profit" corporations. Fourteen foreign corporations were admitted to do business.

SONS CONTEST FATHER'S WILL.

Heirs Not Satisfied With Distribution of Million Dollar Estate of Oakland Pioneer Millman.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, March 1.—An attempt will be made to break the will of J. C. Westphal, pioneer millman, who left an estate valued at $1,000,000.

John C. Westphal, Jr., and Fred Westphal, sons, were left in trust an undivided two-fifths interest in the estate from which an allowance of $125 a month was to be paid each, the sons not to receive their share of the estate for fifteen years.

These sons today, through their attorneys, filed petition in the Superior Court to revoke the order allowing the will to be probated. This action was taken as a preliminary to a contest, according to the attorneys. Included in the estate are large business holdings in this city.

Frosted Fruit Confiscated.

SANTA CRUZ (Cal.) March 1.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] After investigating complaints of residents, the City Health Department confiscated today, a large shipment of frost-bitten oranges and had them destroyed. The fruit was being sold by peddlers who said they had purchased it in San Francisco.

DEATH RIDES ON HIGH NOTE.

Contralto Bursts Artery While Singing a Solo in Church.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GREENWICH (Ct.) March 1.—While singing at the Stamford Methodist Church, Miss Lulu Hubbard, a contralto soloist, burst an artery in reaching for a high note. A rush of blood drowned her solo and she collapsed. All efforts to stop the hemorrhage failed and then she died.

CALLS IT A FORGERY.

Mexican Deputy Says Madero's Resignation Was Written by the Men Who Eventually Killed Him.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) March 1.—The purported resignation of the late President Madero was today declared by R. V. Pesquiera, a member of the Mexican Chamber of Deputies, to be a forgery by those who killed Madero.

Pesquiera is now a refugee in San Antonio. He asserted that Madero and Vice-President Suarez were killed because they refused to resign and in order to prevent them from denying the authenticity of the resignations given out by the government. Senor Pesquiera has wired his statement to Washington.

MISS FOY CARRIES PROXY.

Leaves Los Angeles for Washington Prepared to Represent California at Meeting of National Committee.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Miss Mary Foy of Pasadena wired Congressman Raker that she was leaving Los Angeles for Washington and that on March 5, if Senator J. B. Sanford was not here, she would represent California on the National Democratic Committee as Sanford's proxy.

Miss Edith McLellan of Los Angeles is among the earliest California arrivals to see the inauguration. She will remain here for two months.

TAFT WITHHELD AUTOGRAPH.

Photograph of President's Predecessor Sent Him by Mistake With Request for His Signature.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Pleading that he never had an autographed picture of Pesident Taft, a prominent Washington citizen yesterday sent a large photograph to the White House with a request that the President write his name on it before it was returned. When the photograph reached the President, it proved to be a large likeness of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, obviously mailed by mistake.

POTTER UNDETERRED BY SUIT FOR BREACH OF PROMISE.

Wealthy Honolulu Civil Engineer Appears at San Francisco City Hall With Noted Beauty and Takes Out a License to Wed Despite Pending Litigation.

[B. DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite the fact that the "other woman" in the triangle is suing him for $25,000 for breach of promise, Charles Bruce Potter, wealthy civil and constructing engineer, lately of Honolulu, today took out a license to wed Miss Rebecca Mabel Ellingsworth, the younger, and in Potter's opinion, the handsomer of the two women, who, it is declared, won his affections in quick succession.

The bride-to-be is noted as a beauty. Potter and Miss Ellingsworth appeared together at the City Hall early. He gave his age as 42 and she admitted 30.

Miss Ellingsworth arrived in San Francisco Thursday on the Ventura from Honolulu. There she met Potter, who preceded her to San Francisco.

As soon as she arrived she was apprised that Potter was being sued for $25,000 by Mrs. Sadie K. Stewart, who alleged that he wooed her in Honolulu when she was there on a visit, and that she had come home to San Francisco in the belief that she was soon to become Mrs Potter. That was six months ago.

BUY BOAT FOR EXPOSITION.

Biggest River Steamer Ever Built at Portland to Go Into Excursion Service at San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Negotiations have been practically completed for the sale of the big screw steamer Victorian, built here by the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company fifteen years ago, to the General Navigation Company.

The Victorian is now in British Columbia waters. It is the intention of the purchasing company to use her in the excursion trade in San Francisco Bay and contiguous waters during the Panama-Pacific Exposition period.

The Victorian is the biggest steamer ever built here for river traffic. She has power enough for an ocean steamer, but her operation proved so costly that she only made a few trips on the river and during more than half of her existence has been tied up at the dock.

BOND ISSUE AT STAKE.

State Engineer Investigates Condition of the Rock Creek District in Los Angeles County.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—State Engineer W. F. McClure is investigating the condition of the South San Joaquin Irrigation District near Stockton and the Little Rock Creek district in Los Angeles county to determine if they should be permitted to issue further bonds. Application has been made for permission to issue bonds to complete their work. The issues must be approved in order that the bonds will be received by banks as security.

REBELS MOBILIZE AT MORMON COLONY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 1.—Revolters against the Huerta government are mobilizing at Colonia Morelos, an American Mormon settlement in Sonora. The deserters from Agua Prieta broke camp today at Ceniza Springs and started for Morelos where they will be joined by a group from Oaxaca, Bavispe and Moctezuma, totaling some 700 armed men.

Col. Obregon, formerly a Federal commander at Agua Prieta, has denounced Huerta and is leading revolting troops near Hermosillo, where an outbreak at any time is expected. Armed guards patrol the streets of the capital, saloons are closed, and only eighty Federal soldiers remain since the mutiny of the volunteers.

QUIET AT MAZATLAN.

REPORT BROUGHT BY STEAMER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) March 1.—Bringing reports that everything at Mazatlan was quiet when they left, passengers on the steamer Benito Juarez reached San Diego this morning. The people of Mazatlan, they say, are content to abide by the result in Mexico City. The United States cruiser Colorado was in port when the Juarez left.

Can Almost See Pimples Go

The New Calcium Sulphide Treatment Does Wonders to Every Kind of Skin Eruption.

You don't want to wait forever and a day to get rid of your pimples or other skin eruptions. You want to get rid of them right now. Next week you may want to go somewhere where you wouldn't like to have to take the pimples along.

Pimples Quickly Disappear from Face, Arms, Neck and Back, and Issue a Beautiful Complexion.

You can get rid of them just in time by taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

These wonderful little workers have cured bad boils in three days, and some cases of skin disease in a week.

They contain as their main ingredient most thorough, quick and effective blood cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Remember this, too, that most pimple treatments reek with poison. And they are miserably slow besides.

Stuart's Calcium Wafters have not a particle of poison in them. They are free from mercury, biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a splotchy face. Don't have strangers stare at you, or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your blood makes you what you are. The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will make you happy because your face will be a welcome sight not only to yourself when you look into the glass, but to everybody else who knows you and talks to you.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers are sold by all firsa class druggists at 50 cents a box. They are very pleasant to the taste and in results are truly remarkable.

MR. S. DOWNING,
The Way Artificial Ear Drum Co.,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Sir: I wish to offer you my testimonial for the many, many people who are suffering greatly from day to day, and who perhaps have become very skeptical through using so many different treatments.

I have suffered greatly for years from running ears and deafness caused by a gathering in my head. I tried every treatment on the market, also went to one of the best Ear Specialists in Detroit but to no avail. Finally, our family physician, also a prominent physician of Detroit, advised my using the Way Artificial Ear Drum—Well, I did; and friends, I wish to say to you that [illegible] and am perfectly willing to [illegible] medicated ear drums.

I most heartily recommend this device for restoring the hearing [illegible]

Sardinian Chemist Is the Rival of Friedmann.

Only Two "Elements" in His Well-Guarded Serum.

Dr. Vaughan Casts Doubts on the Turtle Formula.

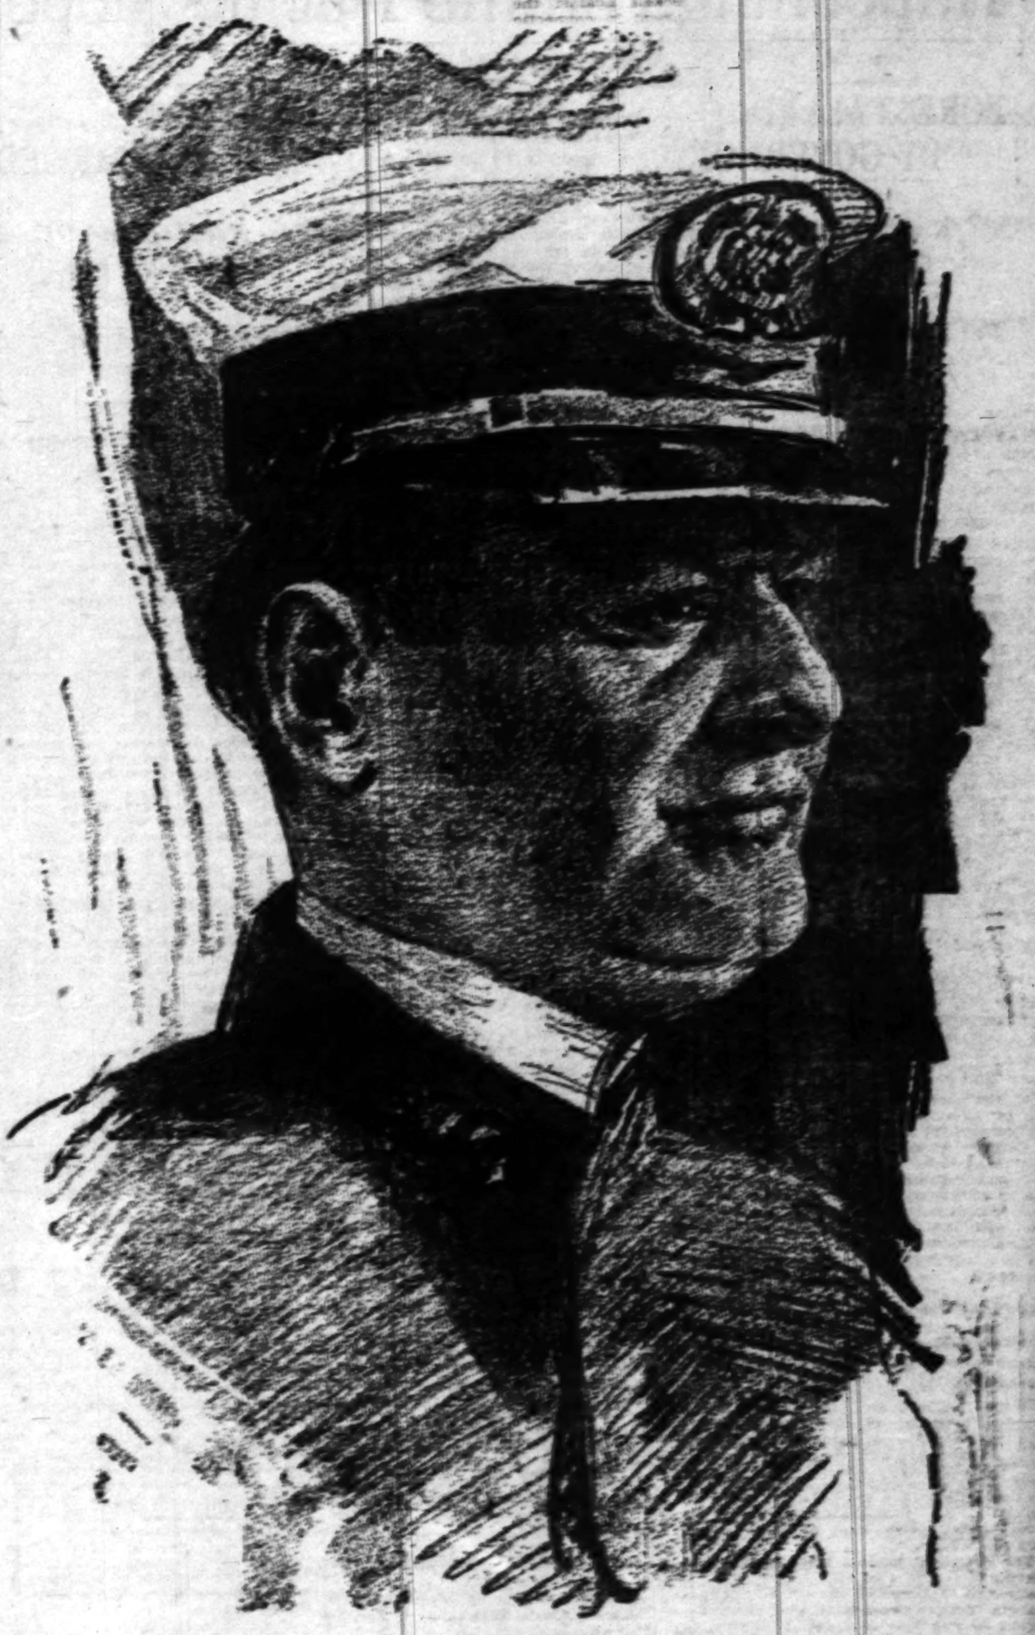
[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Sardinian chemist, Giuseppe Nurgia, claims to have discovered a cure for tuberculosis which is destined to eclipse that of Dr. Friedmann. It consists of a subcutaneous injection of a secret serum composed of two elements, the nature of which has not been divulged. It is said experiments on animals with the serum have achieved wonderful results. Dr. Nurgia is now treating seven patients, all of whom are in the last stages of consumption.

Dr. Nurgia, like Dr. Friedmann, refuses to divulge the secret of his treatment, and will not allow it to be tried at hospitals.

A doctor who attended the present patients admits that decided improvement followed the first injection of the serum and that the most alarming symptoms completely disappeared.

Police Official Named in Divorce Proceedings.



Chief Fred Kohler,

Former head of Cleveland Police Department, who must answer charges of immorality before the Civil Service Commission and who has been called model police chief.

"J'Accuse."

CLEVELAND'S MODEL CHIEF FACES IMMORALITY CHARGE

Head of Police Department Praised by Roosevelt Accused in Divorce Decree of Friendliness With Plaintiff's Wife—Will Be Tried by Civil Service Commission—Declares Men Back of Proceedings Cowardly.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] For the second time since he has been at the head of the Cleveland police department, Chief Fred Kohler, who was once termed by Theodore Roosevelt "the best Chief," will face the Civil Service Commission Monday to answer to charges of gross immorality and conduct unbecoming an officer.

Two years ago charges were filed against him by a coterie of disgruntled policemen aided by several unfriendly saloon-keepers. The Chief was vindicated. He had been accused of being intoxicated while on duty.

GIST OF THE CHARGES.

The present charges center about the divorce obtained by S. D. Schearer, agent for an eastern printing ink concern, who obtained a decree on the allegation that he had caught the Chief visiting Mrs. Schearer one night in June in the Schearer home. Schearer, two months ago conferred with Mayor Baker concerning the filing of charges against Kohler, but no action was taken. A month ago, the very day that Kohler left Cleveland for a vacation trip to Panama, Schearer, his attorneys and several men who had figured in the previous attack on the Chief, prevailed upon Mayor Baker to consider the filing of charges.

FILED IN HIS ABSENCE.

During the Chief's absence the plans for the attack were completed and when Kohler returned a copy of the accusations made against him was presented to him by the Mayor, who asked him that he reply in writing.

Chief Kohler, the next day, presented the Mayor a long statement in which he denied the charges, called his accusers cowardly for brewing the trouble while he was away, and demanded that he be suspended and he given a hearing before the civil service commissioner. Kohler is accused of visiting Mrs. Schearer on six occasions, the formal charges being gross immorality, conduct unbecoming an officer and conduct subversive to the good order of the police department.

Chief Kohler, on February 24, the day after his suspension, issued a statement in which he declared he would take the witness stand in his own behalf and would disprove the allegations against him. He engaged Attorney W. H. Boyd and planned his defense. Attorney Boyd announced that Chief Kohler has witnesses to prove that he was at the Schearer home only once and that he was called there on police business, supposing at the time that Schearer was home and that others, too, were in the house.

SUBPOENA DOZEN WITNESSES.

Fully a dozen witnesses have been subpoenaed for the hearing Monday and the trial is expected to be highly sensational. An agreement has been reached by both sides not to call Mrs. Schearer as a witness.

Chief Kohler has been connected with the police force for thirteen years, winning his way up through the ranks. The force at present is under the direction of Inspector William Rowe, who was named acting Chief by Mayor Baker.

CUPID ON A TRANSPORT.

He Gets Passage for the Prospective Bride, Daughter of a Baron, by Booking Her as Nurse.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Miss Marie Von Klein, daughter of Baron Von Klein of Germany, and one of the foremost physicians of Chicago, and Lieut. A. B. Miller of United States Marines, arrived in San Francisco today on the army transport Thomas.

She was on the ship's roster as a nurse.

Miss Von Klein and Lieut. Miller admit they are to be married.

More than three years ago Miss Von Klein went to the Philippines for a visit with her sister, who is the wife of F. C. Zitzmann, German Consul at Manila.

Two years ago she became acquainted with Lieut. Miller, then on the United States steamship Saratoga, stationed in Philippine waters. A month ago Lieut. Miller received orders to take passage on the transport Thomas and report at Mare Island.

He conveyed the news of his hurried departure to Miss Von Klein and she, to circumvent the rules of the navy, applied for passage as a trained nurse and got it despite traditions to the contrary.

TO DRAG IN EMPLOYERS.

Illinois Vice Commission Told Low Wages Are Cause of First Downward Step of Many Girls.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 1.—Fifteen hundred white men and 300 negroes live off the earnings of wayward women in Chicago, according to testimony given today by a former "cadet" to the State commission investigating vice conditions in Illinois.

The witness was listed as "H. R. F." and declared he knew what he was talking about, as he said he had been in close touch with the underworld for many years.

Lieut.-Gov. Barratt O'Hara, head of the commission, after hearing testimony which tended to show that many victims took their first downward step because of low wages, ordered that a list of these employers be prepared and subpoenas issued for their presence before the committee.

"It does not matter whether those responsible for the existing conditions live on the Lake Shore Drive or in the slums, we are going to drag them into the public light," said O'Hara.

NINE MILLION DOLLAR BOND.

Largest Amount of Security Ever Given in Utah Furnished by Administrator of Eccles Estate.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OGDEN (Utah) March 1.—Under bonds of $9,000,000 David C. Eccles was appointed today administrator of the estate of his father, the late David Eccles. Direct heirs to the estate, admitted in the petition for administration, include Mrs. Bertha M. Eccles and Mrs. Ellen Eccles and twenty-one children.

The amount of the bonds is the largest ever required in a civil action in Utah. The administrator furnished a cash bond of $1,000,000, while the estate itself was accepted as security for the remainder.

OROZCO'S FATHER APPEALS.

Takes His Case to Supreme Court of United States—Held for Alleged Neutrality Violation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the rebel general in Northern Mexico, appealed today to the Supreme Court from the action of the United States Court in Texas which refused to release him from prison on habeas corpus proceedings.

Orozco was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to export arms from the United States into Mexico.

TRIBUTE TO SENATOR HEYBURN.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Senate paid tribute today to the late Senator Heyburn of Idaho, setting aside business long enough to permit his former colleagues and his successor to deliver eulogies on his life's work. Those who spoke were Senators Borah, Brady, Gallinger, Lodge, Clark of Wyoming, McCumber, Dillingham, Sutherland, Burton, Jones, Root, Thornton, Myers and Pomerene.

DOUBT DEATH OF OIL TRUST.

Partial Report on Inquiry Into Dissolution.

Hint that Standard Still Is Fixing Prices.

Wickersham Leaves Problem for His Successor.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March. 1.—There is serious doubt whether the Standard Oil trust has been actually dissolved, according to the report of Atty.-Gen. Wickersham by Charles B. Morrison and Oliver E. Pagan, the government attorneys investigating whether the decree of dissolution has veen violated.

Morrison and Pagan draw tentative conclusions based on their uncompleted investigation and upon complaints of competing oil companies. It was largely a report of the progress of the inquiry and Atty.-Gen. Wickersham instructed the attorneys, in view of the showing made, to continue the investigation. He will turn over their report to his successor on March 4.

THE SAME INTERESTS.

While unfair competition is said to have been eliminated, it is understood that the report seriously raises the question whether the control and management of the dismembered parts of the great trust and the control of the prices of oil are not still directed by the same interests as previously.

TAFT GRANTS CLEMENCY.

Though Postoffice Department Objects He Stays the Order to Imprison Two Missour ns.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Taft remitted today the imprisonment sentence of one year and one day of Elisha S. Horn and S. P. Snyder, convicted at Kansas City, Mo., in 1909, of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Their sentences are thus reduced to a payment of a fine of $500 and costs. The President held that the connection of the two men with the alleged crime was not sufficient to warrant imprisonment.

The Postoffice Department opposed clemency.

TAFT PRESENTS TITANIC MEDAL.

British Captain of Carpathia Expresses Gratitude to President, Congress and the American People.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March. 1.—President Taft today presented to Capt. Arthur H. Rostron the gold medal authorized by Congress for his courage and gallantry in rescuing the survivors of the Titanic and bringing them safely to New York on his own ship, the Carpathia.

The President made a brief speech, quoting the report of the Senate Investigating Committee to show the bravery, the painstaking care and the kindliness exhibited by Capt. Rostron. It was a record, he said, worthy of the best traditions of England's seafarers.

Capt. Rostron, in reply, thanked the President, Congress and the American people. Ambassador Bryce thanked the President on behalf of the English people.

Mrs. Lucien Smith, a daughter of former Representative Hughes of West Virginia, a Titanic survivor, whose husband was lost, was among those present.

From the White House Capt. Rostron went to the British Embassy where he was presented by Ambassador Bryce with the American Cross of Hohour. Ambassador Bryce spoke briefly, commending Capt. Rostron for his bravery and gallantry.

Senate Insists on Greater Navy Programme to Which House Refused to Give Its Assent.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Naval Appropriation Bill, with the Senate amendment to authorize two battleship, was sent to conference today by the House.

The House had voted for one battleship and the bill, footing up about $138,000,000 as it passed the House was increased to approximately $150,000,000 by the Senate, which carried the two battleship programme.

The conference will thresh out the difficulties between the two houses tomorrow.

CAPT. PATTEN TO BE RETIRED.

West Pointer Under Treatment in Army Hospital at Presidio Granted Leave of Absence.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Capt. William D. Patten of the infantry, now under treatment in the Army Hospital at the Presidio of San Francisco, is to be retired for disability.

He is from South Carolina and was graduated from the Military Academy in February, 1899. Most of his service was in the Thirteenth Infantry, in which he reached the grade of captain in February, 1907. He has been granted leave of absence to June 27 next, on which date he will be retired.

CALIFORNIANS ARE PUZZLED.

Congressmen Wonder How Legislative Resolution Urging a National University at Washington Originated

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Establishment in Washington of a national university and a department of education is urged in a joint resolution adopted by the Legislature of California, a copy of which has been received by the District of Columbia Commissioners.

How the legislation originated is puzzling some of the members of the California delegation who had not heard of it before.

The resolution directs the Senators and Representative of California to use "all honorable means" to bring about the inauguration and establishment of a national university and department of education.

The charges made by Rudolph Spreckels against the Treasury Department in connection with the order depositing customs receipts with the national banks was before the Senate again yesterday.

Senator Poindexter had a resolution adopted, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to report the list of securities he has authorized to be accepted as security for government deposit and what has actually been accepted.

Another resolution by Senator Poindexter which was passed calls on the Secretary of the Treasury for information relating to the importation of green teas.

FAVOR APPOINTIVE JUDICIARY.

San Francisco Lawyers Doubt Qualification of People to Vote Intelligently on Candidates for the Bench.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—The San Francisco Bar Association indorsed the amendment by Senator Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles, now pending in the State Legislature, to provide for the appointment of Superior Court judges by the Governor, at a special meeting here last night.

By the terms of the amendment the judges would be appointed for terms of twelve years, instead of elected for terms of four and six years, as under the present system.

The vote was almost unanimous in favor of the amendment. Attorneys Matt I. Sullivan and Milton L. Schmitt opposed the amendment. O. K. Cushing and Thomas Haven favored it. The two latter urged its adoption on the ground that the people are not qualified to vote intelligently on candidates for the bench.

DOOR CLOSED TO COLOMBIA.

AND THE SPRING LOCK IS ON THIS SIDE.

Her Flat Rejection of the Preliminary Settlement Proposals for the Loss of What Is Now the Republic of Panama Bars Further Overtures on Uncle Sam's Part.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—In a special message reviewing the controversy with Colombia over the separation of Panama, President Taft today transmitted to the Senate a report by Secretary Knox which declared that Colombia's flat rejection of preliminary settlement proposals by the United States have closed the door to any further overtures on the part of the United States.

Secretary Knox stated in his report that the efforts of the State Department to replace the relations of the two countries in a state of cordial friendship and mutual confidence was inspired by the President's conviction that to do so as far as consistent with the dignity and honor of the United States and with the principles of justice was a plain duty. He pointed out, however, that as the subject of arbitration was now being urged by Colombia, it seemed obvious that no terms of arbitral submission could be entertained which might call in question the right of Panama to exist as a sovereign state.

Supporting this view he quoted from Secretary Hay a declination to turn to The Hague tribunal because the questions presented in the Colombian "statement of grievances" were of a political nature and not within the domain of a judicial decision.

The report criticised the Colombian government for repeated failure to carry out its engagements during the course of the negotiations and asserted that the Hay-Herran treaty of 1903 failed because the Colombian President, by an amazing departure from the practice of nations, declined to recommend for approval a treaty signed under the explicit direction of his predecessor. He charged that the negotiation of the subsequent treaties, those framed by Secretary Root, for the adjustment of all questions between the three countries, actually were proposed by the government of Colombia itself which now had refused to give them effect.

Reference is made to the very inconsistent reversion of the Colombian representatives to attempt to create false issues, followed on one occasion by the virtual recall of one of the plenipotentiaries.

The Secretary admitted that Colombia has suffered by her failure to reap her share of the benefits of the canal, saying this was the explanation of the endeavor of the United States "to accommodate the conflicting interests of the three parties by the conventional fixation of a just measure of compensation, in money or in material equivalence."

Sixty-second Congress.

TAFT'S VETO OVERRIDDEN.

Webb Bill Enacted Despite Executive Disapproval.

Prohibits Liquor Shipments Into Dry Territory.

President Believes the Act Is Unconstitutional.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—By a vote of 244 to 95 the House today repassed over President Taft's veto, the Webb bill prohibiting shipments of intoxicating liquor into "dry" States. The Senate passed it over the veto last night and the bill now becomes law.

Only one other time in the last fifteen years has Congress overridden a President's veto. That was when the Rainey River Dam Bill was passed over President Roosevelt's disapproval.

President Taft based his veto almost entirely on the ground that the bill was unconstitutional, in that it virtually delegated to the States control of interstate traffic in liquor, when, he held, that control was vested solely in Congress. Atty.-Gen. Wickersham had given an opinion also, holding the bill unconstitutional and that the President forwarded to the Senate yesterday with his veto message.

PROMPTLY REPASSED.

The Senate repassed the bill promptly last night and, early today, House leaders, favoring the measure, led by Representative Clayton, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, and Representative Webb, one of its framers, began working for an immediate repassage.

Debate was limited and the House repassed the bill with a wide margin over the necessary two-thirds vote, as the Senate had done.

Supporters of the bill say it will make effective the prohibition laws of "dry" States, which, they say, now are violated because intoxicants are shipped in to private individuals and have the effect of nullifying the local laws.

LANDS TO BE THROWN OPEN. DELAYED IN LOS ANGELES.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] Congressman Raker has been assured by the General Land Office that certain lands eliminated from the Inyo and Kern national forests, by proclamation of the President, January 30, 1911, will be restored to the public domain at an early date. The restoration has been delayed pending the adjustment of applications by the city of Los Angeles, for certain lands embraced in the excluded areas.

DELAYED BY FILIBUSTER.

Appropriations of Millions Held Up in Senate—Bankruptcy of the Departments Likely.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—A filibuster in the Senate early today against the conference reports on the rivers and harbors bill and the public buildings bill threatened tonight to have disastrous results upon the completion of the appropriation legislation of this session of Congress. With adjournment only about sixty hours away Congress has thirteen of its fifteen big supply bills unfinished tonight.

The naval, agricultural, pension, Indian, legislative, postoffice and sundry civil appropriation bills were all held back from final pqreparation when the filibuster started. The continuation of the filibuster may so block the ratification of these conference reports, however, as to make it impossible to finish up all of the bills before adjournment March 4. In case any of them fail of passage it will be necessary for the extra session to take them up, so government departments may not be bankrupted.

The only measures that reached the President today were the fortification appropriation bill involving about $4,000,000 and the diplomatic and consular bill carrying something over $3,000,000.

The conference report on the army appropriation bill provides a 35 per cent. increase in pay to officers detailed to aviation corps.

The House adopted late today the conference report of the army appropriation bill carrying $94,000,000 and the pension appropriation bill, carrying $180,000,000.

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—A request to the people of the United States "to extend all possible aid and encouragement to the Mexican people in their efforts to establish good government," is contained in resolutions published by the American colony in Mexico City today. The Americans held a mass meeting last night. Speakers deprecated the publications in the United States of articles misrepresenting the Mexican people. Statements that during the street fighting American citizens sought safety under the British flag also were denounced.

United States Ambassador Wilson was praised by the gathering for "noble and patriotic services."

CLEAN YOUR LIVER AND 30 FEET OF BOWELS WITH "SYRUP OF FIGS"

More Effective Than Calomel, Castor Oil or Salts; Gently Cleanses the Stomach, Liver and Bowels Without Nausea or Griping, Children Dearly Love It.

You know when your liver is bad, when your bowels are sluggish. You feel a certain dullness and depression, perhaps the approach of a headache, your stomach gets sour and full of gas, tongue coated, breath foul, or you have indigestion. You say, "I am bilious or constipated and I must take something tonight."

Most people shrink from a physic—they think of castor oil, calomel, salts or cathartic pills.

It's different with Syrup of Figs. Its effect is as that of fruit, of eating coarse food, of exercise. Take a teaspoonful of delicious Syrup of Figs tonight and you won't realize you have taken anything until morning when all the clogged-up waste matter, sour bile and constipation poisons move on and out of your system without gripe, nausea or weakness. Nothing else cleanses and regulates your sour, disordered stomach, torpid liver and thirty feet of waste-clogged bowels like gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Don't think you are drugging yourself; being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot cause injury.

If your child is cross, sick and feverish, or its little stomach sour, tongue coated, give Syrup of Figs at once. It's really all that is needed to make children well and happy again. They dearly love its pleasant taste.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and look on the label for the name—California Fig Syrup Company. That, and that only, is the genuine. Refuse any other fig syrup substitute with contempt.

ROUT MARSHALL FROM THE ROOM.

Senate Rules Bar Him from the Marble Halls.

Forced to Leave the Chamber He Will Soon Rule.

"You Can't Do It Three Days Hence," He Says.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Vice-President-elect Marshall, a private citizen today but next Tuesday to be presiding officer of the Senate, was forced today to leave the marble room in the rear of the Senate chamber because the rules do not permit strangers to be within the Senate's precincts during an executive session.

"You can run me out now, boys," said he laughingly as he left the corridor, "but you can't do it three days from now."

Mr. Marshall's visit to the Senate was unexpected and in the short time he was at the Capitol he greeted many members of the Senate with whom he is to be associated during the next four years. He reached the Capitol unattended, his purpose being to call on the President of the Senate as he had previously paid his respects to the President of the United States. The future Vice-President was shown the small room in the rear of the Senate chamber that is to be his office and was then escorted into the marble room, where Senators receive guests. He was holding a general reception when the Senate went into executive session and he was forced to withdraw. Mr. Marshall stayed in the Capitol a few moments, continuing his reception in the office of the sergeant-at-arms and then returned to his hotel.

Marshall called on President Taft this afternoon and paid his respects. The President received his visitor in the blue room of the White House and chatted with him for some time.

Booker Washington Declares That Next President Is One of Best Friends of Colored Race.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) March 1.—Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, discussed the attitude of President-elect Wilson to the negro. He said:

"Mr. Wilson is in favor of the things which tend toward the uplift, improvement and advancement of my people and at his hands we have nothing to fear. My belief is that the next President of the United States is one of the best friends of negro education that has ever occupied the Presidential chair."

Dr. Washington is on the way to the State of Washington where he will make a speaking tour.

Notables Speak at a Banquet to "Gen." Rosalie Jones.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1. — The message which "Gen." Jones's band carried from New York to deliver to President-elect Wilson was made public today. It is an appeal signed by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, urging Mr. Wilson to recommend equal suffrage in his inaugural address and to use his influence throughout his administration in favor of a Constitutional amendment.

Women from all parts of the country flocked into Washington today to take part Monday in the woman's suffrage pageant, which is intended to impress the people generally and the incoming Congress in particular with the nation-wide demand for an amendment to the Constitution of the United States enfranchising women.

The parade will form at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Peace Monument, under the west front of the Capitol.

Impressed by the crush in the streets yesterday, which the police were powerless to control, Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Joint Suffrage Procession Committee, renewed efforts today to procure a military escort for Monday's pageant.

She had a conference with Secretary Stimson, who said he would see if her request could be met.

Several suffrage special trains arrived tonight. They are to be followed by others tomorrow. Trains from New York and east brought hundreds of women to participate in Monday's pageant, and the attendant rallies which will be brought to a climax tomorrow evening with a mass meeting in a downtown theater and an overflow meeting in the street.

LEADERS ARRIVE.

Among the suffragist leaders who have reached Washington are:

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett of New York, and Mrs. Susan Walker Fitzgerald and Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick of Boston. Miss Helen Keller, the deaf and blind writer, one of the speakers at the suffrage rally in Continental Hall, following the great parade, reached the city tonight and was given a royal welcome by a committee from the general headquarters. Miss Inez M. Holland of New York, who is to be the herald of the parade, was another leader who engaged the attention of the Reception Committee.

Members of Congress joined the women at a banquet tonight in honor of "Gen." Rosalie Jones and the suffrage "hikers."

Among the speakers were Senator Shafroth of Colorado, Representative Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama and Representative Edward P. Taylor of Colorado.

DEMOCRATIC SPLIT WIDENS.

While Withdrawal of Martin Assures Selection of Kern for Senate Caucus Chairman, Fight Continues

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1. — The withdrawal today of Senator Martin of Virginia from the race for the chairmanship of the Democratic caucus, carrying with it the Senate floor leadership, caused a renewal of interest in the reorganization of the Senate after March 4, when the Democrats come into control of that body.

Early indications that Senator Martin's withdrawal would result in the selection of Senator Kern gave way late in the day to evidences that the contest for control of the Senate organization is not yet ended. The chief point of contention remaining is the demand of the reorganization forces that places on all of the important committees be distributed without regard to the service Senators have had.

Senator Martin's withdrawal was interpreted by many of the Senate leaders today to be an assurance that the new Senate will be organized in harmony with the new administration. Senator Kern is believed to be in accord with Mr. Wilson's views on most public questions, while Senator Martin, notwithstanding his support of the Baltimore platform, has been considered by the reorganization forces as a conservative.

Simpson Piano Co.
ASSIGNS
Eilers Takes the Stock

And you never had such a wonderful chance to get a piano of absolutely unquestionable quality as you have now, while we are disposing of this entire stock of the famous Simpson Piano Co., of Riverside, Redlands, Pomona and San Bernardino. Twenty-one full carloads have been brought to the store, and they must be disposed of without any loss of time whatsoever. Mr. Simpson for years sold pianos to the most exclusive and wealthiest homes in America. He was one of the foremost buyers of high-grade instruments and handled none but the finest pianos. And the entire stock which we have just received from his stores is being placed on the Los Angeles piano market at prices that absolutely command immediate attention.

Think what it means to see hundreds and hundreds of the most beautiful pianos grouped on one floor.

In one corner alone there is a Decker worth $650, a Mason-Hamlin worth $500, a Fischer worth $450, a Steinway worth $500, an Emerson worth $600, and the price of any of them is $267. Come early and take your choice, for if you delay they are sure to be gone at this figure, you will miss another of the piano buying opportunities for which the House of Eilers is famous.

$500 Steinway $137 $1 Down, $1 Weekly.

$450 Hazleton $225 $1 Down, $1 Weekly.

Kranich & Bach $235 $1 DOWN $1 Per Week

SUPERB TONE Warranted $350 Value Reduced $147 $1 DOWN $1 Per Week

If You'll INVESTIGATE, You'll Buy One NOW!

It is astonishing how fast these pianos are going away. All are unanimous in their great enthusiasm over this wonderful sale. The nation's very proudest names, the most exclusive makes, the very best that money, no matter how much, can buy, are placed within easy reach of every home. And not only are the prices reduced, but the payments are as low as $1.00 a week. See the superb instruments that we have brought together in the large downstairs main salesroom, over 400 of them in all, and every one reduced. $600 styles only $335; $475 styles only $172. Some of your friends have had to pay $500 at other places for the same pianos exactly that you can buy here now for $274, $212 and $164, and plainer cases for still less. There never was such a cutting down of prices on such costly and beautiful pianos. You will never forget it if you get one of these instruments. You will always regret it, if you don't.

A WORD AS TO TERMS—

While these drastically cut prices should be for SPOT cash only, in order to treat every one fairly and give all an equal chance, we will accept even easier terms of payment than ever before. In fact, no reasonable offer will be refused. As little as $6 down and $6 a month will now secure a splendid piano.

A Word as to Terms

Hundreds can be bought for $10 down, dozens for $5 down and 150 brand new instruments are offered during the sale for $1 down and $1 weekly.

Schubert $237 $1 DOWN $1 Per Week

AUTO PLAYER $293 $1 DOWN $1 Per Week

World's Greatest Sale of World's Best Pianos

Here's the Story of the Big Purchase in a Nutshell

The Simpson Piano Co., deciding to come to California, made contracts with the greatest piano manufacturers in the United States, whereby they agreed to take a large number of instruments. They had arranged for the establishment of stores at Riverside, Redlands, Pomona and San Bernardino, those great centers of the Orange Belt. But the recent frost has made money so scarce in those sections that they have been forced to abandon their ideas, give up their contracts, and turn their entire stock on hand over to Eilers Music House. Twenty-one carloads of beautiful new instruments have been sent here to sell for whatever price they will bring in the open market. No such chance to buy the world's finest pianos has ever been offered before.

Labor.

ALL PROFITED BUT THE PUBLIC.

The "All" Are the Miners and Venders of Coal.

Nagel Analyzes Anthracite Strike Agreement.

No Benefit at All to the People, He Declares.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Hard coal companies increased the wages of their employees at the rate of $4,000,000 a year after the strike agreement of last May and increased the price of anthracite to consumers $13,450,000, according to a report based on an investigation by the Bureau of Labor, submitted to the House today.

The report shows that all the operators, most of the dealers and the miners, had all gained by the increase following the wage agreement and that the consuming public alone paid higher prices without any compensation.

REPORT BY NAGEL.

The report submitted by Secretary Nagel is the result of an investigation conducted in response to a House resolution asking for the elements of cost and profit included in the present high price of anthracite.

An average increase of 26 cents a ton in wholesale coal prices was discovered to have been made since the strike agreement of last May. In spite of the fact that the workers benefitted about $4,000,000 in increased wages during the year, the report adds that "the recent increases in prices have ben more than sufficient to compensate fully those companies whose costs of production have increased most rapidly during recent years, and at the same time have very greatly increased the profits of those companies, of whom there are at least several whose costs of production either decreased or remained stationary during the same period."

Coal for domestic use increased a fraction over 31 cents a ton, and pea coal and the smaller steam sizes 16 cents a ton. These figures were based on comparison of net receipts by the operators after the agreement of May last with their receipts during the same months, June to September, 1911.

OPERATORS' GAIN.

Of the more than $13,000,000 gained by the operators after the strike agreement, $10,900,000 was derived from general increase in prices and about $2,550,000 from the suspension of April and May discounts while in addition a limited number of operators are reported to have "received very large sums through the sale of coal at premiums made possible by the shortage of shipments," incident to the strike. The discounts of 40 and 50 cents a ton customarily allowed in April and May on domestic size coal were suspended during those months in 1912.

As a result the operators not only gained by saving this discount, says the report, but in addition purchasers who were unable to secure their usual supply in those months were forced to buy it during June, July or August, when discount rates were smaller or in September and later when full circular prices are charged. The $13,450,000 the report says, was not net profit because out of it came the cost of the six weeks' cessation of work by the strikers and also the increase in their wages.

The increase in wages, however, the report adds, represents a raise of only 8 to 10 cents a ton in the cost of coal production.

WHAT THE PUBLIC PAID.

The report does not estimate how much more the public paid for its coal last year than in 1911, although it says the increase in wholesale prices affected retail prices directly and that in all communities these advances were felt. The retail increases averaged 25 cents a ton on stove and 40 to 50 cents on chestnut coal.

In New York, Philadelphia and Washington, retail advances "correspond very closely with the advances in the circular prices of the operators." In some places, however, the advances were much more pronounced, and the report cites Springfield, Mass. and Manchester, N. H., where it was approximately $1.50 a ton and Boston and New Haven where it was 50 cents. The retail dealers, it says, benefitted very unequally from the price advances. Whether these increases were reasonable must be determined, the report adds, for individual communities.

The report shows that the coal companies affected by the Supreme Court decision of last December had until then a still further advantage in that their contracts with independent companies by which they secured domestic coal at 65 per cent. of tidewater prices where not disturbed when the price of coal was increased in June. While the so-called independent operators paid their miners the same increases in wages as the larger coal companies, they got only 65 per cent. of the price raise while 35 per cent. of it, or 8.75 cents a ton, went to the big companies.

As to the anthracite mine workers, the report says they benefitted by the strike agreement of May 20 last, not only by an average increase of 5.6 per cent. in their wages, but through the concession of certain working conditions which were considered of importance, although they cannot be measured in terms of money; an additional item of importance to the miners being the partial recognition of their organization, both in the negotiations and in the form in which the agreement was signed.

DES MOINES (Iowa) March 1.—John Davis was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary after he had told Judge Henry he preferred hard labor in prison to returning to his wife or contributing to her support.

Davis was given a week to determine which he would prefer—imprisonment or reconciliation. He was offered his liberty on a bond of $1000 to obey the court's order.

"Thank you, judge," he said, "I would prefer hard labor in prison against such a bond."

He laughed as he was taken from the courtroom, after sentenced had been pronounced.

ST. LOUIS, March 1.—A suit to break the will of Thomas F. Hayden, who died last April leaving an estate of $600,000, was filed here today.

Archbishop Glennon of the Catholic Province of St. Louis, and twelve catholic institutions, to each of which $10,000 was willed, are named as defendants. The suit was brought by P. S. and P. A. Naughton, nephews, and by Edward C. Naughton, a grandnephew. They each were bequeathed one dollar.

Frederick Ziebig, one of the real estate men named as a defendant, said today, that the will was drawn in exact accordance with Hayden's desires. "The allegations of the petition are absurd," he said. "Mr. Hayden spent nearly a year in travel before his death, and was in possession of all his faculties. I understand that he showed the will to a number of his friends."

MY WAY BY ME

If you are neglecting your teeth through fear of pain, or from lack of faith in dental advertisements, my proposition will interest you. I guarantee to perform dental operations positively WITHOUT PAIN TO THE PATIENT—and I make good. My system is perfection—not an experiment, but a realization, and I prove its worth every day. It is safe, certain, quick in action, and is especially adapted to the nervous or those in poor health. Neither age nor physical condition proves any bar to its use. If you continue to procrastinate, in view of the services I offer, you cheat yourself and miss a good thing into the bargain, because teeth that can be saved NOW may be lost by further delay.

I believe in dentistry by specialists, but I do not believe in letting boys or students practice on the people who entrust their teeth to my care. I am personally responsible for everything done in this office, and I think too much of my reputation to employ men to work on my patients whom I would not let work on my own teeth. If you think as I do on these matters, I believe you will consult me because it is to YOUR INTEREST to do so.

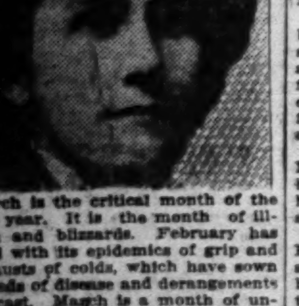
How to Escape the Bad Effects of March Weather

MRS. CHARLES ANSPAUGH.



March is the critical month of the whole year. It is the month of ill-health and blizzards. February has passed with its epidemics of grip and holocausts of colds, which have sown the seeds of disease and derangements broadcast. March is a month of untoward weather, but is the month that reaps the consequences of February derangements. If one succeeds in getting through with the month of March even tolerably well, the rest of the year will be comparatively easy.

Every household ought to be provided with Peruna. If you have had grip during the winter and have not recovered your former health and strength you surely need Peruna. Peruna restores the appetite. Peruna increases the digestive powers. Peruna regulates the bowels. Peruna strengthens the nerve centers. Peruna does all these things, and without any untoward results. No family should allow themselves to be without Peruna during the month of March.

The symptoms of grip are: First, begins with a cold not due to exposure. Second, a number of people attacked at same time. Third, confined chiefly to head and respiratory organs. Fourth, accompanied by high fever for several days. Fifth, serious after effects. Convalescence slow.

The experiences of the people that Peruna is a remedy for grip have been uniformly good. Very few if any have been disappointed in Peruna as a grip remedy.

Mr. C. O. Peterson of No. 3327 N. Hamilton ave., Chicago, Ill., had a severe attack of the grip, which left him very weak. He was in a condition that he was unable to do any work. He began to take Peruna and in two weeks was strong and well. The consequence is he always keeps Peruna in his home.

Mr. George E. Pratt, No. 828 Nineteenth street, Moline, Ill., writes concerning his wife: She had had the grip. After using two bottles of Peruna she was greatly relieved. So much so that she continued the treatment for a short time, when she was thoroughly cured. After noting the effect that Peruna had in the case of his wife, Mr. Pratt took the medicine himself for the grip. Not, however, until after he had taken several other remedies without any improvement. The Peruna completely cured him.

Mr. C. J. Powers, No. 1621 Williams street, Denver, Colo., says that the grip had left him very weak. He took Peruna and at once he began to gain strength and was finally cured. Since then when I do not feel well or have taken a cold, I always take Peruna and it never disappoints me in its action.

Thus we might go on indefinitely to recite cases where people have suffered from the after effects of grip. Then they have resorted to this remedy or that remedy. Finally they have been constrained to take Peruna. The result is always favorable.

If the people generally understood the benefit of Peruna no household would be without it, during the month of March especially, when climatic diseases prevail so extensively.

Mrs. Charles Anspaugh, R.F.D. 1, Kimmell, Ind., whose portrait is given above, writes: "Peruna has been a godsend to me. I can feel safe in saying that it saved my life, as I was all run down and was just miserable when I commenced taking your Peruna, but am on the road to recovery now. I cannot thank you too much."

I CURE

PILES

FISTULA AND ALL RECTAL DISEASES WITHOUT AN OPERATION

BY MY PAINLESS DISSOLVENT METHOD

I Guarantee to Cure Every Case I Accept for Treatment.

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and railroad surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to all others. I cure without surgery and my patients are never confined in bed and never lose a moment's time from their business.

With my method I absorb pile tumors by medication, applied (or driven in,) by a mild electric current. The piles are absorbed in a few treatments, leaving the rectum in a healthy, normal condition. There is no danger, no bad after effects and no pain or soreness.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatment administered by me in my office.

If you are a sufferer from rectal trouble, I invite you to investigate my method thoroughly by talking or writing to any of my cured patients. If you will call at my office I will be pleased to give you the names and addresses of many well-known Los Angeles people I have cured, whom you may interview in regard to my treatment.

I TREAT NO DISEASES EXCEPT THOSE OF THE RECTUM AND BOWELS.

REV. EDWARD BROOKS CURED.

My Dear Dr. White: I wish to express to you again my heartfelt appreciation for what you have done for me. After suffering for years with the worst form of hemorrhoids, YOU HAVE CURED ME COMPLETELY, and during the treatment I did not turn aside from my usual work. I therefore commend you and your method to all sufferers from rectal disorders. Very gratefully yours,
REV. EDWARD H. BROOKS (Baptist Minister,) 2812 Menlo Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.

REV. D. N. BURTON CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. White cured me without pain of piles, hemorrhage and ulceration of the rectum. Before going to him I was a semi-invalid, hardly able to get about. Since taking his treatment I have not missed a single Sunday from being in my pulpit. It is one year since he cured me, and I have not had the slightest return of the trouble. I recommend him to all and will gladly write to any sufferer who is in doubt and tell them what Dr. White did for me.
REV. D. N. BURTON, Pastor First Christian Church, Collinsville, Oklahoma.
Formerly of Ocean Park.

MR. D. R. THAYER CURED.

After suffering twenty years, Dr. C. H. White cured me of prolapsus and ulceration of the rectum. I know of many Los Angeles people he has cured and I will be glad to talk or correspond with any one needing treatment.
D. R. THAYER, 420 S. Flower St., Los Angeles.

Warner's Safe Remedies

Nature Gives Warning

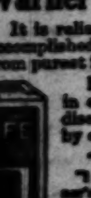
Statistics show that thousands have kidney trouble in the less advanced stage, without knowing just what their ailment is and many carelessly neglect themselves until the poisoning of the system makes them aware that their kidneys are diseased.

Nature, however, has equipped the human body with a perfect system of danger signals, more perfect than those used by the best regulated railroad, and they should be as effective. If you have a lame back, torpid liver, cloudy urine, inflammation of the bladder, these are your danger signals. You need

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy

It is reliable and has back of it 35 years of success, having accomplished important results where other remedies failed. Made from purest ingredients; it is pleasant to take.

Do not neglect the danger signals—Kidney trouble once in evidence, if not watched, may develop into Bright's disease, which is most feared by everyone.



"Perfectly Well and Strong"

"I cannot speak too highly of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy, as it cured me of liver trouble, from which I had suffered for years. I tried many remedies. I despaired of getting well until I tried Warner's. After using it 3 months I am perfectly well and strong."—Sam Runnels, Denver, Colo.

Twenty-one Hundred Delinquent California Corporations Have Until Tomorrow to Pay Tax.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO (Cal.) March 1.—Twenty-one hundred delinquent corporations will have to pay one or both of their corporation franchise taxes by Monday evening, March 3, or their charters will be forfeited, according to announcement made today by State Controller Nye.

Controller Nye says that many of the 2100 corporations on which the Board of Equalization levied a corporation franchise tax have not paid either of the 1912 installments. Some paid the first annual installment but have not yet liquidated the remainder of the annual tax.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All You Need is a 25 Cent Bottle of "Danderine"—Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant at Once.

Immediate? — Yes! Certain? — that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's hair after Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it; surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Johnson's Thousands.

more than California. Four others pay the same, $10,000.

SALARY AND PERQUISITES.

But this $10,000 has gradually grown to be the smaller part of the appropriation for the Governor in California. Here is what Hiram Johnson has been given by the State the last two years:

Salary	$20,000
Housekeeping expenses	17,500
Free house rent (about)	5,000
Repairs for house	10,000
Auto for Mrs. Johnson	3,200
Total	$55,700

It is true that Gov. Gillett drew the same salary, and for part of his term had the privilege of spending $8750 a year for the upkeep of the Governor's mansion if he so desired. But the figures in the State Controller's office show that Gov. Gillett, although he kept the Governor's mansion open practically all the time, in contrast with its usual state of desertion during the Johnson regime, and although Gillett entertained frequently, in marked contrast to Johnson, he was able to keep well within the appropriation. The same difference is shown in the use by Gillett and of Johnson of the secret service fund for which the Governor is required to give no accounting, and which is not included in the above summary. And the State bought no automobile for Mrs. Gillett, nor did it spend $10,000 in housecleaning for the predecessor of Johnson.

SECRET SERVICE FUND.

The Governor of California is allowed $22,750 a year to spend without accounting for a dollar of it. Five thousand of this, however, is the secret service fund.

Comparisons may be made for the last two years of Gillett's term and the first two years of Johnson's, they receiving from the Legislature the same amounts for these periods—less the special appropriations for Johnson. In Gillett's first two years he had less to spend for the upkeep of the mansion.

In his last two-year period, Gillett used only $1685 of his $10,000 secret service fund. Johnson bumped his fund $5802.96 in a like period.

SIGNIFICANT COINCIDENCE.

It is an interesting fact that the largest draft appearing against the secret service fund was drawn by Alex McCabe, private secretary of Gov. Johnson, on June 3, 1912. The amount was $1556.50. Drafts on this fund have usually been small. One may surmise the nature of the secret service for the State which cost $1556.50 in June of last year. It must, from its size, have been an important matter. To fix the time more definitely, it was just before the Governor went East to the Chicago convention. Evidently there was something doing in the way of "secret service" at that particular and interesting period, but as the Governor need not account for a cent of the fund, what this interesting secret service was may never be known.

Secret service cost the State some small sums for the next several months, during which both Gov. Johnson and his secretary, McCabe, were in the East campaigning, with expenses presumably paid by the Progressive National Committee. But early in November there was $500 worth more of secret service, and on November 20, a further draft against the fund of $300.

During the first six months of his term Gov. Johnson drew $1100 for secret service as against nothing drawn by Gillett for the same six months in the similar two-year period. For the next fiscal year of twelve months Johnson drew $2319.96 of secret service funds as against $1110 for Gillett. For the last six months, Johnson drew $1437, as compared with $575 by Gillett.

NO MAN CAN SAY.

No man can say what this money was used for by either Gillett or by Johnson. But the figures show an apparent tendency on the part of Johnson to use the money of the State more freely than was the custom of Gillett. This seeming tendency is evident also in the housekeeping accounts of the two administrations. Gillett, despite his more hospitable use of the Governor's mansion, kept well within his appropriation and was even generous in the amount he left to his successor, Johnson. Gillett, with $21,394.25 available from this fund for the last two years of his term, spent $16,532.80, leaving an unexpended balance for Johnson of $4861.35. The fund becomes available at the beginning of the fiscal year, and to be square with Johnson, Gillett would have left just half of $8750. But he used only $3888.95 himself for six months and turned $4861 over to Johnson for the other half of the year.

Gov. Johnson, with $22,361 available to spend for his house during the first two years of his term, had already used $19,768.75 of it early in February and must get along until June 30 with what remains.

In both cases the sum available for expenditure really covered thirty months of appropriation. But comparisons are for similar periods of use.

SNAPS FOR RELATIVES.

Johnson's young son, recently out of school, is provided for with a fat job under State Bank Commissioner William, an appointee of Johnson's. A nephew has been placed in the State Printing Office. Johnson's other nephew, Albert, failed to land when he refused to take orders and insisted upon supporting La Follette and then Wilson.

SALARY INSUFFICIENT.

Those who know Hiram Johnson best place no credence in reports that he will be a candidate for United States Senator next year, for the simple reason that he cannot live on the salary of a Senator. The salary is less to begin with than that he receives as Governor, and there is no free house rent nor $8700 a year for "ham and eggs." Johnson has always been a spender, has always lived up to or beyond his income, and requires a large one to make both ends meet. If he were elected Senator, it would be necessary for him to resume the practice of law to eke out his income. It is probable that he will either return to the practice of law at the end of his term or become a candidate for Governor again.

SUPPLY BILLS TIED UP.

Public Building Measure Declared Dead as Door Nail and Postal Appropriations are in Conference.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Postoffice Appropriation Bill was sent to conference today by the House after a motion of Representative Murdock of Kansas to disagree to the Senate amendment increasing the pay of the railroads for carrying the mail by about $9,000,000 had been voted down.

The Senate amendment to the Indian Appropriation Bill to pay a claim of the Pottawattomie Indians amounting to about $500,000 has tied up that supply bill in conference. The conferees have disagreed and the House will be asked to insist upon elimination of that amendment and further conference.

Carrying a total of $28,048,624, an increase of $3,824,514 over the House total, the General Deficiency Bill was reported tonight to the Senate by the Senate Appropriations Committee, with the intention of pressing it for passage before adjournment. The committee added $2,305,257 to pay a Ute Indian claim and fixed the salary of the secretary to the President at $7500 a year, instead of $6000 as authorized by the House.

"The Public Buildings Bill is dead—dead as a door nail." Chairman Burnett of the House Public Buildings Committee said tonight.

Mr. Burnett added that the Senate had insisted upon its amendment for many millions of dollars for various projects and that it had been impossible to reach an agreement.

Gloomy.

KNOX CENSURES KENNETH TURNER

AUTHOR IS STILL IN TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

Inflammatory Letters and Misleading Statements that Have Been Seriously Detrimental to the American Community Are Laid at His Door.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ANAHEIM, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prof. R. Izer Turner of the manual training department of the Anaheim High School has just received word that his brother, John Kenneth Turner, has been captured at Mexico City, and Prof. Turner stated today that the situation looked very gloomy to him and that he feared he would be put to death.

He also stated that his brother went to Mexico City last October for the purpose of doing some journalistic work there. While Madero was alive his brother had no trouble, but as soon as Diaz was in power trouble was experienced. He had been formally arrested two weeks ago, but was released, as no charge was found against him. Several days ago he was again arrested, said his brother here, this arrest being made without a warrant. Prof. Turner said that it was his opinion that Diaz had convinced American Ambassador Wilson that his brother was not a desirable citizen and surrendered him to the Mexicans. He claimed that his brother's mission down in Mexico practically was to try and teach the Mexicans that their conduct would bring intervention on the part of the United States.

INSPIRED MADERO.

John Kenneth Turner is the author of "Barbarous Mexico," and Madero stated to the writer of the book that he owed his success to this book. Prof. Turner received a telegram from Secretary of State Knox yesterday in regard to the situation, but is not at all satisfied with its contents and says that they are trying to place the blame on his brother instead of doing their duty in the affair. The telegram reads as follows:

KNOX'S TELEGRAM.

"Washington (D. C.) Feb. 27.

"R. I. Turner, Anaheim, Cal.

"In response to your telegram to the President requesting that some action be taken to prevent the execution of John Kenneth Turner at Mexico City, the department instructed the Embassy to bring the alleged impending execution of Turner to the attention of the Mexican government and to request that nothing be done until this government could inform itself of the facts, in response to the department's instructions. The Embassy reports under date of February 24, that it would appear that several days ago Turner approached the citadel outpost and in some sort of a movement was carried into the citadel along with other persons. The Ambassador adds that Turner has never been in the slightest danger of punishment of any kind or of execution. The Ambassador further states that prior to the recent outbreak in Mexico City, Turner was writing inflammatory letters to El Pais, a paper published there, in which he claimed to have accurate information that the government of the United States was prepared to seize Mexican territory and to intervene. Assuming that you are a friend of Turner and that your advice would carry weight with him, I would add frankly that reports to the department quite distinct from corroborative reports of the Embassy, indicate that the articles which Turner has been writing for El Pais, are not only misleading, but are seriously detrimental to the safety of the American community in Mexico.

[Signed] "KNOX."

HOUSE MEETS ON SUNDAY.

Legislators Break the Sabbath to Clear Decks of Legislation.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—After working until nearly 1 o'clock this morning, passing the workmen's compensation law and halting a mass of routine appropriation bills, the House took a recess until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Majority Leader Underwood announced it would be necessary for the House to resort to the unusual expedient of meeting for regular business on Sunday because of the situation as to the big supply bills.

In order to obviate the necessity of a Sunday appearing as a legislative day in the record, a recess was taken preserving the legislative day of March 1.

Crowd Lavish Display.

country, containing our future generals and admirals, will march in this division.

Next will come the militia division, headed by the National Guard of the District of Columbia. Brig.-Gen. Albert L. Mills, U.S.A., will command this division. The entire National Guard of New Jersey will be in line. Other States which will be represented by many of their guardsmen are Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Maine and North Carolina. The cadets from the military schools of the country will march, too, in this division, among them the cadets from the Virginia Military Institute, the Culver Military Academy, the Carlisle Indian School, Purdue University, the Citadel Cadets and the Georgia Military Academy.

POSITION OF WAR VETERANS.

The third division of the parade will be composed of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Union Veteran Union, the Spanish War Veterans and various other patriotic organizations. In command of this division will be Gen. James E. Stuart of Chicago, a veteran of the Civil War and of the Spanish war.

The fourth grand division, led by Chief Marshal Robert N. Harper, chairman of the Committee on Civic Organizations, will be composed of civic organizations, mostly political, from all parts of the country. In it will march 2000 Tammany braves from New York. Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, as well as the District of Columbia, will all be represented by Democratic organizations.

INDIANS TO PARTICIPATE.

One of the features of this division will be a band of American Indians, dressed in the costume of their ancestors. Nearly 100 huntsmen, in pink coats of the hunting field, all members of the hunt clubs which go to make up the United Hunts of America, will also be in line.

The Princeton students, the President-elect's escort from his home in the New Jersey town, will head the college men section of the parade. It is expected that they will wear orange and black "blazers" and white trousers. The committee in charge of this section has decided that it will not be necessary for the college men to wear the conventional cap and gown, which was selected as the costume for them. At least seventeen colleges and universities in all parts of the country will have contingents in the parade. Among the other institutions which will be represented are the University of Virginia, Georgetown University, University of Wisconsin, Johns Hopkins, Davidson, George Washington, Tusculum and Dartmouth.

The national capital will have a corner on the music market inauguration day. Scores of bands and fife and drum corps will be here to march with the various organizations. The Committee on Music has arranged that the first band to pass the President's stand, which will be the United States Marine Band, shall play "Hail to the Chief," but that the rest of the bands shall play other airs in order to prevent the monotony which would arise if all the bands played the same air.

All along the line of march will be stationed members of the Boy Scouts of America, ready to render first aid to any of the marchers who may become ill or to any of the spectators. Ambulances and hospital attendants will be on the scene also in case it be necessary to remove any of the sick or injured.

When the last of the marchers have passed the President's stand, and dusk has come on, the street illuminations will be flashed on, transforming Pennsylvania avenue into a veritable fairy land. Myriads of incandescent lights will be strung in festoons across the avenue at intervals of 100 feet from the Capitol to the White House. The lighting of the court of honor will be even more elaborate. Big searchlights will flash over the dome of the Capitol and the Washington monument. The plaza in front of the Union station will be illuminated also.

With the abolition of the inaugural ball, the center of attention will be the display of fireworks the night of inauguration day, which will take place on the big elliptical tract of ground back of the White House grounds. The set pieces will be attached to balloons, which will carry them high in the air, and they will be fired by electricity. The Star Spangled Banner will float across the sky and will be greeted by the national salute. "Wilson and Marshall," written in huge letters, will be another device spread over the heavens. Jewel mines, thousands of fireflies, a great silvery falls, representing Niagara, will be among the pieces set off. For more than two hours this display will be kept up. The masterpiece, however, will be a picture of President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall, which will cover 2000 square feet as it floats across the sky.

VISITORS TO BE CARED FOR.

The arrangements for the comfort and protection of the citizens of Washington and their thousands of visitors have been carefully made.

Congress has appropriated $25,000 for the maintenance of public comfort and for the erection of public convenience stations.

The Inaugural Committee itself has arranged for a bureau of information, and will distribute booklets showing the points of interest in and about the capital.

Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police, will have scores of chiefs of police from other cities in Washington during the inaugural period, and they will aid him.

Knox Declines to Commit the State Department.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Great Britain's final word to the Taft administration on the Panama Canal tolls dispute, made public today, insisted that a case for settlement under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty has arisen, but suggested in effect that there would not be time to discuss the subject further before the United State government changed hands.

Secretary Knox acknowledged receipt of this communication without committing the State Department to an answer, reserving to his successor the decision of the question of whether it is proper to make such answer at all, or to await another communication from the British government continuing the argument.

THE BRITISH NOTE.

The note follows:

"His Majesty's government is unable, before the administration leaves office, to reply fully to the arguments contained in your dispatch of the 17th ultimo to the United States Charge d'Affaires at London regarding the difference of opinion that has arisen between our two governments as to the interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but they desire, in the meantime, to offer the following observations with regard to the argument that no case has yet arisen calling for any submission to arbitration of the points in difference between His Majesty's government and that of the United States on the interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, because no actual injury has as yet resulted to any British interest and all that has been done so far is to pass an act of Congress under which action held by His Majesty's government to be prejudicial to British interests, might be taken.

"From this view, His Majesty's government feel bound to express their dissent. They conceive that international law or usage does not support the doctrine that the passing of a statute in contravention of a treaty right affords no ground of complaint for the infraction of that right and the nation which holds that its treaty rights have been so infringed or brought into question by a denial that they exist must, before protesting and seeking the means of determining the point at issue, wait until some further action violating those rights in a concrete instance has been taken, which in the present instance would, according to your argument, seem to mean until tolls have been actually levied upon British vessels from which vessels owned by citizens of the United States have been exempted.

"The terms of the proclamation issued by the President fixing the canal tolls, and the particular method which your note sets forth as having been adopted by him, in his discretion, on a given occasion for determining on what basis they should be fixed do not appear to His Majesty's government to affect the general issue as to the meaning of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty which they have raised. In their view, the act of Congress, when it declared that no tolls should be levied on ships engaged in the coasting trade of the United States and when in further directing the President to fix these tolls within certain limits, it distinguished between vessels of the citizens of the United States and other vessels, was in itself and apart from any action which may be taken under it, inconsistent with the provisions of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty for equality of treatment between the vessels of all nations. The exemption referred to appears to His Majesty's government to conflict with the express words of rule 1 of article III of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and the act gave the President no power to modify or discontinue the exemption.

"In their opinion, the mere conferring by Congress of power to fix lower tolls on United States ships than on British ships amounts to a denial of the right of British shipping to equality of treatment and is therefore inconsistent with the treaty irrespective of the particular way in which such power has been so far actually exercised.

"In stating thus briefly their view of the compatibility of the act of Congress with their treaty rights, His Majesty's government hold that the difference which exists between the two governments is clearly one which falls within the meaning of article I of the arbitration treaty of 1908.

"As respects the suggestion contained in the last paragraph, but one of your note under reply, His Majesty's government conceives that article I of the treaty of 1908 so clearly meets the case that has now arisen that it is sufficient to put its provisions in force in whatever manner the two governments may find the most convenient. It is unnecessary to repeat that a reference to arbitration would be rendered superfluous if steps were taken by the United States government to remove the objection entertained by His Majesty's government to the act.

"His Majesty's government have not desired me to argue in this note that the view they take of the main issue—the proper interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty—is the correct view, but only that a case for the determination of that issue has already arisen and now exists.

"They conceive that the interests of both countries require that issue to be settled promptly before the opening of the canal and by means which will leave no ground for regret or complaint. The avoidance of possible friction has been one of the main objects of those methods of arbitration of which the United States has been for so long a foremost and consistent advocate. His Majesty's government thinks it more in accordance with the general arbitration treaty that the settlement desired should precede rather than follow the doing of any acts which could raise questions of actual damage suffered and better, also, that when vessels begin to pass through the great waterway in whose construction all the world has been interested, there should be left subsisting no cause of difference which could prevent any other nation from joining, without reserve, in the satisfaction the people of the United States will feel at the completion of a work of such grandeur and utility."

SCOTCHING THE BILL MAKERS.

Council of Education Finds Proposals Pernicious.

Acrimonious Debate in Meeting Yesterday Afternoon.

Legislators Entertained Last Night at Banquet.

The Council of Education of the Southern California Teachers' Association, composed of thirty members chosen by the last convention of the association, met yesterday in the State Normal building to discuss proposed legislation.

The real hot discussion of the entire meeting was on the proposed manner of forming the new State Board of Education. A committee, headed by Hugh J. Baldwin of San Diego, reported in favor of the Boynton bill, after amending it in a half-dozen different places and cutting out the only salient features it possessed. This naturally would be of no effect, inasmuch as neither the Legislative Committee handling the bill nor the Legislature itself would be guided entirely by what Southern California wants. Mark Keppel called attention to this in a forcible way, arguing that to undertake to amend the bill would entirely vitiate any influence the Council of Education might have upon the final passage of one bill or the other, and he proposed the substitution of the Wyley-Caminetti bill, which is evidently the more desirable of the two, and if it had not been for the changes suggested by the committee, the Boynton bill would have no standing whatever with the members of the Council. As it was, the vote indorsing it was fourteen to ten.

The main features of the Boynton bill are that it contemplates a State Board of Education of seven members; approve courses of study for all schools in the State; appoint three assistant superintendents to supervise the schools of the State; the seven members to get no salary but be paid $10 a day for each day actually spent in the work. The committee proposed to strike out all these objectionable features and reduce the number of the members to five.

A LACK OF UNITY.

Mark Keppel moved to substitute the Wylie-Caminetti bill, denounced the Boynton bill as pernicious and ridiculed the idea of attempting to amend it and then give it indorsement. The Wylie-Caminetti bill proposes a State board of three, composed of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and two appointees of the Governor. One of the appointees to have supervision of the free text books and the other of the school finances, and each to receive a salary of $5000. This bill interferes in no way with the functions of county and city boards of education, nor with any of the duties of county superintendents, and it is quite remarkable that it was not readily accepted by the Council of Education, instead of trying to make the other bill exactly like it, with the exception of the number of men on the State board.

There was some talk that the Boynton bill was another step in the direction of eliminating politics from the schools. H. M. Rebok took a fall out of this by saying:

"There is much said about politics, and I say the effort and tendency is to take the schools entirely out of the hands of the people, where they belong, and put them in the hands of a few."

A resolution was adopted urging the passage of the bill proposing a Normal College for this city, and every principal and superintendent was requested to unite in efforts to have it passed.

The High School Committee reported against two bills that contain the same objectionable features as the Boynton bill, proposing to fix the courses of study for all the High Schools in the State. All three of these bills are fathered by the State University. The Council indorsed Senate Bill No. 446, which leaves management to the trustees of the several schools.

The troublesome teachers' pension question was too big to get through with and was handed up to a large committee, of which W. H. Holland is chairman, to urge the passage of a flat-rate law.

Last night the members of the Council met the members of the Legislature from Southern California at dinner in the University Club, Superintendent J. M. Rhodes of Pasadena presiding.

Cree T. Work was the first speaker, he presenting for the consideration of the legislators the bill for the establishment of a Normal College in this city. He presented statistics showing that over 16,000 students were in the High Schools of Southern California, two-fifths of all the High School students in the entire State; that there are over 100,000 children in the common schools of Southern California, one-third the number in the entire State, and added: "We need the college where the children are," and with numerous other arguments urged the passage of the bill.

Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, who has just been made the first female assistant superintendent of schools in Los Angeles, spoke against the repeal of the law requiring equal pay for men and women for equal service. "The very soul of this California," she said, "is to secure simple justice."

Miss Anna I. Jenkins, in a voice that touched the soul of her hearers, presented briefly the cause of the kindergartens, reviewing their history from the earliest day to the present. Reciting the great sums of money that are spent on high schools, she said: "But, what's the use of putting on a fine polish unless you have a good foundation?"

H. Bloodgood, one of the representatives in the Legislature from this city, was introduced to speak upon the subject of teachers' pensions. Bloodgood is a speaker of rare ability and had the audience in an uproar from the start. It began to look as if he had forgotten all about the pension proposition, when he started a laugh by saying:

"Now, before I get down to this pension business"—and he stopped to point to the empty platters on the table—"you want to get our votes, just tell us what you've done."

After relating a few more humorous anecdotes and adding a touch of pathos, he spoke earnestly in favor of a flat-pension law.

Senator N. W. Thompson spoke upon the "Reorganization of the State Board of Education;" Mark Keppel, on "The State School Fund," and A. B. Sherer on the "Taxation of Colleges."

Fierce Laborite Bills Backed by Johnson Ring.

point a chief deputy who shall reside in San Francisco, and assistant deputies for the cities of Los Angeles, San Diego, San Jose, Sacramento and Fresno; also assistants and "extra help." The commissioner to receive $4000 per annum. Fine opportunity for a couple of hundred faithful unionites. Lyon also introduced a day of rest bill. He introduced more union labor bills than any other legislator.

One by Assemblyman Ambrose, the Boyle Heights grocer, provides for weekly pay days for all employees of public service corporations, contractors, etc. Employees leaving employ shall be paid the following day and those discharged paid in full the day discharged. Violation of the provisions of the act is punishable by a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $10,000 for each offense. Ambrose offered a constitutional amendment providing for the recall of judicial decisions. Both unionite measures.

KINGSLEY'S.

Bills by Assemblyman Kingsley of this city abolishing the militia, legalizing picketing, doing away with the property qualifications for jurors and a number of other red propositions, including a bill to fine citizens who fail to vote.

BOYNTON'S.

A drastic employer's liability by Senator Boynton of Oroville. Most revolutionary in character and would be a burden upon every property owner in the State. It is designed to shift the burden of responsibility for injuries or death of employees to the employer and is a blow directly aimed at industries in California. Providing for and enforcing a liability on the part of employers to compensate employees and the dependents of such for accidental injury or death in the course of employment; and creating an Industrial Accident Commission of three members to be appointed by the Governor at fat salaries. Boynton also introduced a bill giving the State the right to engage in the insurance business and compete with private insurance companies. O.K.—union labor.

MANY OTHERS.

Assemblyman Moorhouse of Imperial presented an act conferring authority on the Railroad Commission to prevent gas and water corporations from extending their services beyond a reasonable capacity or to limit the amount they furnish to consumers. It would stifle legitimate development and throttle honest business, say opponents of the measure—a Finn-McDonald measure.

Assemblyman Ryan of San Francisco offered an act to "protect the public against combinations and conspiracies and to discourage monopoly and encourage competitions among corporations and persons." It doesn't "protect the public against union labor conspiracies."

And bills to abolish capital punishment, to regulate collection of wages, to establish industrial courts, to compel cash payment of wages, to remove property qualification of jurors, legalizing picketing, providing for "free speech," abolishing steamboat and railroad police, establishing "home rule in taxation" (single tax,) giving State power to engage in any kind of business, empowering judges to charge juries with respect to fact and state the testimony; one providing that in criminal cases three-fourths of a jury may render verdict; one giving Labor Commissioner and deputies powers of Sheriff and other peace officers to make arrests and serve processes; one to regulate sale of real seate, establish industrial welfare commissions at high salaries; more jobs and hundreds of other Red and paternalistic measures framed solely in the interests of the union labor outfit.

On with the uplift!

One Day's Additions.

NEARLY SIXTY THOUSAND MORE FROM COME-ONS.

Known victims of swindling organization to date and the amounts they report having lost:

Jacob Harder, Washington rancher	$25,000
F. J. Brooks, Los Angeles	21,500
Newton J. Walker, Lancaster, Cal.	10,000
C. D. Mulholland, Texas farmer	5,200
G. P. Friescz, Illinois farmer	5,000
William Scholle, Iowa farmer	2,000
W. F. Noll, Milwaukee	2,525
A. N. Koehler, Spokane	1,500
Mrs. Adah Wiltsie, Los Angeles	1,500
Mrs. Maud Zickrick, Los Angeles	200
Mrs. Laura Labo, Los Angeles	150
J. J. Lyons, South Dakota	50

In addition to those named scores of men and women have told of losses ranging from $25 to $35,000, the latter amount having been lost here on a bunco game by a wealthy Minnesota farmer.

Profits netted by the swindling operations carried on here and in near-by cities took an upward leap yesterday when four additional victims reported to the police a combined loss of $58,000. In each instance the method used was the same, which appears to dispose of any doubt as to the existence of an organized gang of swindlers, confidence men and race-track gamblers whose operations extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Jacob Harder, a wealthy rancher of Ritzville, Wash., complained to the police of Pueblo, Colo., that he had been fleeced of $25,000 in Denver by three men who met him in Los Angeles a week ago and "framed" for the fake horse race scheme which was apparently consummated in Denver. F. J. Brooks, No. 1124 South Olive street, told the local police how he was swindled out of $21,500 in Memphis. He identified the picture of J. W. Byrnes, wanted here on a felony charge, as being one of the men who robbed him. Newton J. Walker of Lancaster told of losing $10,000 through a scheme worked here and in Oakland, while A. N. Koehler, a retired farmer of Spokane, explained to Chief Sebastian how he had been separated from $1500 in exactly the same manner.

Koehler picked out the pictures of Lee Rial and J. W. Byrnes without hesitation and identified them as two of the men who he says buncoed him out of his savings. Subsequently he went to the County Jail and without suggestion of any kind picked out Rial from perhaps fifty prisoners there. He will probably be used as a witness against Rial at the latter's preliminary examination tomorrow before Justice Reeve. Walker was unable to identify any of the pictures shown him, but partially identified Charles Duby, recently brought from San Francisco, as one of the men who inveigled him into a fake horse-racing scheme where he lost his bank roll.

Information tending to show the recent existence of a fake poolroom at Redondo resulted early yesterday morning in the arrest of Robert Lockhart. Detectives from the Central Station went to Redondo and returned with their prisoner, who is held pending an investigation into his possible record. Up to the present he has not been identified as having had any connection with the swindling operations.

At the present time the swindling disclosures have resulted in the arrest and detention of three men: Rial, Duby and Lockhart, and warrants are out for three more. The detectives have worked almost day and night during the past forty-eight hours in an effort to apprehend one of the men against whom a complaint has been issued by the District Attorney's office. The search for Byrnes, whose connection with Rial has been shown and who has been identified by his picture as the alleged book-maker at the various fake poolrooms, so far has been devoid of successful results. His wife, according to her statement, has heard nothing from him since his mysterious disappearance the day Rial was arrested. When asked by Chief Sebastian whether or not she would notify the police if she learned of her husband's whereabouts, she said she would if she thought such a course would benefit her husband.

Both Chief Sebastian and Deputy Dist.-Atty. Shannon, in commenting on the situation as it has developed thus far, were of the opinion that the hauls made by the swindlers had been far greater than indicated by the number of persons who have come forward and told of their losses. Those who have lost most heavily, according to the officers, are unwilling to talk of their experiences and be of assistance in the present investigation because of the fact that they were engaged in an unlawful game at the time they themselves were fleeced.

Peace.

SPOKANE MAN OF MILLIONS DIES.

MADE VAST FORTUNE ON MINES IN THE BOOM DAYS.

Maintained Winter Home Here and Resided in Retirement in Recent Years—Widow, Daughter and Two Sons to Divide Estate—Body to Be Taken North for Burial.

One of Spokane's pioneer citizens, I. N. Peyton, multi-millionaire, real estate operator and mining man, died at his Los Angeles home yesterday morning, No. 153 St. Andrews place, at 6:20 o'clock, following an illness of three or four months. Dr. W. H. Edwards and several other specialists were in attendance at the time of his death, which came as the result of a complication of stomach and kidney trouble.

"Col." Peyton, who was a brother of Valentine Peyton of Westlake avenue, had a wide acquaintance in this city, having been a frequent visitor to Los Angeles for many years and having established a winter home here about eight years ago. He was a native of Danville, Ill., having been born there seventy-one years ago, February 12. He enlisted for the Civil War and served four years.

He then started West, going first to Colorado for his health. There he entered the newspaper field as a reporter and special contributor to the Denver daily papers and in the early '80s he moved to Spokane. He was married to his present widow in that city twenty-seven years ago. His first business in the northern city was real estate. Then he became interested in mining in British Columbia and was the developer of the famous Le Roy mine at Rossiyn, B. C., a part of which he sold to London capitalists for $3,000,000.

Shortly after that he retired from all active work and for the past twenty years he has not been actively engaged. One of the large office buildings in Spokane bears his name.

His fortune will be divided by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. J. M. Blake of San Francisco, and two sons, lie in state from 2 until 9 o'clock at Horace C. and Hiram J. Peyton, who recently finished their courses at the Harvard Military School. How extensive the fortune is the heirs are not able to state, but it will run well about $5,000,000, according to conservative estimate.

"Col." Peyton was one of the popular men of Spokane and was a member of numerous societies and clubs, the highest Masonic orders, the Elks, Legion of Honor, G.A.R. and others. The Masonic bodies will have charge of the burial. The body will the Sutch Undertaking Parlors here today and the Peyton family will start with it for Spokane tomorrow morning. The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon in the northern city.

TO VOTE ON LIQUOR QUESTION.

Woman's Club of Redondo Beach Declare in Favor of Submitting Matter to the Voters.

REDONDO BEACH, March 1.—The matter of a wet and dry election was discussed at the meeting of the Civic Outlook Club, an organization of women. A resolution was passed to request the Civic Improvement Association, formerly the local Anti-Saloon League, to take up the matter. It was at first the object of the Civic Outlook to try to secure the closing of the saloons here on Sunday by a city ordinance but it was later deemed more feasible to have the matter brought to the vote of the people to decide as to whether the town shall be wet or dry.

Plans were made yesterday by the club to make the third week in March as far as possible a general planting week for the town. Congressman W. D. Stephens has sent to the club 150 packages of garden and flower seeds and these will be distributed among the school children as an incentive to gardening. Prizes will be awarded by the club women to the children for the best flower and vegetable gardens. Although there has been no attempt to have the municipal planting of trees, the women hope to have a general planting week at this time throughout the city with a view to beautifying it.

Mrs. C. A. Hubbard read an excellent paper at the club on "Our Flower Gardens," in which she designated the proper time and way to plant certain flowers.

Mrs. W. M. Browning gave a reading, "The Violet Lady" by Florence Morse Kingsley.

Drs. Shores' Great Free Offer to the Sick

Extended to March 9 Only—A Thorough Free Medical Examination to All

It's your opportunity to accept Drs. Shores & Shores great special free offer FOR THIS WEEK ONLY of a thorough medical examination and expert advice free to demonstrate their skill as chronic disease specialists, and to further impress upon the minds of the afflicted the great importance of taking advantage of this, the most favorable season of the year to get quick and lasting cures. All who suffer with Deafness, Catarrh, Hay Fever or any Chronic or Nervous Disease are invited. Drs. Shores will point out the SORE and WEAK spots, and will tell you FREE what the NATURE and CAUSE of your ailment REALLY IS, and IF and HOW you can be cured and what it will cost. This is a rare opportunity for the sick and afflicted to get an expert opinion on their case free. Difficult and obscure cases especially invited. Come this week and find out the cause of your trouble. Absolutely FREE.

DRS. SHORES, Specialists

Drs. A. J. and G. W. Shores have spent many years in the study and treatment of Chronic and Nervous Diseases of Men, Women and Children. They have treated over 100,000 cases in the past twenty years—an experience rarely ever granted any specialists—and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price, not because they don't know how, but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and, in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to the treatment of CATARRH, CONSUMPTION, CHRONIC and NERVOUS DISEASES EXCLUSIVELY. There is where they excel and there is where they can serve you better than most any one else. Don't be a permanent invalid.

They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure it. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to CURE it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat and the Lungs, and they know what to do for these troubles. Health is your greatest asset. GET CURED NOW.

CATARRH, DEAFNESS AND EAR NOISES.

Why not try the treatment that cures? We have published many testimonials from well-known and reliable people, who have been cured of Catarrh, Asthma, Deafness and Ear Noises. If you suffer from any Chronic Ailments, why not come and see the Doctors who cure? Call or Write.

Blight of a Bad Breath.

Do people shun you because you have an offensive breath? Certain forms of catarrh, commonly called "ozena" or dry catarrh, have a very offensive odor.

KIDNEY AND LIVER

Troubles, Sallow Complexion, Pain in Back, Burning or Smarting when urinating. Puffiness under the Eyes. Heed these warnings. Bring a sample of urine and have it tested free. Call Today.

PROMINENT SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH

THE HEAD AND THROAT.

This form of catarrh is most common, resulting from neglected colds. Quickly cured with little cost by Drs. Shores' famous treatment.

- Is your head stopped up?
- Does your nose discharge?
- Is your nose sore and tender?
- Is there pain in front of the head?
- Is your throat dry in the morning?
- Do you sleep with your mouth open?

You can be easily cured now. Don't let it run into complications.

THE BRONCHIAL TUBES.

When catarrh of the head or throat is neglected or wrongfully treated it extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes, and after a while attacks the lungs.

- Have you a cough?
- Do you take cold easily?
- Have you a pain in the side?
- Do you raise frothy material?
- Do you spit up little cheesy lumps?
- Do you feel like you were growing weaker?

Don't risk neglecting these warnings—stop the disease before it reaches the lungs.

OF THE EARS.

Catarrh extends from the throat, along the eustachian tubes into the ears, causing partial or complete deafness.

- Is your hearing failing?
- Do your ears discharge? Do they ring?
- Is the wax drying in your ears?
- Do you hear better on some days?
- Does a cold make your hearing worse?

Don't neglect this until your hearing is irreparably destroyed.

OF THE STOMACH.

Catarrh of the stomach is usually caused by swallowing poisonous mucus which drops down from the head and throat at night.

- Are you constipated?
- Is there nausea?
- Do you belch up gas?
- Do you bloat up after eating?
- Is there constant bad taste?

Now is the time to be permanently cured. Drs. Shores are curing hundreds every year.

THEATRICAL BENEFIT.

Members of the Maskers' Club at Pasadena Will Present "The Substitute" Next Friday Evening.

PASADENA, March 1.—The Maskers' Club will be the next to go on the boards with an amateur show. "The Substitute" is to be presented by it at Clune's Pasadena Theater next Friday night, and it promises to be as much a society affair as was "The Campus Mouser," a short time ago.

Miss Margaret Hall,

Pasadena lass with rare personal charm, who is to appear in a benefit performance Friday evening.

The piece is a bright, sparkling comedy, and several of those who had leading roles in "The Campus Mouser" will also appear in it. Miss Margaret Hall, who was one of the "Mouser" stars, has a leading part in "The Substitute."

The Maskers' Club for several years has given a play or two each winter, until some of the members are becoming very proficient actors and actresses.

WATTS BRIEFS.

WATTS, March 1.—Candidates for the office of school trustees are already announcing themselves. William Kuhns is the first citizen to shy his hat into the ring, and says he enters the race on his own account, and because he wants to be elected. Mr. Kuhns has lived here a number of years. He is a contracting carpenter.

Numerous deals in local real estate are reported by the real estate men, and prices appear to be advancing right along. It is claimed that the fact that Watts is soon to build a $10,000 public library, and in view of the plan to vote $80,000 bonds for a municipal water system and a fire fighting system, business has been stimulated to a point where people consider property here good investment.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

BANKERS WILL TALK IT OVER.

Alleged "Money Trust" Subject for Consideration.

Young Society Women Spend Day Selling Pencils.

Merchant Falls Dead in His Grocery Store.

PASADENA, March 2.—Two prominent eastern bankers who are vitally interested in the reports made to the House of Representatives at Washington last Friday by the Pujo "Money Trust" Investigation Committee, are now in Pasadena. They are G. M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, which is included in one of the groups into which the committee in its majority report classifies "the parties to this combination, or understanding, or community interest," and his brother Arthur Reynolds, president of the Des Moines National Bank and vice-president of the American Bankers' Association.

G. M. Reynolds declined last night to make any statement, either pertaining to the three divergent reports of the members of the Pujo committee, or the leter of J. Pierpont Morgan, made public the day before. Arthur Reynolds said:

"I think that the ultimate end to which this will come will be good, but how it will work out I do not know. For one thing, many facts have been brought out and that will do a great deal. Publicity is a great leveler. The report of the Pujo commitee and the monetary question in general, will, of course, be the chief subject to be taken up at the meeting of the executive committee of the American Bankers' Association, which will be held in New York State, May 5, but I cannot say what the attitude of the committee, which is composed of 100 members, will be. The bankers want a reform currency law. Whether the recommendations of the Pujo committee, if carried out, will affect individuals too much, I don't know.

"Other matters besides that of currency are to be considered at the coming meeting of the American Bankers' Association's executive committee. The association is much interested in agriculture and considerable attention will be paid to this subject, which is already an important one."

BUSY DAY SELLING PENCILS.

The Hotel Green was the center of attraction for Pasadena society yesterday. Some half hundred prominent residents of the city and eastern visitors now at the large hotels devoted the day to raising funds for the Pasadena Day Nursery. Handsome young women were busy early in the morning selling pencils, and the afternoon and evening were replete with novelties at the Hotel Green, which was headquarters for the affair.

Tea was served there in the afternoon and early in the evening there were a number of fashionable dinner parties. These were followed by an auction sale of dolls and flowers in the Romanesque room, and this was succeeded by a dance, which was carried out in Coney Island style, to the extent that those who danced paid for their dances as they passed through a gate.

Several of the young women at the Green wore picturesque costumes and sold various things to those who danced or looked on.

Miss Edith Reed, daughter of Charles Reed, a prominent New York financier, wore a Turkish costume and sold cigarettes and cigars, which she carried about heaped high on a platter. Her costume was elaborate. Others who appeared in fancy dress are Miss Clera Bailey of Cincinnati; Miss Laura McNulta of Chicago; Miss Lucy Soper of Bloomington, Ill.; Miss Ruth Gardner of Quincy, Ill.; the Misses Winifred and Beatrice Paddock of Philadelphia and Miss Helen Reed, New York.

Many Pasadenans also took an important part in the events at the Green. Mrs. Robert Neustadt of Altadena had charge of the pencil sale, by which a large sum was realized for the nursery.

FALLS DEAD IN STORE.

Henry Holbrook, the veteran grocer of the city, died suddenly at the Pasadena Grocery, in which store he had an interest, yesterday morning. He fell unconscious on the floor and died within a few minutes. He was a prominent member of the First Methodist Church. He leaves, besides a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Guy S. Bliss of this city; and a brother, Calvin Holbrook, who lives at Reedly, Cal. The funeral services will be held at the First Methodist Church at 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Matt S. Hughes will officiate. Interment will be made at Mountain View Cemetery.

ENTRANCE LIST CLOSED.

The number of candidates for City Commissioner under the new form of government that is soon to become operative had been raised to forty-one when the office of the City Clerk closed yesterday noon.

The primary election will be held on the 12th inst. and interest is becoming intense.

WELLS ARE SOLD.

Announcement was made yesterday of the sale of the Franklin wells of the East Pasadena Land and Water Company to a syndicate composed of H. W. Bower of Los Angeles, L. W. Burlingame of Portland, Walter J. Martin of Seattle and Joseph T. Elliott, Jr., and Sanford oodbury of this city. The consideration was $100,000.

Henry Newby, one of the officers of the East Pasadena Land and Water Company, in a statement yesterday said, in part:

"Mr. Webster, the former president of the company, is unable to say what the new owners intend doing with the property, but he understood that it will be improved with modern machinery for pumping water. The transaction is one of public interest to the citizens of Pasadena as these properties have four valuable wells with a pumping capacity of about 400 inches of water."

The Lincoln Avenue and Northwest Improvement Association has determined to take up with the County Supervisors the question of constructing a storm drain to extend from Palm avenue to the Arroyo Seco near Piedmont drive.

At a special session held yesterday morning the City Council enacted on final reading the ordinance which will admit of applicants for liquor licenses under the provisions of the recent charter amendment being closely questioned by the Council.

Soldiers' Home.

GENERAL BARRY ASSUMES CARES OF HIS NEW OFFICE.

SOLDIERS' HOME, March 1.—Gen. P. H. Barry, recently appointed governor of the Pacific Branch, National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, to succeed Col. T. J. Cochrane, took on the duties of his new office this morning.

It has been told how, when wounded in the ankle at Antietam, he was mustered out, and how, upon recovery, the undaunted hero returned to the strife only to retire once more with an armless sleeve. Upon the return of peace, he won his way to success in peaceful pursuits, and subsequently aided in bringing to perfection, while adjutant-general, the organization of Nebraska's National Guard and retiring as brigadier-general, commanding a brigade, and finally, his appointment by Congress as a member of the board of managers of the National Home for Veterans.

Gen. Barry's experience and success in these varied fields, give promise of capacity in management of the sometimes difficult affairs in this home for aged veterans.

The general, under instructions from the president of the board, arrived at the Home several weeks ago, with a view to becoming somewhat familiar with existing conditions in the branch, and in order to learn where improvements might be effected, if practicable, upon assuming command.

Since coming here, the general has devoted each day to acquainting himself with details in the various departments. Having in mind that providing the veteran stomach with good and relishable victuals in sufficient quantity, properly cooked and dished up, is an important feature when peace and contentment of his aged charges is under consideration, the general, in company with former acting-Governor E. W. Moore, has been giving close daily attention not only to quantity and quality of supplies provided by the subsistence department but to methods employed in their preparation in the culinary departments of the several messes.

Gen. Barry is possessed of a sympathetic nature. He has already, in his visits among veterans, shown a readiness to listen patiently, to the grievances of veterans, and he enjoys the happy faculty of searching out their cause or weighing reasons for complaints, and of applying the proper remedy. While his policy in treatment of veterans, he says, will be one of kindness and gentleness, there will not be lacking dignity and firmness, essential to government of this vast institution, in a spirit of fairness and justice to all concerned.

Gen. P. H. Barry,

New governor of the Soldiers' Home, who took over the duties of his office yesterday.

Asked if he contemplated any early changes of importance, he replied:

"I have no radical changes in view at this moment, but may have later, and will take them up from time to time, as needed. One matter under immediate consideration, is, the establishment of a "segregation barracks." A place where unfortunates addicted to the drinking habit may be taken care of, kindly treated, and at the same time be thus prevented from disturbing their peacefully-inclined fellow members."

Co-operation.

SUNNY SLOPE RANCHERS WILL WORK TOGETHER.

SAN GABRIEL, March 1.—Seventy-five residents of the Sunny Slope district met at the home of James R. Slack last night and organized the Sunny Slope Improvement Association. The purpose of the new organization is to secure gas and electric service for the people of the community and eliminate certain lines of business which are considered inimical to the interests of the section.

Attorney Emberson was made temporary president of the body and a meeting will be held Thursday evening at which permanent organization will be effected and steps taken to have the association incorporated under the laws of the State.

A committee composed of E. E. Alpaugh, James R. Slack, B. L. Brown, A. J. Anderson and B. J. Hines was appointed by President Emberson to draw up a constitution and bylaws for the government of the organization. Meetings will be held each month and while the promoters of the body will not talk freely about the purposes and plans of the new society, it may be stated positively that radical action will be taken on several matters which have been impossible of solution because of a lack of unity of action. Development plans of considerable magnitude are also a part of the programme laid out by the organizers.

PIONEER WOMAN PASSES.

Mrs. Rebecca Clark Douglas Dies from Heart Disease at Her Home in Covina—News Briefs.

COVINA, March 1.—Mrs. Rebecca Clark Douglas, wife of Summerfield Douglas, died at her home on Badill[illegible] street shortly before 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Death came from an enfeebling of the heart caused by repeated illnesses to which she had been subject in late years. She was 64 years old. The funeral was held this afternoon at the Covina Methodist Church, Rev. S. L. McConnell officiating. A mixed quartette sang a number of appropriate hymns.

Mrs. Douglas was born in Glanf[illegible], county of Wentworth, Canada. Her early years were spent in the town of her birth, and she was married to Summerfield Douglas January 1, 1878. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas lived on Burlington Plains, Can., until 1885, moving from there to the city of Hamilton, where they lived until 1895. They then went to Pembina county, North Dakota, and lived there nine years, when Mrs. Douglas came to Covina, her husband following two years later.

Besides an aged mother, she leaves two brothers, Joseph Clark at South[illegible]ville, Can., and Edwy Clark of Tillbury; four sisters, Miss He[illegible] Clark, who lives at the Covina home and who was with her at the time of death; Miss Alice Clark of Tillbury; Mrs. Elizabeth Padgham of New York City, and Mrs. Anna Old of Gladst[illegible], Minn. There are two sons, Gord[illegible] C. and Howard T. Douglas, both living in Covina, and two daughters who have been awaiting her coming on the other side—Lillian Douglas, who died in 1896, and Gertrude Douglas, who died in 1898, both [illegible] years old at the time of death.

Samuel T. Evey, a veteran of the Civil War, and a man who has held many public positions during his long life, passed away Wednesday evening at Charter Oak, at the age of 73 years. He had for some time been occupying the position of postmaster at Charter Oak.

Mr. Evey came to California [illegible] years ago. He was born in Akron, O., April 21, 1840, and lived for the greater portion of his life in that city, and in Falls River, Kan. During the war he was a member of the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth Indiana Volunteers, serving the entire four years, and emerging from the war with the shoulder-straps of a lieutenant.

Mr. Evey occupied the position of township judge in Greenwood county, Kansas, at one time, and has also been in the United States postal service as postmaster. The funeral was held at the home at Charter Oak Postoffice Friday afternoon.

were a number of warm ex- of remarks between repre- s of the improving company property owners, and the ugly word was far more lied, many times, in the suc- arguments. There has never piece of road work done in since its incorporation which d the bitter criticism which street's improvement, and it looks as though the end of the trouble may not yet be in sight.

The only relief which the Councilmen seemed able to give the petitioners was the setting forward one month of the date for the payment for the work, and there is said to be an agreement on the part of the road-building company that they will keep the road in repair for a period of two years, if the property owners will accept and pay for the job. It is said to be doubtful, however, if this offer will be accepted.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Dr. Lyman Beecher Sperry, the noted lecturer on social hygiene, is to address a men's meeting at the First M. E. Church in this city on Sunday evening, March 2. At this meeting boys under 15 years of age will not be admitted. Dr. Sperry comes here under the auspices of the County Y.M.C.A., the chairman of the Educational Committee of that body being Edward C. Harwood of Upland. There will doubtless be a large attendance at this meeting.

The Pacific Electric railway has been granted a franchise to operate its cars over certain streets, alleys, etc., of the city of Upland for a period of fifty years, under certain restrictions, as imposed by the ordinance granting the franchise. The depot of the company in this city is to be placed at Third avenue, near the junction of C street and this point meets with the approval of a majority of the citizens.

Confer Bros., who have conducted a feed and fuel business in this city for several years past, have discontinued same and are removing with all their horses, mules and equipment to Montana, where they expect to engage in ranching and stock raising.

HARMONY STRIKES A SNAG.

Effort to Recall Hemet Trustees Is Hampered by an Effort to Restore Peaceful Conditions.

HEMET, March 1.—The second meeting of the advocates of harmony in the administration of Hemet's civic affairs resulted in the abandonment of the plan of harmony and the circulation of petitions demanding the recall of the remaining two Trustees who up to this time have had no charges preferred against them.

The charges included in these latest petitions are, it is understood, failure to appoint by the city an inspector for the sewer work; lack of judgment in carrying on the city's business, and inattention to the city's affairs. The result of these last petitions is that the entire board of five now rests under the threat of recall. It is reported that the three early petitions have sufficient signatures and have already been filed with the City Clerk.

The above action grew out of the failure of the harmony league to secure the resignations of the two Trustees against whom no charges had been preferred, and inability to get together on a new slate. At the meeting of Thursday night, the committee appointed to wait upon the present Trustees and secure their resignations reported that they had taken no action as two of the league's suggested candidates had refused to allow their names to be used. This necessitated the selection of two more. After a number of names had been suggested, among them that of Mrs. W. P. Stump, former president of the library board, who declined the proffered honor, a process of elimination left those of W. F. Weisland and W. B. Tripp to take the places of H. C. Draves and John Isle, who had refused to accept the nomination.

Mrs. W. P. Stump, present at the meeting, expressed regret at the course of action in asking Messrs. Clayton and Van Winkle to resign, explaining the weakness of the course of inducting an entirely new board on the city in the midst of its numerous civic improvements, and expressing surprise that the resignation of the Trustees against whom no charges had been brought should be asked. N. S. Charnock also registered a protest against such action, advancing as his opinion that it was the wrong way out of the difficulty.

As a result of these measures of recall petitions, Hemet now has five Trustees who are under threat of recall and the solution of the difficulty is no nearer. It is understood that at the next meeting of the City Council the resignation of Trustee E. L. Smith will be tendered. It is not known whether or not it will be accepted.

NOISY PLEA TO SQUANDER CASH

Neylan Attempts to Justify Riotous Expenditures.

Expands on State Sop to the South as Excuse.

City Club Tables Resolution to Approve Bills.

For the purpose of attempting to justify the riotous expenditure of the State's money which the present administration is seeking to appropriate, John F. Neylan, president of the State Board of Control, for two hours harangued the City Club at its weekly luncheon at the Angelus Hotel. He recited lengthy columns of figures in alleged justification of the enormous budget.

Neylan selected the few items in the appropriations which will come to Southern California as a plea for support of the entire appropriations bill. He spoke generally of the supplementary amount of $2,500,000 which is demanded and cited stories of oleomargarine being furnished inmates of the various State institutions in lieu of fresh butter as evidence of a saving spirit being rampant in his breast.

He deftly passed over the enormous total of $52,000,000 of the State's funds being sought by saying that as this was only the amount that was estimated as needed the actual amount that would be appropriated would be vastly lower.

Neylan spoke to some length in support of the budget system of securing moneys from the State as against the present system.

He said that out of the many millions asked from the State, Southern California is to get $601,600 for its own use and the rest to be distributed elsewhere.

In a loud voice Neylan urged the support of Southern California to the appropriations and cited the citrus station at Riverside as an illustration. He said that $185,000 was to go to this establishment. He also told of the $60,000 to be devoted to the Patton institution and of a like amount to be used at the Sixth Agricultural District. He recalled attention to the fact that $22,000 was to go to the Normal School here and $15,000 to the Whittier School, and that $200,000 would be expended for a training school for girls.

Following Neylan's talk, which consumed over two hours, T. E. Gibbon introduced Chairman Young of the State Assembly, who spoke briefly in eulogy of the local organization.

A resolution introduced to approve the appropriation bills was tabled until a future meeting.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, March 1.—The last day of the open season for ducks found Lake Elsinore the scene of some pretty shooting. Spoonbills were plentiful and hunters were likewise plentiful, many securing good bags before the count was made. The hunting has been good throughout the year and continually numbers of nimrods have been here.

A jolly affair was the masquerade ball given Friday evening in the Bank Hall, when Mrs. C. S. Bolting's dancing class held a reunion and with their friends to the number of about forty couples danced the hours away. All sorts of costumes were worn, Little Bo Peep, Red Cross nurses, clowns, flower girls, Spanish ladies, Little Red Riding Hood and other fanciful characters were seen.

The contract for the sewer construction will be awarded at the regular meeting of the City Trustees Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Pearson and family, recently from Port Townsend, Wash., have completed a cottage on Sumner avenue.

VOTE TO CONDEMN.

EL CENTRO, March. 1.—Directors of the irrigation district affected voted today to take steps to condemn, under the right of eminent domain, certain holdings here of the California Development Company, recently ordered sold to satisfy judgments in favor of bondholders of the New Liverpool Salt Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Fullerton.

TANGLED AFFAIRS ARE BEING STRAIGHTENED.

FULLERTON, March. 1.—The committee appointed several weeks ago to investigate the affairs of the National Home and Town Builders' Association, has completed its report. There was no money available to meet the interest on bonds due February 1 of this year, and the officers and a large majority of the stockholders, it is said, are in favor of closing up the present company or consolidating it with some other concern.

The committee had an expert auditor go over the books and his special report shows that the company has, during the past year, received $19,110.45 in cash for operation expenses of the company and that it has received $19,334.62 in cash, which under the terms of the trust deed, the expert accountant has designated in his report as funds which should have been reinvested.

The report further shows that $35,898.80 in cash was actually used in operating expenses and $3546.26 in cash was actually invested by the payment of taxes, interest and betterments for the property. In addition to the cash, $5754.66 in values was used in operating expenses; in other words, the report shows that there has been used during the past year the total sum of $22,043.01 for operating expenses over and above the amount that has been received for that purpose, and therefore that the assets of the company have been reduced by the said sum of $22,043.01 during the past year.

The conclusions the committee draws from the report is that the resources of the company amount to practically $56,284.82, and that the liabilities of the company approximately are $101,536.24. The committee states that the resources represent about 50 cents on the dollar to the bondholders.

As stated, some of the stockholders are in favor of closing up the affairs of the company at the earliest date possible while others favor the consolidating with some other building association. One Los Angeles company has offered to take over the stock at 50 cents on the dollar with the understanding that the valuations placed on the National Home Builders property is not too high.

The report shows that there is only $4.10 on hand, and that it is necessary to raise about $1000 to take care of bills which must be paid immediately. The expenses of making the investigation will cost the stockholders $718.65, which includes $460 for the expert accountant.

About $60,000 worth of stock in this company is held by residents of Orange county and the remainder belongs to residents of Los Angeles and other places.

Another meeting will be held next Thursday in Los Angeles to either take steps toward consolidating with some other company or to close up the affairs of the company. Experts hold that if the company discontinues business and does not go into some other building association, that present stockholders will not receive more than 15 cents on the dollar.

P. Gildea of Anaheim has $3000 worth of stock in the company, and a woman in this section also has $2000 worth of stock in the concern.

It will be remembered that a large majority of the stockholders of the Orange county concern voted to go into the National Builders' Company of Los Angeles about two years ago.

Gassy Stomach Endangers the Heart

Gas and Other Forms of Indigestion Are Quickly Relieved by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Undigested food forms gas in the stomach, which causes the walls of that organ to expand and press against the heart. If this pressure heart must be kept perfectly free in should be allowed to become heavy it might result very seriously, as the order to perform its duties.

If the stomach is overworked, its muscles become tired and gradually grow weaker and weaker, until they are unable to take care of the food properly. The glands fail to provide the juices necessary to digest the food. Gases form and cause all sorts of pain, misery and wretchedness, as well as extreme danger to the heart.

It is then that the stomach calls for help. Ordinary medicines are impossible. They not only fail to help the stomach but injure the entire system. Medical men have studied the stomach and have discovered that the digestive juices consist largely of pepsin, hydrochloric acid and nitrogenous ferments. What, then, would be more natural than to supply these properties artificially when the stomach is unable to produce them?

That is the object of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These powerful little agents relieve the stomach of its burden, thereby giving it an opportunity to regain its normal strength. They tone up, strengthen and revitalize the secretory glands, mucous membranes, absorbing glands and muscular walls. They restore to the stomach its lost powers of digestion so that it can again do its work without assistance. They contain, in a concentrated form, every element necessary to digest all sorts of food, whether acid or alkaline.

If you experience an oppressive feeling just inside the lower end of your breast bone and extending upward toward your heart, do not hesitate an instant. Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from the nearest druggist at once and take one. In a few minutes the pain will leave you and you will feel better. Take a tablet after each meal for several days and your stomach will once more perform its duties. All druggists sell them at 50c a box.

DEATH RESULTS FROM ACCIDENT.

SANTA ANA DRUGGIST STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE.

Aged Man Who Was Almost Blind Walks in Front of Machine and Receives Fatal Injury—An Angeleno Is Given Contract for a New School Building—News Briefs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. R. Edwards, a pioneer druggist of Santa Ana, died late this afternoon as the result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile at noon. Edwards was nearly blind and walked in front of an automobile driven by Harry Lugar of Anaheim. His age, 79, and feeble condition were such that he could not survive the shock, though no bones were broken and there was no evidence of internal injuries.

Edwards, known to old-timers as Doctor Edwards, was proprietor of the first drug store here. For a number of years past he lived at Laguna Beach, returning here recently.

Lugar stepped into his automobile near the corner of Fourth and Main streets and had no more than started it before it struck Edwards, who was quickly doubled up under the machine. Bystanders rushed to help the injured man. He was taken to his home and died six hours later. He leaves a widow and a daughter, Miss Katherine Edwards.

CONTRACT IS LET.

The Santa Ana board of education today signed a contract with George Condon of Los Angeles for the erection of the administration building of the polytechnic high school group. Condon's bid, received last night, was $57,000. The work of construction has already commenced by those who have the contracts for the biuling of the manual arts and the fine arts buildings. The polytechnic high school group will be completed this year, and will represent an investment of over $200,000.

NEWS BRIEFS.

"The Nature Form"

Enjoy These Cold, Rainy Days Making Your Spring Apparel.

To have your own accurate figure to sew on—to bring out your own artistic designs, the effects that you will know will surely become you——to cut, fit and finish everything without once trying upon yourself until complete—

—These and many more are the pleasure derived in sewing on your own acterpart of yourself.

—Gowns, shirtwaists, underwear, etc., everything that you have previously supposed none but the professional seamstress could make, you can make with astonishing ease if you are sewing on an exact counterpart of youself.

—Not only will you at once realize this fact, but you will convert sewing, dressmaking, etc., into real, genuine pleasure instead of the irksome bore of twisting and turning to fit yourself alone.

—Prompted by this unexpected enjoyment, you will save double, if not all, of your present seamstress's bills—

—or, if your seamstress is inefficient, without your knowing it, you can immediately determine this fact by watching the progress she makes on the duplicate of you.

—The frequent expense of a seamstress, and the continual purchase of many ready-made things that you will surely enjoy making on your own figure, will soon pay you back the small purchase price you have paid for this dress form.

—By a patented process of manufacture and a scientific system of measurements, we are able to produce an exact duplicate of your own figure.

—So constructed that it is collapsible for storing or travel—bust, arms, skirt and poise adjustable to any size or position—durable and light, composed of papier mache.

—In taking your order, but a few moments are required (not necessary to be smeared over for hours with a coating of wet plaster as many inferior makes of forms require.)

—If client resides at a distance, simple instructions are given for ordering by mail.

—Instructions, or any information, desired relative to the making of gowns, etc., on your "Nature Form," gladly given by us, free—gratis.

—Demonstrations and models may be seen at our own public display rooms, 307 So. Broadway, Suites 18, 19, 20, 31, 41, 42.

Local Stock Market Activities

BY JNO. O. KNIGHT.

Steadily increasing bank clearings, greater volume of business at the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, and active commercial and industrial development throughout Southern California, all evidence the growing importance of Los Angeles as a financial center and securities market. February again broke several records, notably in bank clearings and custom receipts. More than one local bank stock also achieved a new high quotation, First National leading this advance with a gain of $30 per share for the month. Commercial National, California Savings and United States National were the others to set new records.

In the Oil list important gains were scored by Amalgamated, which advanced $8.00 per share, and Western Union, which gained $10. General Petroleum stock sold up to $35.00 about the middle of February, but eased off later to $28.50. Union Oil moved up to $97.00, but did not hold its gain, closing yesterday at $92.00. Producers' Transportation stock has advanced steadily through the month, selling yesterday as high as $90.50, a gain of over $10 per since the close of January. The company is now on a 6 per cent. dividend basis and at present quotation returns the investor about 7 per cent. The company's statement shows a rapidly growing surplus, and stockholders anticipate an early increase in the dividend rate.

Increase of capitalization is proposed for the Commercial National Bank from $200,000 to $300,000, the change to be made early in April. The new stock will be issued to stockholders at $200 per share. The California Savings Bank may also find it necessary to issue an additional $100,000 stock to meet the legal requirements of growing deposits.

A probable advance in the office price of Commonwealth Home Builders to 40 cents and increase in the dividend, have created a better demand for this stock.

A spirit of good feeling prevailed at the stockholders' meeting of the Mason Opera House Home Builders Wednesday morning, and the officers of the company were highly commended for the work of the last year. The new skyscraper to be erected by this company at Eighth and Spring streets will probably be started about April 1st.

The market for Great Republic Life Insurance stock has been quiet since completion of the promotion of this company, but strong financial interests seem ready to take up all stock that is offered at sufficiently attractive prices. Blocks of considerable size changed hands during the week at from $12.00 to $12.50.

Southern California Home Builders sold off during the week to 22½ after having advanced to sales at 24.

Los Angeles Investment was in better demand again yesterday, several hundred shares changing hands at $4.10, an advance of from one to two cents over previous sales.

Tom Reed Gold Mining has declined about 15 cents a share, due to the failure of the company to pay the extra 4 per cent. dividend February. Reason for this failure was ascribed to decreased output during the recent cold spell when water mains were frozen and work otherwise hampered.

Among the stocks figuring in the week's trading were Los Angeles Fire Insurance, which sold at from $7.50 to $8.00; California National Life, at $9.50 to $10.00; Funding Company, around 75 cents; Consolidated Realty, at $107.50; International Indemnity, at $10.00; Suburban Development Co. at $1.12½; Mason Opera House Home Builders at $2.05; Home Makers at 12½c.

STOCK LETTER.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—The market acted quite well for a week-end. While the tendency in early trading denoted some uneasiness, still price changes at the close were not material. The coppers were conspicuous for their strength owing to the brighter outlook for peace in Europe. It is anticipated that as soon as the Balkan affair ceases to be a factor of immediate influence foreigners will purchase copper metal freely. In addition it is said that there have been very large sales of the raw material lately around the 15-cent level, and that on the whole the copper industry is in a much better condition than the advices freely circulated denoted. There will, of course, be the usual amount of speculation as to whether or not the Supreme Court will make known its findings in the Minnesota rate case. Besides the coming important events in Washington will exert some pressure, but sentiment during the past week has undergone a marked change for the better, and pessimistic conclusions have been revised to a very great extent in keeping with the satisfactory state of trade and industry.

BIG SALE NEARS COMPLETION.

United Oil Company Receives Contract for Sale of Property and English Take Tentative Possession.

THE United Oil Company yesterday received the signed contract for the purchase of its property by the Oil Producers and Refiners, Limited, according to information obtained from a reliable source, and the purchasers also took possession of the United's holdings to the extent of paying operating costs and taking the profits. The United will retain possession until the final payment is made, that being ninety days after the allotment of the shares, it is stated.

The English syndicate has until May 29 to proceed to the allotment of the shares, and three weeks after the allotment, whether it occurs on or before the date mentioned, the first payment of something over $492,000 falls due, it is stated. Information is that the contracts for the purchase of the North American Oil Company and the Section Two Syndicate are on the same basis, the amounts varying, of course.

The English syndicate has expended about 50,000 pounds for the securing of a charter and other expenses, such as a geological inspection of the property, made some time last September, according to good authority, and this is regarded as sufficient indication of the likelihood of the deal's going through.

The United Oil Company brought in well No. 25 as a 10,000,000-cubic-feet gasser yesterday, and No. 26 has just entered the oil sand. Well No. 21, also a gasser, is flowing at the rate of 3,000,000 cubic feet a day.

The deal for the properties of the three companies—the United, the North American Oil Consolidated and the Section Two Syndicate—as previously outlined in The Times, involves more than $5,000,000.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The first butter decline in some time occurred yesterday, a falling of ½ cent being recorded in local creamery extras. Although the drop amounted to little, it is significant in indicating the present tendency of the moment, and, although a large falling off is not expected immediately, lower prices are only a matter of a week or so. Supplies are improving. Eggs remained steady at present low prices, and no material change is expected. Cheese should soon show an easier feeling in sympathy with butter.

Receipts of potatoes were good again yesterday, and the market still remains fairly easy. Lighter shipments of onions cause just a slight tendency toward firmness, but the supplies on hand are large. Some asparagus from the North was received, but not a sufficient quantity to affect prices noticeably. Some egg plant was in from Mexico. Tomatoes are somewhat scarce.

Malaga grapes from Spain selling at 8.50 a barrel still remain something of a feature in the fruit market. The citrus market remains rather dull, but are expected to change in the course of a few weeks. Apple receipts were again large.

Reported receipts were: Eggs, 506 cases; butter, 36,524 pounds; cheese, 7008 pounds; potatoes, 3048 sacks; sweet potatoes, 97 sacks; apples, 1261 boxes.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Union and Amalgamated Oil Stocks are Comparatively Quiet—Producers Transportation Strong.

The range of activity was good yesterday, although the volume of business was light. Union oil stocks have dropped into the background temporarily, and Amalgamated, though still continuing strong, is not as much of an attraction as earlier in the week. National Pacific held up well, on the better outlook in field developments. Associated Oil was strong. California Midway advanced a little. United continues around 36 cents, despite the developments in the deal for the property by the English syndicate. Producers' Transportation stock was strong, probably on the prospect of the coming dividend and the fact that the doubling of the pipe line is nearly completed, meaning of course the ability to transport more oil from Midway to Port Harford. First National bank stock continues high. Five shares of Citizens' National went at $260.

SAN FRANCISCO EXCHANGE.

Ascent of Consolidated as Result of Dividend Continues — Comstocks Down on Lower Silver Prices.

[Special service to The Times by E. F. Taylor, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Goldfield Consolidated was the strong feature, closing 2¼ bid, up 12 points. Florence was strong; Jumbo ext. sold down to 24 and closed 26 bid. Vernal was up 1 point. The Manhattans were strong, but unchanged. The Tonopahs were slightly reactionary. Stocks in the outside camps were unchanged. Comstocks showed no changes exceeding 1 point from last night's close. The resumption of dividends by Goldfield Consolidated has had the most salutary effect on the market. The low price of silver, which showed a break of 2 cents an ounce the past week, is more or less responsible for the present price of the Tonopahs and producing Comstocks.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—The volume of business on the curb was dull with prices in a majority of the issues unchanged. There was one sale of United Cigar Stores at ... Giroux sold off at the close. There was no feature. The Boston coppers opened with a strong undertone, but small business. At 10:30 o'clock prices improved and the trading expanded, with the largest business that has been recorded for some time. The day's business looked like good investment buying. North Butte was the leader, advancing a point easily, with Calumet & Arizona and Copper Range following close. Granby, Butte and Superior seemed ready for upward movement. The market closed firm and advancing.

New York Cotton Market.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, March 1.—The local market responded to Liverpool, opening steady and showing gains of about 5 over yesterday's close. Shortly before the close the bears started a raid, which carried the market down to 14 points off from the high of the day. This action of the market shows that for the present there is nothing that would warrant a decided swing in either direction. Meantime the American visible supply continues to shrink and now shows about 300,000 bales less than a year ago, with the result that the statistical position will gradually favor bulls. The market awaits the opening of the spring planting as the weather is the main incentive now. In the meantime it seems advisable to take advantage of such breaks as occurred today to purchase some cheap cotton.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, March 1.—(Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.) At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.97; at 5 p.m., 29.93. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 46 deg. and 56 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 72 per cent.; 5 p.m., 56 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 5 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 5 miles. Highest temperature, 61 deg.; lowest, 44 deg. Rainfall for season, 12.11 inches; rainfall to same date last season, 3.89 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—Snow is falling over the Plains States and freezing temperatures are common throughout most of the United States, only the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Coast lines being free from cold weather. The thermometer at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, showed 26 deg. below zero at the time of observation yesterday morning. The northwestern high area passed rapidly eastward and now overlies Montana and North Dakota. This movement will allow a return to decreased pressure conditions in Southern California. Sunday will be generally fair.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, March 1.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.27; at 5 p.m., 30.22. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 46 deg. and 56 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 73 per cent.; 5 p.m., 50 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 8 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 5 miles. Highest temperature, 61 deg.; lowest, 44 deg. Rainfall for season, 12.11 inches; rainfall to same date last season, 2.89 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—Snow is falling over the Plains States and freezing temperatures are common throughout most of the United States, only the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Coast lines being free from cold weather. The thermometer at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, showed 20 deg. below zero at the time of observation yesterday morning. The northwestern high area passed rapidly eastward and now overlies Montana and North Dakota. This movement will allow a return to decreased pressure conditions in Southern California. Sunday will be generally fair.

PORT ITEMS.

Pacific Navigation Company's steamer Yale arrived this morning from San Francisco and, after landing passengers and freight, proceeded for San Diego.

Steamer Doris completed discharge of 500,000 feet of lumber for wholesalers at this port and cleared for San Diego to discharge 200,000 additional feet. Thence for Raymond to reload.

Steamer General Hubbard completed discharge of 1,400,000 feet of lumber for Hammond Lumber Company at Terminal and cleared for Eureka in ballast to reload.

Steamer Wellesley finished discharging 750,000 feet of lumber for Pacific Lumber Company at Wilmington and cleared for Eureka in ballast to reload.

After discharging 375,000 feet of lumber for Southern California Lumber Company, steamer Helen P. Drew cleared for Greenwood, via San Francisco, to reload.

Pacific Coast Company's steamer State of California proceeded this morning for San Diego with passengers and freight and will touch here, north bound, on Sunday.

Schooner Ruby finished discharging 500,000 feet of lumber in Southern Pacific slip and sailed today in ballast for Coquille River to reload.

After having discharged 700,000 feet of lumber, steamer Westener cleared today in ballast for San Francisco for orders.

COPPER INDUSTRY.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

There was no London metal market yesterday.

A London cable is as follows: "American producers are asking £68 10s (14.90 cents) generally and are sold well ahead, fully 20,000,000 pounds being disposed of to Europe. Most of the copper sold was for near-by deliveries. Selling agencies appear more confident."

It is rumored that the Guggenheim interests are buying Ray, Chino and Utah.

Shrewd observers say that the copper situation is rapidly clearing and that metal prices are scraping on bottom around 15 cents. They also express the opinion that the February Producers' statement may play an important part in restoring confidence in the metal situation, in so far as stocks are not likely to show any large increase, as was the case during the past three months.

During the last three months there has been a noticeable contraction in output of the big mines, particularly Utah Copper and Nevada Consolidated. Take Utah Copper, for example. Its production in the last quarter of 1912 amounted to only 13,000,000 pounds, compared with 30,000,000 pounds in the third quarter, a reduction of 17,000,000 pounds. Part of this shrinkage must have been recorded in the January figures of the Copper Producers' Association, but the greater percentage will enter into the calculations of February, March and April. As is generally known, an actual decrease in production by the mines is not reflected in the refinery output for from three to four months thereafter. One producer estimates that February, March and April refinery output will not average much more than 125,000,000 pounds per month. If this estimate proves correct there will at least be no material increase in surplus stocks during that period unless there is a sharp contraction in deliveries.

At the present time the various concerns that consume copper are operating to full capacity. This applies to Europe as well as the United States. There has been only an infinitesimal shrinkage in Germany's consumption notwithstanding the Balkan troubles. The main trouble with German consumers has been their inability to secure adequate accommodations from the banks, and therefore have found it difficult to carry even normal supplies of copper. This condition may be remedied in the event of a settlement of the Balkan trouble.

The January output of Calumet and Arizona was 4,750,000 pounds of blister copper, against 4,700,000 in December.

January output compares with previous years (in tons:)

	1913.	1912.	1911.	1910.	1909.
January	2,280	2,272	2,020	2,248	2,218

The Miami Copper Company's production for the first ten days of February totaled 1,012,500 pounds of copper.

The Copper River and Northwestern Railroad has been tied up for the past few weeks owing to adverse weather conditions. This has prevented the shipment of copper ores from the Bonanza mines which the road serves and none has been reported since December. President Taft's suggestion that the government expend about $35,000,000 in constructing two new railroads in Alaska to open up rich mineral territory recalls the heavy expenditure which the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate has made on account of their railroad. Starting from Cordova, on the coast, the road was built to the Kennecott mines, a distance of 196 miles, at a cost approximating $23,000,000. In addition there is understood to have been put into the copper property about $6,000,000 so that the total expenditure thus far in this direction has been close to $30,000,000. Upon the investment there has been thus far returned dividends of $2,000,000, paid last year from copper profits, or 10 per cent. on the capital involved. Ownership in the Morgan syndicate is understood to be divided as follows: J. P. Morgan & Co., 51 per cent.; Kuhn, Loeb & Co., 25 per cent.; Guggenheims, 24 per cent. Originally the Alaska proposition was equally divided between Morgan and the Guggenheims, but the latter several years ago disposed of 25 per cent. to the Kuhn-Loeb interests and 1 per cent. to Morgan, giving the latter actual control. The railroad and mining properties are understood to be similarly divided as to ownership. Upon the whole a $50,000,000 mortgage has been executed, but so far as is known none of the bonds have, if issued, ever been distributed. The income from the Kennecott Mines Company operations in 1912 provided $1,000,000 in dividends and a like amount for the treasury. Should the government undertake to build new roads in Alaska as suggested by President Taft the average cost would be, it is claimed, about $80,000 per mile against $100,000 per mile for the Guggenheim road. In the construction the Copper River road had exceedingly difficult barriers to surmount, the cost of a single bridge being $2,000,000.

W. A. Clark, who is in Butte for inspection of his mining interests, says: "The copper situation is no worse than the condition which prevails in other like industries and it should be noted that all securities have gone down a little in the past week or two, which is world at the present time. The last report of the Copper Producers' Association, showing an increase of 18,000,000 pounds over the consumption last month, throws something of a damper on the situation, although there is really no occasion for this. The copper reserves amount to 200,000,000 pounds, which is only a six weeks' supply for the entire world. If the increase in production over consumption should be maintained at the rate of last month it would take two years to affect the copper market seriously. The industrial situation throughout the United States is good. All manufacturing concerns have all the orders they can handle. The position of steel is unusually good and it is impossible to secure railway equipment and structural steel without months of delay in the fulfillment of orders. The new smelting plant for the United Verde in Arizona is progressing favorably and we are now beginning to put up the structural steel. The new town is being built near the smelter which will be known as Clarkdale. We have just started operations in a large brickyard which will turn out 10,000,000 brick a day. The smelter stack will be 400 feet high, made of steel and lined with brick, and will be thirty feet in inside diameter. The capacity of the new plant will be 6,000,000 pounds per month. It should be finished in about a year. Until it is completed the other plant will be operated."

BOSTON COPPER MARKET.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

BOSTON, March 1.—Confidence in coppers seems to be returning. Heavy sales of metal around 15 cents have taken care of all copper available for sale at present and an advance in price seems likely. Following this sharp rally in order to buy stocks is not advised, but it seems well to pick them up on any reactions. Close:

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] A fleet comprising ninety-one steamships is shown on the chart today, the positions of the vessels being indicated at noon by the numbered circles.

Of the ninety-one vessels sixty-seven are in the trans-Atlantic service, thirty-one being shown proceeding west and twenty-six east.

In service between this city and American tropical and sub-tropical waters thirty-four vessels are indicated. Seventeen are proceeding south and an equal number north.

As usual at this time of year, many steamships are in service between this city and the Mediterranean. Eleven of such are shown proceeding east and nine west.

It is noticeable that none of the trans-Atlantic steamships shown is indicated in the immediate region of the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. This evident caution on the part of the commanders is due to ice warnings which in the last three weeks have been sent out by wireless by the hydrographic office of the United States navy.

In the service to American tropical and sub-tropical waters a large group of steamships appears massed between the thirtieth parallel of north latitude and this city. Indicated at different points in the West Indies are several well-known steamships ordinarily in trans-Atlantic service. All are spending Sunday in port. Among them are the Laurentic of the White Star Line (E-57) at St. Thomas, the Megantic of the same line (B-59) at Santiago; the Moltke of the Hamburg-American Line (A-53) at Havana, the Victoria Louise of the same line (F-64) at Barbadoes and the Grosser Kurfuerst of the North German Lloyd Line (B-55) at Kingston.

Prompt and Intelligent action preceded by a careful reading of the "Business Chance" columns of The Times "Liner" section will substantially increase your financial standing if persisted in for a reasonable period.—[Advertisement.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of Section 8, Article Fourth, of the Mortgage from this Company to the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, Trustee, dated September 1, 1911, this Company has set apart out of the net income derived by it from the lines of railroad therein mortgaged, the sum of $10,000.00 in the year 1912, to be used to redeem said bonds, and that bonds issued under the said mortgage will be redeemed therewith. Bids are hereby invited for the surrender of said bonds at prices to be named by the bidders, subject to the provisions of the mortgage in respect thereof, to the amount of $10,000.00 in the Sinking Fund.

Such bids should be presented to this Company at its Office in the City of Los Angeles, California, on or before the first day of April, 1913, at 12 o'clock, noon, and should be endorsed, "Bids for Surrender of Pacific Electric Railway Company's Refunding Mortgage Fifty Year Gold Bonds."

Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issues. Neither does it misbrand nor predate its editions, nor inflate its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons. The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other news-

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

A WEEK'S RECORD.

Over 1700 persons attended the Chamber of Commerce lectures last week. The attendance during the forepart of the week was especially heavy, doubtless due to the rain.

OIL MACHINERY FOR JAPAN.

Every ship now leaving San Pedro northbound carries heavy shipments of oil machinery for Japan. New oil fields are being brought in over there almost constantly and much of the machinery is bought here in Los Angeles.

TO AVOID ACCIDENTS.

Sign posts are being erected by the Southern Pacific at all mountain curves above 6 per cent. to show the degree of curve. These posts are to warn engineers to slow to a speed consistent with the curve and thus prevent derailments and possibly serious accidents.

PREPARING FOR TOURISTS.

A conference of passenger representatives of the California lines is to be held in San Francisco this week to decide on rates and dates for the summer tourist and convention season. A rate of $72 for the round trip will probably be offered to Chicago and points east of there. General Passenger Agents Batturs of the Espee, Peck of the Salt Lake, and Assistant Byrne of the Santa Fe, will attend from this city.

FEBRUARY WEATHER REVIEW.

The monthly meteorological summary for Los Angeles in February, issued by Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, shows that during the month there were nine clear days; partly cloudy, eight; cloudy, eleven; days on which .01 inches or more of rain fell, ten; highest temperature, 76 deg., on the 15th; lowest, 39 deg., on the 15th; total precipitation, 9.16; number of hours of actual sunshine, 179.4. The prevailing direction of the wind was northeast and the average hourly velocity, 6.1 miles.

BULLOCK'S SPRING OPENING.

By tomorrow night Bullock's store will be arrayed for the opening of the next day of its sixth annual "Inauguration Month." The anniversary will be commemorated through March by a brilliant exploitation of new spring merchandise. The management announces a "season of intensely attractive merchandising events." The store will give away thousands of jonquils on Tuesday. When the store opened six years ago it was situated in the outskirts of the main business district, but now it is surrounded by a number of large office and store buildings.

TWO MORE BIG SHIPS.

In anticipation of a rush of business that will tax the passenger and freight facilities of steamship companies when the Panama Canal is opened, the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, operating a line of steamers from England, has ordered the construction of two large vessels for the trade with Los Angeles, according to information received by D. F. Robertson of the Citizens' Trust and Saving Bank, local agent for the steamship line. The boats will be of 15,000 tons capacity and will be built in Belfast, Ireland. It is planned to operate the vessels from London via the West Indies, Colon, Panama to Los Angeles.

REDLANDS IN FRONT.

Redlands High School journeyed to Long Beach to meet the track team of that High School and returned home a winner by eleven points, 66 to 55. The meet was close throughout and the result was something of a surprise, as the beach team is one of the strongest in the county. Two budding phenoms were discovered in Huldett, a freshman at Long Beach, who shattered the broad-jump record by a leap of 20 feet, 6¼ inches, and Watson of Redlands, who scampered in a winner in the 50, 100 and 220-yard dashes, and finished second in the high jump. George Green of Long Beach won the 880 in good time and finished second in the broad jump.

SECOND PANAMA EXCURSION.

With the dining car loaded with California products, the Chamber of Commerce's second Panama excursion party left here yesterday. There were fifty-four persons in the party and a special de luxe train was provided, running as the second section of the Santa Fe's California Limited. The party will arrive in New Orleans Wednesday and will sail the same day on the steamer Parismina, arriving at Colon the 10th inst. Trips will be made to the Pedro Miguel, Miraflores and Gatun locks and to the famous Culebra cut. On the return trip the party will leave Colon on the steamer Cartago the 15th inst., arriving in New Orleans the 20th inst., and in Los Angeles at noon the 23d inst.

BOYS HIKE TO MOUNTAINS.

After a day spent in coasting, snowballing, sledding, snowshoeing and other winter sports on the peaks of Mt. Wilson and Mt. Lowe, fifty High School lads of this city returned yesterday from one of the hikes held under the auspices of the local Young Men's Christian Association, having experienced so they claim, all the experiences of a trip "back East." The excursion was made under the direction of J. P. Smart, secretary of the triangle division. It had originally been planned for Washington's Birthday, but was postponed because of the rain. Many of the boys had never been in the snow before, and it was a novel sensation for them. They left here Friday night, walked to Mt. Wilson, being on the trail all night, and later crossed over to Mt. Lowe.

DRUG COMPANY EXPANDS.

Several changes in the management of the Sun Drug Company were made at the annual meeting of the stockholders Friday night. A transfer of a majority of the capital stock of the company resulted in the election of these officers: Milton Geitz of Kasper & Co., president; I. Eisner of Eisner & Co., vice-president; Alexander Meyer, capitalist, secretary. F. N. Drake was elected treasurer and continued in the capacity of general manager of the Sun Drug Company's stores. With the election of the new officers, plans were made for extensive developments. Several long time leases on prominent down-town corners have been obtained and it is announced that the work of establishing new drug stores in them will begin at once.

Grains Are Declining.

Rain has caused a falling off in the prices of corn and barley, amounting to about 5 cents a hundred. Cornmeal has, however, dropped about 15 cents and hominy about 20 cents. The grain market should show an easier feeling as the season progresses.

Prize Oranges on Display.

Riverside fruit that won prizes at the National Orange Show at San Bernardino is on display at the Chamber of Commerce through the courtesy of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce. Riverside Thompson navels won the local Chamber's silver trophy at the San Bernardino show.

Costly Auto Burns.

Spontaneous combustion destroyed a $2000 automobile at No. 1532 Girard street last night. The automobile was alone in the garage at the rear of H. E. Huston's residence, when spontaneous combustion entered and wiped out both the machine and the building. All reports, fire and police, say that spontaneous combustion did it, and the total damage is $4000.

Mothers' Congress in April.

The congress of mothers for the first district will hold a one-day meeting April 10, at Blanchard Hall. The attendance will be about 200. A business session will be held in the forenoon and a programme given in the afternoon. Mrs. A. L. Hamilton of Pasadena is president of the first district, which includes the territory of Los Angeles county.

Carroll County Picnic.

Two hundred former residents of Carroll county (Ill.) enjoyed a picnic at Sycamore Park yesterday which was a record-maker itself for the enterprising society. The day was spent under the trees in a social good time, with no effort at a set programme—except for the picnic dinner which went down on schedule time, or even a little better. A. P. Green was named as the president of the organization for the coming year.

Rushing Oil Work.

Herbert G. Wylie, manager of the Mexican Petroleum Company, returned yesterday from a trip to Mexico in the interests of the company. The first of six tank steamers which the Doheny company is building has just been placed in service, and the company is rushing work for providing additional transportation facilities to handle the oil produced on its properties. The tank steamer just completed bears Wylie's name.

A Point for Voters.

The members of the local Federation of Woman's Christian Temperance Unions have received a communication from Sarah J. Dorr, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of California in San Francisco, urging them to work for the adoption of the proposed amendment to the Los Angeles City Charter that provides for "proportional representation." Attention is called to the fact that Frances Willard was an earnest advocate of this system of voting and that it was a plank in the national Prohibition party for many years.

Excise.

ONE THOUSAND DELINQUENTS.

Many Corporations Liable for Excess Tax.

Fifty Per Cent. Added to Charge on Incomes.

Fewer in Defunct List Than in Previous Years.

At the close of business last night there were approximately 1000 corporations in the Sixth District that had not complied with the excise tax law which assesses a tax of 1 per cent. on all net corporation incomes of $5000 or more.

The period of grace ended with yesterday and, unless an extension is granted, these corporations will be liable for an addition of 50 per cent. in the amount found due. In times past it has been possible to compromise such cases on terms to be submitted to the local collector and approved by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington.

The last day of payment of the tax, under the law, is June 30, 1913. At that time the delinquent corporations are certified to the District Attorney for action. Where no settlement is reached, action will follow in the United States District Court.

Under the law, all corporations, joint stock companies, and associations liable for the tax are classified as follows: Class A, financial and commercial; class B, public service; class C, industrial and manufacturing corporations; class D, all those dealers not otherwise classified; class E, miscellaneous, such as architects, contractors, hotel, theater and other companies.

The totals for corporations of all classes for the Sixth District as shown by the official figures furnished at Washington, for the year ending June 30, 1912, are as follows: Number of returns received, 6796; number of returns showing taxes due, 1189; amount of capital stock, $1,597,690,525.19; amount of bonded and other indebtedness, $484,456,219.75; net income, $39,681,183.16. The number of returns under class A, was 414; B, 529; C, 1874; D, 1013; E, 2906.

The amount of capital stock in the local corporations is: Class A, $49,329,526.78; B, $459,603,503.95; C, $717,897,142.31; D, $47,721,765.81; E, $305,129,086.34. Bonds and other indebtedness, class A, $11,229,789.92; B, $285,526,582.11; C, $64,474,353.40; D, $34,339,624.50; E, $88,886,459.74. Net income, class A, $7,949,267.90; B, $5,525,449.59; C, $14,248,993.28; D, $6,607,357.08; E, $10,719,392.71. Total net income of all corporations in all classes, $44,950,460.56. Number showing tax due, class A, 188; B, 87; C, 224; D, 284; E, 406.

The number of returns made last year numbered 6796 and it is the opinion of Collector Parker that the total number making reports for the period that closed yesterday will be approximately 9000. Of this number at least one-fourth will be liable for the tax—that is, those with an income of $5000 or more yearly.

Every year there is more or less change in the make-up of the corporation list, due to the fact that a number of companies and associations go out of business, are merged with others and lose their identity, etc. Collector Parker says that so far as his knowledge goes there are a smaller number in this list this year than for a long time.

LEMON FALLACY SHOWN UP.

Frost Damage Far Less than Importers Assert—California Can Supply the Entire West.

Figures prepared by General Manager Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange show between 1400 and 1500 cars of lemons—approximately 600,000 boxes—available for shipment. This means sufficient fruit to supply the normal demand of the entire country west of the Mississippi and absolutely controverts the importers' assertion that California cannot supply the West alone.

To date 1300 carloads of lemons have been shipped from this State. This makes the crop between 2700 and 2800 carloads, as against a 6800-carload crop last year. In other words, the State's lemon crop was reduced 60 per cent. by the frost. Predictions immediately following the frost were that 90 per cent. of the crop was ruined.

Reports that Italian lemon crop has been entirely destroyed by an untimely frost were branded as fakes in communications received yesterday from the Department of State by the Exchange. The department reported that consular advice is that the crop along the East Coast of Sicily, from Messina to Syracuse, is damaged, but that the lemons in the Naples and Palermo districts, from which we draw our imported supply, are not harmed.

EVA BOOTH OUT FOR A MILLION.

SALVATION ARMY COMMANDER HERE ON A VISIT.

Money Needed for "Humanity" Colleges as Memorials to Her Father—An Illustrated Lecture Today on Founder's Life Work. Other Addresses Near By.

Eva Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, arrived in the city yesterday morning over the Salt Lake Route, and was escorted to the Hotel Alexandria by a large party of friends and officers of the local Army who met her at the station. She is accompanied by Commissioner Thomas Estill of Chicago, Lieut.-Col. E. Parker, Staff Captain Mary Welch, Adj. George Cook and Maj. Richard Griffith, all of New York.

Commander Booth said that the chief activities of the Army are now directed toward obtaining money to erect two great "Humanity Colleges" as memorials to her father, the late Gen. William Booth, one to be in Chicago and the other in New York. For this work she wishes to raise $1,000,000.

She will deliver a lecture at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Mason operahouse on the subject of her father's life, illustrated with 100 stereopticon views and 2000 feet of moving picture films. She will lecture Tuesday at Long Beach, on Wednesday at Riverside and on Thursday will leave for San Francisco.

John N. Anderson
To Santa Ana
County Clerk Williams
Rev. J. A. Stevens First Presbyterian Church
Rev. D. Scarborough M. E. Church South
Rev. Paul E. Wright First Christian Church
The Santa Ana Marrying Ministers.

This Is the "Marriage Trust;" Will They Bust It?

At the top is Justice J. B. Cox of Santa Ana, champion marryer, performing that service for Joseph Loper and Fern Foss, both of this city. On the left, below him, is the Santa Ana solon who will fight in the Legislature for a bill which will do away with Santa Ana elopements. On the right is the famous license clerk's office, grinding away. Next below is the entrance to the Orange county Courthouse with one of its three contiguous churches on the right. At the bottom are the men who "do the rest."

STATE SENATOR JOHN N. ANDERSON of Santa Ana has shied his lid into the arena, clicked his heels together three times, emitted the Rio Hondo war whoop and bade defiance to the marriage trust.

During the coming session of the Legislature he will fight for a bill making marriage as difficult of attainment as a bunch of capital letters from a high-brow university. The bill is aimed directly at Santa Ana, according to some of the interested "marryers" who garner many an E Pluribus Unum from hurrying lovers who palpitate across the invisible but not imaginary line which separates Orange and Los Angeles counties, for the purpose of merging their identities in the crucible of love. It is admittedly a deadly weapon.

J. B. Cox, the marrying justice of Santa Ana, who holds all short and long-distance records, together with light, middle and heavyweight championship marriage belts, does not put it just that way. Justice Cox—they call 'em 'squires back East—has an office in the Orange county temple of justice just abaft the furnace. He is hospitable, kindly disposed, and willing to strain a point to oblige lovers.

"What do I think of the bill?" and the magistrate peered over the top of a big volume of Clark on contracts. "It's damned nonsense." Cox is not subtle and almost anyone can understand him the first time.

The bill among other things contemplates taking fees for marriages away from justices and diverting them to the county strong box, requires the publication of banns for ten or fifteen days, and there has been some talk of a medical examination and certificate of health, and a thirty-day residence in the county.

All of which would mean that the host of hand-me-down marriages which vary the monotony of life in the dainty little city, famed the country over for that particular thing, would go somewhere else, or, as was just hinted at by one minister of the gospel, "they wouldn't go anywhere."

WED IN SIX MINUTES.

No fuss, furbelows or feathers attends the average Santa Ana wedding. Publicity hangs its shrinking head and rice throwing and boot-heaving is not considered good form in Orange county's pretty seat of government. "Married while you wait" is the motto, and the entire formality can be accomplished in six minutes, or if the thrifty lovers see fit, almost during the noon hour from Los Angeles. It costs on an average $7.40, but by judicious financeering and a little walking this may be reduced to an absolute minimum of $7, and any schoolboy can figure out the per diem investment should the wedding prove the forerunner of a long and happy married life. Seven dollars strewn over a quarter of a century could work no hardship even upon a persnickity spender as "clus" as Titus Wad.

Justice Cox explained that most of the candidates for matrimonial preferment were old enough to know their own minds if not old enough to know better, and that most of them went to Santa Ana to avoid expense, or notoriety in the larger city. "You can't legislate people's morals," is a decision laid down by Cox, "and, anyway, it's against the Constitution," meaning the combination in restraint of trade so far as it has to do with the free and inalienable right of choosing one's life companion, and deflecting the fee.

"Folks who are going to be married will be married," is another bon mot from the Cox storehouse, and if they can't do it in this State they will go somewhere else. Why say, Yuma, Ariz., or Tia Juana would be bigger Gretna Greens than Santa Ana ever was, and wouldn't that be a hell of a note?"

Upstairs in the County Clerk's office W. B. Williams, who has writer's cramp from making out licenses for Los Angeles people, felt that the bulwarks of society are not being undermined by the fact that happy twos prefer to begin their married life under his beneficent seal, but he is sure that if the bill ever becomes a law it will put a sinker on the alluring bait.

WILL KILL IT DEAD.

"It would be a bad thing for the county if the law is passed," said Williams, "and I can't, for the life of me, see that anybody is injured. We can't stop folks getting married, can we? (business of hasty disclaimer) and it doesn't hurt the town any. Oh, sure, the business will be dead if the bill passes. No one is going to come down here and stick posters on the telegraph poles reading 'I love my Minnie and we will wed. Come next Chewsday. All yez, take notice.' I don't know about the medical examination part; I'm not a doctor. But look over the license book," and the official shoved the office log across the counter. "See the number of applicants who are away past the legal minimum age limit."

Sure enough, a large percentage are of candidates who voted for Grover Cleveland, and another interesting fact disclosed is the number of blushing brides who 'fess up to an accumulated total yearage in excess of their new spouse, which, it has been suggested, may be one reason for going to Santa Ana.

While there is no feeling on the part of the officials that the community is a total loss without insurance because of the promiscuity of the rite of marriage, and the citizens at large do not apear to view with undue alarm, some of the parsons admit that the bill has its good points, and they admit it in the fact of a material addition to revenue derived from fees received from reckless grooms anxious to be married according to the scriptures rather than by the "wait-a-minute" justice style, although the latter is admittedly just as efficacious and strictly according to Hoyle.

FAVORS THE BILL.

Rev. Paul E. Wright, whose First Christian Church is just across the street from the Courthouse, is perhaps the runner-up after Justice Cox has taken his toll. Mr. Wright is popular at the Courthouse, and his marriages are full value, with a guarantee blown in the certificate. "Never heard of a divorce sequel to any of my weddings," says he.

"Yes, the restriction suggested would hurt the business all right, but I guess the two weeks' clause would be a good thing. I don't think there are any more divorces resulting from Santa Ana marriages than those of anywhere else, and don't think the community suffers by the coming of outsiders to be married here, but once in a while an immature couple, too young to marry, and scarcely knowing their own minds, do slip through; and the restriction would probably save some of these. I guess it's all right."

Rev. J. A. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and former dean of Occidental College, assumed complete possession of verbal honors when in a most workmanlike manner he declared that the rush of would-be newlyweds to Santa Ana was a demonstration of the "psychology of the crowd."

Paste that one in your pocket dictionary, and slip it to Justice Cox.

"It's this way," continued the clergyman, as he backed into a palm tree to accommodate a picture man. "Mary and John hear that Tom and Susie have gone to Santa Ana and been married. 'That sounds pretty good,' says John to Mary, 'let's go to Santa Ana ourselves.' It's easy, and the propsed restrictions will give some of these High School pupils pause. Some of them are too young, undoubtedly, but if they swear that they are of age someone is going to marry them. I do contend, however,

STEEL KEYS TO GRIM MYSTERY.

Los Angeles Capital to Lift Death Valley's Veil.

Will Build a Railroad Into Sink of Desolation.

Dissolve Forever Spell of Silence and Terror.

Surveys have been completed and construction work will shortly begin upon an undertaking whereby Los Angeles capital and enterprise will do much to lift the veil that for seventy years enshrouded Death Valley in grewsome mystery.

H. H. Kerckoff and other interested in the Avawatz Salt & Gypsum Company will build a railroad from Milepost Station, sixty-nine miles north of Ludlow on the Tonopah & Tidewater Railroad, to the company's valuable mineral holdings in the valley. It will be the first time that sink of silence and death has known the touch of harnessing steel.

Heretofore Death Valley has been as a country apart, a setting for romantic tales and grisly tragedies, but scarcely better known than the regions that ring the pole. Men have gone there never to return; others have returned and told something of its desolation and hinted at rich mineral deposits; but even the government surveys, prosecuted at great expense, are fragmentary; land described in the charts as low and level has since been proved to be 8000 feet high and tilted at an angle of 45 degrees.

RECLAIM THE VALLEY.

Within this strange valley there are places where man has never set foot, that are less easy of access than an African jungle. Hidden away in its countles fastnesses are unknown things, perhaps even the bones of a vanished race, remains of civilization that antedate Rome. Seventy years ago the first white man wandered into the valley, yet today but little more of it is known than then.

With a railroad penetrating it, with water and sustenance near, the haunt of terror may become the rendezvous of the seeker after strange scenes and the connoisseur in desert colorings, the Ultima Thule of the neurotic. It is even possible that in the by no means distant future Cook tours will be arranged beyond the grim black Funeral Range.

Who knows but what this valley in the days before the poles were readjusted was a place of abundant rainfall and teemed with strange life? Perhaps here in the cool of evening the dinosaurus surveyed his ungainly length, the mammoth trumpeted to its mate across the precipitous ways, and the missing-link ruminated on the doings of some Holy Hiram legislature.

LAND OF CONTRADICTIONS.

Death Valley is a land of contradictions and anything may have happened there in the days gone by, may even be happening there today. Half the year a segment of Hades; in October the mellow haze of Indian summer overlies the land and the air is that of Lotus land. Its floor perhaps deeper below sea level than any other part of the earth's surface; yet Telescope Peak is some 11,000 feet above sea level. A country of scanty rainfall, yet a country that has been devasted time after time by cludbursts of unparalleled intensity. Its streams are two, both small, yet on the pointed peaks of some of its mountains are the beds of old lakes.

The new road, starting at almost the exact place where the Tonopah & Tidewater crosses San Bernardino county's northern boundary, will run along the northwest margin of the Avawatz Mountains into the southeast end of the valley. Here there will be a station, with all the adjuncts of civilization, provided especially for the concern's salt and gypsum workers, but available to all who wish to visit the valley.

HIS VISION MAGNIFIES?

Belated Pedestrian Imagines Cosy Fire in Wheelbarrow Is Dangerous Blaze—Useless Run.

All the fire fighting apparatus in the business section was summoned to Sixth and Spring streets yesterday morning to extinguish a blaze in a building in course of construction, but the firemen were dissuaded by two watchmen.

A belated pedestrian saw a glare in the building and turned in an alarm. As the watchmen ran out of the building to see where the fire was the firemen entered with several lines of chemical. It dawned on the watchmen that the glare seen by the pedestrian came from a fire they had built in a steel wheelbarrow to keep warm.

"Hey, there, don't put that fire out," called one of the watchmen to the firemen. "We built that to keep warm."

SAD SUNDAY SEARCH.

Parents Send Out Call for Volunteers to Look Along the River for Body of Boy Drowned.

The eyes of hundreds of persons will gaze intently into the murky water of the Los Angeles River today in the search for the body of the 9-year-old son of W. E. Carney of No. 719 Lamar street, who was drowned in the flood last Tuesday. Yesterday the parents and friends of the lad sent out a call for volunteers who would assist in patrolling both banks of the stream from the city to the sea. The father has offered a reward of $50.

A code of signals has been arranged so that if the body is discovered the news may be passed along the banks and telephoned to the parents, whose telephone number is Sunset, East 422, to the Chief of Police or to G. L. Robertson, Sunset, Vermont 833. It has been requested that if the body is found that the discoverer will wave a white handkerchief to other persons along the shore.

The body is perhaps entombed in sand, perhaps lodged against an obstruction in the river or has been washed far down. The high water has made the search difficult and the final result uncertain, but it is hoped that the receding water will today reveal the secret.

Clergyman Praises Eckman's Alterative

A Valuable Remedy for Throat and Lungs.

People who have Consumption are often filled with bright hopes of recovery, only to realize that improvement is but temporary. Consumption is dreaded by everyone. Those who had it and used Eckman's Alterative can testify to its beneficial effects. No one need doubt it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:

Amenia, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: Prior to February, 1908, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with LaGrippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats and mid-day chills and losing flesh rapidly, having gone from 155 to 135 pounds. I coughed and raised continually and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alterative and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became easier and gradually diminished, and in a few days I developed an appetite, the first in months. I am now in perfect health, back to 155 pounds. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alterative."

(Signed) REV. J. J. COWLES.
Pastor Presbyterian Church.

"Gentlemen: I cannot find words to express my appreciation of what your remedy has done for my son. It changed despair into hope within two weeks after he began taking it, and without any doubt in my mind, it saved his life. I wish to add my indorsement to every word of his testimonial."

(Signed) REV. J. J. COWLES.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.—[Advertisement.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

Till This Recipe Was Tried. Cure Followed in Five Hours.

A prominent medical man, who suffered with a severe cough and cold on the lungs, often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep, finally discovered a simple formula which will cure any cough in five hours by the clock. It is a laxative tonic cough syrup which can be made at home by anyone, and the formula is here given for the benefit of those who pass sleepless nights in painful paroxysms. Those who have tried it say it is magical, and beats any high-priced, slow-acting cough medicine ever sold.

Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less, according to age. This will tone up and rid the system of deep-seated coughs every time.—[Advertisement.

"LIAR!" FIRES DARROW TRIAL.

Charge of Double-Dealings Draws Hot Retort.

Ford and Rogers in Bitter War of Words.

Judge Limbers Up Big Stick and Flays Lawyers.

An exciting altercation, the only one during the present Darrow trial, took place shortly before adjournment yesterday morning. The lie passed between Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford and Earl Rogers and the court would have committed one or both lawyers to jail, it is believed, except for certain mitigating circumstances.

The quarrel came like a bolt from the blue sky. Ford was "pegging" away at his cross-examination of Darrow, the defendant. Former Judge Powers nodded in his seat and former Judge Gray admitted he was aroused from dozing over one of the most "uninteresting examinations heard in a long time."

Ford asked Darrow how many detectives he kept in the offices of the prosecution. Darrow replied that he did not have any in the office of the prosecution but had several purported agents in Burns's office.

Like the actor he admits himself to be, Earl Rogers seized upon the opening to electrify the audience and jury. The thirteenth juror, who was leaning lazily back in his seat, almost fell over when Rogers launched into one of his customary denunciations.

"I protest against this line of questions," said he. "Ford, who is counsel for Burns, is trying to get information from this witness for his own private use."

IN AN UPROAR.

The whole courtroom was on the point of an uproar. Judge Conley, who is a big, good-natured jurist when at peace and a cyclone when aroused, looked black as thunder. He beckoned to one of the bailiffs and glanced at Rogers with bent brows and fire in his glance.

"Mr. Rogers, you lie when you insinuate these questions are intended to draw information as to alleged traitors in Burns's office," said Ford.

"I charge you with being counsel for Burns and that you are now seeking to elicit information for your client," said Rogers passionately. "I have been a sick man for weeks, but no one shall call me a liar. I challenge you to meet me outside the courtroom."

In the hands of a less able judge a near-riot would have followed. But Judge Conley kept his head. He first adjourned the regular session and waited until the jurors filed out.

Then he directed his attention to Rogers, saying that he much regretted that the first break had occurred on the eve of the close of the case. He declared he had warned both sides and unless Ford was in fact counsel for Burns, he was justified in giving the lie to Rogers, whose conduct he classed as most reprehensible.

"At the outset of this case I told you gentlemen what to expect if the rules were transgressed," said the judge. "I do not administer light punishment nor do I expect that my admonitions are to be disregarded."

Court attaches later declared that they expected Judge Conley would send Rogers to jail for at least ten days, but at this almost breathless juncture, former Judge Gray arose slowly to his feet.

TAKES ALL BLAME.

While his remarks were not especially complimentary to his colleague, the standing of Gray in the community gave him more authority than the average lawyer would have had in similar circumstances.

"Your honor, it is my fault," he began, "that matters have reached this pass. I was almost dozing during the uninteresting proceedings and was just thinking that court would adjourn in five minutes. My zealous associate spoke before I could intervene. I am sure the attorneys on both sides are sorry."

"I am perfectly willing to apologize," said Rogers.

"I take back my remarks," declared Ford.

But the court was not satisfied. Again he said that he felt the dignity of the court had been interfered with and that some adequate punishment should be administered.

Ford then admitted that he was personal counsel for W. J. Burns in the detectives's attempt to collect certain rewards offered for the apprehension of the miscreants who aided in blowing up the Times Building.

"In view of the statements of counsel I shall take no action at this time," said Judge Conley.

ANOTHER SPAT.

In the corridor Ford and Rogers indulged in another mild altercation, but the incident is virtually closed.

Darrow admitted yesterday that he did not remember positively whether he met Mrs. Franklin at the office of former Gov. Gage or not. He said his best recollection was that he did not but he would not commit himself either way. This leaves the testimony of Mrs. Franklin uncontradicted except indirectly by the evidence of LeCompte Davis, one of the lawyers for the McNamaras and for a time attorney for Franklin.

Ford asked the witness about his talks with the two McNamaras in regard to getting them to agree to plead guilty. Darrow said he was with J. B. a greater part of Thanksgiving Day, the day prior to the pleas of guilty in open court.

"Didn't J. B. tell you that if J. J. pleaded guilty it would reflect upon organized labor?" asked Ford.

"He may have said something of the kind," answered Darrow.

"Did you see Franklin on November 26, 1911?"

"I don't remember. I probably did," replied the witness.

"You are acquainted with ex-Gov. Gage, are you not?"

"Yes."

"He was associated in some of your legal matters, wasn't he?"

"He was asked for advice on one matter, I believe,' 'replied Darrow.

"You knew ex-Gov. Gage was never retained by the prosecution?"

"I did."

"How many times did you meet Franklin between November 28 and January 14?"

"I don't remember."

SUSPECTS "LOYALTY."

Darrow went on to say that after Franklin's arrest, he was suspicious of his "loyalty" and feared he might take some step to save himself.

"I did not think he was the kind of man to stay in jail for his friends," said Darrow.

"Did you ever ask Franklin about the real facts?"

"I may have talked to him once or twice. I believe he said that Lockwood tried to bribe him and that a job was put up on him," said the defendant.

"Did he ever tell you where he got the $4000?"

"I believe he said either an eastern man or a man from San Francisco gave it to him," said the witness.

Darrow said he paid little attention to Franklin's troubles as he was anxious to get the cases of the McNamaras disposed of first. He said even after the plea of guilty there was some talk of the two going before the Federal grand jury."

At this point occurred the unexpected quarrel between Ford and Rogers.

The cross-examination will be closed Friday morning. A brief re-direct examination will follow. Then will come rebuttal and the arguments.

STATE WARFARE, BUTTER'S SAKE.

OLEOMARGARINE IS DISGUISED, INSPECTOR ALLEGES.

Dairy Bureau Members, Excited by Highly-Colored Lithographs, Wage Fight Against Misrepresentation of Products and Complaints Are Issued Against Two.

Sleek-looking cows, contentedly grazing over wide pastures knee-deep in luxuriantly growing grass, or sleepily chewing a cud under the restful shade of broad-branching trees, all set out in highly-colored lithographs advertising "butterine" and other alleged "dairy" products, have so excited the members of the State Dairy Bureau that a sweeping investigation of asserted violations of the State law against the misrepresentation of dairy products in Los Angeles is being made by Ray Hasson, an inspector for the board, assisted by operatives of the City Prosecutor's office.

The first material result of the quiet investigation that has been under way for more than a week was manifested yesterday when complaints, sworn to by Hasson, were secured from Asistant City Prosecutor Stafford against F. W. Fry and W. J. Sheehan, dairy products agents, No. 629 East Seventh street.

The complaints allege that Fry and Sheehan "did willfully and unlawfully use in connection with an advertisement of oleomargarine the word 'butterine' and the word 'dairy' and the representation of pictures of cows and dairy cattle and a combination of words, towit: 'From Churn to Consumer,' commonly used by the dairy industry, in connection with the sale and offer to sell of oleomargine under the name and style of butterine and 'Jelke High-grade Butterine.'"

All of which, the complaint concludes, is in violation of the law and against the peace and dignity of the State of California.

The complaints were filed with Justice Chambers, who ordered that warrants be issued. These warrants, it is said, will not be served until tomorrow, when Fry and Sheehan will be arraigned.

"There will be other complaints," said Assistant City Prosecutor Stafford yesterday. "We have just begun on our investigations. We have found there have been many violations of a statute drawn to protect the State dairy industry. When we secure sufficient evidence to warrant the filing of complaints and the issuance of warrants, we will do so."

Fry and Sheehan said they did not know they were violating the law while acting as manufacturing agents, and had no intention of deceiving the public.

Held for Trial.

A. M. Rockwell, arrested by Harris Agency operatives charged with having issued checks against an imaginary bank account, was arraigned before Judge Williams in the University Police Court yesterday, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for the 5th inst. Rockwell was arrested with A. J. Heinn, who destroyed his own sight Friday morning by puncturing his eyeballs with a knife in the City Jail. F. W. Blum, another alleged fictitious check man, also arrested by Harris operatives, was bound over to the Superior Court by Justice Williams.

Judge Frank A. Rudkin of Spokane will assist Judge Wellborn in holding United States District Court during March. BARS CONVICTS FROM FLORENCE.

Gov. Hunt Promises to Keep His Pets in Jail.

Refuses to Buy Supplies of Local Merchants.

Legislator Wants Government to Annex Sonora.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Feb. 27.—Gov. Hunt today sent to the Legislature a special message in which he stated that he had issued orders that no convicts hereafter shall visit Florence, "either on business or pleasure," though this will cause some inconvenience to the prison management and deprive the prison orchestra of income heretofore regarded as legitimate. But the Governor stands pat in refusing to purchase prison supplies from the Florence merchants unless they can show lower figures than offered elsewhere. He claims that the method of buying criticised in the late investigation resulted last year in a saving to the taxpayers of $25,000, and states that the same course will be followed in the future.

TAKE WEEK FOR REPORT.

The Joint Committee on Investigation is expected to take at least a week in the preparation of a report to the Legislature, much of the time spent in the process of getting together. Chairman Wood states his belief that the two sections of the committee will agree upon a report and that the expected dual report, for and against, will not materialize. But there is belief in the Legislature that even from his friends of the Senate small comfort will be given the Governor in the report. In connection with the charges that the Old Dominion store at Globe had been given undue preference in the purchase of prison supplies, today was made the interesting announcement that Gov. Hunt has sold his large interest in the institution to an association of Globe capitalists.

RESULTS ARE MEAGER.

The Legislature is getting back to the regular $2-a-minute schedule of law-making, after three days of attendance upon the prison investigation. Results from the legislative work seems a bit meager, however. The Governor has signed a bill appropriating $25,000 for a bridge across the Colorado River at Yuma and from Washington has come announcement that Congress has appropriated a similar sum. A third like amount is to come from the California Legislature and then a start is to be made on an important link of the transcontinental highway.

Senator Worsley continues in his oratorical efforts to start Arizona off as a leader in socialistic legislation. He has met with poor success in a wondrous bill which would have prevented an employer from asking of a prospective employee any details of his previous employment or of his capabilities. The bill would have made a felony the reception of an employer of any references concerning an applicant's fitness for a job. Yet the bill was beaten in the Senate by only two votes.

WOULD ANNEX SONORA.

But the star Worsley measure, just trotted out, is a memorial to Congress asking the annexation of Sonora and Lower California, without reference to the wishes of the Mexican republic, but after determination of the wishes of the people of the territory thus sought to be acquired. Another memorial from the same source asks for the national issuance of $500,000,000 in 3 per cent. bonds, the money derived to be loaned to counties and cities for internal improvements, especially for the building of good roads. The same author's memorial asking governmental acquisition of all railroad, telegraph and telephone systems has been killed in the Senate.

NEW BILLS.

Among the new bills is one by Bradner of the House making unlawful the coercion of employees to sign initiative and referendum petitions. Mr. Kelton has a bill permitting women to hold public office. A bill by Jacobs demands that all State supplies be bought within the State. Senator Hughes has called for appropriations aggregating $250,000 for the benefit of the agricultural department of the University of Arizona, $180,000 of the sum to go into new buildings at Tucson. A memorial has passed the House asking consideration by Congress of a plan for establishing national sanatoriums at points lately abandoned as military posts. The last measure would have direct application to Whipple Barracks, near Prescott.

Official recognition as lobbyists has been given a number of individuals representing the Western Federation of Miners and other labor organizations. A Phoenix hotel man and the secretary of the local Cooks' and Waiters' Union have been extended the same consideration, that they may work against Pace's bill forbidding the giving or acceptance of "tips." It is contended that the hotels would not be able to secure competent help if the bill were to be made a law.

FOUR PASSENGERS INJURED.

San Pedro Car Crashed Into a Freight Car at Dominguez Junction Early Last Night.

SAN PEDRO, March 1.—The Pacific Electric San Pedro flyer, which left Los Angeles at 7:30 o'clock last night crashed into a freight car which had been left partially extending across the track at Dominguez Junction and four passengers were slightly injured by flying glass. The passenger car had her front trucks torn from under her by the impact and nearly every window in the car broken.

The wreck was due to the carelessness of a switching crew which had a few minutes before failed to clear the main track in making a switch. Traffic was stopped for two hours and the badly-shaken passengers were brought to San Pedro in the car which left the city at [illegible] o'clock.

Opening Sale of
New Spring Suits

Regular Value $32.50

$25.00

Regular Value $32.50

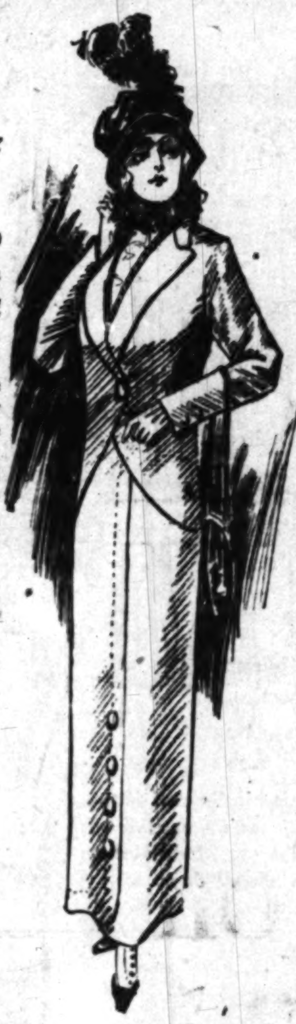
Our buyer has just returned from New York, where he secured a special lot of about 150 New Spring Suits at such a favorable concession in price that we place the collection on special sale Monday. The garments are all new, up-to-date models, well tailored, and embody the latest style features for the coming season.

There is quite a variety of styles which include, besides the strictly tailored coat suits, the extremely modish Balkan blouse effects. Distinctive features of the new skirts are their longer lengths and narrower widths at foot. Some are gracefully draped on either side, others are made in the new two-piece style. There is a great diversity of fashionable materials, which include: Cote de cheval, diagonal, poplin, Panama, two-toned Bedford cord, homespun, serge, mannish mixtures and hairline serge. These are shown in fashionable spring tones as well as the staple navy blue and black. Some of the Balkan blouses are trimmed with a touch of wool lace in Bulgarian colors; others have the military girdle effect.

New Suits at a special price just at the opening of the season is indeed a most remarkable offer—but we take this means of establishing the fact that the "Ville" offers exceptional values in popular priced suits, as well as being headquarters for the most exclusive styles in high-class novelties. Plan now to see these special values in nobby, and new spring suits, Monday.

Spring Fashion Show
Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday

During this interesting and important event we will display the latest ideas in authoritative fashions from the style centers of Europe and America. Visit this department and view the newest creations in gowns, dresses, wraps, suits and coats.



Newest Dress Goods

Monday we will display many entirely new fabrics that have just arrived by express. They are imported materials, and shown for the first time in Los Angeles.

Sacking Natte

This material is especially adapted for making the fashionable combination suits, so decidedly modish for misses and young women. Shown in broken checks and striped effects, with plain material to match. The color combinations include: Copenhagen blue-and-white, russet-and-white, navy-and-white, rose-and-white, black-and-white. The combination suits are made with skirt of fancy material and coat of plain, or vice versa.

Floral and Brocaded Poplins

These are ultra-fashionable fabrics for developing dressy costumes and are shown in beautiful designs and color combinations that must be seen to be fully appreciated.

Bordered Grenadines and Voiles

Exclusive designs in extremely handsome fabrics; shown in Copenhagen blue, champagne, rose, navy, brass, gold, ivory and black.

More and more trouble is caused by the dissolution process of the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific. It was easy for the Federal government to say unmerge, but hard to carry out the mandate. FOR HEAVY DAMAGES.

James A. It is alleged that the defendants had neglected to furnish timber to support the drift in which Barrett was working. The result was that the roof caved in and he was badly hurt, he says.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Horse Sense.

INGLEWOOD, Feb. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Are our up-to-date High Schools and colleges raising our standard of citizenship. Now the old 49'ers were not noted for any scholarly attainments but they had horse sense in statesmanship. Can as much be said of the members of our present Legislature?

If our Legislative Assembly of today is a sample product of our high-priced schools, is education as great a blessing to the State as some of our high-salaried pedagogues are trying to make us believe?

Why, some of the old citizens who were never a day in High School or college are now beginning to feel proud of it that they are classed among the ignoramuses.

Torrance
The Modern Industrial City

That Torrance is a city of real achievements is evidenced by the following review of developments which have taken place during the past twelve months.

- Over $1,500,000.00 expended for improvements.
- Sixteen miles of paved streets and cement walks.
- Pacific Electric depot, administration buildings, large store and office buildings—all of fireproof construction.
- One hundred model homes built.
- Network of tracts established throughout industrial district by P. E. Railway Co.
- Mammoth plant of Union Tool Co. erected.
- Plant of Pacific Metal Products Co. established.
- Ground broken for $750,000 plant of Llewellyn Iron Works.
- $150,000.00 expended on city water system—$30,000.00 for first unit of sewer system and $15,000.00 for street-lighting conduits.
- The grand total of public and private improvements will run into the millions.
- Nearly a dozen other important industrial enterprises have also been signed up—including the $750,000.00 car-building shops of the P. E. Railway Co.

And Torrance has only started—the foregoing improvements are mere preliminaries to the real great industrial, business and residential development that MUST take place in this all-favored, commandingly-located manufacturing center during the next few years.

Are YOU going to profit by the swift, certain advance in realty values? Don't put off that contemplated visit to Torrance another week. Know the real situation now. Take advantage of our special 25 cent excursions Wednesdays and Saturdays. Secure tickets at our office only.

Public Service; City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works has requested the Pacific Electric to begin immediately the use of its relief tracks for Long Beach and San Pedro cars at the rear of the Sixth-street station, regardless of the lack of shelter for passengers boarding or alighting from cars. The plans for the proposed umbrella sheds were submitted to the Building Ordinance Revision Commission yesterday.

Inspector of Public Works Hansen submitted to the Works Board yesterday plans for creating new departments for street cleaning, now in the regular street department, and made his estimate of additional help required for the next fiscal year.

The Board of Public Works provided yesterday for free medical service hereafter for employes of the Los Angeles Aqueduct.

A further conference was held yesterday between the members of the Harbor Commission and railroad officials, and it is believed an agreement will be reached during the present week on terms under which the city will acquire land at San Pedro needed for access to the water front.

At the City Hall.

URGES USE OF RELIEF TRACKS.

BOARD TELLS RAILROAD TO LOAD 'EM ANYWAY.

Building Ordinance Revision Commission May Hold Special Session to Consider Plans for Proposed Umbrella Sheds at Rear of Sixth-Street Depot.

The Board of Public Utilities is decidedly impatient over delays in putting into service the two relief tracks constructed by the Pacific Electric on private property at the rear of the Sixth-street depot for the use of Long Beach and San Pedro cars. It demands their immediate use, regardless of the fact that there is no shelter for passengers at the point where the loading and unloading must take place.

"But we haven't any shelter for the passengers," objected the representatives of the Pacific Electric. "If we forced the people to go out in the rain to get their cars, they'd want to mob us, and we cannot erect the umbrella sheds until the building ordinances are amended."

"You provide the service and let the people come to us," was the ultimatum. If indignant citizens rush to the Utilities Board after having been wet to the skin while trying to board the beach cars at the shelterless tracks, then the board will turn them over to the City Council, to which body the commission has appealed long ago for such relief as would allow the building of the sheds.

The necessary tracks are in and ready for service, and as the Utility Board has spoken, the next step will doubtless be for the Pacific Electric to institute the new service, which will take a large number of the red cars off of Main street and thereby relieve the traffic congestion.

Some time ago the City Council referred to the Building Ordinance Revision Commission the request for a change in the building ordinances which would allow the Pacific Electric and the Southern Pacific to erect umbrella sheds at their stations. On February 17 the commission sent a letter to the Council, copies of which were sent to each of the railway companies, stating that it was willing and anxious to do anything within its power to relieve the situation, but that it must have before it the block plans for the proposed improvements before it could pass upon them.

Through some inadvertence these plans were not sent to the commission, and not until yesterday forenoon was this fact discovered by the Pacific Electric. The plans were then rushed over to the commission, and it is probable that a special meeting will be called tomorrow to consider them, and so that there may be no unnecessary delay.

SEPARATE DEPARTMENTS.
SO RECOMMENDS HANSEN.

In preparing its report to the Budget Committee the Board of Public Works has asked Inspector of Public Works Hansen to make suggestions for reorganization of the street department, and Hansen's recommendations were received and taken under advisement yesterday.

He advises that the street sweeping be placed under a department separate from street maintenance. It has been the policy heretofore of handling the sweeping of paved streets in part with men belonging to the street department, and many of its teams have also been used.

At present there are 259 routes that are patrolled by hand-sweepers and forty flushers, ten culvert flushers and forty teams picking up sweepings from the pavements. Hansen assumes that the ensuing year will bring in at least twenty-five miles of new paving in streets. This will require an additional twenty-five hand sweepers for patrol work, three gutter cleaners, four pick-up teams and six flusher teams, making a total of 317 men and ninety teams that should be in the sweeping department for the next fiscal year. Hansen recommends that a street sweeping department be maintained separately, but that the street sprinkling be placed under the regular street department, which would require 249 men and 145 teams.

He also recommends that the garbage department, which employs eighty men, be given an increase of four men, and that four other men be employed in various positions on street work. Recommendation is also made that the employees needed for the Bureau of Street Assessments and the Bureau of Street Opening and Widening be provided for in a separate budget instead of through the street department, because their work is not street maintenance.

Turn Down Backus Plan.

Recently Chief Inspector of Buildings Backus recommended to the City Council the adoption of a plan for city cement testing and inspection on all concrete mixing on class A construction.

The proposed ordinance provided that all mixing of concrete be done under the direct inspection of the city building department, and that the inspector be paid by the contractor, and that cement tests be made on every building, either by the City Cement Tester or by others who would be required to file affidavits of the results with the building department, all of which work should be done at the expense of the contractor.

The Building Ordinance Revision Commission has filed a report to the City Council, adverse to the Backus plan. It declares that "the entire plan of city inspection without responsibility would be a most prolific source of expense and annoyance. We believe the results which the Chief Inspector of Buildings desires will be best served by modification of the present ordinances, which modification we are submitting for your consideration."

Free Medical Service.

Beginning with the first of March, the Los Angeles aqueduct employees will have free medical service. Heretofore, a small amount has been deducted from each man's wages each month, to keep up a hospital corps and medical service, but the contract for this work expired on the last day of February, and hereafter the city will pay directly for such services. Arrangements for this were made by the Board of Public Works yesterday.

Must Construct Big Drain.

The creation of a great lake of storm water on the north side of Stephenson avenue between Mott and Soto streets, has led to an investigation of the thirty-inch drain pipe in the Stephenson-avenue fill at that point, and Inspector of Public Works Hansen reported to the Board of Public Works yesterday that the pipe is so badly crushed as to necessitate a new pipe being constructed. He advises that this should be at least five feet in diameter in order to properly carry the storm waters of the district to the north, and that such a pipe will cost $2014. It will be 212 feet in length. The board decided to ask the City Council for its approval and an emergency resolution, so that the work may be started immediately.

Agreement Is in Sight.

Another conference was held between members of the Harbor Commission and railroad officials yesterday on the San Pedro situation. President Woodman of the Harbor Commission believes that an agreement on terms under which the city will acquire the necessary lands for access to the water front will be reached during the ensuing week. There is a possibility that the city will be able to acquire the lands without any further proceedings in the condemnation suits now filed and at a great saving of expense. A further conference will be held early in the present week.

Main-street Paving.

In connection with the order given the City Engineer to pave Main street from Broadway to Jefferson street, the Board of Public Works has given its approval to the plan he has presented for the relaying of all cement walks the full width from the property line to the curb line. In widening the street the curb lines have been changed so that all of the existing curbs and portions of the sidewalks will have to be removed. The board approves the plan of allowing the property owners to construct the sidewalks by permit rather than through the creation of an assessment district, which latter plan would require the preparation of a tedious and cumbersome assessment diagram. This will also allow the property owners to arrange for sidewalk lights, etc. They will be notified to complete their sidewalks within sixty days after the completion of the paving of the street.

Aqueduct Salvage Sales.

Sales of salvage from the Los Angeles Aqueduct power project for the first month of the present year amounted to $4471.81, according to a report to the board the past week. During the same month the salvage sales from the aqueduct itself amounted to $30,185.14.

CITY HALL BREVITIES.

The City Engineer is preparing plans for the paving of Figueroa street from Slauson avenue to Jefferson street, and in connection therewith he has been instructed by the Board of Public Works to include in the general plan the sewering of the street between Thirty-fourth and Jefferson streets, the only portion of the street not having a sewer.

About fifty more lots were sold yesterday forenoon by Col. W. G. Schreiber, head of the Bureau of Street Assessments, for delinquent assessments for Exposition Park. The sale will be resumed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The annual message of the Mayor came from the hands of the printer yesterday, and was distributed to the heads of the various city departments. The gist of this message was published in The Times at the time it was presented to the City Council.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Bevy of Attorneys Defends Fellows Charged with Having Argued Unjudiciously—Both Guilty.

Attorneys M. A. Stutsman and James Brinker were represented by several fellow lawyers when they appeared against each other yesterday morning in Police Judge Chambers's court. Stutsman had had Brinker arrested on a disturbing the peace charge, which allegation was stoutly denied by Brinker.

It was shown that Stutsman sublet to Brinker one of his three rooms in a building at First and Broadway. Stutsman suspected Brinker of having attempted to secure rooms nearer the head of the stairs that he might intercept Stutsman's clients.

Brinker denied it, and they engaged in fistic combat.

Justice Chambers discharged Brinker, saying that in his mind both men had been guilty of disturbing the peace.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Men

SEND NAME AND ADDRESS TODAY—YOU CAN HAVE IT FREE AND BE STRONG.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men.

I think I owe it to my fellow-men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3750 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.—[Advertisement.

SIX FIGURES IN COUNTERCLAIM.

QUARTER MILLION ASKED FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

Land Company Alleges Woman Defaulted on First Payment in Purchase of Ten-Thousand-Acre Tract—She Charges Agent Frustrated Deals She Was Making.

Final argument in the suit of the Newhall Land and Farming Company, which involves a counter-claim for $250,000 damages for breach of contract, was partially heard by Judge Wellborn yesterday. The defendants are Dr. Juliet A. Burns and S. P. Coffer. It grew out of a contract between Dr. Burns and the land company for the purchase of property at Newhall for $750,000.

Dr. Burns paid $5750 on the contract. It is alleged she defaulted on the first payment of $45,000, and the company declared the contract forfeited. Action was brought against Dr. Burns to quiet title. She filed a counter claim to recover the money paid and for damages.

Dr. Burns alleged that after signing the contract she found a number of buyers and further alleges that while she defaulted payment, extension of time was granted for good reasons, principally because the survey had not been finished and the weather was unsuitable for opening the tract.

Her counsel, S. L. Arnold, asserts the agent of the company frustrated deals Dr. Burns was making with prospective buyers. The contract covered 10,000 acres which was to be subdivided and if successfully carried out, promised to net Dr. Burns a large profit.

WANTS NEW TRIAL.
DAMAGES TOO SMALL.

A new trial will be asked for by Mrs. Mary S. Whitten, wife of a Chicago physician, whose $50,000 suit against R. A. Von Falkenberg, proprietor of the Hotel Fremont, was decided in her favor by a jury, she having been awarded $50 damages. Vindicated on the charge that Von Falkenberg had ejected her from the hotel without good cause, the small amount of damages is not satisfactory to Mrs. Whitten.

The legal battle was hotly fought before Judge Dooling and, aside from the principal issues, developed into the question when is a hotel not a hotel. Von Falkenberg contended the Fremont is a boarding-house and that, therefore, the charge that he ejected Mrs. Whitten did not lie. The judgment of the jury is that he conducts a hotel.

HIS HARD HEAD.
ASSAILANT'S LONG SENTENCE.

Two things were apparent when Bill McWilliams was sentenced yesterday. One was that Bill seemed to be extremely nervous; the other was the dents in the skull of Robert Miller, a victim of Bill.

Bill induced Miller, a friend, to go with him to Azusa, promising work. In a convenient spot on the trail Bill struck Miller with an iron bar. Four additional blows fell on Miller's skull, and as he crumpled from the last, McWilliams demanded Miller's money. Miller produced his purse containing $23 and McWilliams left his victim. He was arrested and confessed. His sentence by Judge Finlayson is twenty years in Folsom Penitentiary.

HIS SIMPLE LIFE.
PROBATION IN NARROW LINES.

Whisky and marriage were two combinations that materially assisted Jewel Wilkins in escaping serving seven years in jail. The other factor was his father, a tinsmith, who thought the boy would brace up if Judge Finlayson gave him a list of don'ts. Wilkins was arrested for the forgery of two checks on which he realized $140, for a trip to Chicago. He was recently married.

The court suspended sentence and instructed Wilkins to refrain from whisky and evil associates. He was told he must reimburse the party who cashed the checks and pass an hour once a week with his father.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.
BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

FIVE YEARS. Clyde Carver, square of jaw and shoulder, will be an inmate of San Quentin for five years because he burglarized a room in the Richmond rooming-house. His record shows he served a year at Folsom and has been an inmate of the State Reform School at Whittier.

SPARE THE TREE. "Woodman spare that tree," is the plaint in the suit of Mrs. Jennie B. Hooper against the city. She alleges that in consequence of the determination of the city to grade Compton avenue, which will include forty feet of her property, large and valuable pepper trees will be destroyed. The money value of these trees, she says, cannot be estimated, and her desire is to have them saved. The court is asked to issue a restraining order.

JURY DISAGREE. The trial of Tenry Marron, charged with having contributed to the delinquency of Lucille Murphy, resulted in disagreement of the jury in Department Eight yesterday. Lucille, dressed as a boy, roamed the country, doing the work of a boy and when occasion arose fighting like a boy. She is a ward of the court and as such met Marron at a rooming-house January 23, last. A new trial will be ordered.

INCORPORATIONS. Garner Manufacturing Company; incorporators, A. L. Stetch, E. J. Garner, S. [illegible] Tierman, S. P. Osborne, A. W. [illegible]sen, capital stock, $500,000; subscribed, $200,050. Says Motorman Reckless.

T. W. Hartford, motorman of car No. 805 of the Los Angeles Railway, was arraigned before Police Judge Chambers yesterday on a charge of having operated a street car without due regard to the safety of pedestrians. The motorman pleaded not guilty, and will be tried the 12th inst.

Traffic Officer Van Norman alleges Hartford deliberately ran his car into Charles Roman, No. 724 Temple street, a paralytic, at Fifth and Broadway, February 27. Roman was severely injured. Van Norman said yesterday that Roman's condition is growing serious, and that in case of his death Hartford will be charged with manslaughter.

TAKING THEM IN.

If San Francisco really wants water we suppose Los Angeles might annex it and supply it from the Owens river aqueduct.

A RICH FABRIC.

The dropping of a strand of twine into the propeller of a ship is said to have caused the loss of a million dollars. Some yarn, this. Any way it was enough to string the stockholders of the ship company.

A LOFTY BUSINESS.

By living upon mountain peaks, writing high-class poetry and saving his money, Joaquin Miller left an estate worth $100,000. We trust the fact will not be too widely advertised. We can assure the public that this is not the end of most poets.

A LARGE INVESTMENT.

The University of California leads eighty-seven institutions in its enrollment of students and number of graduates. Without any intention of knocking a great school, we think it will be generally admitted that our university also outranks any one of eighty-seven others in the cost of its maintenance.

AN IMPOSSIBLE PLAY.

Mr. Morosco has proved that the people want melodrama, and the people have demonstrated that Oliver is wise. In confessing this we are obliged to admit that many persons care also for something besides, for to say a man likes peaches is not to aver that he does not care for grapes. The Majestic, the Mason and the Auditorium have the same right to be as the Morosco and the Burbank. We see that one of the local playhouses has billed a play called "Freckles." We have no doubt that Gene Stratton Porter's story was read with avidity by those who enjoy either the juvenile or the melodrama in literature. We cannot say with any fairness that Neil Twomey has improved the story by his attempt at dramatization. Certainly, however, the little play has one feature strongly in its favor in the Irish melodies sung by "Freckles"—Julius Velie, the German boy who is cast for the Irish role, has a very pure and musical voice of no great range, but of much sweetness, and we imagine it will be heard with relief, since its silver tones must prove a good deal of an oasis in a desert as they thread this, to us, impossible production.

LEX TALIONIS.

The suffragette rebellion in England is assuming unique features on both sides. For a long time the militant ladies had their own way. They stripped the coat from the shoulders of Lloyd George, and divested Asquith of his nether garments and compelled him to scud under bare poles to shelter. They poured oil of vitriol into letter boxes, and dynamited the country house of a statesman who opposed their claims.

And still the manhood of England failed to be aroused by these aggressive tactics until the last straw was laid upon the overburdened back of the British public by women, who stamped "Votes for Women" in green paint on the public seats on Hampstead Heath. Careless loungers who patronized these seats bore upon their public ends an impress which presented the magic characters "nemoW rof setoV."

This was too much, altogether too much. The manhood of Britain was at last aroused. The outraged crowd started in pursuit of the artists. They found them painting "Votes for Women" on the gates of a private house. They pulled the hair of the ladies, poured green paint over their heads and painted "nemoW rof setoV" on their cheeks and foreheads.

AN IMPORTANT OPERATION.

One of the comic papers, not long ago, published a cartoon illustrating the battlefield of the future. The two opposing generals had called a halt while the moving-picture man got properly located on a convenient hill where they could get an uninterrupted view of the coming contest. In the meantime the opposing generals were wrangling as to what proportion of the picture rights should go to the victors.

We are glad that, under a strict censorship, this stage of development is not likely to be reached, since the temptations to fix up and multiply battles, as prize fights were arranged when the picture rights were valuable, would certainly rob warfare of its small remaining glory.

However, in national peace pageants the moving-picture men are being everywhere recognized as persons of the first importance. A foreign Ambassador, a plenipotentiary, a royal prince or an ex-President might be dispensed with at a pinch; but a place must be found for the cinema man. King George in his coronation ceremonies and at Durbar was more concerned about the stationing of the picture machines than the position of the archbishop or the etiquette of an Indian prince. Woodrow Wilson, despite his Jeffersonian simplicity, is seeing that the place of honor is given to the cameras in his inaugural procession on March 4.

In fine while we rejoice in this advance of the "movies." The picture people cater before all else to the tastes of the plain people; in their continued triumph on every side we see the resistless onward march of democracy. It is a true triumph, not manufactured out of the socialistic largesse remnants, picked up cheap by fresh legislation. Long live the "movies!"

AN OUTRAGEOUS DISCRIMINATION.

Both houses of Congress have now passed an amazing piece of class legislation. We refer to Sam Gompers' bill prohibiting the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law against the labor-union trust. This outrageous discrimination was smuggled through Congress as a rider on the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill and forbids the use of any part of its appropriations for the prosecution of labor unions under the Sherman Act.

This act of Congress makes the anti-trust law a mockery. It virtually declares that all trusts but the most malignant trust of all may be punished. It declares that it is a combination in restraint of trade for corporations or individuals engaged in the manufacture of steel, for instance, to combine for the purpose of increasing the price of their wares, but that it is not a combination in restraint of trade for unionite workmen who make the steel to combine for the purpose of obtaining an increase of wages, assaulting the free workmen who refuse to join them and dynamiting the establishments of recalcitrant employers!

The labor-union trust is the most iron-bound trust on earth. At any rate, it goes without saying that it should be as amenable to processes of law as any other trust. Yet Congress now says it may violate the law with impunity.

The most astute special pleader on earth could not set up a logical defense for such a pernicious measure. It is class legislation in its worst form. This country will go down like Mexico if these things are to be. The Times trusts that the President will veto the Sundry Civil Bill. That the Supreme Court will declare it unconstitutional, if the measure shall ever come before that body is not to be doubted. Anything but class legislation in a land that boasts of equality and freedom!

WHO MAKES WAR?

Who makes war? As a rule it is not reigning monarchs. They have no disposition to jeopardize their jobs, or to expend the public revenues for armaments when the same moneys would buy pleasures for the court, and, to do them justice, they are not altogether a bad lot and prefer the peace and prosperity of their people to turmoil and privation of the masses.

War is no longer made in efforts to promote any religion. Men have not for centuries cut each other's throats in an effort to determine whether God should be worshiped in a coat or a cassock. Even in Mohammedan countries Christians are, as a rule, suffered to attend their chapels unmolested, and while England will no longer permit widows to be burned, or Juggernaut to be dragged over human bodies, or mothers-in-law to have their mouths plastered with mud and placed on the banks of the Ganges as tidbits for crocodiles, yet the millions who worship Buddha in India are unmolested by British officials, and British missionaries are not suffered to be insistent or obtrusive in attempting to make converts.

It used to be said that it is the newspapers that make war. That may have been the case years ago. But now it is the rule that the press of every great country labors for the preservation of peace.

The race antagonisms of peoples are often provocative of war. But at present, says the London Times, "there are no irresistible waves of popular feeling, no gusts of angry passion such as sweep whole peoples into war before they are well aware what they are doing. There is no great nation in Europe which today has the least desire that millions of men should be torn from their homes and flung headlong to destruction at the bidding of vain ambitions. The Italian people fought for a cause which was peculiarly their own. They were inspired by the memories of centuries of wrong which they were burning to avenge. The larger nations have no such quarrel, unless it is wilfully manufactured for them. The common sense of the peoples of Europe is well aware that no issue has been presented which could not be settled by amicable discussion. In England men will learn with amazement and incredulity that war is possible over the question of a Servian port or even over the larger issues which are said to lie behind it. Yet that is whither the nations are blindly drifting. Who, then, makes war? The answer is to be found in the Chancelleries of Europe, among the men who have too long played with human lives as pawns in a game of chess, who have become so enmeshed in formulas and the jargon of diplomacy that they have ceased to be conscious of the poignant realities with which they trifle. And thus will war continue to be made, until the great masses who are the sport of professional schemers and dreamers say the word which shall bring, not eternal peace, for that is impossible, but a determination that wars shall be fought only in a just and righteous and vital cause. If that word is ever to be spoken, there never was a more appropriate occasion than the present."

SUGAR AND DEMOCRACY.

If Democratic Congressmen and Senators are reasonably honest, if they mean to keep their promises, if they really favor "a tariff for revenue only," they will not strike $52,000,000 from the revenue by placing sugar upon the free list.

The consumers of sugar would not be benefited by such legislation. The people of the United States consumed in 1910 3,350,355 tons of sugar. We imported 1,702,375 tons and produced on our own soil (including Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines) 1,637,780 tons. Of the sugar produced 1,187,185 tons was cane sugar and 450,595 tons was beet sugar. The wholesale price of sugar has been for several years about 5 cents per pound.

Who would gain the $52,000,000 that the government would lose by admitting sugar free of duty? At first thought it might seem that the 90,000,000 of sugar consumers in the United States—men, women and children—would gain about 60 cents each per annum. If this were so, it would not offset the ruin of the sugar planters of Hawaii and Louisiana, and the abandonment of the industry of sugar-beet growing by the farmers of the Middle and the Ultimate West.

But the 90,000,000 people would not gain the $52,000,000 lost to the national treasury. The wholesale price of sugar to the consumer would not be reduced from 5 cents to 4 cents per pound. A share of the $52,000,000 would inure to the benefit of the German government, which would at once repeal the export bounty which it pays to German beet-sugar makers as an offset to our present import duty. That would inevitably put an end to beet-sugar making and beet-sugar growing in the United States, for our farmers pay to their hired hands more than double the wages paid in Germany. Our importations of raw sugar are made almost entirely from Cuba, which produces 1,864,349 tons per annum, or six times as much as all the other sugar-producing foreign countries north of Brazil. The American Sugar Refineries Company, which has no competitor in this country, controls the Cuban field, as it does that of Louisiana and Hawaii. It could continue to pay the Cuban planters the prices for raw sugars that it now pays, and sell refined sugars to consumers in the United States for 1 cent per pound less than it now charges and make as much money as it now makes, for it would extirpate the beet-sugar industry and have the market for refined sugars entirely to itself. Maybe it can succeed in persuading a majority of Congress to distort the tariff-for-revenue-only doctrine into a tariff-for-no-revenue-at-all doctrine as applied to sugar.

And maybe not. The Democratic Congressmen from Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and Texas, where cane sugar is grown, and from the States of the Middle West, where sugar beets are grown, will be likely to put their Democracy in cold storage for a while when it threatens to injure, if not destroy, a leading interest of their agricultural constituents.

RESPECT THE FLAG.

Does anybody like to see an American flag, nailed to or painted upon a fence, reading between the stripes: "Buy your shirts of Buggins?" Is it other than offensive to one's patriotism and good taste to see blazoned upon the bannered stars an invitation to "have your corns removed by the great chiropodist Snifkins?" What feelings are stirred by looking at Old Glory waving over an advertisement reading:

"Oh, what was't we saw by the dawn's early light?
'Twas a well-fitting corset of Johnson's devising.
We looked at our banner all glorious and bright,
And purchased of Biggs his flour that's self-rising.
'Tis the Star-Spangled Banner, oh, long may it wave
O'er the land where Dodicat's good whisky you crave."

Is there a patriotic heart that will not throb with satisfaction at the passage by the Senate of Senator Webb's bill prohibiting the placing of any word, figure, mark, picture or design or advertisement of any nature upon any flag, standard or ensign of the United States, and providing a fine of $500 or imprisonment for not more than six months for such desecration?

Don't use the Sermon on the Mount for an advertisement, old' you iconoclasts, and keep your desecrating hands off of our national emblem!

DRASTIC PROHIBITION MEASURE.

Under the Webb bill which the Senate has passed over the President's veto by a vote of 63 to 21, and which it is predicted may pass the House, a case of California wine or a keg of Kentucky whisky may not be shipped into a dry State. If this law shall pass and its constitutionality be affirmed by the United States Supreme Court, it will be the most drastic and effective measure of prohibition yet devised. Under the most stringent dry legislation yet enacted while the sale of intoxicating liquor may be prohibited within the State there is nothing to prevent a citizen of such State from purchasing wine, or beer, or distilled liquor for his own use outside the State, and having it shipped to him within the State. Under the Webb bill this he can no longer do.

It needs but one more piece of sumptuary legislation to close such distilleries and wineries and breweries as depend upon other than a home market for their output, and that is a law forbidding a right of transit through a dry State for all intoxicants. If in order to send a case of California claret from California to New York it were necessary to ship it by a winding route so as to avoid passing through dry States, it would add greatly to the cost and delay of transit. And if the number of dry States should be increased so as to form a chain of such States from the lakes to the gulf or from the Alleghenies to the Rockies it would make it impossible for a man living in a wet State to obtain a drink of beer, wine or whisky other than what was home-made.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

How I regret the good old days, and all the pleasant, happy ways now perished from the earth! No more the worn breadwinner sings, no more the cottage rooftree rings with sounds of hearty mirth. The good old days! The cheerful nights! We had then no electric lights, but oil lamps flared and smoked; and now and then they would explode and blow the shanty 'cross the road, and sometimes victims croaked. The windows had no window screens, there were no books or magazines to make our morals lame; we used to sit 'round in the dark while father talked of Noah's ark until our bedtime came. No furnace or steam-heating plant would make the cold air gallivant; a fireplace kept us warm; the house was full of flying soot and burning brands, and smoke to boot, whene'er there was a storm. No telephones then made men curse; if with a neighbor you'd converse, you hoofed it fourteen miles; the girl who wished to be a belle believed that she was doing well if she knew last year's styles. There'll never be such days as those, when people wore no underclothes, and beds were stuffed with hay, when paper collars were the rage—oh, dear, delightful, bygone age, when we were young and gay!

How to Be Beautiful.

[By Beatrice Bonehead:] Be born with a pretty face and keep it all your life.

Do not grow old. This is one of the first principles of remaining young and beautiful.

If your hair is coming out, keep it in a paper sack and have a switch made of it. Then you can always say your hair is all your own.

Enamel your face with white Alabastine and then put the rouge on top of that.

THE DOMINANT SEX.

BY LILLIAN COLLINS.

Nothing which I have yet noted in the political complexion of the world has converted me to a belief in the necessity for woman in politics. I want to emphasize this fact right here, at the very beginning, because there are some mighty freakish doings in the realm of politics these days; and perhaps—

But never mind; I'll put it up to you.

First there is that man in the Missouri Legislature—Representative Hays, I believe he is styled—with the bill proposing to regulate the mode of fastening which women shall affect in their dresses.

The gentleman is disinclined to perpetuate the prevailing mode of "hooking up the back," which even the suffragettes, to a man, indorse. With owl-like gravity—or a clumsy attempt at facetiousness, perhaps—he seeks to prohibit the women of his State from wearing dresses that button up the back, "unless the buttons be as large as a dollar."

Just why a dollar should be regarded as the standard size for buttons upon the back of a woman's gown does not appear; nor the reason for the gentleman's clemency in exempting buttons of any size whatsoever. Why not legislate all the buttons off the women's gowns? Why stop short at a thing so trifling as their size?

As a matter of fact, it wouldn't make a bit of difference to the women in either event, since women no longer button their dresses up the back. They've been using hooks and eyes for ever and ever so long. They used to button their dresses, to be sure; but that was so long ago that the memory of a fashionable woman runneth not back thereto.

This would seem to suggest the pathetic circumstance that the wife of the Missouri legislator had not a new gown in—oh, in quite a term of years.

Scandalous, isn't it? Little did the unsuspecting gentleman think his iniquitous behavior would be so plainly revealed, and by so trivial a matter. Thus do we dig pitfalls for our own unwary feet, and spin webs for our own entanglement.

And then in our own beloved State we are looking upon a picture of Progressive politics; that peculiar form of progressiveness which, long and painfully and thinly drawn out, presents a figure of unbelievable attenuation. But the word of authority has gone forth: "Progress or bust."

And so we progress!

For instance: A gentleman in the California Legislature proposes a bill for enactment of which, for ease of reference, I shall call the "Dust Rag Bill."

It provides for a penalty of thirty days' imprisonment for anyone caught using a dust rag that has not previously been boiled for forty minutes in a solution containing 5 per cent. of caustic soda.

What a boost for the drug trust!—what a lift for the soulless utility corporation! Caustic soda, and forty minutes of gas flow!—and all for one little dust rag that will again menace the gentleman's peace of mind with its squirming, wriggling collection of pesky little microbes, after its first clean swipe across his favorite easy chair.

Does his bill specify, I wonder, how many times we shall be required to boil our dust rags per diem in order to establish the gentleman's zest of life and guard him from the onslaught of the doughty little germs that inspire his soul with terror?

I am rather anxious about this particular provision of the "Dust Rag Bill." There were one or two other things I was planning to do when I could find time; and now this antiseptic laundry regulation comes up.

I almost wish now I had learned to vote. But, I dare say, I shouldn't have known anything about the gentleman's pet scheme until it was too late to help defeat him. You never can tell when you go up against Progressive politics.

I wonder into whose apron this delectable plum, the office of Official Dust Rag Inspector, will fall; and I wonder, too, how much it will be worth per annum of the taxpayers' money?

STREAKS OF WIT.

Getting Rich Fast.

[Louisville Courier Journal:] "How's the sale of stock coming on?" inquired the first promoter.

"Sold 9000 shares this morning," said the second promoter.

"That must mean a good deal of money."

"About $6. Come on, and I'll blow you to lunch."

Peace at Home.

[Yonkers Statesman:] "A man should be willing to spend his evenings at home."

"Yes," said the man with the querulous voice.

"But what is he going to do when his wife insists on being taken to all the musical comedies?"

Nature vs. Speculation.

[Chicago Record Herald:] "After all, life is a good deal like Wall street."

"In what way?"

"It is all a gamble, you know."

"But that doesn't make it like Wall street. In life almost everyone has a chance."

Would Help Him Along.

[Fall River Journal:] Frayed Ferdinand: Did youse try your old stall about bein' under a handicap all your life an' wantin' a fresh start?

Tattered Thomas: Yep, an' de dame said she'd start me at de front gate an' put de bulldog on de scratch.

Good for the Plants.

[Life:] Real Estate Agent: Wasn't your bathroom above the parlor when you took this house?

Tenant: It was, sir, but you refused to have it repaired, so in order to save my furniture I had to put it over the conservatory.

Taking Precautions.

[Boston Transcript:] She: You once said you would die for me, and now you refuse to get up and light the fire.

He: That's perfectly logical. If I died for you I'd be done with it; but if I get up once and light the fire you'll want me to do it every morning.

'Twas Surely the Flour.

[Bristol Times:] "I wish to complain," said the bride haughtily, "about that flour you sold me. It was tough."

"Tough, ma'am?" asked the grocer.

"Yes, tough. I made a pie with it and my husband could hardly cut it."

Wants the Sample.

[Meggendorfer Blaetter:] "Has an insect got into your eye? Then I shall quickly call the old professor."

"Is he especially expert?"

"Not so much that, but he is making a collection of insects."

THE ANTARCTIC HEROES.

Across the dread Antarctic waste
  Of age-long ice and endless snow,
Where bleak winds sweep in blizzard haste
  And where at night the Austral glow
With weird-like shiftings lights the silent land
Behold! a challenge comes from a bold band!

"O ice-clad Death and Silence grim,
  Who here have reigned since time began,
We bid you ope your portals dim
  And hail your sovereign, mortal man!
We come to gain earth's last unconquered goal
And win for man the world from Pole to Pole!"

And Death and Silence, undismayed,
  Heard that bold challenge at their door;
Swift their dread legions they arrayed
  And charged across the earth's lone floor.
But onward through the storm and deadly blast
The heroes battled, won the goal—and passed!

They lost, yet won! Their flag, unfurled,
  Floats o'er the wind-swept spaces now
Of that last goal of all the world,
  And in their honor nations bow.
O'er them for aye the Southern Cross looks down
In lonely splendor, guarding their renown.

For Sale!

TOOLS IDLE AS TASK IS DONE.

Aqueduct Supplies Put Upon Second-Hand Market.

City Develops Rebate Funds in Balancing Cash.

Office Building Now Saloon in Private Hands.

Los Angeles has embarked upon a new business enterprise and it is making good. It is a municipal second-hand store.

Equipment, machinery, materials and supplies from nearly new to almost junk, when no longer needed for the construction of the aqueduct is being sold.

The store has for sale anything from a chisel to a cement plant, a pair of shears to a steam shovel, a lantern to a locomotive, a bolt to a building, or a mule to a concrete mixer.

The one thing necessary to make purchases—cash—because the shrewd man who so cleverly bought all of the millions of dollars' worth of material which has been used in building the aqueduct may also be depended upon to drive a mighty close bargain in selling anything he happens to have on his hands now.

But this Yankee trading doesn't appear to worry those who are seeking aqueduct equipment. Inquiries have been received from ar far east as Philadelphia, as far north as Canada and from all through the Middle West. Honolulu also has been doing some lively bidding.

EVERYTHING FOR SALE.

The city has for sale practically everything required in a big engineering project. As fast as the material on the line has served its purpose and is no longer needed, it is released. Most of it is shipped to the city, but a great deal of it is sold on the ground where it has been used to contractors and ranchmen who have been waiting the opportunity to buy.

Already upward of $100,000 worth of material has been disposed of. The sales last month amounted to $34,000 and this month's business has been much heavier.

The same elaborate system that has been evolved in the construction of the aqueduct may be observed in the newest branch, the sales department. W. R. Ormsby, purchasing agent since July, 1907, was appointed by the Advisory Committee to act as the sales agent. In his office on the top floor of the Central building are the records of all things sold, for sale and the prices.

In the city's water yard, Slauson and Compton avenues, several warehouses have been built and all discarded equipment is shipped and overhauled by half a dozen men, who make necessary repairs in the machinery and put everything in a usable condition, before it is allowed to leave the yard again. The city allows no comebacks.

SCIENTIFIC SALESMANSHIP.

The sale of the equipment is on a scientific basis. Nothing is sold until it has been appraised by Assistant Chief Engineer Lippincott, and Mechanical Constructor MacKay. In arriving at the present values the original cost is ascertained and the appraisers determine its per cent. of deterioration. If repair parts are needed such expense is added.

Aside from the wages of the mechanics and freight charges and advertising, the sale of the equipment is costing little. The city is obtaining good prices. In some instances it is actually getting more than it paid in the sale of some of the mules, without which the big ditch would today be far from finished, for instance. In fact, there is a large question of whether we would have had the mammoth aqueduct at all without the aid of the Missouri toiler. At present there are approximately 450 animals to dispose of, and it is estimated that they will bring about [illegible].

The steam and electric shovels will run into money in a hurry. There were fourteen of them, ranging in salvage price from $3500 to $9000. Four have already been sold and one has been spoken for by the harbor board for $9000, and it is probable that another, costing $8000, will also be bought for that work. Two were purchased by the Public Service Commission for use on the Fernando dam; one by the park department and one by a contractor. It is expected that the steam shovel equipment will net $64,000.

OFFICE NOW A SALOON.

Other considerable items of revenue will be in concrete mixers and rock drills. Then there will be lumber, all sorts of hardware, pipe, fittings, valves, casing, etc. Office buildings are proving ready sellers, and in one instance the purchaser has converted the structure into a saloon.

With the closing of the executive offices in the Central building, a large number of typewriters, desks, filing cabinets, tables, chairs and the like will be sold. Other city departments will probably take a considerable part of this equipment, but they will have to buy them just the same as any outsider.

Among the merchants and wholesalers the acqueduct has the reputation of having purchased its materials cheaper than any other buyer. This can be accounted for by the fact that the business men have shown a wonderful interest in the big task and have vied with each other in selling to the city as reasonably as possible. Therefore, while equipment commands good prices, the purchasers are receiving good values, for, while the prices in many instances do not show a great reduction in the cost to the city, they are far below what the same materials would cost the outside purchaser.

MISS M'MILLAN NOW MRS. STONE.

SOCIAL FAVORITE WEDS 'MID SHOWER OF BLOSSOMS.

Daughter of Pacific Electric Official Bride of Young Clubman at Charming Ceremony in St. John's. Both Young People Well Known in Local Circles of Elite.

Several hundred friends and relatives were present yesterday at the wedding in St. John's Episcopal Church of Miss Rebecca McMillan, daughter of Joseph McMillan, general manager of the Pacific Electric Railway, to William Stone, young society and club man of this city.

Rev. Harry Gray, rector of Trinity Church, spoke the lines at noon in a pretty setting of choice greenery and white blossoms. The bride-elect, attractive in gray brocaded crepe, trimmed with touches of coral chiffon, entered on the arm of her father. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Borden Johnson, who will be remembered as Miss Josephine McMillan. Mrs. Johnson was attired in blue charmeuse and lace with a shower of pink buds.

Stone, who is the son of Mrs. Martha Dandridge Stone of Kensington road, this city, was attended by his brother, Jordan Stone.

Although unpretentious, the wedding is of more than ordinary interest owing to the prominence of both young people, who have made this city their home for years. The bride was educated at Marlborough and since her coming out has been a general favorite.

Immediately following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Stone departed for a honeymoon trip at the conclusion of which they will make their home with the bride's parents in Glendale.

Dean William MacCormack of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, was to have performed the ceremony, but was unexpectedly called out of the city.

Valuable Item For Men

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before, if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Leading druggists supply the main tinctures, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles, ready to mix. Get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound, mix with one ounce compound fluid balmwort, and stand two hours. Add one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom.) Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.

The ingredients are used for various prescriptions.

You Need Pure Drinking Water

Puritas is Always Dependable, Always Refreshing—and Very Inexpensive.

Wise people who drink Puritas Distilled Water never know when the "Spring Tonic" season comes around.

They don't need tonics.

Nor do they subject their systems to the impurities which the heavy rains wash so abundantly into the streams.

They use Puritas regularly—find it always uniformly pure, month in, month out.

Puritas users are thousands strong—a great army of healthy, comfortable people who are as careful to see that they get pure water to drink as they are to get pure food to eat.

Puritas is carefully distilled, aerated with pure ozone, and bottled in clean, five-gallon glass demijohns which we deliver anywhere within the old city boundary lines for only forty cents. At outside points the cost is a trifle more, owing to the long haul.

Puritas Agents in practically all Southern California towns. If you have any trouble in getting Puritas, just telephone or write us. Home 10053; Sunset, Main 8191.

—Must Be Vitally Interested In the Panama Rubber Company's Announcement of the Immediate Erection of a

Pacific Coast Tire Factory

The Panama Rubber Company has been incorporated for the express purpose of establishing upon the Pacific Coast a rubber factory for the manufacture, first, of automobile tires, and later, truck tires and all other kinds of rubber goods.

You, Mr. Tire-User Are Interested Because

—It's a Matter of Money

The stock you own in the Panama Rubber Company will earn seven per cent. from the beginning. This is absolutely assured by the fact that enough of our output is contracted for to guarantee this dividend. We can manufacture the best tire that material and skill can produce, sell it as cheaply as the Eastern tire manufacturer can possibly do—and make a greater profit per tire. Ask us about it.

—It's a Matter of Convenience

Past experience has taught you the expense and annoyance of using old, dried-out tires. It's going to mean a lot to you to be able to get new, fresh tires—tires that you can depend upon for [illegible]nest, lasting service. You—and incidentally every other tire user on the Pacific Coast—will benefit directly as the result of this enterprise. Come in and let us tell you how.

—It's a Matter of Pride

It's a matter that you should seriously consider if only for the reason that it is a much needed industry that is to be located on the Pacific Coast—that will furnish employment for hundreds of Pacific Coast workmen—YOU—Mr. Pacific Coast Citizen—you owe it to yourself and your community to investigate this proposition immediately.

You Can Buy Stock At $10.00 Per Share

25% Down—25% Monthly

With every four shares of this Preferred Stock you receive a bonus of one share of Common Stock. Bear in mind that the Preferred Stock has the same voting power as the Common Stock—that it is the first lien upon the assets of the Company, and that it will share equally in all excess dividends after 7 per cent on the Preferred and 10 per cent on the Common stock have been paid. We have already contracted for the sale of 100 tires per day for the next five years. This assures a dividend of 7 per cent and disposes of only one-fourth the possible capacity of the factory and it means that while 7 per cent is certain, twice that amount is possible and four times as much not impossible. The reason for dividing the stock in this company among as many individual tire users as possible, is obvious. If you are a stockholder, you will certainly use and boost the Panama Tire. And every stockholder who does this will do his share toward selling the capacity output of the factory; will thus lessen the cost of distribution and help to make larger dividends. The stability and integrity of the men behind this enterprise is sufficient guarantee of its honesty. Your investment gives you 7 per cent. sure—it allows you to share in the increase that the wonderful future of this industry makes certain—and with all risk eliminated. Call at our office today—better still, phone us right now and let us explain this more fully to you.

These Are the Men Behind Your Money

W. D. NEWERF, President.
J. S. BENNER, Secretary.
W. E. McCUNE, First Vice-President.
J. F. ROE, Treasurer.

Mr. Newerf is the head of the W. D. Newerf Rubber Co., the largest independent tire jobber in the world. Mr. Benner was for years actively associated with the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., as financial man and adviser. Mr. McCune is an Eastern rubber man and a sales-organizer of 15 years' experience. The management is composed, in short, of men who are familiar with every detail of the work. They are men solid financially—men of unquestioned integrity. You probably know one or more of them personally. Let them tell you about it.

MORE FINE MUSIC AT BARKER BROS.

Anthony E. Carlson, the Noted Basso and Pianist Clerboise to Be Soloists Next Saturday.

Attendance So Large At Previous Recitals This Season That Hall Has to Be Enlarged.

A rare bit of good news for the music lovers of Los Angeles, is the announcement by Barker Bros. of the appearance of Anthony E. Carlson at their fourth recital, next Saturday afternoon, March 8th. Mr. Carlson as a singer has demonstrated his mastery of German Lieder, and of the earliest classics to the latest of Strauss. Of commanding personality, and with a discerning and authoritative interpretation of a wonderful repertoire, Mr. Carlson has been the recipient of many tributes of praise for his consummate artistry, both in recital and teaching in Los Angeles. Assisting Mr. Carlson will be heard Mr. George Clerboise in piano solos. Mr. Clerboise is a distinguished artist, lately of Paris, where he was associated with Fran King Clark. Owing to the great demand for seats to these weekly concerts, Barker Bros. have been compelled to make them invitational, but tickets can be procured without charge, by calling for same at the piano warerooms of Barker Bros., on and after Tuesday, each week.

The attendance at the recitals thus far given in the present series, has been so large as to tax the seating capacity of the Barker Recital Hall, and in order to take care of the largest possible number, arrangements have just been made to enlarge this hall, which will provide accommodations, beginning next Saturday, with half again as many as have heretofore been seated. These recitals are undoubtedly the most popular events of their kind that have ever been given by any Los Angeles firm.

Paint Without Oil

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Paint Seventy-Five Per Cent.

A Free Trial Package Is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powder paint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fire proof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write to Mr. A. L. Rice, Manuf'r., 483 North St., Adams N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

Spring Styles—Exclusive, Smart

—The Sort of Styles You Expect to Find Here

Thousands of women throughout Southern California have come to look on New York Store styles as representing the very latest, the very best; have come to look on New York Store prices as the lowest for which garments of the very highest grade can be purchased in the whole Southwest.

Here is a storeful of reasons for their faith in us, a storeful of justification for their opinions.

New Easter Suits In Silk—$47.50 to $150.00

Our own exclusive models; original imported ideas, and our own adaptation of the best in those ideas. And may we ask you, particularly, to see the new silk suits for Easter. In moire, faille and broche silk, in those new shades of copper red, old gold, mustard, wistaria, purple and the new blues. Made, many of them, with the late Postillion coat effects, which are so effective when worn with the draped skirts that Fashion has demanded.

Suits, Plain Tailored, $25 to $35

Snappy new models in eponge, in serge, in wool bengaline, in mixtures directly imported from Scotland's best mills, solid colors or pin stripes, or checks—a stock especially selected for its exceptional style qualities, for its value, for its adaptability to the needs of Southern California women. Sizes for small women and styles particularly appropriate for them, included in this line and at these prices.

Street Dresses $14.75, $19.50, $25

The prettiest, most practical, best all-around models that we have shown for many a day. French serges in blues, blacks and other colors, ratines in a wide variety of weaves, wool fabrics which we ordered especially for our Spring trade. A fine assortment, a wonderful assortment, a price range which cannot fail to appeal to your purse any more than the beauty of the dresses can fail to appeal to your good taste.

And an Evening Dress Sale $14.75

Only 250 of them. The values as high as $35

The last sale of evening dresses which we shall hold, and, consequently the greatest. Dresses simple, dresses elaborate, some of them almost worthy the name of "costume." In chiffon, charmeuse, lace net, crepe meteor, in white, black and in all pretty evening shades. Their lines the very latest manifestation of Spring's Fashion Ideas. Their values unquestionable, their prices, for Monday, a revelation in value-giving.

A Special In Newest
Coats
For Spring Wear
$16.50

Dozens and scores of those prettiest new coat designs, in the light colors, in the light or medium weights. Three-quarter or full lengths, lined or unlined. But every one of them represents at its best Spring's best ideas for coat style. And every one, you will agree when you see them, is a value marvel. All colors, all styles, all sizes, for women, small women and misses.

Gloves
Special for Monday

More of those good, money-saving Monday specials for which this store is noted.

Broken Lines—
$2.25 Gloves $1.45.
$1.50 Street Gloves, $1.15.

Easter Millinery In Advance

Far ahead of the displays which other stores are making, comes this Easter showing of the New York Store, a font of ideas, a world of style represented in it. These are not hats bought by the score or by the dozen. Every one of them has been carefully selected, carefully examined, carefully valued, carefully priced. Every one is a model which none but the New York Store can show. And prices throughout the department will, if you compare them with what other stores are asking, give you a very clear idea of the reson that so many women shop here for millinery needs.

Tailored Hats $7.50 to $20

Small hats, chic hats, snappy hats, saucy hats, aggressive hats, most of them small, all of them of that recognized quality which has at all times distinguished the New York Store's millinery. The trimmings extreme, the shapes extreme, the very straws themselves—Perlee hemps and moire hemps—different from anything you have seen. The prices representing maximum value in every case.

Special Display—Semi-Dress Models $15

Styles suitable for wear with the draped suits and dresses which this season has approved. The new colorings, the new contrasts, the later trimming effects, which partake half of the strictly tailored and half of the dressy effects. And at approximately this price, for Monday, we have made an effort, successful, we believe, to offer really special values.

Newest Hat Shapes In Hemp $5, $7.50 and $10

Tagal hemp, Bulgarian hemp, new oriental braids, in those close-fitting effects which the latest Spring styles recognize and approve. Shapes selected for us especially, and by us especially, shapes coming fully up to the New York Store's standard of style excellence, priced at figures which meet with the New York Store's reputation for values.

New Lines of Auto Veils
$1.95 & $2.45

The best values in the market today, says the manager. Sixteen shades to select from in full, wide veils, many with fancy borders on all four sides.

Hope For Wives of Drinking Men

You Can Save Your Husband and Sons by Giving Them the Neal Treatment.

Many good, capable men are constantly fighting the drink habit with all their will-power, but find resolutions to stop drinking are not of much assistance when the irresistible craving for alcoholic stimulants comes on.

If your husbands and sons are drinking to excess—or at all—and are discouraged by repeated failures to stop, of their own accord, with absolute failure staring them in the face, you should act for them, at once, and send them to the Neal Institute, where in three days the Neal Drink Habit Treatment will remove the craving and necessity for drink—without the use of painful, dangerous hypodermic injections—and restore them to sober, useful lives.

ROCK ISLAND TO PACIFIC COAST.

NEW STEAMSHIP LINE IS ALSO PREDICTED.

General Passenger Agent of Salt Lake Makes Unqualified Observations—Indicates Westward Extensions of Big Lines Which He Says Will Reach Here for Big Fair.

"By 1915 the Rock Island will be entering California over its own tracks and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul will be offering service in here from Portland with the finest line of Coastwise vessels ever seen in these parts."

This prediction, without a single reservation, was made yesterday by General Passenger Agent Peck of the Salt Lake.

"The Phelps-Dodge people, controlling the Rock Island system, already have a track into Tucson," continued Peck. "They are not using it much, except for local service, but I know that antagonistic interests are not going to prevent the Rock Island from pushing its El Paso & Southwestern across the line into this State. Otherwise, why did they build the Tucson line? For, without California connection it is practically money wasted.

"The Rock Island System, as everybody knows, has the money. It has the money to purchase the Southern Pacific and half a dozen other railroads and it is going to come in here as sure as fate, and that in time to garner some of the exposition traffic.

"As for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, it is by no means a secret in railroad circles that this road is figuring on shipping service from Portland down the Coast. You can take my word for it that by 1915 boats will be coming in here under the flag of this company."

TWO GIRLS.

BY MRS. WILLIAM HENRY AKIN.

There was a girl lived in our town
And she was wondrous wise,
On every subject 'neath the sun
From votes to knitting ties.

For magazines and papers too
She would write a page or more,
And at the biggest Women's Clubs
She always had the floor.

Another girl lived in our town
She could neither write nor preach,
But when she passed by with a smile,
The men said "What a peach!"

Now the moral to this little tale
I've pointed out with pains,
The last thing that a man requires
In his lady-love is—Brains.

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

"Twenty-year men" in the railway mail service were prettily entertained Friday at dinner at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burgess, No. 1671 West First street. A feature was the use of miniature mail-pouch place cards, each guest being required to open and distribute the contents to the others present. The occasion was the thirtieth anniversary of the host in the service. About twenty were present.

SEWER SYSTEM IN SAD STATE.

LONG BEACH BOARD OF HEALTH ISSUES DICTUM.

Unless Voters Authorize Issue of Bonds Improvements Will Be Made Under the Ten-Year Bond Act. Motorcycle Wrecked and Two Hurt in a Collision.

LONG BEACH, March 1.—After listening to Health Officer Newman today detailing the danger of lack of sewers and the bad condition of cesspools in certain portions of the city, and the necessity of immediate relief, the Board of Health yesterday, by a unanimous vote, adopted resolutions pointing out the absolute and immediate necessity of a new sewer system and a method of disposing of rubbish and garbage.

It declared that the board would be compelled to take measures to secure relief, no matter how the coming vote on the merger bond issue results. The board also decided to enter the campaign and conduct the interest of their two projects from an educational standpoint. In this the Mayor, a member of the board, agreed, but warned the board that it must confine its activities to these two propositions alone.

The resolutions adopted provide that in case of failure of the bonds, the board will take the necessary steps to have the sewers and incinerator built under the ten-year bond act, which would mean a direct assessment every year, instead of the easier method of providing for the interest and gradual retirement of the bonds.

NEW SKYSCRAPER.

Another big apartment-house was made a certainty today by the issuance of a permit to Edward R. Tinerat for the foundation of a six-story apartment-house 52x92 feet, on the south edge of the bluff west of Hotel Virginia. The foundation, which is to cost $9000, will be heavy enough for a twelve-story building. The building will rise five stories above the bluff, the lower story below being for the lobby. The entire structure will cost $90,000, and will be of reinforced concrete.

February building permits were the greatest in the history of the city, reaching a total of $377,410, making a total of new buildings for the two months of 1913, $686,484, represented by 300 different permits. The largest previous month of business activity was in June, 1908, when the permits reached a valuation of $338,354.

CORONER INVESTIGATES.

Though death is believed to have been from natural causes the Coroner is investigating the death of C. I. Donalson, whose body was found last night in his apartments at the Butte, half stretched out over a small gas range.

The body was cold and stiff and death had evidently come several hours previous, as he was attempting to light the stove. Donalson was a ship carpenter and came here last June. He was a native of Sweden and 45 years of age. He had no family but is thought to have relatives in Pasadena, with whom the police are trying to get into communication.

GASOLENE WRECK.

Attempting to pass around a street sweeper on Magnolia avenue last night Perry Goodale and Fred Wilkinson, on a motorcycle, crashed into an auto driven by W. S. Tolbert and were thrown under their machine and badly hurt. Goodale has a broken leg, while Wilkinson has a broken rib and body and head bruises. Both men are at a local hospital.

BELATED BREAKFASTS.

Working all night under many difficulties workmen of the Consolidated Gas Company ran a temporary main from the broken connection north of town and by filling the emergency reservoir enabled peeved housewives to get a belated breakfast at 7:30 this morning. Later the broken main was repaired and this evening regular gas service is resumed throughout the city.

Inquiries last night were so numerous that nine extra telephone girls were required in one exchange to answer inquiries regarding the failure of gas.

Expensive Popcorn.

For having stolen a sack of popcorn, eating part of it, spilling the remainder on the sidewalk and then fighting with the man from whom he stole it, J. Brennan landed in the City Jail yesterday. He was arraigned before Police Judge Chambers on a complaint sworn to by Charles White, a vendor at Second and Main streets. White testified that Brennan assaulted him when he attempted to recover the popcorn.

HAIL, THE LADY HOBO LATEST SUFFRAGETTE!

Bombardment of Los Angeles by Trampesses in Trousers, Who Ride the Brakebeams and Hike the Railroad Ties—Police Face to Face With Latest Social Innovation—Evolution of Aimless Annie and Sloppy Sal.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

AND NOW comes the lady tramp! The genus hoboess is among us! Yea, Dusty Delia, Meandering Mag, Aimless Annie—they wander in a dusty, irregular line adown the byways of civilization.

The police authorities admit it. The Associated Charities and Salvation Army grapple with it. And behold, the lady bum, or bumess, as the speaker prefers, multiplieth in the land, according to these authorities.

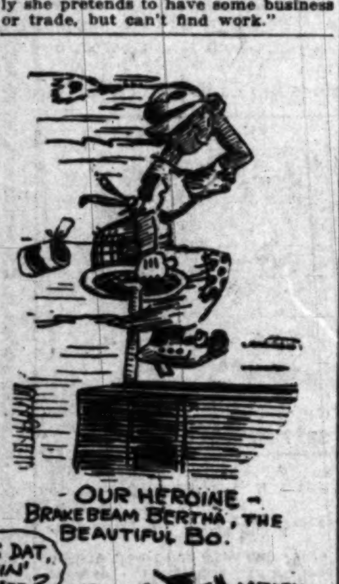
We received a jolt in our tenderest sensibilities when girl chauffeurs and firewomen arose among us, and undertakeresses and usheresses also jogged our prejudices, not to mention girl policemen and girl elevator-boys, so to speak, and we knew we were developing lady prize fighters—Kid Kitties and Slugging Sals. But it remained for the lady tramp to land the final Willie Ritchie on our sentimental solar plexi.

"Not for mere man alone," said the lady tramp to herself, "is the fragrant hay mow, the succulent sandwich, the exhilerating brake beam." Whereupon, behold, she rose and girded up her loins and went forth and bummed.

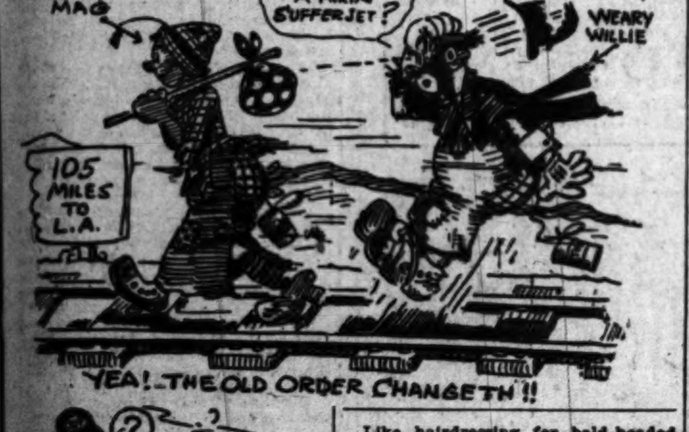
Literally she girded up her loins. Not with sack-cloth and ashes; not much. She girded them with the article of masculine apparel referred to in the plural number; she girded them with free American pants.

DON STRANGE RAIMENT.

"Nearly all the women tramps dress in men's clothing," vouchsafed Capt. Murray at the police station. "A man and woman travelled all the way from New Orleans together a short time ago. Sometimes they rode brake beams, some times they got a lift in a wagon, but most of the time they walked, and many is the hair-lifting tale that women [illegible] about, hob-nobbing aroud the camp fire in camping with tramps of all degrees.



-OUR HEROINE-
BRAKEBEAM BERTHA, THE BEAUTIFUL BO.



MEANDERIN' MAG
WOT'S DAT, A HIKIN' SUFFERJET?
WEARY WILLIE
105 MILES TO L.A.
YEA!-THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH!!

They're Comin'.

Who's comin'? Why, the army of lady tramps. The vanguard is even already with us, as the police and Associated Charities and the Salvation Army know.

"Then there is the recent case of [illegible] Murphy, who is now in the [illegible] Hospital mending up some [illegible] bones received from a fall [illegible] a box car. She had tramped [illegible], working as a messenger [illegible] in El Centra, as a bartender in [illegible], and as a baggage man in [illegible]. She worked also in the fields [of] Imperial Valley, and sawed wook in [the] Los Angeles municipal woodyard. [illegible] is not an isolated case. There [illegible] a little girl from Whittier, just [the] other day, dressed in boy's clothing. She is in the probation department now, awaiting trial. There are [illegible] similar cases."

[illegible] when a tramp seeks your back [illegible] and beseeches the privilege of [illegible] wood, be sure it isn't the lady [illegible] to whom you hand the saw. [illegible] may tell her by his manners, so [illegible]. If he takes from his pocket [illegible] mirror and a fine-tooth comb [illegible] drinking the fragrant coffee on [the] back porch, give your suspicions [illegible], but if he smoothes out his eye[illegible] with moistened middle finger, [illegible] no doubt! Beware! You're [illegible] to find the saw tied up with pink [illegible] when "he" finishe s "his" [illegible].

"ALL IS VANITY."

But don't you ever run away with the idea that the lady tramp will [illegible] wood for her breakfast! Not [illegible]. She'll want a vanity box and a [illegible] set. And if she mends a [illegible] or tends the baby, she'll not [illegible] anything like a sensible pair of [illegible] and an overcoat, but will clamor [for a] set of beauty pins and cut glass [illegible].

[illegible] the lady tramp can travel [illegible]. What does she need more [illegible] a package of curl-papers and [illegible] puff in her topboots? [illegible] are entirely superfluous, for [illegible] saw a woman that couldn't [illegible] her arms and hunch her [illegible] and keep warm?

[illegible] from Capt. Murray that [illegible] tramp is rather gregarious, [illegible] to be where she can borrow [illegible]-kid "off" a friend. She [illegible] about a camp fire with [illegible] of her kind, and talk about [illegible] knows what—probably tidies [illegible] beams and how Weary Willie met Cock-Eyed Kate at the [illegible] Reunion in the river bed.

[illegible] to the Salvation Army [illegible] there's a camp down in the [illegible] where lady tramps hold their [illegible] meetings; and on the side [illegible] in Elysian Park is a cave [illegible] of Aimless Annie boarding-house. The tramps used to own that cave. They don't any more. A few of the Amazons vanquished them with broomsticks and the frying pan!

WORKS A GRAFT.

"Your lady tramp doesn't tramp. She rides."

Thus Secretary Sewell of the Associated Charities.

Which sounds anomalous, but only means that she usually manages to work some graft to get her fare from one place to another.

"She tells a hard-luck story," says Sewell, "that is hard to trace. Usually she pretends to have some business or trade, but can't find work."

Like hairdressing for bald-headed men, or candlestick making, one supposes.

Sewell declares that lady tramps have their social distinctions, too. Old Sloppy-Weather Sal, who rides in a box car, isn't "received" by Rustling Rita, who "earns" her living tramping from town to town when she can't get a lift, selling leadless lead pencils and chewless chewing gum and eyeless eye glasses. And as for riding on the same brake beam with Rusty Ray—why in the best lady tramp circles, it simply "isn't done!"

"Then there's another class," said Sewell. "These are the real aristocrats. They live in luxury at the Salvation Army 5-cent lodging-houses, while in town, and outside drive a covered wagon from place to place, working in the orchards and canneries. They work in a place till the work gives out, or the wanderlust seizes them; then they hitch up their spavined old horses and are off. The women who ride on brake beams and in box cars, and tramp the country, always wear men's clothing."

EASY TO DRESS.

"Will she ever evolve a costume?" I inquired of the city prison matron.

"Sure thing," she answered. "Did you ever know a woman fail to dress the part? It's inevitable she should evolve a costume."

So doubtless "Fashions for Trampesses" will in time become a department of the "Homely Ladies' Journal" and the "Literary Stomachache."

"They carry their social distinctions with them, even here," went on the matron.

Fancy a gathering of lady tramps discussing "The Higher Ethics of the Alley" or getting up an etiquette book on "Social Procedure at Box-Car Parties" and "Rules of Precedence of Lady Tramps at the Garbage Can."

Of course it's impossible to prognosticate just how this most recent feminist movement will turn out. But woman usually succeeds in what she undertakes. Probably she'll increase her usefulness in time—come into the house and take care of baby while mother goes downtown shopping; or tidy up the home for a sick housewife. So that, after a while, instead of a tramp-proof dog, a sign will on occasion be posted outside the door—"Wanted, a Lady Tramp!"

PRICES HIT BOTTOM.

Eggs Are Cheaper Than in Years, and Lower Prices Are Predicted. Butter Is Still High.

Eggs are cheap—cheaper than they have been at this time in four or five years, in fact—and butter is expected to decline materially in a few weeks. This in addition to cheap apples, potatoes and onions, and the prospect for bounteous crops this year, will perhaps prove some alleviation to the housewife, whose feelings have been sorely tried by high meat prices.

Instances have been reported recently where two dozen eggs sold retail at 45 cents, and at the present wholesale figures, good eggs should be obtained as low as 25 cents a dozen. A prominent produce dealer predicts that eggs will sell even as low as 20 cents a dozen retail, before the season of low prices is over.

A comparison of prices to the trade, March 1, for the last five years, shows that they were 4 or 5 cents higher than this year in 1912, 1 to 2 cents higher in 1911, 6 to 7 cents higher in 1910, 4 to 5 cents higher in 1909 and about the same in 1908.

Unfortunately, slight declines have not brought the price of butter down materially. It still sells half a cent higher than last year at this time and 8 cents higher than the previous year, but the rates since the opening of the year have generally been above normal, owing to the lack of rain.

The recent precipitation makes prospects for lower prices brighter than they have previously been. An instance of how marked the shortage was in the State this season, is that one dealer is said to have purchased butter in the State of Washington and to have sold it here at a profit.

Dealers say that the storage supply is rapidly cleaned up, and that this has a tendency to keep the market firm. However, large spring receipts of fresh butter are expected and as forage is expected to be plentiful because of the rain, butter may sell at quite a low rate during this season.

ANGELENOS ON MAIDEN TRIP.

MAKE INITIAL VOYAGE ABOARD GREATEST SHIP.

Hamburg-American Liner Imperator Sailing in May Will Carry More Than a Score of Southern California Tourists, Who Have Already Made Reservations.

More than a score of well-known Los Angeles people will make the maiden voyage from Hoboken, N. J., to Southampton on the new Hamburg-American liner Imperator, the largest steamer in the world, when she is sent on her way across the Atlantic in May.

Among those Los Angeles people who already have made reservations are O. E. Selzer and wife, L. W. Nute and wife, John Roger, Mrs. Mary Jane Pigott, Mrs. Augusta Erb, L. W. Doolittle and wife, J. P. Gardiner and wife, L. Kleinberger and wife, R. Kleinberger, W. G. Hunt and wife and W. M. Channy and wife.

Reservations were made here through Charles S. Brown of the steamship department of the German-American Trust and Savings Bank.

The "floating palace," which measures 919 feet long—169 feet longer than the highest skyscraper were it laid by the steamer—contains nine decks and carries 5000 pasengers. A train forty-four miles long would be overloaded in carrying freight enough to fill her hold.

Everything for the comfort and convenience of passengers has been planned. There is a ballroom, photographic studio, gymnasium, Pompeiian bath, elevators running from deck to deck, automobile garage, a half-dozen cafes and restaurants equal in magnificence to those supported by the leading hotels, a winter garden, veranda cafe, tea garden, palmroom and a practical stage for theatrical performances and concerts are other innovations.

The compensating tank eliminates all rocking of the vessel. By the use of the Frahm system the motion of the boat caused by rough seas is entirely overcome. Even in the roughest of weather passage will be extremely smooth.

The rooms of the vessel are similar to those in a hotel or beautiful residence. Every effort has been made to eliminate the appearance of compartments.

The ship will not only be the largest afloat, but will be one of the very fastest. The schedule on which it will run is six days, but the Imperator will negotiate the trip in about four and one-half days, figured from the time land is last sighted until it is again sighted.

PERSONALS.

Sam Wong is at the Hollenbeck. Anyone intimately acquainted with the history of the Hawaiian Islands will at once remember the name of Wong. The father of the present visitor was founder of a trading company which carried on a large business between China and the islands and in the course of time acquired large holdings which on the Island of Oahu are said to exceed those of any corporation or of the combined holdings of American investors. Young Wong, for he is only a few years out of his teens, is in Los Angeles on a pleasure trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Roblee, accompanied by Miss Louise Roblee and Miss Ethel Trabam, are passing a few days at the Lankershim, where they are registered from St. Louis. Roblee is at the head of the Roblee Wire Manufacturing Company, one of the largest independent wire concerns in the United States, and is here to remain over the winter season. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Walker, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Virginia, are at the same hotel. Walker is a manufacturer of shoes and has his home and factory at Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Eells are guests at the Angelus. Eells is one of the principal hat manufacturers of America. He has a very interesting history in the mercantile world, having started in business with a hat-maker about twenty years ago in an insignificant way in Philadelphia, which is still his home. With much energy and an eye for possibilities, Eells went on the road and while his partner made the hats he sold them as fast as they could be turned out. Today the company is a leader in the business. Eells is here on a vacation trip.

J. M. Kelly and wife are occupying a suite at the Westminster, where they are registered from Morrisville, Vt. Kelly is primarily interested in lumber and secondarily in the production of maple syrup. He has extensive timber holdings through the New England States. S. M. Cuttler of Chicago is at the same hotel. He was formerly a stock and bond broker but retired several years ago and, coming to California, purchased a winter home near Oakland.

Robert O. Burgess of Albany and F. J. Aicher of New York City arrived at the Van Nuys yesterday and will be here indefinitely. Burgess is a manufacturer of pianos and is studying the Coast territory with the view of locating a branch. Aicher is a manufacturing jeweler and silversmith and is here on pleasure. Seymour Van Santwood, his wife and daughters are occupying a suite at the Van Nuys. Van Santwood is an attorney of Troy, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Kem are guests at the Hayward. They arrived yesterday from Springfield. Kem is a manufacturer of stationery. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rumsey of St. Louis are at the same hotel. Rumsey is in the belting and supply business. C. L. Greenwalt of San Francisco is passing a few days at same hotel. He is general manager of the Aetna Life Insurance Company on the Coast and his home is in San Francisco.

Two Chicago physicians who are staying at the Alexandria while in the city are Dr. Casey Wood and Dr. W. H. Lamborn. Dr. Wood is accompanied by Mrs. Wood. He is prominent in national medical circles and was one of the officers of the American Medical Association. A. B. Hammond, head of the lumber company that bears his name, is registered at the same hotel from San Francisco. He is here looking after his interests.

James Brewster, accompanied by his family, is occupying a suite at the Angelus. He is a banker and land operator of Banff, Canada, and is here for the remainder of the winter season. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Robinson are guests at the same hotel. Robinson is an attorney of San Francisco.

R. W. Bennett and wife are guests at the Hollenbeck. Bennett is a Montana pioneer and is interested in mining and cattle. His home is at Kalispell. J. A. Frederickson, a mining man of Goodsprings, Nev., is also at the hotel.

Complain Against Towser.

M. C. Tennison, No. 1923 New Jersey street, was arraigned before Police Judge Chambers yesterday on a complaint sworn to by Mrs. F. L. Lene, No. 411 South Cummings street, charging him with having permitted a vicious dog to run at large. He pleaded not guilty, demanded a jury trial and gave $20 bail for his appearance in court April 18. Mrs. Lene said the dog bit her one day when she was passing Tennison's house. Other women in the neighborhood said that they had also been attacked by the dog.

Seven-Dollar Marriages.

that when people 30 or 35 years of age come here and ask me to marry them, it is strictly their own business. If they are not competent to select a partner they need a guardian, not a husband or wife. Some regulation is all right."

Rev. D. Scarborough of the Methodist Church, South, which occupies another point of vantage opposite the Courthouse, is strongly in favor of greater regulation of marriages, let the chips fall where they may.

"The monetary consideration," he said, "should not enter into the matter at all. I have not read the bill and so cannot discuss it, but as a general proposition I strongly favor a strict regulation of marriage contracts. There is room for reform and many marriages are doubtless performed right here in Santa Ana that should not be consummated. I am for anything that will tend to help in solving the divorce problem and more firmly establish the sanctity of the marriage relation."

TYPICAL COUPLE.

After being assured by Clerk Williams that the marriage business was quiet that day, and just as all hope of witnessing a typical Santa Ana wedding had been abandoned and the shutters were being put up (old style for turning out the lights,) a boy and a girl stole quietly into the office and ranged alongside the dock.

The groom declared his intention, the clerk handed out the blanks and the well-oiled wheels began to revolve. Here, then, was a Gretna Santa Ana Green wedding in the making.

It took several minutes to make out the examination blank, for one's hands will shake a bit at such a time, and they had to sit pretty close together because one slip is for two. All ordeals end at last, however, and the opening wedge to future bliss is handed the obliging clerk, who "swears 'em to it," looks a little surprised at the ages recorded because most of the witnesses would have guessed just a "leetle mite" under, and then said in a tone which means much for the prosperity of the county:

"Tudollars, please."

The lad pungles up the brace of scads, with never a sigh.

The clerk: J. P. or preacher?

The boy: A j-j-ju-justice, please.

The girl: One blush plus a smile.

The clerk: Call th' justice.

Twenty-second intermission.

Justice Cox arrives.

Justice Cox: Stand up straight so you'll go straight all your lives.

Silence. Must be an old one.

The justice: Under the authority vested in me (etc. for about 200 words,) I pronounce you man and wife.

Time, 2m. 36s.

A couple of reporters signed up the clearance slip and it was all over. Another Santa Ana wedding had been celebrated.

Joseph Loper, an employee of the Wells Fargo Express Company, residing at No. 532 East Fifth street, Los Angeles, and Fern Foss, a bookkeeper, who gave her address as No. 225 East Fifty-ninth street, Los Angeles, are the examples. As likely looking young folks as one can find in a four-mile square. They were in earnest; they were apparently sincere; they testified to 22 years each.

Some days as many as fifteen Santa Ana weddings are conducted. These are "outside figures" and Justice Cox does not get them all, but still, just the same, besides and notwithstanding, if that bill becomes a law it will reduce the volume of circulating medium in Santa Ana.

"Three dollars, please," said Justice Cox to the happy young benedict, and to the visitors from afar.

"Hope to see you another time."

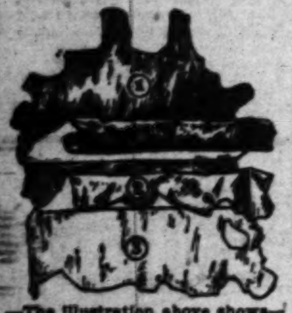
Barker Bros. GUARANTEED Reliance Leather



—The illustration above shows—No. 1 top of hide, No. 2 middle split and No. 3 the third split into which hides are separated. The top hide is the most valuable. The lower splits have no grain and quickly crack and decay.

—Our "Reliance" leather is of highest quality and guaranteed to give satisfaction.

—Indiscriminate buying of leather furniture is like playing the races—you MAY win, but the odds are against you. It takes GOOD leather to make GOOD leather furniture. It can't be done with "seconds," "deep buffs" or "splits."

—"Reliance" brand is standard. It is leather of quality—extra choice steer hides, oak tanned, machine buffed, finished by hand and "boarded" no less than seven times to bring out the natural grain. Most furniture leathers are given an artificial grain by printing with heated plates. This looks good when new, but the finish is brittle, and will crack. "Reliance" leather is not printed, nor embossed. The colors are absolutely permanent, and the finish will not crack, peel or soften in the hottest climate.

—There is nothing deceitful about "Reliance Leather Upholstered Furniture." It is sincere; it looks good, and it is as good as it looks. It is furniture of integrity—furniture to be TRUSTED.

—The buyer of leather furniture expects it to last almost a lifetime. To disappoint him is a misfortune—to deceive him is a great folly. We know our "Reliance Leather Furniture" will give satisfaction—absolutely!

—The comfort and durability of our "Reliance" leather furniture—the perfection of workmanship—the excellent variety of styles and pieces—and withal, the moderate prices at which it is offered, demand your consideration and inspection.

CAMP'S FUTURE HANGS ON VEIN.

Permanency of Rochester May Soon Be Proved.

Men Back Expectations With Thousands of Dollars.

Town Is Overburdened With Inhabitants.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

RENO (Nev.) March 1.—Eight or ten days' continuous drilling and blasting in the tunnel on the Codd lease on Nenzel Mountain in the new mining camp of Rochester will determine whether the vein goes to depth and carries increased values. The striking of the vein in the tunnel on the Codd lease will prove the permanency of Rochester as a mining camp. If the judgment of the engineers is correct and the vein is penetrated, thousands of dollars of ready capital will be unloosed and every leaser working on the mountain will tunnel for the hidden ore-bodies.

Backing their judgment to the extent of thousands upon thousands of dollars, the leasers on Nenzel Mountain have contracted for motor ore trucks and twelve miles of roadway from the summit of the mountain across the face of Nenzel Peak, through Limerick Canyon to the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Actual work on the road commenced Monday of this week and the road must be completed within thirty days. The contracts for motor ore trucks require their delivery in the same period. It is calculated that by the first of April shipments will commence from the leases on Nenzel Peak over this roadway. Already ore is packed and waiting shipment.

Thursday afternoon in the tunnel on lease No. 3, operated by the "Alaska bunch," a strike was made which assayed $78.50 in silver and $9 in gold. The ore was found in a quartz well, the rock highly silicified rhyolite. This strike was made at a depth of eighty feet in a tunnel 130 feet long. All the leasers on Nenzel Peak are in ore.

It is admitted that there is nothing at this time to justify a rush into the camp. There are now more men in Rochester than can earn a living. Until the developments reach such a stage as to warrant the employment of a large number of miners, there is actually no work to be had. The camp will eventually develop into a great low-grade mining proposition. There is a possibility of startling discoveries upsetting this theory which is generally accepted as being the correct forecast.

The first murder in the camp occurred this week. Thus far Rochester has been remarkably free from serious criminal offenses. Sanitary conditions have improved greatly and the camp is almost free from sickness.

Because of the nature of the rock through which the tunnels are driven on Nenzel Peak, work is necessarily slow. Three shifts are working in most of the tunnels, but the face of the drifts presents a hardness which resembles steel. In some cases only eighteen inches to two feet are made daily. In the Codd tunnel, with expert drillers at work, not over three feet is made working three shifts of eight hours each.

The Codd tunnel, upon which all eyes are now turned, has penetrated a distance of 132 feet. Recent surveys fix the distance from the mouth of the tunnel to the main ledge in the mountain at 156 feet. This leaves twenty-four feet yet to penetrate through solid rock. When the vein is tapped it will be at a depth of about 115 feet. The vein has been proved to a depth of eighty feet already. There is now thousands of tons of shipping ore in sight.

Experienced mining men from all over the world are in the camp and the greatest interest is shown in the operations on Nenzel Peak. It is here the great ore-bodies exist and it is this mountain of silver which is expected to prove the greatest mining discovery in a State that is noted for its output of silver and gold.

SERVED AT TELEPHONE.

Marshal Winds Up Important Conversation With Summons for Talker as Grand Jury Witness.

Frederick E. Harris, said by Federal authorities to be in himself the Harris-Hillebrand Company and the Columbia Paper Company, is not now in a position to withdraw scores of claims for damages against the Santa Fe Railroad, involving shipments of rice and paper, according to information furnished yesterday.

Harris returned from Arrowhead Springs Friday morning when he was taken into custody charged with presenting false claims against railroads and afterwards released on a surety company bond for $1000. In a short time, after leaving the Federal Building, according to the statement of Deputy United States District Attorney Archbald, he called up W. H. Miller, freight claim auditor of the Santa Fe Railroad. He asked him if he (Harris) would be allowed to withdraw all of his claims against the road that Miller represented. He was told that the officers would only be too glad to have him do so but suggested that as they are now in the hands of the legal department of the road it would require some time for Miller to return them to him as he suggested.

Harris followed with the statement that he was willing to withdraw them and made an appointment to call and get his memoranda involving shipments of rice by the Harris-Hillebrand Company, and paper by the Columbia Paper Company.

The conversation was carried on by telephone and Miller had no sooner laid down the receiver than Marshal Youngworth appeared with a subpoena requiring him to bring all the books and papers of every description in the case before the Federal grand jury next Tuesday. Harris will not be in a position to show that his claims for damages have been withdrawn.

It is a part of the history of the case that Harris withdrew a number of the complaints against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, cut down others and made settlements on the terms of the company, but no attempt had been made to get rid of the charge involving shipments over the Santa Fe road until after his arrest. At the time he telephoned Miller, the latter had no idea that he had ben arrested and was only too willing to surrender the claims on Harris's agreement to make no further trouble about them.

SHREWDEST OF ALL BEGGARS.

Persian Mendicants Invade Southern California.

Missionary Exposes Their Utter Unworthiness.

Unheard-of Ruse for Carrying Gold Back Home.

If you are approached by a sanctimonious-looking beggar with dirty long hair, his person covered with a long priestly robe, and he calling himself a Chaldean, a Syrian, or any other old name to touch your sympathies and your purse, turn him down hard.

The famous Jilu beggars of Persia are already on the soil of Southern California, will multiply as the Panama Canal approaches completion and come in droves when it is once open, unless they get the cold shoulder, the icy hand and the grand bounce at the outset.

Dr. Frederick G. Coan, president of the Presbyterian College at Urumia, Persia, who has been spending several months in this city while on his furlough, sounded the alarm yesterday, as he last week accidentally run upon the tracks of these worst of all professional beggars while on a visit to San Diego.

Dr. Coan is the guest of Judge Wilbur, whose sister, Miss Louise Wilbur of this city, went as a missionary to Urumia some years ago, and is now the wife of Dr. W. A. Shedd, a missionary in that field. He was born in Persia fifty-two years ago, has lived there forty-two years of his life, the other ten years having been spent in this country securing an education. He spent eighteen years as a general missionary and for the last nine years has been in charge of the college and superintendent of the village schools, hence he knows the history of all the people of Persia and is familiar with their life and modes of gaining a livelihood. His father and mother, both natives of New York, were missionaries before him. He said yesterday that it is most important that the people of Southern California be warned of the danger from this scourge of conscienceless beggars.

WORST TYPE OF BEGGARS.

"Many people," he said, "confound these Jilu beggars with the Kurds and Nestorians, two other extremes in character. The Kurds are nomadic robbers and murderers, who live in the mountains and make periodical raids against their neighbors, driving off their flocks and destroying their property. They frequently destroy whole villages, massacreing all the people as a mere pastime. The Nestorians are Christians, about 150,000 of them living in the mountains, neighbors to the Kurds, and there are now a number of them in this country, about fifteen or twenty in Southern California. They are an industrious and honest people and those who come to America are generally tailors, or follow other quiet and useful occupations.

"The Jilu beggars live in a district of their own and are nomadic beggars of the worst type. They travel in bands all over the world, returning home when they have gathered large sums of money, spend it in riotous living and then start on another tour. They have overrun South America, Russia, Austria and other countries and have covered every State in the United States.

"Their chief gag is to say that their property has all been stolen or destroyed by the Kurds and they are collecting money for their people to build churches and schools. They are the shrewdest people in all Persia and are adepts at forgery. Then enter a city and the first thing they do is to hunt up ministers and other persons of influence, and present a great lot of papers, purporting to be signed by Governors, Mayors, clergymen, the high priests of their own people, and others, to impress their victims. A party of them was arrested in Minneapolis and found to have in their possession a letter containing the forged signature of the moderator of our General Assembly, and in Chicago another was found with a forged letter from one of the church field secretaries.

"They come here and have their documents translated into English, get rubber stamps made in fac simile of signatures they have secured and attach the translated letters. I have in my possession probably 100 papers taken from them at different times, among them that containing the forged signature of the moderator of our General Assembly.

A RUSE FOR CARRYING GOLD.

"To illustrate how successful they are I will tell you of one instance that came directly under my notice. One of these returned beggars came to me in Urumia, walking with a crutch, sat down and began to unwind a filthy rag from his leg. It was entirely filled with gold coin. His apparently injured leg and its filthy rag, taken in connection with his crutch, had enabled him to pass the customs officers and make his trip among people of his class without anybody suspecting that he was not suffering from some terrible injury. He had the gold wound around his leg. It was some time before he had drawn it all out and was ready for another tour of the world.

"They do not sit about the streets and beg. They divide a city into districts and each man takes a block, visiting every house, store or shop, and the money they divide up. I have known them to get ministers to announce and support their cause from the pulpit, and in Atlanta, Ga., a few years ago it was hard to make such a minister believe that they were impostors. They are never known to give a dollar to any cause in Persia, but it is generally known that they spend the money they collect from Christian people in debauchery."

Dr. Coan said: "These people should be turned off at Ellis Island by the authorities. They seem to get through while many decent and honest people are sent back. Los Angeles should take steps to guard against them in the near future by arresting them, as has been done in Minnesota, Illinois and other States, where their forged papers were taken from them and they were ordered out of the State in disgrace."

PLANS COMPLETE FOR SEAT SALE.

POLICE AND FIREMEN'S BENEFIT THE BIGGEST EVER.

Box Office to Be Open at Auditorium This Week — Splendid Talent Signed to Take Part in Performance—Spectacular Fire-Fighting Scene at the Stadium.

Bids for boxes and other choice seats for the mammoth firemen and policemen's benefit performance, which will be held the 13th of this month, Thursday afternoon, have been coming to Perry Weidner and Max Meyberg, members of the Executive Committee of the Fire and Policemen's Emergency Fund Association.

Owing to the unusual demands for seats, the Executive Committee of the association has decided to open the box office at the Auditorium for the sale of seats some day this week.

The programme to be offered at the performance, is of the kind that will realize the idealistic desires of the amusement palate of the theatergoing public. With the peeress of the world's actresses, Madame Sarah Bernhardt, heading the list of stars, a theatrical representation of unusual worth is assured.

The programme will comprise four hours of continuous amusement, including every form of theatrical entertainment such as intense drama, farcial comedy, delightful music, artistic sketches and operatic arias.

Members of the Chicago Grand Opera Company will also contribute to the programme, insuring excellent operatic talent. Nat Goodwin, with players of the Morosco selection, will render the intense prison scene from "Oliver Twist."

The followers of musical comedy will be entertained with a complete act from the "Merry Widow," by the entire company, including Charles Meakins and Mabel Wilbur.

"A Florentine Tragedy" by Oscar Wilde will be given by Constance Crawley, Arthur Maude and Company.

Lovers of terpsichoreanism will be entertained by Mahr and Mykoff, sensational Russian dancers, and Diana Rico of California. These performers will give every dance of every nation, including many fantastic ones.

Comedy will be furnished by Tom Kelly, the funniest man in vaudeville, De Michele Bros. and Fred Mace, Charles Murray, Gus Pixley and Dave Hartford in "Some Quartettes."

Music will be served a la carte by the Chicago Grand Opera Company, the Merry Widow Company, vocal selection by Signor Juan de la Cruz and Mlle. Vera Doria, fresh from the Royal Operahouse, Copenhagen, Miss Helene Engel Bosworth, eminent violiniste, and the Festival Choir of Los Angeles, comprising 300 voices.

The Howells will offer an interesting act with the smallest drummer boy in the world.

Prominent artists, including Miss Nell Brinkley, James Swinnerton, Oscar Bryn and Hal Stephens, will render delightful sketching diversions.

The second of the benefit attractions, "Fighting the Flames," is being pushed with vigor and plans are now complete to make the Stadium at Thirty-seventh street and Hooper avenue the scene for the most sensational sight ever enacted in the West on Monday afternoon, March 17.

The fire-fighting spectacle will be attended by the greater part of the city fire department and thrill after thrill is promised the spectators by the fire laddies as they will effect melodramatic rescues. The entire pompier crew under the command of Capt. O'Malley will give interesting scaling exhibitions and a detachment of firemen, completely outfitted in entire fire-fighting habit, including smoke helmet and oxygen tanks, will do an unusual bit of work in the spectacle.

ANOTHER CURE?

Los Angeles Physician Claims to Have Solved the Problem of Specific for the White Plague.

Dr. Friedmann is not the only physician who has been working upon a tuberculosis cure and for the $1,000,000 offer of C. F. Finley, president of the Aetna National Bank, for a Los Angeles concern has just supplemented the Friedmann offer with a proposition to cure ninety-five out of 100 patients submitted to the treatment, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has been asked to give the treatment a thorough test in the institute which bears the name of the financial king.

The alleged cure is the work of a Los Angeles man, Dr. Aycock. J. M. Spangler has interested himself in the matter of securing the help of Finley or Rockefeller. The most positive claims are made for it, and Dr. W. B. Forden, who is the physician in charge of the local office, says he believes it to be efficacious.

POLICE SUSPECT INSIDE WORKERS.

SEARCH FOR THE GO-BETWEENS OF GROCERY THIEVES.

Alleged "Fence" Admits He Suspected Goods Sold to Him Were Stolen, but Love for "Bargains" Overcame Scruples—Altercation in Cellar Disrupts Relations.

Plainclothesmen Allen and McAuliffe of the East-side Police Station said yesterday that they have discovered an eighth member of the alleged gang of wholesale grocery thieves. A dragnet has been thrown out for him. It is intimated that this man may prove to be either an inside employe of one of the largest wholesale and retail grocers in Los Angeles, or a local truckman.

A large quantity of the confiscated groceries have been identified by this grocer as having been stolen from one of his several local establishments. Whether they were taken by a truckman who had access to the warehouse and stores, or whether they were passed out to members of the alleged gang by an inside employe, remains to be ascertained.

S. C. Alexander, in the basement of whose little store at No. 1302 Maple avenue Officers Allen and McAuliffe late Friday night found thousands of dollars worth of liquors and groceries and who is said by the officers to be not only a member of the reputed gang but its "fence," admitted yesterday that he bought much of the plunder from a truckman. When asked why he bought such quantities of groceries at such ridiculously low prices, he laughingly replied:

"I'm a fiend for bargains."

He admitted that he suspected that the goods had been stolen, but was afraid to report his suspicions to the police for fear they might try to connect him with the wholesale robberies. He added:

"I haven't got much faith in the police since they failed to help me once when I got stung with a bad check."

Alexander said that the men from whom he bought the $175 worth of whiskey for $50 told him that they had been running a "blind pig" at San Bernardino, had been forced out of business by revenue officers, and wanted to get rid of the stuff as quickly as possible.

That same night four men returned and demanded more money for the liquor. These men, according to Alexander were Carl Barnett, under arrest here; W. L. Williams, alias W. Lighthearth; George Williams, alias George Hickey, and Edwin Gardner, alias Jack Edwin, in custody at Ventura on suspicion of stealing 145 sacks of beans.

These men, according to Alexander, covered him with their guns in his basement in an effort to secure more money from him. During the altercation Barnett, Alexander says, struck him in the face with his revolver. As an outgrowth of that cellar-escapade, Officers Allen and McAuliffe said yesterday that tomorrow they will swear to a complaint charging Barnett with highway robbery. He already faces a straight robbery charge.

Frank Tinlin, another member of the alleged gang under arrest here, will, the officers says, be charged with receiving stolen goods. It is asserted by them that almost all the stolen property was moved in Tinlin's wagon.

Associating with known thieves will be the charge that Patrick Flynn will face in the Police Court, according to the officers.

JACOBY STORE DANCE.

The opening of the Jacoby Brothers Mutual Benefit Association was signalized Friday evening by a dance of the employees on the mezzanine floor of the store. About 200 couples were present. Refreshments were served and a generally pleasant time enjoyed. Among those present were Leo Jacoby, Grover Jacoby and wife, Henry Jacoby, Superintendent Levitt and practically the entire membership of the benefit association.

B'NAI B'RITH PARTY.

The Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, Los Angeles lodge, No. 487, will give a dancing party at their clubrooms, Tuesday evening, March 18. Large attendance is anticipated. The music will be under the direction of Charles A. Kleinman, a young violinist and banker, formerly with the National Bank of Commerce, and now with the Traders' Bank of Los Angeles. The officers of the lodge are: President, M. B. Silberberg; vice-president, A. R. Rubin; Social Committee, J. H. Birnbaum, Charles A. Kleinman, and Joshua Marks.

The Cousins Shoe

for Discriminating Women

THE LATEST New York Footwear Fashions are splendidly exemplified in Cousins Boots and Low Cuts for Women — styles for Spring and Easter. In Boots, white and tan button models are the accepted mode. Tan and white English Lace Boots, with low heels and short tops, are also being received with decided favor. This English lace effect is one of the smart styles for Spring. In Low Cuts, preference for Pumps and Button Oxfords strongly prevails. Cousins Colonial Pumps — in "Helio" and "Court Tie" models, with leather covered or cut steel buckles—sound the high style note of the season's showing; and are destined to enjoy a tremendous vogue.

¶ The "Cousins" Trade-mark is an assurance of honest effort to give to the woman who wears a Cousins Shoe the same satisfaction that is felt by the organization which makes it; and of a desire to merit the increasing good will of the wearer, by putting into each shoe the maximum of quality. The enormous modern equipment of the Cousins Factories, and the unprecedented sales of Cousins Shoes, have made their prices so moderate that they're really not important. The integrity of their construction, and the carefully selected materials that go into them, make it real economy to wear Cousins Shoes. Discriminating women readily discern the exquisite charm and individual distinction of Cousins Shoes; and this applies to the four and five-dollar styles, as well as to the finer grades—which have become famous throughout this country and in Europe.

Cousins Shoes Sell at $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 and to $8.50 a Pair

Style Notes

FROM New York comes the mandate that white and tan shall dominate in Street Boots for the present Spring and coming Summer; and while the prevailing styles are in Button, there will be a liberal call for English Lace Boots, in white and tan, with low heels and short tops.

¶ Unquestionably, the tendency this season is very marked toward a universal return to Low Cuts. Pumps will be preeminent. Their charming simplicity, and airiness, add the final touch to smart attire.

¶ The DOMINANT style note in this season's footwear is Patent Leather Colonial Pumps, as exemplified in "Helio" and "Court Tie" models, with cut steel or leather covered buckles. This same style will follow in black calfskin, white, and the colors. Shown in light turn, and welt extension soles.

¶ Button Oxfords have developed into a most prominent position the present season. The new patterns have added the touch of style demanded by discriminating women. These are shown in a variety of leathers, and are decidedly smart in appearance.

¶ Heels play an important part in the style features of the present season's footwear. The most prominent type is a new wooden heel, with a broad tread, known as the "Cuban Louis." It is only slightly concaved at the rear, but is curved enough at the breast to bring its supporting surface well under the arch of the foot, thus giving the proper support needed at this point of the foot. The tendency to low flat heels in pumps and English lace boots is strongly marked, which is unquestionably a step in the right direction.

CUT STEEL BUCKLES AT $1.00, $2.00, $3.00 AND TO $15.00.

GORDON SILK HOSIERY — IN WHITE, BLACK AND COLORS—AT $1.00 AND $1.50.

Cooking as a Fine Art.

FOR WOMEN HOMEKEEPERS.

FASCINATING TALK ON A FASCINATING ART.

Open House and Free Lessons Three Days in the Week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 2:30 p.m., Second Floor New "Times" Building.

"I feel like a really and truly actress," said Mrs. Haffner-Ginger as she acknowledged the applause that greeted her appearance Friday afternoon when she stepped upon the platform and the women who crowded the auditorium gave vent to their interest and admiration by vigorous hand claps.

To say that The Times auditorium was crowded does not fully express it. Every chair was occupied and a fringe of humanity hung about the outside, sat on the window sills, leaned against the walls, and perched on chairs they had brought in from the foyer outside in order to gain a point of vantage, where they could see that model kichen on the platform and its mistress as she whisked about, compounding, broiling and baking, and incidentally handing out valuable household hints.

The crowd reached out through the doors into the hall beyond, and fairly choked the entrance, and many went away because they could not get within hearing or seeing distance.

"The only way to do is to come early," said a comfortable-looking matron in the front row as she busily clicked her knitting needles. "I got here soon after 1 o'clock—yes, more than an hour before time for the lecture to begin—but I brought along my knitting to improve the time. See, I've set up this sock and knit all that since I sat here," and she held up a woolen sock some two inches "begun."

"I hadn't thought as I could bring my work along," she went on, "until I read in The Times that the rest did it and I think it's a first-rate idea," and she rapidly slipped the stitches along the shining needles.

"There's a young woman with her Irish crochet," said the girl with the Titian locks, next the aisle. Sure enough, there she was, industriously working away.

She Doesn't Like Cooking.

After Mrs. Haffner-Ginger had acknowledged the compliment of hand claps, she said something that astonished the women. She said that she didn't like to cook.

"I am really acting a part when I get up here on this platform day after day and demonstrate these dishes to you," she said, "for, naturally, I do not like to cook. But I made up my mind years ago that if this is my part in the world's work, I will try to make it as attractive as I can."

Then everybody applauded some more, which indicated that they liked that sensible sentiment which harmonizes with that of the greatest poet the world has ever seen, when he tells us that "all the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players on it." If only we could, like the cook lady make up our minds to play our part just the very best we know how.

The Diary of a Stomach.

"I want to read to this audience this article from yesterday's Times—a few leaves from the diary of a stomach. It's the best thing I ever read on the subject of diet," and she proceeded to read that amusing little sketch wherein the poor, abused stomach tells its pitiful story.

"I want to take my hat off to the author of that," observed the cooking expert as she finished amid great laughter and applause. "If that isn't a commentary on poor combinations of food then I never read one."

Behold the Fragments of Fish.

What was one fish among so many? And yet, 'twas simply wonderful how that baked shad held out when passed about among the multitude. One woman was so impressed that she actually began to repeat Scripture about the loaves and fishes, and fragments. Not that she meant to be irreverent, but it just seemed to fit in. It was a four-pound shad and it went the rounds of the multitude before its bones and fragments—all there was left of it—were returned to the table.

Mrs. Haffner-Ginger's private afternoon class in fancy dish es at The Times' School.

Food Values and Model Menus.

"I have been requested to give some food values and proper combinations," remarked Mrs. Haffnffer-Ginger. "Now, I don't want to be a reformer; it would be too much of a burden, with all the rest I have on my shoulders. I believe there is nothing that God ever created for food that hasn't its place somewhere. A little later, when I get my second wind, I'm going to put together some proper combinations of food and some model menus; but all this requires thought and time, and with all my other duties, I have not yet found time to do it, but you'll get it later—printed in The Times."

Burned the Bread.

That oven has been adjusted and the way it baked Friday was something to wonder at. It burnt up the oyster loaf, it went so fast, before the cook lady had become accustomed to this new pace it set. Just about the time that oyster loaf went into the oven, too, everybody began asking questions about this and that, and everybody forgot all about what was in the oven till some one in the front row yelled: "The bread's burning, I smell it"—and sure enough, when the cook lady flung the oven door open, there was that beautiful loaf that she had scooped out so nicely and buttered so beautifully, burned black.

What did the cook lady do? She calmly took that loaf out of the oven, carried it to the table; took a knife and scraped off the burnt part just as any good, economical, level-headed housewife would do.

"You see I can teach you how to burn things up too," she remarked cheerfully, "and to turn the corners of your mouth up and not down when it happens," she added smilingly.

"Oh, I'm so glad it did happen," exclaimed a couple of young housekeepers in concert. "It's so encouraging to think that even an expert burns things once in a while. It's comforting to the rest of us."

That's the beauty of these demonstrations—they're so natural and lifelike. If everything came out perfect every time, 'twould look like magic, for every practical housewife knows that this cannot be in the everyday affairs of life. Hindrances and interruptions are bound to come in and cause accidents.

Here's a Clever Idea.

"Ladies, if you want some shells to fill with cream or custard—or mince meat, for patties and haven't time to make the puff paste, just go to the bake shop and buy some rolls and do as I'm doing," and every eye watched the clever cook lady as she deftly scooped out the inside of some crusty rolls, buttered the boat-like shells and put them in the oven to toast.

"Well, I never thought of that," said the white-haired lady who hasn't missed a lecture yet, and her pencil and notebook got busy.

State School at Santa Barbara.

"Among the many inquiries that have come to me about my special cooking classes," said Mrs. Haffner-Ginger, "is whether I will give a regular normal course in cooking. No; I couldn't in ten lessons. I shall not pretend to give anything but practical cooking. However, for the benefit of those who have made these inquiries and who do not know about it, I am happy to tell you that we have in California one of the best domestic science training schools in America. It is no longer necessary to send our daughters East when we have such a splendid institution at Santa Barbara presided over by one of the brightest and cleverest educators in the country—Miss Ednah Rich, who has succeeded in getting the State to recognize the school and take it over as a State institution. I am sending my daughter there and she will graduate in May. She is taking a course in cooking, sewing, laundry work and nursing and besides this, she gets in a lot of settlement work. I'm telling you this because someone else in the audience may wish to send her daughter there. A thorough course in domestic science is given in one year and I feel so grateful to Miss Rich for what she's doing for my daughter that I want to pass it on."

Those Salmon Cutlets.

Those salmon cutlets that Mrs. Haffner-Ginger baked so beautifully last Friday tasted as delicious as they looked. This is the way she did it. Placing one of the cutlets in the bottom of the little pan, she poured over it melted butter; a little lemon juice; sprinkled salt and pepper over it and then laid the other cutlet on top, sprinkling it with flour and placing a peeled and quartered onion in the pan around the salmon. If one prefers, a cucumber can be used in the same way in place of the onion. The salmon was then put in the over to bake and, before serving, chipped parsley decorated the top.

"If you cannot afford to buy parsley, raise it," was the advice of the cook lady; "it comes in play so often for dressing and decorating dishes."

Chance to Make Money.

Mrs. Haffner-Ginger read to her audience on Friday a portion of a letter she had received from a certain woman who wrote:

"We came here from Chicago on account of my husband's health and I just must do something for an income, and as cooking is the only thing I can, or like to do, I intend to start some kind of business for strictly first-class home-made things, and I think I could get help and benefit from your lessons. What I would like to know more about is salads and other fancy things. I take great interest in your lectures and am ready to join a private class at once."

"Now that's the kind of woman I want to help," commented Mrs. Haffner-Ginger. "As I stood in one of your fancy groceries this morning and watched the throng of people carting cooked stuff out of there I said to the woman who was with me, 'There's the biggest kind of opportunities here in this town for the woman who can make first-class home-made things.'"

"Yes, but they won't pay anywhere near what's it's worth," piped up a voice from the audience.

"Yes, they will," firmly responded the cooking expert. "First-class goods will demand first-class prices every time," and then she gave utterance to an epigram:

"There's not a single, solitary one of us worth more than we know we're worth."

"That's so," said an experienced housekeeper in the front row, "there are too many people nowadays making second-class goods and wanting first-class prices for them."

Mrs. Haffner-Ginger's rule of success hinges on the fact that if you can do some one thing better than anyone else, don't be afraid to let it be known and don't doubt your own ability.

Tomorrow's Demonstration.

So many requests have come in for a salad day that Mrs. Haffner-Ginger has decided to devote the lecture and demonstration tomorrow to the making of salads and—what is of more importance—to the proper putting together of salad dressings.

The mere announcement of the "salad day" means a tremendous crowd, for probably there's no culinary art more difficult and therefore to be desire dthan the ability to build a good salad and make a delicate and savory dressing for it.

Hawkeye-Californians.

FORTY THOUSAND IOWANS PICNIC.

Eastlake Park Is Scene of Great Foregathering.

Annual Meeting of Neighbors from "Back Home."

Praises of Adopted State Are Sounded.

Forty thousand former Iowans, who believe their native State would be the finest place in the world to live in if God had neglected to create California, invaded Eastlake Park yesterday with lunch baskets on their arms. It was Iowa day and they celebrated with their annual picnic. They overflowed every nook and corner of the popular playground and the surrounding hills echoed and reechoed their merry revelry.

Wholesome farmers, their faces tanned and furrowed by time and toil, strolled about with rosy-cheeked wives on their arms, meeting friends from "back home" and swapping yarns with long-lost and newly-found acquaintances. Young Hawkeyes, middle-aged Hawkeyes and Hawkeyes of every age, class and calling, from the gurgling babe in the go-cart to patriarchs who can look back over four score years and ten, were there, one great, good-natured, gossipy family. "Hello, neighbor, what part of Iowa are you from?" was the password.

The gay laughter of children mingled with the squeals of the merry-go-round, and not far away the Long Beach band, playing the "Star Spangled Banner," gave the scene a thoroughly festive appearance.

Eighteen special cars were required to carry the Long Beach delegation to the picnic grounds. All the drives in the park and the roadways and side streets were lined with automobiles and as the afternoon drew on the crowd increased until it was with difficulty that one was able to make his way about.

FOR INNER MAN.

There were college headquarters, lunch counters conducted by the Daughters of the Revolution where doughnuts, pie, sandwiches and hot coffee were served. Picnic lunches were spread on the lawn, and Hawkeye families sat around and enjoyed themselves as if there had not been a blizzard in Iowa in the morning.

From Main street to the lake—a city block of beautiful, broad lawn—a miniature Iowa was mapped out. Tables were placed with poles bearing the names of the different counties, where the Iowans registered and waited for back-home neighbors to appear.

The many sign posts looked much like an every-day history lesson. Names of great men and Indians' names, all suggestive of war, struggle and hardships. Blackhawk, Winneshelk, Delaware, Dubuque, and Jefferson. Davis, Van Buren and Buchanan and many more stood out in prominent relief against the gorgeous greenery, flowers and gay holiday attire of the picnickers.

Those names were a stern reminder of a bitter past and they made the leisure-loving Californian feel less flippant toward the serious, hard-working Iowans.

Many men prominent in affairs of this city registered at the various tables. Mayor Alexander asserted his pride in Iowa and welcomed fellow-Iowans. He told them that while he is glad he is an Iowan, he is also proud that so many of his own people have shown the good judement to come to California to live. He declared California is the only place on earth for him and he hopes to remain here the rest of his life.

G. Ray Horton proved himself the best kind of an Iowan. Horton dramatically declared he is glad he was born in the grand old State; that once an Iowan, always an Iowan—until California is discovered. Then—well, it always makes a difference. Horton defended his Statespeople against the names which were applied to them in a recent magazine article, declaring that no matter whether they are common people or not, God has shown them particular favor in making it possible for so many of them to come to California and make their homes.

PLEA FOR PLEASURE.

Col. A. B. Shaw deplored the tendency of Iowans to give too much of their time and attention to work and not enough to play. He urged everyone to take a lesson from the "Don't Worry Club" which gathers at the Plaza and which he said typifies the California spirit. He urged them to learn to live, that they may be able to renew the good times of earlier days and get more of pleasure than of wealth out of life.

Mrs. Fletcher Howard, secretary of the Des Moines Club; Dr. O. E. Mason of Long Beach, and a number of others made brief addresses. Judge Wilbur and Dr. H. E. McGraw did not appear among the speakers as scheduled.

The veteran of the day, Judge J. E. Benson, took the stand and challenged the crowd to show more points of citizenship than he could. Judge Benson was born in Iowa in 1840, was the first man to enlist in the United States Infantry, the first commissioned officer in the Civil War, first man to be admitted to the bar in his State and the first to hold a State office, and he stood there, hale and hearty and was proud to be able to do so. The crowd cheered uproariously and the octogenarian left the platform unchallenged.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Honorary President, C. C. Naurse; President, J. E. Rominger, Long Beach; Vice-President, C. C. Caves; Treasurer, F. H. Nichols; Secretary, C. H. Parsons.

The afternoon was passed in games and gossip.

SOUTH PASADENA BRIEFS.

SAUTH PASADENA, March 1.—At a "jolly-up" and feed which was held in the class library of the High School the members of the senior class were given their class pins, which a committee composed of Don Messer, Lois Baker and Louise Dodge had been appointed to purchase. The pins are of gold and the design combines the letters of the school with the numerals of the class. Miss Estella Leach, the class teacher, was presented with a pin, and a replica of the pin six inches long and made of tin was given to Prof. Hubert Upjohn, the principal of the school.

Mrs. J. Ross Carpenter and her daughters, Minnie and Rebecca of Cheyenne, Wyo., left this morning for Arizona, where they will meet Senator J. Ross Carpenter. They have been spending the winter in this city, with the sister of Mr. Carpenter, Mrs. D. Z. Gardner, No. 515 El Centro street.

Opening the public library on Sunday is being discussed by many of the residents in this city, and the Civics Committee of the Woman's Improvement Association is taking up the agitation. Some time ago the library was opened Sunday, but the patronage was not sufficient to warrant its being kept open. The matter will be laid before the City Trustees and library board.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Bondies of Mission street have in their possession a hall clock, which is an heirloom, and over 300 years old. Mrs. Bondies's grandfather, Joseph Parry, brought the clock from England about 100 years ago, and it was in New York for some time, then taken to Arkansas and from there brought to California by Dr. Bondies.

WOMEN TALK GRAND OPERA.

College Club Holds Interesting Meeting and Joins Drama League of America—Large Attendance.

The College Women's Club held its March meeting yesterday afternoon at Christopher's. The attendance of 125 was the largest of any recent meeting and the programme exceptionally interesting.

Mrs. Alice Riley of Evanston, Ill., one of the founders of the Drama League of America, spoke on the work of the organization. A grand opera study programme was presented under the direction of Miss Nina T. Updyke. The Chicago Grand Opera season was reviewed by Miss Evangeline Gray, and studies of "Natoma" and "Tristan und Isolde" were given by Miss Elsie Waggoner. The talks on opera were supplemented with phonographic music.

The club voted yesterday to join the Drama League and the Juvenile Protective Association. The Reception Committee yesterday was composed of the following: Miss Mary Mulvihill (chairman,) Mrs. James Fisher, Mrs. E. J. Fellows, Miss Agnes Frisius, Mrs. Edmund Locke, Miss Mary Meredith, Mrs. F. F. Prendergast and Mrs. M. B. Railsback.

THINK HE'S CRAZY.

Man Who Punctures Eyeball in Contrition to Be Examined by Lunacy Commission.

A. J. Heinn of Ocean Park, former business man of Milwaukee and inventor of a loose-leaf ledger system, will not be prosecuted for issuing forged checks. Detective Nick B. Harris, whose operatives arrested him Thursday, said yesterday that Heinn will be arraigned before the Lunacy Commission as soon as he is able to leave the detention ward in the County Hospital.

Heinn destroyed his sight early Friday morning by puncturing his eyeballs with a small penknife in the Central Station Jail. When his wounds were examined at the Receiving Hospital it was found that Heinn had stabbed himself fifteen times. Each knife thrust pierced an eyelid and then entered the socket of the eye, destroying the orbit.

The man gave as a motive that he felt it incumbent upon himself to inflict a punishment for his misdeeds, that he might suffer in excess of any sentence that might be imposed upon him. Heinn also said he was too humiliated over his escapades to permit him to face friends and victims again, and that he could not withstand the humiliation of gazing upon prison walls.

Heinn was in excellent spirits at the County Hospital yesterday, declaring that he had no feeling of remorse for ruining his sight, and had reconciled himself to the face that he would never again be able to look upon the world.

STARTING WEST BY NEW ROUTE.

KANSAS CITY LINE IS CHANGED TO TERMINATE HERE.

Original Intention Was to Cut to the Coast in Mexico, but Unsettled Conditions Alter Circumstances, Say Railroad Men—Rehabilitation of Defunct Property.

The Kansas City, Mexico, and Orient Railway, connecting directly Kansas City and Los Angeles, is an immediate possibility, according to well-informed officials of roads now entering this city. For a period of two weeks Edward Dickinson, chairman of the board of receivers of the Kansas City line, former vice-president and general manager of the Union Pacific, and one of the big railroad authorities of the country, has been quietly and unobtrusively going over the situation. He has denied himself to all newspaper men and even to personal friends and when he left Los Angeles last night he had not declared the purpose of his visit to a single person outside of those directly interested in securing a Pacific Coast terminus for the road.

While here, he was in conference with J. O. Davidson, another member of the board of receivers, who has a suite at the Alexandria and who came here shortly after the arrival of Arthur E. Stillwell, former president and projector of the line, who claims to be out of the railroad business entirely at this time. Davidson and Dickinson were continually on the move, visiting all of the surrounding territory, acquainting themselves thoroughly with conditions in the small towns.

Prior to coming to this city Davidson visited Ft. Stockton, Tex., the present terminus of the Kansas City line, and announcement was made in the Missouri metropolis that negotiations had been completed to extend the road from Ft. Stockton to Alpine, 160 miles, and there join the Southern Pacific, closing the gap that exists in the links of the present chain to the coast. This connecting link will touch the Southern Pacific several hundred miles east of El Paso and open a new route of travel to Los Angeles.

The Kansas City, Mexico, and Orient Railway was originally planned to run from its eastern terminus in Texas and down through Mexico to Topolobampo, port south of Guaymas on the west coast, and there connect with steamers for the Orient. Work on the project was never finished, and about two years ago the road was thrown into the hands of the receiver. According to railroad men, rehabilitation has been practically completed and it will soon be operated under new conditions with Davidson as its president and Los Angeles as its Pacific Coast terminus.

GOOD HIGHWAYS.

One of the most extensive highway projects ever undertaken in Wisconsin and one which involves [illegible] is the proposed joint plan under consideration by the county boards of Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., whereby almost every highway in the two counties will be permanently improved within five years. Marinette county proposes to issue bonds in the sum of $200,000 for work on the Wisconsin side and Menominee will issue $150,000 for the Michigan side.

Electric enunciators are [illegible] placed at sixty-three different points in the Chicago American League baseball park by President [illegible] in an attempt to do away with annoyance to patrons, who have heretofore been unable to catch the names of the players substituted when changes in the line-up became necessary.

TO POLICE WAY OVER WILSON.

Officers Sound Knell of Trail Rowdyism.

Limit Reached, Declare the County Officials.

Sierra Madre Authorities Will Co-operate.

The Mt. Wilson trail, famous the world over for its scenic magnificence and locally notorious for disorder and obnoxious conditions created by what has become known to Sierra Madre as the "Saturday night gang,' is to be thoroughly house cleaned. Co-operation between the Sheriff's office and the officials of the foothill town for the placing of deputies all along the upward climb and the prompt arrest of offenders, is expected to quickly revolutionize the blackened status of the trail.

WILL ROUND 'EM UP.

A little army of men now living at the summit will be deputized by Sheriff Hammel and will be scattered along at unexpected points on the way with orders to bring in every rowdy, pistol shooter and girl insulter encountered. The Recorder of Sierra Madre and the District Attorney will do the rest.

With the increase in the number of persons who take the Mt. Wilson trip, conditions along the trail have gone from bad to worse. Especially was this true on Saturday nights and nights preceding holidays, when the cars operating between Los Angeles and Sierra Madre were crowded with hundreds who made the climb during the night.

The rights of respectable citizens, although almost always in the majority, were openly ignored by the rowdies of both sexes, who indulged in yells, cat calls, curses and pistol shots in addition to worse things.

One regrettable feature of the matter, according to Marshal Udell of Sierra Madre, is the large number of young girls without chaperons who were permitted to make the night climb in the company of men and boys of questionable character. The practice of mothers permitting their daughters to make this trip without regard to the character of the escorts is decried by Marshal Udell. As an indication of conditions which are said to have prevailed, the officers refer to instances where young girls have been plied with liquor by unscrupulous escorts and subjected to all sorts of indignities.

Complaints began coming with alarming frequency to the Sierra Madre officers as well as to Fred Ross, who has charge of the Mt. Wilson Hotel, on the summit. It was pointed out in these complaints that hundreds of respectable citizens and tourists were staying away from the trail because of the unsavory reputation brought upon it by this class of travelers. Not only were the complaints directed at the conditions on the trail, but attention was also directed to conditions on the late cars carrying the mountain climbers from Los Angeles to Sierra Madre. Disgraceful scenes were said to be enacted as a matter of almost weekly occurrence.

DAMPS EBULLIENT STUFF.

The reaction came about two weeks ago when the Sheriff and the Sierra Madre officers determined to redeem the trail from infamy. The first step was to secure the co-operation of Recorder Perry before whom the offenders must be brought for a hearing.

Marshal Udell then began a systematic checking of unseemly conduct on the part of late travelers in Sierra Madre. He adopted the policy of boarding incoming cars at the city limits and riding to the end of the line where boisterous ringleaders were placed under arrest.

Recorder Perry imposed heavy fines in all cases where guilt was established. The activity of the officers became known with good effect. Whenever the cars reach the city limits of Sierra Madre now, every passenger behaves himself or herself or goes to jail.

On nights when it is known that many persons will make the climb, deputies are stationed at various points and oftentimes Marshal Udell sends officers along with a particularly large crowd to guard against irregularities. Almost from the beginning, according to the officers, the improvement was noticeable. A week ago, so it is reported, 1400 persons made the ascent one night without a single complaint being registered. Sheriff Hammel and Marshal Udell are one in agreeing that the results obtained more than justify the trouble necessary to be taken in order to preserve the proper decorum.

BEGGARS RESENT REFUSAL.

Man Who Ignores Couple of Able-bodied Individuals Is Slashed With Razor.

E. Rossiter's refusal to dispense alms to two able-bodied men early yesterday morning resulted in his being taken to the Receiving Hospital with three cuts on his face, neck and head that measured eight and one-half inches in length. Rossiter says he was accosted at Fourth and Main streets by a man who asked the price of a bed.

Rossiter didn't reply. He turned his head, saw two men, and continued on his way. One of the men drew a razor and opened Rossiter's left cheek by a three-inch gash, made a four-inch laceration on the left neck and laid Rossiter's scalp on the back of his head open for an inch and a half.

Rossiter is 30 years old, an electrician, lives at No. 525 Maple avenue and is employed by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Light Corporation.

PROWLERS FOILED.

Two midnight prowlers failed in their purpose Friday night because the noise they made while searching for valuables awakened intended victims. Several guests of the Grand View Hotel, No. 411 North Main street, found a sneak thief in the hall. He fought them off and escaped before the police could be summoned. W. W. Thopp, No. 412 West Second street, was awakened by a man trying to enter his room. Thopp says it is the second time within two weeks that he has been thus annoyed.

A Remarkable Clock,

Now in Los Angeles. Above is the mechanism and below the dial which surmounts a neight-foot base. At the top of the latter is the solar system and a comet, about the sun, all of them revolving in their appointed times. A sun rises and sets daily in the slot on the face, automatic slides rising on each side to change the time of rising and setting according to the season. The little figure on the left beats time as the clock plays tunes and that on the right periodically raises the telescope toward the sun.

ALASKA'S TWIN CURSES NAMED.

"PINCHOTISM" AND LAND PLAN, SAYS REPRESENTATIVE.

Delegate to National Democratic Convention Comes from Far North With Unsparing Criticism of Conservation as He Says It's Dictated by Visionaries.

Declaring "Pinchotism" and antiquated land office methods to be the twin curses of Alaska, Ed I. Dunn, one of Alaska's delegates to the National Democratic Convention, sat in the lobby of the Angelus Hotel last night and unsparingly criticised conservation as dictated by the visionary and Land Office methods that persist in running contrary to the wishes of the people.

"We sent $50,000,000 down the Coast last year, for investment in your city and towns and your oil fields and other industries," said Dunn, "but we would be sending $150,000,000 if the visionary's shadow was not over the land and a prospector could walk into a Land Office with a valid claim and prove it, pronto, as our Canadian cousins can do. We Alaskans are proud of our Territory and our country, but we are sometimes hard-pressed for reasons when we see nature's storehouse bottled up by a bunch of visionaries and lawyers. We have made millions up there and are going to make more, but we would be doubling, trebling our millions if they would let us work our coal beds, cut our timber, and realize on our resources.

"You Californians perhaps don't know it, but it is a fact that there are mines with timber at their door that have to send 200 miles to get a mine prop. It is also a fact that men with million-dollar claims back in the hills are starving in Alaska towns while a regiment of clerks, attorneys, inspectors, and other officials are working double-shift to prove the claims aren't valid.

"Another thing, when claim papers are issued, you never know when legal technicalities may take them away from you. Even in poor old revolutionary-ridden Mexico the miner feels surer of his claim than in Alaska. I know, for I have operated in Mexico.

"It is fifteen years since I went to Alaska and I have prospected it from one end to the other; I have thrown a tow-line over my shoulders and dragged 500 pounds of grub up some nameless river and into some unknown land. I have seen millions made and lost, for up there it is all a big gamble, with Uncle Sam sitting into the game with a marked deck.

"On March 4 our first Territorial Legislature assembles at Juneau and our old newspaper friend and veteran Alaskan, Maj. J. F. A. Strong, will probably be inaugurated Governor shortly afterwards. If you keep your ear to the ground about the time our lawmakers assemble from the back country you will probably hear the coal trust and the shipping trust described as the makers of the conservation policies that have bottled up Alaska's great coal beds. You will also hear a great outcry against our Land Office methods, our policy of making it difficult for the miner, the pioneer, to go back country and make a fortune for himself."

Dunn is only one of many thousands of Alaskans who spend the winter in the States. To hear him recite the names of Alaska investors on the Coast is to listen to a more or less complete list of the men who are developing California's oil fields, Nevada's mines, and putting up our skyscrapers.

A Paving Proposition.

ANCIENT CLOCK A WHEELED MARVEL

KEEPS TRACK OF WHOLE SOLAR SYSTEM REGULARLY.

As It Runs It Shows Planets Revolving About Sun, a Comet Comes and Goes Every Sixteen Months, Sun and Moon Rise and Set, All in Their Correct Periods.

One of the most curious timepieces in all the world has just come into the possession of R. F. Solomon, No. 560 Crocker street. It is a clock which has ticked its way through the centuries from time antedating the reign of the Stewarts, and its intricate mechanism has tolled off the seasons as they have come and gone throughout history-making years.

No ordinary "grandfather's clock" is this massive relic of a forgotten art, although its casing suggests the familiar type. The brass dial of the clock, which stands over eight feet in height, contains characters for a twenty-four hour day, above which is a miniature of the solar system, together with the twelve signs of the zodiac, and a yearly calendar. It even has a comet of a sixteen-month orbit about the sun.

The movements of the sun and moon are depicted, and the sun passes daily over an oil painting of the "sky" in perfect time with the record on the clock dial below. In a most ingenious manner sunrise and sunset are regulated according to the season, with fine effect to the appearance and changing features of the dial, the moon runs its course across the painted "heavens." The clock's operative force is a system of weights.

In addition to all of this the clock is possessed of a musical attachment which plays six tunes, and the antiquity of the relic, which its owner values at $5000, is determined by one of the selections, "Farewell to Manchester," a popular bit of music before the Stewarts ascended the throne, when England and Scotland were making faces at each other.

Another determining factor in its age is the costuming of a figure at one side of the astronomical part of the face, a figure which at regular intervals raises a miniature telescope to spy out the secrets of Mars, or to point the rings of Jupiter. On the opposite side is another figure which beats time with music, played every six hours.

Besides the famous "Farewell to Manchester," the clock plays "Sussex Irish," "God Save the King," "Accepted Mason," and "He Comes."

The name "Eva Falmouth" is inscribed on the dial and according to Britten, a high London authority, the clock is the work of an enthusiast who put labor of years into its manufacture. It is, so far as known, the only clock of its kind in existence.

It is in excellent working order and its mechanism operates perfectly and accurately. The fact that it was made in and brought from the home of the first grandfather's clock adds to its interest, as it binds the present to the days of long ago.

TURNS TABLES ON CONDUCTOR.

LONE STREET-CAR BANDIT GETS ALL THE FARES.

Reappears After Having Been in Eclipse for Ten Nights and Collects Instead of Paying for Ride. Coins Can Be Heard Jingling as He Runs Away.

The lone street-car bandit has again made his appearance on the outskirts of the city. After a hibernation of about ten days and nights, the bandit invaded Watts yesterday. In much the same manner that he attempted to hold up and rob a car at Annandale several nights ago, this bandit made two days' wages by robbing the conductor, C. S. Elliott. Then, with a pleasant "good night, boys," he swung off the car and disappeared in the gloom of early morning.

The only material difference between the incidents at Watts and Annandale is the highwayman apparently took pity on Elliott and did not shoot him. The Annandale conductor showed signs of resistance and by the time the highwayman was done with him, the former had four bullet holes in different parts of his anatomy.

The Watts bandit boarded car No. 470 as it started for Los Angeles. Before the conductor had time to say "fare, please," the bandit shoved a gun in his face, and began a wholesale collection of fares with the demand:

"Hands up, old man."

Elliott's hands went up. While he was in that position, the hold-up took $10 in fares from his pockets. When the car came to a stop, in answer to the bandit's jerk on the bell cord, he jumped from the car, pocketed his gun, tore a mask from his face and disappeared.

Sample Blankets One-Third Off

A Sale—An Opportunity

We recently secured a sample line representing one of each style and grade of blankets manufactured by one of the leading blanket mills of America. All grades, all kinds, and all colors. After making our selection, rather than have these goods returned, the manufacturer made a concession of one-third. We offer these samples at the same discount. There is only one pair of kind. The lot goes on sale Monday morning. First choosing will be best.

DIVINE SARAH'S EVENTFUL LIFE.

GENIUS DISREGARDED FOR LIMITATIONS.

Sarah Bernhardt's Magnetic Personality Still Attracts Crowded Houses in Every City After Fifty-one Years of Stage Experience. Has Plays to Fit Her Talent.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

As a living lesson in the art of the drama, Sarah Bernhardt has carried the world more quickly to a new viewpoint in histrionics than a hundred books, by impressing herself upon the thousands who have seen her act.

We may look for higher truth and beauty in the art of Mme. Duse, Miss Nethersole, our own Mrs. Fiske, or the younger artists of the Comedie Francaise.

Taste and understanding in all arts change materially in half a century, yet the glory of Adrienne Lecouvreur, Rachel and Sarah Bernhardt remains undimmed.

Mme. Bernhardt has justly been often compared with Rachel, as they both were possessed of dramatic talent quite similar in range and expression. But Rachel's career scarcely encompassed more than sixteen years.

In 1858, while the dramatic world was mourning over the loss of the greatest actress of the first part of the nineteenth century, Sarah was entering the Paris Conservatoire. In 1860, under the able direction of Samson, she received the second prize of tragedy and two years later the one of comedy. She made her debut at the Theatre Francais in "Iphigenie" on August 11, 1862.

When Napoleon III and his beautiful Empress were making Paris the most attractive city in the world Sarah Bernhardt was considered a great actress. Forty-four years have passed and the predominance of opinion would award to her today the title of the greatest.

With plays specially constructed to fit her talent she has baffled criticism and in the fashion of decadent Rome the epithet of "divine" was thrust upon her.

No new ideals in histrionic art can rob her of her fame, nor can she dim the glory of Rachel nor the later take away the laurels of the great Lecouvreur.

But Mme. Bernhardt's length of career, resembles the one of Queen Victoria, it is as phenomenal as the range of character she has portrayed.

Whence comes this extraordinary being, endowed with rare talents, tremendous vanity, and unheard of eccentricity?

Sarah Bernhardt has looked wise at the world and has cast a histrionic garment upon her past. Of her father, her mother, her date of birth, her marital or amatory experiences, she has not said a word in numberless interviews or her own memoirs.

For years, the press was flooded with true or alleged experiences of the great actress, some of them very, very extraordinary.

We only know in a casual way, through her memoirs and later by actual proof that she had a son.

During the Paris commune many registers were destroyed, among them one that contained the record of her birth. Where she was born is still to this day a mystery.

The only authentic record now available is to be found in the entry register of the Conservatoire, saying she was born at 5 Rue de l'Ecole de Medicine, Paris, on October 22, 1844. Her first name was not Sarah but Rosine. Why she changed it is not known. Her mother was a Jewess, Julie Bernhardt. It was probably Kerbernardt, as the Divine Sarah was entertained in Chile, when she played at Valparaiso by a family of that name, who claimed close kinship. It was of Dutch origin, and Mme. Bernhardt's mother, while born in Berlin, was of Dutch extraction. This is further confirmed by the fact that as a child the actress spent many years with her grandfather, an optician, in Amsterdam.

At 7, she was sent to the Convent of Grand Champ at Versailles, where she was educated, curiously enough with Sophie Croizette, who also became a great actress.

During her stay in that institution she was especially well known for the violence of her temper and her intense independence.

This feature of her younger years was again evidenced at the Comedie Francaise. She had been there but eight months, when her temper broke out at some remark of a fellow actress, Mlle. Nathalie, and she boxed her ears. She was, of course, dismissed at once. She went to Spain, came back to Paris and finally started on her great career through the desire of Mme. Agar, to play "Le Passant" a little sketch written by a then unknown poet, Francois Coppee. She induced the author to accept as the page-lover of the fair Florentine lady, her little friend, Sarah.

Mme. Agar, who impersonated the fair one, was then a very mature lady, of remarkable ability, but very stout, with an incipient, but evident, moustache and the dipilatory art had not yet been electrified. Through contrast, the exquisite lines and her own ability, Sarah eclipsed Agar that night. Next morning she "had arrived," as they say in Paris.

In 1872, Perrin, then director of the Comedie, brought the truant child back into the fold. In 1875, she was made "Societaire," the highest reward of histrionic ability in France, carrying, besides, a profit share in receipts and a very liberal pension.

Four years later, in London, she refused to play in "L'Etrangere," returned to Paris and moved bag and baggage from the Comedie, never to enter it again.

It was an expensive notion, because she not only lost all her rights, but was sued for $20,000 for breach of contract and had to pay it.

In 1880, she started to tour the world and her progress from Copenhagen to America, to Russia, South America, was the beginning of over thirty years of uninterrupted triumph.

Victorien Sardou, then the greatest dramatist, wrote for her plays that suited her genius, "Fedora," "Theodora," "La Tosca," and lesser ones.

Not satisfied with mere acting she tried her hand at authorship, and "L Aveu" was given at the Odeon in 1888. She painted, and as a sculptor she had more than ordinary success. Her love for pets is one of her peculiar eccentricities, as for years she had young foxes, leopards, and craved to be possessed of a baby elephant.

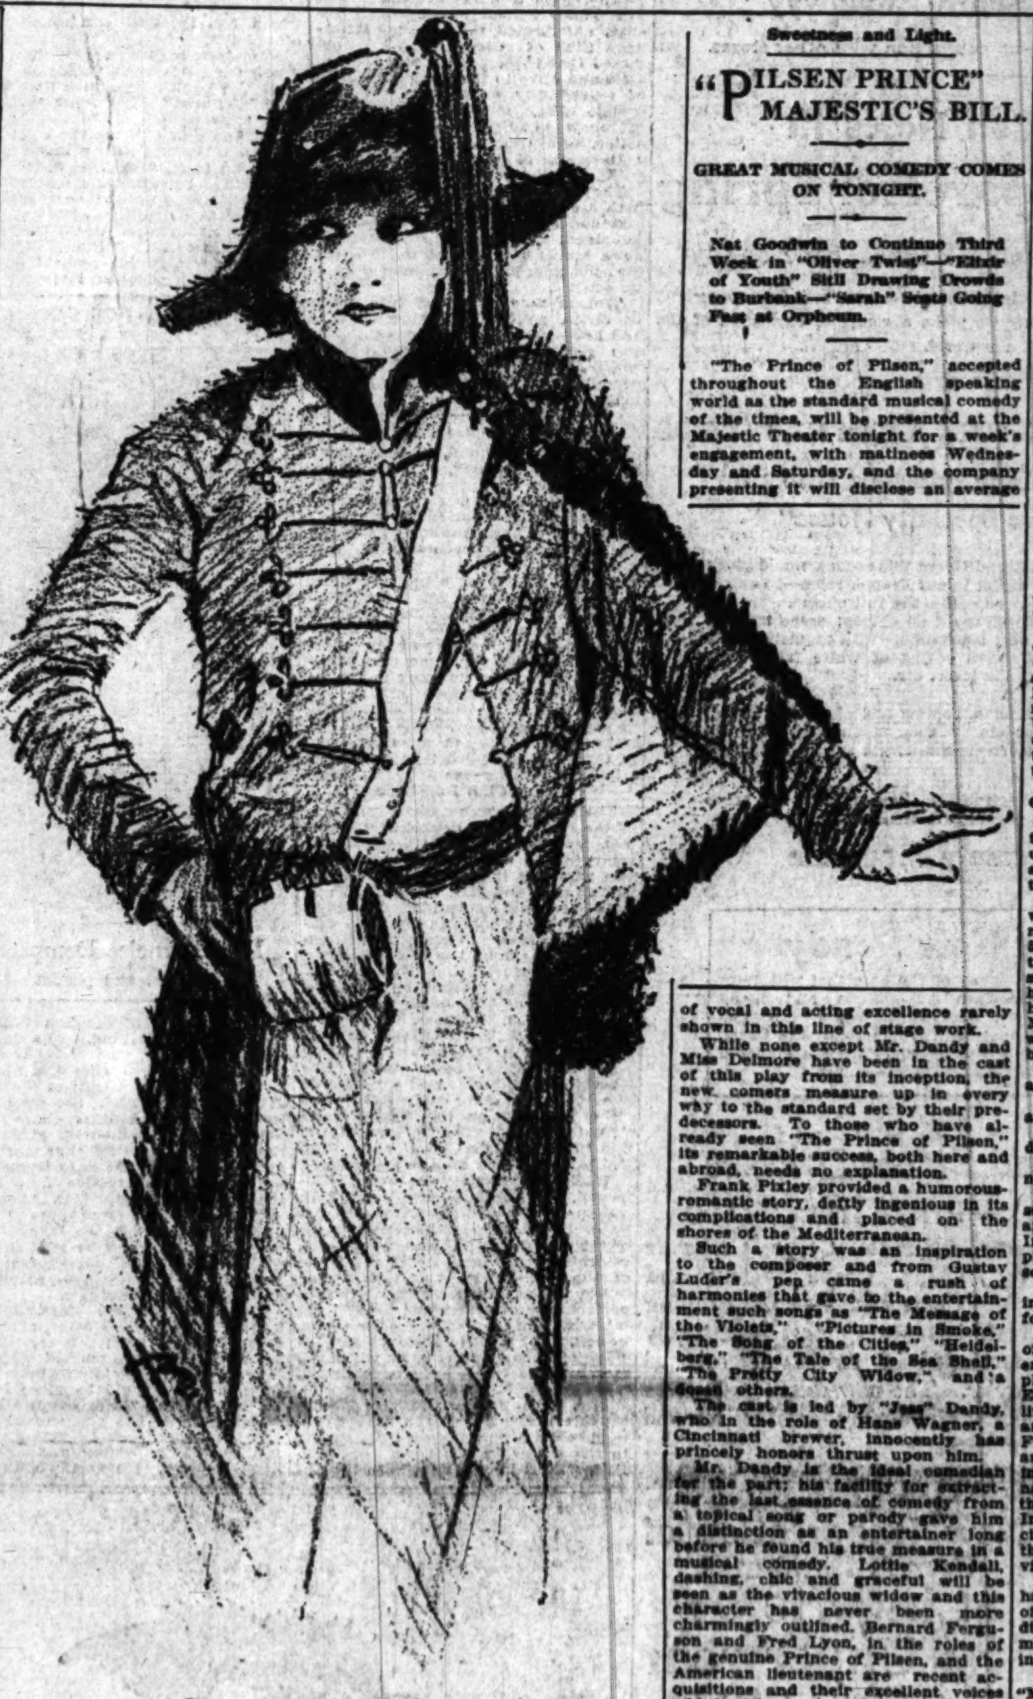
While she has made many fortunes money to her has been simply the means through which the passing desire of the moment could be gratified. With her the question the most important has always been, not "Can I afford it?" but "Do I wish it?" Unfortunately it has not been for herself alone that she has answered that question, but for her son Maurice as well, to whom she has not given the moon because she could not put her hand on it.

Beyond the majority of mortals she has found it possible, in an age of conventionalities, to disregard ordinary and even liberal limitations, do what she wished when she pleased.

To one thing, however, she has remained loyal for over half a century. Her art has been a sacred cause; in following it she has found the secret of the only happiness that has been her share.

It is because of that earnest endeavor, that fiery, magnetic personality, that marvelous voice and convincing gestures that thrill and cannot be forgotten after years that thousands are crowding the door of the Orpheum.

At the threshold of three scores and ten Sarah Bernhardt still can write her famous motto: "In spite of all."



Mme. Sarah Bernhardt,

Faith.

Does the way seem dark, my brother,
Can you see no ray of light,
Do malicious foes surround you
Day by day, and e'en at night?

Have those you prized most dearly failed you
When your day was dark as night?
Has your path been steep and cross strewn
Whilst fighting bravely for the right?

Courage, brother! Do not falter!
Though your heart be crushed and rent,
For, as there's power above us,
Truth will triumph in the end!

Sweetness and Light.

"PILSEN PRINCE" MAJESTIC'S BILL.

GREAT MUSICAL COMEDY COMES ON TONIGHT.

Nat Goodwin to Continue Third Week in "Oliver Twist"—"Elixir of Youth" Still Drawing Crowds to Burbank—"Sarah" Seats Going Fast at Orpheum.

"The Prince of Pilsen," accepted throughout the English speaking world as the standard musical comedy of the times, will be presented at the Majestic Theater tonight for a week's engagement, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, and the company presenting it will disclose an average of vocal and acting excellence rarely shown in this line of stage work.

While none except Mr. Dandy and Miss Delmore have been in the cast of this play from its inception, the new comers measure up in every way to the standard set by their predecessors. To those who have already seen "The Prince of Pilsen," its remarkable success, both here and abroad, needs no explanation.

Frank Pixley provided a humorous-romantic story, deftly ingenious in its complications and placed on the shores of the Mediterranean.

Such a story was an inspiration to the composer and from Gustav Luder's pen came a rush of harmonies that gave to the entertainment such songs as "The Message of the Violets," "Pictures in Smoke," "The Song of the Cities," "Heidelberg," "The Tale of the Sea Shell," "The Pretty City Widow," and a dozen others.

The cast is led by "Jess" Dandy, who in the role of Hans Wagner, a Cincinnati brewer, innocently has princely honors thrust upon him.

Mr. Dandy is the ideal comedian for the part; his facility for extracting the last essence of comedy from a topical song or parody gave him a distinction as an entertainer long before he found his true measure in a musical comedy. Lottie Kendall, dashing, chic and graceful will be seen as the vivacious widow and this character has never been more charmingly outlined. Bernard Ferguson and Fred Lyon, in the roles of the genuine Prince of Pilsen, and the American lieutenant are recent acquisitions and their excellent voices add largely to the effect of the performance.

Morosco.

So great is the success of Nat Goodwin and the Morosco Producing Company in "Oliver Twist" that the piece will be continued for another—the third—week, commencing tomorrow night.

Local playgoers have shown a tremendous interest in the Morosco production and the result of the perfect casting of the play, has been a series of crowds that have tested the capacity of the theater.

Goodwin's portrayal of the fence, Fagin, is easily the most artistic work this fine actor has ever made known locally. The entire performance moves along with all the smoothness, completeness and authority of a production that has had months spent in its preparation.

Associated with Mr. Goodwin are Harrison Hunter as Bill Sykes, Helen Robertson as Nancy Sykes, Grace Valentine as Little Oliver, Robert Ober as the artful dodger and a host of other clever and popular Morosco players.

As soon as the patrons of the Morosco are through with Mr. Goodwin in "Oliver Twist," the new Hayden Talbot comedy, called "O. Jée" will be presented for the first time on any stage and with Mr. Goodwin in the chief part.

Empress.

What promises to be the most attractive and entertaining bill that has occupied the stage of the Empress Theater in many months comes to this house tomorrow afternoon. The new bill consists of eight splendid Sullivan and Considine acts and is headed by Frances Clare, Guy Rawson and their eight dancing girls in their picturesque musical comedy production, "Just Kids."

"Just Kids" comes to the Empress with the reputation of being the most delightful "girl" acts that has ever appeared on this circuit. The act is brilliantly costumed and carries a wealth of fine scenic effects.

The second feature of the new bill will be the famous Patty brothers. Since their appearance at the Empress Theater a year ago, they have added many new and novel feats to their extensive repetoire, but they still retain their astounding feat of walking up and down stairs on their heads.

Third on the bill will be the singing Venus, Lucille Savoy. Miss Savoy is blessed with a remarkable soprano voice and a beautiful face and figure.

Charles DeLand and Mary Carr, with a capable company, will offer their new farce success, "The Fire Escape."

The acrobatic dancing girls, the Manning Twins, should prove one of the hits of the new bill, while Westin with his impersonations of famous men, should prove more than ordinarily entertaining.

Burbank.

Fun of the exuberant sort continues to prevail at the Burbank Theater, where the success of "The Elixir of Youth" is of such generous proportions that the third week of the farce will commence this afternoon.

It is no common thing to find a play that offers so much good fun as does "The Elixir of Youth," and that the Burbank audience find joyousness in the performance, is attested by the laughter that greets the efforts of Forest Stanley, Mr. Covington, Miss Nichols, Miss Paley, Miss Elliott, Mr. Mayall, Miss Travers, and the other Burbank players concerned in the performance.

The farce is headed for a production in New York, just as soon as the Burbank engagement is concluded, and, inasmuch as the metropolitan stage has not known such a positively funny play in years, "The Elixir of Youth" ought to be a success of the most pronounced type.

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford" is scheduled to follow "The Elixir of Youth" at the Burbank.

Lyceum.

The remarkable Itaiñ feature film, "The Palace of Flames," in which the work of the eminent Italian tragedian Zocanni is featured, will be shown for the last time at the Lyceum Theater today. "The Palace of Flames" has attracted an unusual amount of atention, for it is one of the most spectacular productions that has been made since the birth of the motion picture industry.

Tomorrow the Lyceum Theater will offer a complete change of pictures, the feature to be the films showing the Panama Canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast.

The camera covers the entire course of the canal, showing all of the wonderful work that has already been accomplished, the series of gigantic locks and depicts in a most interesting manner all of the difficulties that the United States engineers have had to contend with in the construction, of the cut that will mean so much to the commerce of the world.

Orpheum.

The coming to the Orpheum for a two weeks' visit of Sarah Bernhardt, opening tomorrow afternoon, is the supreme event in all vaudeville history.

No attraction that ever played anywhere in Los Angeles ever had so tremendous an advance sale, practically 50,000 of the 56,000 seats for the entire two weeks already having been sold. Mme. Bernhardt will bring with her a selected coterie of players from her own theater in Paris, headed by Monms. Tellegan. During her first week she will present four changes of bill, as follows:

Monday and Tuesday, matinee and and night, "Lucrece Borgia."

Wednesday and Thursday, matinee and night, "One Christmas Night."

Friday, matinee and night, "Theodora."

Saturday and Sunday, matinee and night, "Camille."

For each of these productions, full scienic, electric and property effects are carried, and a complete wardrobe. In every detail, the portion of each play to be given will be presented absolutely in its fullness.

This is made possible through the importation of complete productions for each from her own theater.

With Mme. Bernhardt comes a bill of selected vaudeville acts. These embrace the Philipp Bartholomae players, in "And They Lived Happily Ever After;" Josie Heather, clever little English comedienne; Brenner and Ratcliffe, in a skit called "At the Flower Shop;" McMahon, Diamond and Clemence, in a singing and dancing number, "The Scarecrow;" Ignatius Cardosh, piano virtuoso, and—the only act remaining over—Lolo, the Indian mystic. There will be specially selected orchestral music, and the usual weekly showing of motion views of world events.

In her second week, Mme. Bernhardt will make special productions of "Phedra" and "La Tosca." Immediately after the Bernhardt engagement the Orpheum will show its talking motion views.

"Mission Play."

It has been expressed by an artist that the "Mission Play" "draws its vitality and strength from the sublimity of the truth."

The staging of the play was also influenced by the theme, and the stage director has succeeded without a single violation of its historical accuracy.

But somehow there has entered the minds of some persons that a young matron of 30 years of age in 1847 could not have seen the California missions in their glory.

This thought was brought up last Tuesday evening when Lily Langtry inquired as to its probability. When it was pointed out that the confiscation of the mission establishments was not completed until 1837, she immediately recognized that it was probable.

Republic.

For the week beginning with the usual matinee on Monday, manager Cunningham promises for the Republic Theater one of the strongest bills yet seen at the Levey house of vaudeville. Of the six acts, four are distinct features and have been individual headliners on the Levey and other circuits.

Reed's Royal Midgets offer a real novelty in their act.

Charles Colby is one of the ventriloquist pioneers and has been seen and heard in practically every part of the civilized world. He comes to Los Angeles with an entirely new act.

Jane Madison and a selected company will be seen in a comedy playlet, "Her First Divorce Case."

Les Broins style themselves as "nearly the strongest men on earth," and are said to be the funniest burlesque "strong men" on the stage. Tint Welsh is billed as "the most twisted man on earth." As a pianologuist and mimic, Robert Santford is recognized as one of the best.

Pathe Weekly and other feature films will be shown.

Century.

"Vacation Time" is the name of this week's play at the Century Theater, and Manager Leewen will present Jules Mendel and his aggregation of fun-makers in this lively musical review.

Jules Mendel, will have the star role and will be assisted by Al Franks, while Walter Spencer and Earl Hall will take care of the other comedy parts.

The feminine members of the company include Rose Mendel, Gale Henry and Vera Ransdale.

The story of the play tells of an English lord, who goes to a summer resort for a vacation. Arriving also upon the scene is Pickle Heinz and his partner, Michael Brady. The lord decides to enter the ocean for a little dip and while floating around among the waves, Heinz steals his clothes and dresses up as the lord.

Tally's Broadway.

Three dramas of exceptional merit will be featured at Tally's Broadway Theater, beginning Monday. "A Will and a Way," the latest story of the popular "What Happened to Mary" series will show Mary in a desperate

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

IT IS astonishing, when you get right down to real woman nature with the varnish scratched off, how naturally they take to domestic duties. Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Haffner-Ginger, who is conducting The Times School of Domestic Science, entertained the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, and I observed that those women were just as alert and alive to the accomplishment of successfully putting together a sponge cake, and compounding a "rainbow pudding" and percolating coffee, as average club women are in a discussion of civics, a peroration on politics or a lecture on art.

They discovered that it required both art and science to put that cake together, and that it involved health, happiness and long life to hold in one's hands the keys of the kitchen, the cook stove and the realm of domestic science.

Women may swing off into space on civics, politics and other pursuits and avocations, but the pendulum—if you give it time—is pretty sure to come back eventually into the real vocation of the home. The Almighty made women that way.

California Composer to Appear.

Miss Fannie Dillon, a well-known musician of the city, will be represented upon the programme of the People's Orchestra concert this afternoon at the Auditorium, when one movement of her Symphonic Suite will be played by the orchestra of fifty men.

As a composer of piano selections, and of some few songs Miss Dillon has already achieved fame, and her friends are eager to hear the larger work upon which she has been laboring so zealously for some time. Critics who have been listening to the rehearsals of this number with the orchestra speak in terms of enthusiasm of the composition which is said to be ultra modern, alike in conception and in the spirit in which it is developed.

Clever Club Luncheon.

The luncheon was a distinct feature of the Ebell drama department which met last Thursday. It immediately followed the section session and the two who had it in charge—Miss Augusta Lamb and Mrs. Harry M. Voorhees—certainly accomplished a novel and interesting effect in the table decorations, which illustrated modern plays. The section has been making a special feature of Maeterlincks' dramas, and in recognition of this a whole flock of blue birds, beautifully colored by Mrs. Voorhees, had alighted on the tables. The centerpieces were indicative of different plays. There was "The Pink Lady" and "The Ghosts"—"awfully well - preserved ghosts," some one commented—and "The Butterfly on the Wheel" and "Pinafore" and "The Dollar Mark" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "The Doll's House" and ever so many more.

While the menu was being discussed, Mrs. Ada Henry Van Pelt, curator of the section, introduced delightful table talk in the way of some clever conundrums, the answer to each of which was the name of some one of the well-known members. Then everyone took it up, and there was a perfect gale of merriment around the tables as the play on names went on, bringing out a lot of repartee and incidentally showing the quick wit of the members, as impromptu conundrums were proposed.

Mrs. Mila Tupper Maynard, the capable instructor of the drama section, called attention in a little speech to the clever inventions of Mrs. Van Pelt, who is known as a keen inventor, an account of her work in this line having been published in The Times some time ago. Mrs. Maynard also referred to the civic accomplishments of Mrs. E. C. Bellows, whose clear, concise mind has studied out more than one knotty proposition which has received consideration in official life.

Mrs. Byron gave a graphic paragraph from Rostand's "L'Aiglon," and Miss May Neill represented its antithesis, "Comedy." Miss Augusta Lamb paid a pretty tribute to the department and didn't forget the cook who prepared the appetizing menu.

At the regular session which preceded the luncheon, the feature was the wonderfully dramatic and intensely interesting rendition of "Paola and Francesca," by Mrs. Alfred W. Allen, whose Cumnock culture, together with her remarkable natural ability, combined to produce an interpretation of this tragedy of Stephen Phillips's which was compelling. Her delineation of the sweet and childlike Francesca, so innocent she was scarcely yet awake to the world; of the stern, determined husband, the passionate lover, and of the other characters—half a dozen in all—were given with the sure interpretation that marks the artist. She gave the lines from memory and her expressive face added much to the effect. Mrs. Allen is a members of the Playgoers' Society and has appeared occasionally in dramatic roles given by amateurs but makes no professional pretence, although she out-distances many who are before the footlights.

Miss Berneice Dempster,

Vocalist and pianist.

Previous to this, Mrs. John S. Thayer reviewed Maeterlinck's essays of which his plays are illustrations. However morbid Maeterlinck's earlier writings may have been, nothing could be more beautiful than his "Life of the Bee," which a critic has pronounced to be the best nature study extant, rivaling Ruskin in beauty and accuracy of description. He speaks of the pale anemone and snowdrop as "convalescent patients" in the family of flowers, and the blossoming peach trees as a rosy mirror.

Last Tuesday afternoon the drama section entertained the entire Ebell Club in the big auditorium with a programme that was as delightful as any that has been rendered there.

Mrs. Charles S. Hall, who is particularly gifted as an interpreter of the drama, gave Zangwill's "The Melting Pot" in the most sincere fashion, speaking the lines entirely from memory, and Mrs. Zoe Ballard Fuller lent the necessary touch of humor and comedy to the programme by the rendition of some of Ruth McEnery Stuart's stories. A tea and reception followed in the parlors of the clubhouse.

Cleveland Woman Will Speak.

The regular monthly meeting of the California Badger Club will be held next Wednesday, March 5, at 2:30 p.m., at Ebell clubhouse, No. 1719 South Figueroa street. The club and its invited guests are to have the privilege of listening to a talk from Mrs. J. U. Fleming of Cleveland, O., a member of the standing committee on public health for the Ohio State Federation of Women's Clubs, who is in California for the purpose of studying club work along philanthropic lines, and who will tell of her work in the Cleveland city federation.

The music of the afternoon will be furnished by Miss Jessie Barnhill. The hostesses will be Mrs. John R. Berryman, chairman, assisted by the Misses Roehr, Mrs. C. J. Williams, Mrs. Albert M. Warren and Mrs. C. M. Neely.

Gifted Girl Musicians.

Two young girls who have a perfect genius for music, both instrumental and vocal, are much in demand for entertaining clubs and at social functions. Miss Bessie Hogan, who, besides possessing a fine dramatic soprano voice, can play the violin beautifully, and Miss Berneice Dempster, whose sweet voice chords exactly with that of her companion, and whose fingers can fly over the keyboard of the piano with fine effect.

These two gifted girls gave a musicale recently before the Shakespeare Club in Pasadena and last night they played and sang at the dinner given by Mrs. W. J. Hole at the Clark Memorial Home.

Laurel Canyon Club.

Mrs. Laird J. Stabler, who is booked to appear before several clubs, I understand, will honor one of the "littlest clubs"—by that I mean small in numbers, with her first appearance on next Thursday, when she will address the Laurel Canyon Club at the home of Mrs. Don Porter. Her topic will be "A Summer Quest of the Missions," and club women in general are invited to be present. The Laurel Canyon car which leaves the Hill-street station on the hour, is the one to take and the 1 o'clock car will get you there just in time.

Last week the Laurel Canyon Club gave its attention to the subject of Mormonism, led by Mrs. Don Porter, who gave some interesting facts relative to her residence among the Mormons in Salt Lake City. Mrs. H. V. Platt and Mrs. C. S. Mann also took part in the discussion. Mrs. F. M. Price sang a beautiful arrangement of the Twenty-third Psalm.

Lasell Seminary Club.

The cosmopolitan character of the dwellers in Southern California is demonstrated by the large number of colleges represented among its residents. Nearly every large woman's college in this country and many abroad find their representatives here. Invitations are out for the annual luncheon of former Lasell Seminary students which is to to take place next Tuesday at Hotel Maryland in Pasadena. All former students of this Auburndale (Mass.) institution are cordially invited to be present. The Southern California Lasell Club is composed of a group of former students with Mrs. C. C. Isabelle Bowers Church, secretary and treasurer. All Lasell students are requested to communicate with Mrs. Church at No. 143 East Avenue Fifty-eight.

Matinee Musical Reciprocity.

Next Thursday is reciprocity day at the Matinee Musical Club which meets at the Gamut clubhouse on Hope street, and delegates from all the women's clubs in the city have been invited. A specially attractive programme has been arranged including, beside choice instrumental and vocal selections, a Dutch dance in costume by Misses Zillah Withrow and Hazel Miller, and a whistling quartette by Miss Agnes Woodward and members of the California School of Whistling. The musical numbers will be given by Mrs. Eugene Davis and Mrs. William Brownstein, vocalists and Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Frederich Jungquist, Mrs. Roy Moore, Mrs. Harry Underwood, Mrs. Edith Schulenberg, Mrs. Theodore Davis, Miss Eva Olney and Miss Hazel Green.

The hostesses will be Mmes. H. C. Underwood, H. L. Garren, Roy Moore, F. Jungquist, Misses Josephine Neil and Helen Mills.

Eschscholtzia D.A.R.

Mrs. Thomas B. Stowell, general curator of Ebell, will address Eschscholtzia Chapter, D.A.R., at their open session next Tuesday afternoon on the subject of the municipal art center. The music, in charge of Miss Mary Olive Gray, promises to be of exceptional merit and beauty. Mrs. Hiram Balsbough will contribute two groups of songs and Miss Gray will play a suite by Hiller. The hostesses are Mrs. E. T. Sherer and Miss Faith E. Remick.

Hands Across the Sea.

The Girls' Club of a certain woman's magazine has undertaken to raise among its members a fund of $1200, to be used for endowing a perpetual scholarship in medicine for Chinese women at the Union Medical College for Women, located at Peking, China, with the understanding that the successive beneficiaries will devote their services to the neglected and suffering among their own sex. June 1, 1913, is the date set for the completion of the fund, and the magazine has promised to subscribe to one-half of the fund, $600, if the members of the club, by small individual contributions, will make up the remaining $600. Only members of the club are to be allowed to contribute to the fund and the money must be earned through personal effort.

Great Artist Coming.

By a combination of the two largest women's clubs, and working in concert with the teachers in the public schools, arrangements have been made to bring to Los Angeles a celebrated artist—Ralph Helm Johonnot—who will deliver two lectures here next month.

These lectures will be given in the auditorium of the Polytechnic High School. At the first one, on Friday, April 11, the Friday Morning Club will act as hostess and on the following Monday the Ebell Club will assume that role. The topics have not yet been decided upon.

Ralph Johonnot is a pupil of Arthur Wesley Dow of Columbia University, whose visit to Los Angeles last year will be remembered, and he was also a pupil of the late Ernest Fenollosa, the noted authority on art, who was a member of the Imperial Commission of Fine Arts for Japan and at the head of the museum at Tokio at one time.

Beside the lectures, there will be an exhibition of rare and priceless museum pieces which Mr. Johonnot will bring with him, including textile fabrics, pottery, paintings and sculpture and jewelry valued at thousands of dollars.

Miss Bessie Hogan,

Dramatic soprano and violiniste.

While in Southern California Mr. Johonnot will speak in Pasadena under the auspices of the Shakespeare Club and will also be heard in San Diego.

Daughters of Dawn.

Members of the Friday Morning Club at their meeting last Friday gave an interpretative reading of Bliss Carmen's unpublished pageant poem, "Daughters of Dawn," which he wrote in collaboration with Mary Perry King, the manuscript of which was procured for this purpose by Mrs. Richard Hovey, who read the prologue.

The reading was illustrated by tableaux and dances and each of the readers was in costume. Mrs. Thomas Allen Box, chairman of the Dramatic Committee, under whose auspices it was presented, made a little explanatory speech before the curtain rose, announcing that, while no especial dramatic effort had been made in presenting the lines of the poem other than the simple reading, the stage and costumes had been so arranged as to give a sympathetic setting to the theme. Beginning with the dawn of creation and Eve and Adam—the unfamiliar transposition of names as appearing on the programme indicating that the woman takes precedence in the poem—the lines read on down through the ages, introducing Deborah and Barak, Balkis and Solomon, Sapho and Phaon, Iseyl and Buddha, Mary the Mother of Christ, Zenobia, Jeanne d'Arc and, lastly, the modern woman.

The religious dance given by Mrs. William Staley and the interpretative dance given by Mrs. Harry Grey without music, to the accompaniment only of the poetic reading of Mrs. Gertrude Keller Bagley, were effective, as well as the tableaux in the oriental scene by Mmes. Helen Lotspeich Gale, Luther G. Brown, Miss Frances Vermilyea, Violet Phillips and Tekla Mertens and that of Mmes. Charles Bent and Everett Perry in the poetic reading of Mrs. George V. Wright as Mary.

Mrs. J. J. Abramson sang the "Chieftain's Battle Song," in costume, following the impersonation of Zenobia by Miss Rosalie Buddington.

Others who took part were Mrs. W. F. Thurston, Mrs. Helen Henderson Steckel, Mrs. Henry Colt, Mrs. Henry Martin and Mrs. Glen Behymer. The piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. Fred Bacon Reynard.

The after-luncheon speakers were Clara Shortridge Foltz and Mrs. A. S. Lobingier, who discussed the new city charter.

Annual District Federation Meeting.

The twelfth annual convention of Los Angeles district of the State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at Monrovia March 26-28. Mrs. J. W. Orr, State president, is expected to be present and address the convention on "The Most Vital Question Before Club Women Today." Mrs. Calvin Hartwell will speak on "General Federation Environment," and Mrs. Henry DeNyse on the plan for redistricting the State.

The sessions will be held in the Monrovia women's clubhouse and headquarters will be at the two nearby hotels.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Mrs. Philander C. Knox, wife of Secretary of State Knox, wears a No. 1 AA shoe comfortably. This is the smallest size made.

Mrs. Theila M. de Beer of Pretoria, Ga., aged 78, recently became a widow for the tenth time.

Miss Ellen Emerson of Concord, Mass., a grand-daughter of Ralph Waldo Emerson, is traveling through the country in behalf of the million-dollar endowment fund which Smith College is trying to raise among its alumnae. Wherever she goes she is entertained by the Smith clubs.

Augusta is to have a monument, the gift of Mrs. E. W. Cole of Nashville, Tenn., to the four Georgia poets—James R. Randall, Father Ryan, Sidney Lanier and Paul Hayne—all of whom in varying degrees are known to the country at large.

Miss Emily Southmayd of New York City has presented Yale with $125,000 to found a chair of equity jurisprudence in the Yale law school in memory of her brother, the late Charles F. Southmayd, who was a law partner of Joseph H. Choate and William M. Evarts.

Mrs. L. A. Jaffray, the White House housekeeper, is one person holding an important position who will not go out when the new administration comes in. She came to the White House on March 4 four years ago and has had entire control of all the household departments during the Taft regime. It was Mrs. Jaffray who planned the details of the numerous magnificent entertainments for which the Taft administration has been famous.

Miss Delphine Force of St. Louis, a debutante of the present season, has announced her intention to go in for cooking professionally and renounce society.

EDUCATORS, SCIENTISTS.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, author and physician, was 84 years old Tuesday. Following out a custom of former birthdays, Dr. Mitchell was host at a dinner at his home at which only a few intimate friends and relatives were present.

The Rev. William Charles Hogg, pastor of the First Church, Williamsport, Pa., is chairman of one of the most unique Publicity Committees in this country. Twenty Williamsport churches in nine denominations have united to buy a page in the local morning paper for advertising purposes. On it appear the church announcements and six reasons why the reader should attend services. The campaign is yielding results.

Arthur T. Firth, who has discovered a method of replating metal which has completely upset the old ideas of electro-plating, and is backed by American financiers, is a New Englander. He spent years in working out a formula, only to see it fail utterly when put to a practical test. Nothing dismayed, he went back to experimenting, knowing that he had the right idea, and in the end perfected a system which did good work quickly and cheaply. He brought it to this country, demonstrated his achievement, convinced doubting scientists, and obtained the financial backing to promote this new business.

Gaillard Hunt, official heraldist of the United States government, has devoted forty years to the study of his art, and has produced most of the government seals and designs usually seen stamped on official documents. He is also an historian of international reputation. It was he who designed the coat of arms for Porto Rico, after its annexation; for the Philippine Islands, and for the new Panama Canal zone. His work is noted for its simplicity. His office is in a far corner of the Library of Congress.

Dr. W. E. Geil, who in 1908 journeyed from end to end of the Chinese wall, says that with its extensions its total length is really 2500 miles and that originally 40,000 stone towers guarded it.

COMING FASHION SHOW TO ECLIPSE ALL ITS PREDECESSORS.

The Fashion Show, to open next Wednesday evening, March 5, will far excel any that has ever been held in Los Angeles. At 7:30 on the evening of the 5th the windows will be unveiled and Los Angeles and all her visiting friends will eagerly crowd the streets. Thousands will come to the city to see it.

The idea of a united opening to replace the individual effort made by each separate establishment originated here, and has been so successful that other cities East and West soon decided to adopt it. The advantages are manifold; merchandise is brought out simultaneously and patrons may thus see in one tour of inspection the season's latest models. In the old way people feared to buy lest the next opening would outrival the first display, and so they waited and hesitated and finally all purchased with a rush. In the Los Angeles United Fashion Show all the season's styles are shown and judicious selection is facilitated.

In anticipation of the early season this year buyers went East early and were enabled to procure the best and most effective that the markets afford.

The modes selected by Dame Fashion for this season's garbing are the most alluring that have been seen in years. There are no monstrosities in either gowns or millinery; no hobbles nor coal scuttles nor doorway-filling hats. On the contrary, the graceful, clinging gowns, the modest shapes in headwear and the distinctive styles in wraps are such as any artist would be glad to perpetuate.

The colors, too, are beautiful and on the whole becoming. With Nell Rose as the keynote throughout the gamut of pink tones and in the blues from light to darkest shades, the tints are such as bring out the best in all complexions. Even the tans and brasses have a glint of life which makes them more becoming than were the taupes and moles of some previous seasons. The variety is such, in both cut and colors, that everyone may choose something individual to her own particular style.

The Fashion Show will continue throughout the 6th, 7th and 8th of March and the window exhibitions will be rivaled by the dress parades of models within the stores and many features are being planned which have not heretofore been seen.

The special Fashion Show Number of The Times, on fine paper in colors, will be issued Thursday morning, March 6.

The New Millinery Modes

As shown at the Marvel, reflect the dictates of Paris.

There is no other such millinery store in Los Angeles—nor on the entire Pacific Coast.

—none that goes to such ends to secure the new and exclusive.

—none that offers such a scope of selection.

The Marvel is the largest exclusive retail millinery house on the Pacific Coast and as such offers not only the broadest selection in really exclusive styles—but millinery values that no other store can surpass.*

RHYTHMIC DANCE NEW FEATURE

ROSINA GALLI, PREMIER DANSEUSE ETOILE.

Ancient Form of Pantomime and Ballet Dancing Intimately Associated With Grand Opera Production—Important Innovation of Season About to Open.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

In the practice of the much-neglected art of dancing, the ballet is the most complex and difficult undertaking.

To compose a "ballet d'action" it is necessary to train for several years "mesdames du ballet" in the intricate athletic gyrations necessary for producing graceful and rhythmic movements and perfect ensemble work in motions, gestures and expression.

Ragtime, the turkey trot or the bunny hug have no place in the ballet. Syncopated time does not increase grace of action, but mars it in many ways, and while the short-skirted ballet may be derided by some, it is surely more graceful, more healthy, more elevating than the latest freak inventions of modern dancing, which are certainly demoralizing, even if they are hidden by long skirts.

The "ballet d'action" has been generally attributed to the fifteenth century and is the modern form of ballet. Novelty of entertainment was then sought for at the ducal courts of Italy in order to celebrate the marriage of a princess or the triumph of their arms. It has been supposed that the art of the old Roman pantomime was then revived to add to the attraction of court dances. Under the Roman empire the pantomime had represented either a mythological story or a scene from a Greek tragedy, while a chorus placed in the background narrated the fable in song or described the action of the scene.

The earliest ballet performance on record was that given by Bergonzio di Botta at Tortona to celebrate the marriage of the Duke of Milan in 1489. This form of entertainment was developed and perfected in France. It is closely associated with the history of the opera and it has had three distinct stages in its development. For a long time it was to be found only at the court when entertainments were given to celebrate great occasions. In 1581 Baltasarini composed the arrangements for a celebrated feast and ballet offered to her courtiers by Catherine de Medici. This marked an era in the history of the opera and ballet, for it was found for the first time that dance and music could be arranged for the sustained presentation of dramatic ideas, other than classical or mythological themes.

The third period in the history of the ballet was marked by its appearance on the stage, where it has remained ever since. The father of ballet dancing, as we know it at the present day, was Jean Georges Noverre. Apart from Noverre the greatest ballet master was undoubtedly Gaetano Apolline Balthazare Vestris, and he was one of the finest male dancers that Europe ever produced.

In 1750 the two greatest dancers of the day performed together in Paris in a ballet-opera called "Hero et Leandre." The dancers were Vestris and Mme. Camargo, who first introduced short skirts in the ballet. Some famous dancers in the first half of the nineteenth century were Carlotta Grisi, Mlle. Taglioni, who is said to have turned the heads of an entire generation; Fanny Elssler, Mlle. Cerrito and Mlle. Carolina Rosati. One of the successors of the ballet queens is Rosina Galli, premiere danseuse etoile of the Chicago Opera Company, [illegible] of the ballet school which was established three years ago by the Chicago opera management, [illegible] and musical intelligence has brought forth an efficient corps of ballet and adds much to the enjoyment of the operatic productions of this organization.

The Campanini orchestra also is a fine support to the action of the operatic endeavor, [illegible] in pantomimic form certain operas whose difficulties have heretofore prevented dancers from giving them in their entirety.

The programme arranged for the grand ballet divertissement as presented by the Chicago organization introduces Rubinstein's celebrated "Toreador" and "Andalouse," Dvorak's Slavic dances, an interesting and fetching Dutch dance, Brahms's Hungarian dance No. 5, Johann Strauss's celebrated Valse, "Roses from the South," and Herbert's beautiful Habanera from "Natoma." All of these dances, together with many others that will be given by this organization, have been arranged by Luigi Albertieri, the chief ballet master, and Mme. Rosina Galli [illegible] corps de ballet, Anna Bollman, Julie Hudak and Luigi Albertieri in solo, duet and trio and pantomimic dances.

There is much of versatility in the offerings of this programme, and [illegible] in Chicago and [illegible] Philadelphia and New York.

The Chicago company introduces the chorus and ballet in practically all of its operas, in many instances finding beautiful music written by the composer, especially in the French opera, [illegible] pastoral or the lyric beauty of the scene.

People's Orchestra.

The Programme Committee of the People's Orchestra concerts has decided to make a custom of having some sacred music at each of the Sunday afternoon concerts now being given in the Auditorium and [illegible] for Sunday Miss Isabelle Isgrig. She is a dramatic soprano of wide range and sympathetic voice.

The solo for Sunday will be "I Will Extol Thee," by Costa, and is a number of particular effectiveness during the Lenten period. This number will be given in addition to the Bruch concerto for violin, which is to be played by young Ralph Ginsburg, and [illegible] programme [illegible] numbers which should attract a large audience.

Sunday Recitals.

After several months intermission Barker Bros. have re-established their weekly recitals. Barker Bros. are setting an artistic standard in these recitals. The first recital was given on February 3 and featured the appearance of Homer Grunn, the well-known Los Angeles pianist-composer. On Tuesday afternoon, February [illegible] followed by W.

After several months intermission, Barker Bros. have re-established their weekly recitals.

Barker Bros. are setting an artistic standard in these recitals.

The first recital was given on February 1, and featured the appearance of Homer Grunn, the well-known Los Angeles pianist-composer.

The March 1 recital featured Mrs. Catherine Shank, soprano, and Miss Lila Trenam, pianist.

For the Lord's Sake.

[The Spectator:] A short time ago a lady with an only child (aged 7) was entertaining the bishop of the diocese to afternoon tea. The small child was allowed to come to tea, but her mother had instilled into her mind the necessity of speaking reverently to the bishop. Tea came and with it the pangs of hunger, but at the same time her mother's warning, "speak reverently," was always before her. After sitting for about ten minutes gazing at the good things and repeating over and over again, "speak reverently," she exclaimed: "For the Lord's sake, pass me the bread and butter."

encounter with a dissolute young man who is attempting to prevent the signing of his father's will. It is a thrilling drama acted by the Edison photoplayers. "Under the Make-up," a story of stage life, and "The Pioneer's Recompense," have startling and unusual plots and are good numbers on an extra good programme. Two Biograph comedies and latest Pathe Weekly, first-run tomorrow, are also included.

Mozart.

"Beasts of the Jungle," the most thrilling animal drama ever produced, is to be featured at the Mozart Theater this week. This is the only picture ever staged in which the actors appear in scenes with the animals.

The pictures tell a story of an American engineer and his little daughter. The child, lost in the jungle, finds herself in a hut wherein a tiger has been trapped. Making friends with the beast, when found by her parents, she is allowed to take the animal home with her as a pet.

This production is more noteworthy and remarkable than any other animal picture and without doubt will entertain.

OVER THE SEA.

IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Returned From Abroad.

Miss Bena I. Knox, who will take up art work in the public schools of this city, has just returned from a trip around the world. Miss Knox's experience was unusually interesting, as she spent much of her time in out-of-the-way nooks of the countries she visited, studying the people at home. She was particularly delighted with Japan, and has brought home many charming sketches of the quaint people.

One of these sketches in particular Miss Knox prizes, for it bears the name of Baron Ouhara, high in the imperial service, and an odd little story attaches to it. "On the train one day," said Miss Knox, "I noticed a striking-looking Japanese gentleman opposite, who wore a huge badge. I commenced sketching him. I did not know that he saw me, but of a sudden he fixed his eyes on the sketch. It was an alarming second, but in a moment he inquired in very good English if he might see my picture. I tremblingly held it out. He examined it for a moment, then looked up and—smiled. He even said it was a very good picture. So I plucked up courage and asked for his signature, which he graciously gave. What was my amazement to read the great name 'Ouhara' on it."

Sixty-second-Avenue School.

Fifteen one-dollar savings bank accounts are the prizes which the Mothers' Circle are generously offering to small farmers of Sixty-second avenue who can show the best school gardens on May 1. Some of the youngsters are in their gardens by sun-up, delving away in the soil, and only running to faucets to wash away the honest perspiration from shiny faces and dirt from grimy paws when the "first bell" rings.

The value of the lath-house has been fully demonstrated, thousands of young plants being now ready for a more permanent setting.

Through more than one channel the spring fever is getting an early start at Sixty-second avenue. Hikes to Poppy Peak, Eagle Rock, Busch's Gardens and the Arroyo have served to keep the whole school in touch with the treasures Dame Nature is preparing to shed broadcast, and the "young idea" longs for something of life to call its own. The 400 individual gardens will help solve that longing.

Everett Maxwell, a local playwright and critic of experience, has consented to coach the Social Center Dramatic Club, which is arranging to give a play in the near future, and thereafter once a month.

The February birthday greetings were extended to Misses Jane McCarthy and Frances Conrad.

Malabar-Street School.

A parent-teacher association will be organized on next Thursday afternoon and an improvement association is also being projected. The parent-teacher association will give entertainments to raise money to decorate the building with tasteful pictures, statuary and to purchase a victrola.

Playgrounds Closed.

Playgrounds will be closed and continuation work abandoned during the spring vacation, which occurs March 14 to 24.

Twenty-first-Avenue Intermediate.

The Southern Pacific shops were investigated on Tuesday by the class in manual continuation work, under the direction of Mr. Hornby. The boys are enthusiastic over these trips and find that the examination of these large plants aid them in their own shopwork.

"Resolved, That Vacation Be Abolished," was the rather amazing subject of debate in Miss McColloch's A10 English class, during the past week. Naturally the discussion was heated, and its length was unprecedented, occupying two days. The decision (also naturally) was in favor of the negative.

The tryout for the Long Beach-Polytechnic debate was held Friday. The debate will take place about March 27. Twenty-first-avenue negatives go to Polytechnic, Polytechnic negatives to Long Beach and Long Beach come to Twenty-first-avenue. Affirmative speakers remain at home.

The school orchestra played several numbers at the East Side Clubhouse on Wednesday on the occasion of the meeting of the Wednesday Morning Club.

Los Angeles High.

The new course in wireless telegraphy has an enrollment of twenty-five boys. Besides the theories of electrical transmission the class is given an opportunity for practical observation and demonstration at the school's high-power wireless station.

Dr. William Horace Day of the First Congregational Church addressed the boys at the assembly call Wednesday. A young man in heart and years, he easily held his audience and drove home his talk on self-control.

Camp Lee, the High School cadets' camp, will be at Glendora during the summer vacation. The camp is named for Theodore Lee, the retiring major of cadets. Lee graduated in the winter '13 class. One of the features of the camp will be a field wireless station in charge of Thomas Carey. The boys in camp will send wireless messages to the High School station. From this station they will be delivered to the homes of the campers.

School politics are seething, with the campaign for Star and Crescent officers in full swing. Nominations were made Thursday; elections will be held Monday. For president Al McGuire, football captain and school-stage favorite, was named. Juanita Brown, Cecile Alcorn and Marjory Clark were nominated for vice-president. The race for treasurer is between Harry Brand and John Aseltine. For secretary there is apparently a great scramble, judging from the number of candidates. They are Ruth Davis, Dorothy Day, Dorothy Keefer, Nell Rodgers, Narcissus Sheets and Helen Woodruff. The newly-elected senior B officers are: Ernest Trevor, president; Mary Bucklin, vice-president; F. Skinner, treasurer. The secretary's position is still in doubt, as Miss Blunk and Miss Russell are tied for this position.

Miss Bena I. Knox,

A teacher of this city, who has just returned from a trip around the world.

Manual Arts High.

An assembly was called Friday, February 21, 1913, in honor of Washington's Birthday. Miss Sara L. Dole of the history department, talked of the youth of Washington, his initiative in grasping all opportunities as peculiarly fitting him for the grave responsibilities of his later life. She made much of his sense, and of his knowledge of men and ability to handle them as the secret of his great power. She said Hamilton was a far greater political genius, Franklin a more scientific thinker, and Madison a more brilliant statesman; but Washington's character and disinterested humanity gave him the balance of power in all assemblies. The entire student body sang a number of patriotic airs gith great "go." The assembly closed with speeches by Coach Bailey and by the successful winners, Paul Williams, Fred Horowitz, Goodwin Knight and Paul Elliot of the L. A. High School and Manual Arts debate.

A Jackson automobile was donated to the school by Lester Kiggens. The boys of the automobile school, recently established at Manual Arts, are busy repairing this machine. G. Olsson, formerly with the Bureau Car Manufacturing Company of this city, and the Shugars Manufacturing Company, has charge of the cdass.

Miss Mary P. Putnam, vice-principal of the school, left for the East February 22 for a six weeks' vacation. She will study conditions in the eastern schools and incidentally will be present at the superintendents' convention in Philadelphia and at the Presidential inauguration in Washington, March 4.

Dr. E. W. Hope, formerly a lawyer in this city, is teaching in the history department. Dr. Hope took his A.B. degree at the Johns Hopkins University. M. E. Austin, who is teaching book-keeping and arithmetic, comes from the Fourteenth-street intermediate school. E. E. Hostetler of the mathematics department, came to Los Angeles from Indiana, where he has for fifteen years been connected with public schools. Mr. Hostetler was teacher, principal and superintendent of schools in Indiana. G. W. Hauschild, from Los Angeles High, is teaching in the modern language department. Mr. Hauschild was at one time instructor in Stanford University. S. Quintin, an architect with offices in this city, is now teaching archictectural drawing. Miss Belle Parson, recently of the faculty of Polytechnic High, and previously teaching in Tucson, Ariz., is now teaching dramatics.

Polytechnic High.

A German museum has been begun at Poly by the German department, in charges of Miss Adele Meyer. This, besides being an interesting feature, promises to be of great value to the students of the German language in giving them an idea of the characteristics of the fatherland. Already many postcards depicting German scenes and customs, ancient and modern, have been obtained; together with parts of a German peasant's costume of the present day.

Poly has a French dramatics class this year, with Miss Florence Dunbar in charge. It is still rather small, but the members are planning to give a French play later in the term.

The post-graduate class meeting held February 21, resulted in the election of the following officers: Mary Jones, president of the class; Blanche Deets, vice-president, and Ed Bennet, secretary and treasurer. It is a point of note that there are more post-graduates in the school this year than ever before. The present enrollment is ninety-seven.

The Winter Twelve class of Polytechnic held a reunion on March 1. The party was given in honor of Washington's Birthday and the decorations were in accordance with the occasion. Games were played and there was dancing in the school gymnasium. The members of the Entertainment Committee are: Roy Mendoza, Sydney Sort, Charles Mauveaux, Roy Maag, Roy Herrington, Betty Royce, Hazel Sylves, Fannie Hollins, Fern Doster, Elsie Huber and Grace Wilcox.

Hollywood High.

John Stephen McGroarty's California programme was given as the fourth number of the artists' course Thursday afternoon. Mr. McGroarty's magnetic personality and ability to catch the spirit of his audience, coupled with the charming music of Walter Baireuz and Homer Grunn, and Anne Cavanaugh's delightful readings, all devoted to the lauding of California, delighted the students as could no other programme have done.

Hollywood, represented by Pierre Walker and Mark Herron, will clash in debate with Pasadena on Friday evening, March 28. The question is "Resolved, that tariff for revenue only will reduce the high cost of living to the wage-earner." The negative will be upheld by Hollywood.

Because of the midyear classes the school constitution was amended to admit representatives from these classes to the board of control. As a result five new members were added in the midyear elections.

Polytechnic Evening High.

Steam engineering is to be taught and a laboratory is being fitted up for this purpose. Both locomotive and stationary engineering will be given.

An exhibition in high-frequency and high-tension electricity will be given next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. As the electrical apparatus is the best on the Coast, the demonstration will be interesting.

NATIONAL HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE.

Mrs. Heath Announces That the Era of the Incompetent Woman is Past and She is Gathering in Recruits from Every State in the Union to Force a Campaign of Education and Thus Reduce Cost of Living.

BY MARGARET B. DOWNING.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—There may be thousands of Americans deeply concerned in the fol-de-rols connected with the induction of the new President, what he and his womenkind shall eat and wear and say and act, but there are tens of thousands more who are more interested in the vista opened when Mrs. Julian Heath of New York, national president of the Housewives' League, made public a charming little missive from the President-to-be about the cost of meat and the expediency of permitting foreign flesh to come in free of duty. This letter was written in September when the leaguers under the leadership of Mrs. Julian Heath protested vainly against the increase in the cost of meat and urged a boycott of it wherever possible. They then petitioned the Democratic Presidential candidate to declare his sentiments and he was unequivocally in favor of free meat as a counter-measure against the trust. Mrs. Julian Heath hopes much and meantime she continues her remarkable campaign of education and organization.

Mrs. Julian Heath.

"So much is before the American public for the benefit and well being of women," remarked Mrs. Heath, "that I know the masculine heart will warm towards my cause when I say that in the last analysis, the Housewives' League is for the relief of man. One of my theories is and I can prove it, that more families are poor because the wife is wasteful and untrained than because the husband is incompetent, lazy or intemperate. Everybody accepts the announcement that housekeeping is a lost art. We want it to be lost as an art, for now we intend to make it an exact science. We stand a solid phalanx in a good and worthy cause and in five years, I predict that the pendulum will swing backward and we will have home conditions something like fifty years ago.

"Our league is trying and rapidly succeeding in making the woman with a dollar in her purse and a market basket on her arm the power which she is but which she failed to recognize. I was more encouraged in my visit to Washington by the sight of well-gowned women carrying market baskets than by many of the promises I received of political aid for my cause. Why, in many sections a woman of certain social standing would just as readily carry a market basket as she would go shopping in her bedroom slippers. At that national capital, I rejoiced to learn that going to market is a recognized institution and that women of all rank and conditions follow the custom. I found the Center market filled with intelligent buyers and the massed autos and private conveyances about the streets leading to it proclaimed the social rank of many. Why women think it beneath them to be seen attending to their most sacred duty, is an anomaly, but I rejoice that in section after section in every part of the country the prejudice is giving way to common-sense conditions.

"I blame the high price of food conditions primarily on women, those who never know the price of anything, who never see anything either before it is bought or prepared and those who do not know good food from bad. Of course, there may be some other sociological and economic aspects but the telephone is among the cogent reasons why we pay more for food. Now, we have all paid the price for our thoughtless sister and we want conditions to change and generally what the women of a nation really want, they get. History will bear me out in this. Some problems connected with living may be controlled and here is where our organization will prove of national value. In many subdivisions, it has already done so. We have had battles and bare scars, but we are learning and another year of study and organization will make a vast difference when the storage products come on the market. Last autumn we had a tussle with the egg market of New York and we came out winners. The egg question raged in New England, but the housewives won out with a few skirmishes, but none lost or wounded. In the Middle West we have been working on the storage egg problem with good results.

"One thing which is the goal of our league is to establish direct lines of communication between the producer and the consumer. We want good, clean markets everywhere and we are going to get them. When we began our work, markets in New York were a tradition. Long Island members of the league found that the fine vegetables and fruits of their community were carted right past their doors and then brought back to them greatly reduced in quality and increased in price. In New Haven housewives found that, though in the center of of an agricultural country, they paid more for vegetables than the New Yorkers, and so the tale went from one end of the continent to the other. Ask a Florida woman about oranges and early green vegetables and the Californian about fruit and olives. Market-houses, clean, ventilated, under firm and righteous municipal control, is the solution. New York housewives have brought about a new era for old Washington market. Its glory has returned and its usefulness increased a thousandfold. Housewives deal with the farmers who hire the stalls, and we have formed a farmers' union and each who establishes the fact that he owns or cultivates a farm bona fide gets a button. But each applicant has to give his address and all data required and an investigating committee visits him before he gets the much-coveted badge. In our crowded cities it is impossible to get market-houses close enough to residential sections or sufficient of them to supply all needs, but there should be sufficient to provide a certain quota and we are working for that end.

"In this crusade to get the farmers and housewives in touch we found many cities where such a thing as a market did not exist. In Chicago the wholesale district was pointed out as a substitute or if one wished smaller orders there was the push-cart districts. It was all particularly uninviting, whereas the well-kept market as we wish it is a joy as well as an economy. I cannot begin to enumerate the number of good markets now in active work as the result of our campaign, which is less than a year old. When the rural districts supply the cities near them without the middleman, when the farmer learns to find his profit in his cash customers and not in the cold-storage man, we will have taken a long stride toward the return of old conditions. We have roused communities to demand market-houses and, though many influences have been brought to bear against us, they are steadily going out and farmers are gradually realizing what it all means. Cleveland has erected a splendid market-house in memory of Mayor Johnson. I have just returned from Wheeling, W. Va., where a fine new market was opened in the presence of several officers of our national league, beside myself. The Mayor of Pittsburgh recently took a private car full of organized housewives to see the Tom Johnson market of Cleveland in full operation in order that he might urge a similar reform. In many of the smaller cities of the Middle West the Mayor and Council have permitted farmers to come in and sell their wares in the public parks as they do in the Old World. Our league is on record in favor of this: If they remove all refuse and take proper precautions I think every municipal government which has not enough of market-houses should permit the use of parks or unoccupied city lots during a few hours in the summer. Everyone would profit by this arrangement"

Mrs. Heath has been a student of economic conditions since her early girlhood. She directs her own home with wonderful skill and it was the constant demand for advice and inspection which lead her into the work which has become internationally famous. Not a problem is brought before the public which she does not solve first in her own scheme of affairs. When the cost of food took wings and soared she held council with her neighbors. She looked into conditions from every viewpoint and one was that butchers charge for what they call "trimmings" though they rarely ever send them home with the order. In rib roast the bones make excellent soup while the suet is good for numerous things. She demanded her trimmings of the meat baron, who met her request with a supercilious smile. But alas in less than a month he lost the custom of that entire neighborhood. A dairy man who disdained suggestions has no customers in that particular section. That was the first step. Storekeepers, became quite alert to complaints, and heeded the least suggestion. One of the most useful and indeed almost epochal features of Mrs. Heath's campaign is to eliminate the non-essential price as for instance, certain brands of grain food, wheat preparations, oatmeal, biscuits or crackers, are arrayed in most attractive paper boxes for which the purchaser pays more than he does for the food desired. The Housewives' Union buy a pound in the bulk and are content to take it home in a paper bag. This reduces food prices at one fell swoop and is easy to practice.

Mrs. Heath has been unfaltering in her efforts to teach the incompetent. One of her epigrams is that living is so much higher than it should be for the reason that so few women know that there are dampers in their stoves. Burnt food, half cooked food, are her special grievances and she is giving short talks on the primary features of the stove. One woman she said had for twenty years permitted 95 per cent. of the heat which her husband paid such a high price for, to go up the chimney. From the stove, she goes directly to the heart of the problem, the waste in the American kitchen, and how to prevent it. Buying is but one feature of reducing food to a normal price, every detail of its preparation is considered and for women who have many mouths to fill and but little purchasing power, the housewives have carefully prepared a schedule which gives the nourishment attainable from some things and its adaptability to be used in various ways after the first serving.

Dr. Frederick Henry Sykes of Columbia University has been chosen president for the new Connecticut College for Women. Dr. Sykes is regarded as the leading American authority on vocational studies.

Eyeglasses Not Necessary

Eyesight Can Be Strengthened, and Most Forms of Diseased Eyes Successfully Treated Without Cutting or Drugging.

That the eyes can be strengthened so that eye-glasses can be dispensed with in many cases has been proven beyond a doubt by the testimony of hundreds of people who publicly claim that their eyesight has been restored by that wonderful little instrument called "Actina." "Actina" also relieves Sore and Granulated Lids, Iritis, Cataracts, etc., without cutting or drugging. Over 100,000 "Actinas" have been sold; therefore the Actina treatment is not an experiment, but is reliable. The following letters are but samples of hundreds we receive:

Mrs. Harriet Brewster, 2246 Market street, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "'Actina' gives me great relief for both my eyes and insomnia."

Mr. M. M. Moyer, 1170 E. 20th St., Oakland, Cal., writes: "My wife suffered excruciating pain in one of her eyes. The use of the 'Actina' completely removed this. Granulated lids cannot exist where 'Actina' is used."

Augustina L. Vietz, 429 Commerce St., Stockton, Cal., writes: "I think 'Actina' a fine instrument, invaluable in the household. It strengthens the eyes and acts as a tonic and a massage."

Mr. F. M. Hallet, 1636½ Maple Ave., Los Angeles, Cal., writes: "I can certainly recommend 'Actina' to anyone who has eye trouble."

Mr. Louis Leonard, 737 American Ave., Long Beach, Cal., writes: "I find 'Actina' unexcelled for weak eyes."

"A great number of my railroad friends are buying 'Actinas,' as you know by the orders you have received."

"Actina" can be used with perfect safety by every member of the family for any affliction of the eye, ear, throat or head. A free trial of the "Actina" is given in every case.

Fashions for Spring
—AND—
Fashions of Spring

Fashions with the Vivid, Barbaric Colorings of a Tropical Spring

And Fashions as Quaint and Daintily Tinted As an Olden Time Spring

THERE never was a spring — when to be fashionable—first of all—meant to be dressed in a fashionable blending of colors.

And that's the secret of this spring's being fashionable.

It used to be that there were a few of the primary colors—year after year—in vogue.

You bought, either a red dress—a blue suit—a brown coat—or a white hat.

This season—there are no new clothes of red, blue or brown.

The primary colors have been blended—accentuated or softened—and we have Nell Rose, Corn Flower Blue, Wood Brown and Golden Rod.

Every one of them—actually suggesting Spring!

Vivid, barbaric dresses of Nell Rose Ratine, accentuated by touches of black and white.

And in Bulgarian Green—Ratine dresses trimmed with touches of Bulgarian embroidery in Amber and Nut Brown.

Then—the daintiest, most delicately colored dresses of linen—soft Tapestry Blues—Sea Shell Pinks and Sand Colors.

And lacy, frilly, blue-sashed lingerie dresses that suggest Janice Meredith curls and beauty patches.

And these same extremes of fashion are in the spring hats.

There are Oriental Turbans in the vivid rose colorings — Bulgarian Blues and Greens — accentuated by great, tall, Mephistopheles feathers.

And hats in delicate lavender and pinks—wreathed in forget-me-nots and Spring Beauties.

Very often these Tropical colorings—that instantly stamp a hat "Paris"—are combined with the quaintest of old-fashioned flowers—Verbenas, Mignonette—Tea Roses.

Then—in one hat—you have these two extremes of fashion — vivid, dashing, Frenchy smartness — with dainty, delicately-tinted Old-Fashionedness.

There are the same radical differences in the afternoon and evening gowns.

Stunning dresses of Nell Rose and Bulgarian Green Crepe Meteor and others in Tapestry Blues and Sand Colors.

An evening gown of Rose color—over white chiffon—beaded and fringed in pearls.

THERE is a very cordial invitation —to you to attend
The J. W. Robinson Co.'s Exhibition of the Fashions of Spring
during the Fashion Show of next week!

And in a soft Peachblow Pink—and weathered in tiny rosebuds—an evening gown of chiffon that would have delighted one of those story-book grandmothers.

Even in young girls' wear—there's this decided contrast of fashions. A Gypsy-like dress of Crocus yellow chiffon, beaded in Amber and coral—and a model of white, brocaded charmeuse, trimmed with Armenian lace and with a bodice of chiffon.

And waists of Nell Rose chiffon and French crepe—elaborate, fantastic—to contrast with simple little models of white crepe de chine, trimmed with just a plaited frill.

Coats are wonderfully different. There are Top Coats of Flame color and of vivid Bulgarian green—"drapey" afternoon coats of Nell Rose—and the quaintest coats of Bengaline, Moire and Poplin.

They suggest instantly the old-fashioned Dolman.

Again—there's a unique combining of the two radically opposite directions that spring fashions have taken. A combining of a lining of Nell Rose—or Copper color — with a draped cloak of black etamine.

These contrasts are not so pronounced in suits, of course. It's more a contrast of style there. Mannish, severely cut—suits of black and white checked stuff—or smart blue serge.

And in something of a Russian blouse effect—suits of brocaded Bengaline, in an old-fashioned plum brown, and of Bengaline in Old Blues.

Even in the spring parasols—there is this unusual combination of barbaric vividness and of quaint old-fashionedness—(a parasol of Tapestry Blue—the insets of Dresden ribbon)—(a Nell Rose parasol with insets of satin, patterned in Bulgarian colorings.)

And in the new silks—it is very pronounced.

Take this Tinsled Mattlasse—in Lilac, Rose or Apple Green—the pattern embroidered in gold,—

Or these Brocaded Crepes and Charmeuses—in all the vivid, flaming Rose and Copper tones,—

And compare them with the new Fleur de Velour—in the most delicate Shell Pinks and green—flowered in the tiniest of pink rosebuds. Or this Canton Crepe in dull blue, patterned in miniature rosebuds, set in green leaves.

Altogether, it's a very wonderful fashion time—with fashions of spring—as well as for spring.

THEY are ready for you—to find out about—and to enjoy—

Fat Is Ridiculous

Overfat men and women, mortified and humiliated by the publicity of conspicuous rolls and billows of fat, are gradually learning that through the discovery of an eminent physician the burden of overfatness is taken from them, leaving the figure attractively proportioned, the flesh firm, the skin smooth, and the general health vastly improved, without dieting, exercise or resulting wrinkles or flabbiness. There is no equal and no substitute for the famous Marmola Prescription, but there is a new and more convenient form —a tablet form of this safe fat remover. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same harmless, effective ingredients as the original prescription that has enabled so many thousands of uncomfortable men and women to reduce their weight evenly and steadily at the rate of a pound or more a day. An exceptionally large case of these Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by all druggists at 75c or sent you direct by the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit Mich., on receipt of price.

PLAY GROUND FOR NATION.

Fifteen Million Acres for Public Parks.

Thousand-mile Boulevard to Connect Them.

New Mexico Makes Bid for Tourist Travel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROSWELL (N. M.) Feb. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fifteen million acres of primeval forests, snow-capped mountains, precipitous canyons, vast mesas, and lovely valleys, cut by purling trout streams and dotted with quaint pueblos and cliff dwellings, all in one system of public parks in the State of New Mexico, connected b ya thousand-mile boulevard, such is the dream of a little band of enthusiasts in Roswell that has started a State-wide movement to achieve its purpose.

Federal, State and municipal authorities are to co-operate, in fact, are already co-operating, toward creating in the new State, a national playground and wonderland which will bid for the tourist traffic that at present makes its way to Europe annually to climb the Alps or other mountains.

A start has been made on the thousand-mile boulevard. With convict labor has been constructed a marvelous highway through the heart of the Rocky Mountains from Santa Fe to the Pecos National Reserve and another to the ancient cliff dwellings. It will be part of the ocean-to-ocean highway from Los Angeles via the historic Santa Fe trail. In other portions of the State similar roads are being built and by the time that the Panama-Pacific Exposition opens, New Mexico expects to have ready for tourist visitors superb auto boulevards unlocking its many natural wonders.

WILL CALL STATE CONVENTION.

To make the park movement of State-wide scope, a meeting of representatives of city governments, park boards and civic clubs for a discussion of plans is to be called by Dr. Frank N. Brown of Roswell, president of the Park Board and of the Roswell Civic Club. Dr. Brown is probably the most enthusiastic and best-informed man in the State on laying out parks. He dreams of making New Mexico the ideal State for rest, recreation and pleasure.

STATE-WIDE MOVEMENT.

Last fall Dr. Brown presided over a meeting of park enthusiasts in Roswell. There the State-wide plan was evolved and the determination reached to advance upon the Mescalaro Reservation as soon as possible. Naturally, these park builders are opposed to the United States government donating any lands in that reservation to Indian tribes, who have not yet received allotments.

Among those actively associated with Dr. Brown in this work are W. A. Johnson, a pioneer citizen of the State; H. W. Vauchlet, landscape architect who is directing much of the work being done by the Roswell Park Board and Roswell Civic Club; R. H. Kemp, chairman of the Commercial Club Committee on Parks, and C. C. Aannahill, president of the Commercial Club. These are representative men among nearly a thousand who are interested in the work. The Civic Club is managed by a board of twenty-five councilors. Each street has a subordinate club and the chairman of each of these clubs is an ex-officio member of this board of councilors.

PLEDGE OF CIVIC BEAUTY.

Following is the pledge taken by members of the Civic Club:

"Believing in Roswell, in its people, and the duty of utilizing the wealth of civic beauty that may be ours for the asking and the doing, and being ready to do my part, I hereby pledge myself to carry out to the best of my ability the plans of the City Civic Club, especially so far as it may relate to my own property, or the property I occupy; to spread the gospel of flowers and trees, and to do all that I can as an individual for the extension and perfection of civic sentiment in Roswell."

MESCALERO RESERVATION.

Speaking of the magnificent plan for working over the Mescalero reservation, Dr. Brown says: "The Mescalero Park will at no distant date be the center of an irrigated empire such as the world has never seen. The government is developing vast irrigation enterprises in New Mexico and Arizona and private enterprise is reclaiming the arid lands of West Texas. Taken altogether, these people will cover one of the most remarkable regions of intensive farming that human industry and scientific knowledge has made possible. These people are drawn from all parts of the world; the population of this region is essentially cosmopolitan. It is no more than fair that they should be considered in this grand system of national parks. The scenery of the reservation is in a class by itself, possessing a wild beauty that will remain undisturbed through the centuries if the proper principle of conservation is now applied. Probably no section of the world has the elements of beauty and healthfulness so peculiarly and admirably combined."

ADVOCATES NATIONAL PARK.

Dr. Brown makes an appeal for the appropriation of the Mescalero reservation as one of a series of national parks in the West. "This is the time for action," he says, "since there is a well-defined attempt to subvert it from its proper purpose. The need for the reservation of these scenic areas, little of which is or ever will be available for agriculture, is immediate and should be taken in time to save the timber from the grasp of the lumber sharks. A proper and conservative act would not prevent the utilization of such land as is tillable, or proper foresting under the direction and immediate supervision of the Secretary of the Interior. It is to prevent waste and vandalism, as well as the dedication of the wild beauty of nature to the sovereign people, that action is urged at this time."

WEALTH IN TREES.

The city of Roswell has approximately 140 acres of park area. The parks are maintained by a tax of one mill as the maximum, which may be assessed by the City Council. On nine streets of Roswell there are approximately 2000 shade trees in a distance of ten blocks. "In the East, trees are valued at $300 to $400," says Dr. Brown, "and if our trees are that valuable they are worth, in these ten blocks, approximately $200,000."

PART OF SCHOOL STUDY.

"We believe that the City Park Board should have well-defined plans, showing all park sites and contemplated improvements," says Dr. Brown in discussing details of general plans, "and such plans should be a part of the regular curriculum of the High School. Children should be taught to appreciate the worth and benefit of parks. They should have a knowledge of the plans for future improvement in park building in their own home town or city. Such a knowledge would add materially to the possibilities of carrying forward the work."

MEN AND SPECIMENS.

T. E. Martin of Syracuse, N. Y., in 1912 succeeded in raising 417 bushels of potatoes on an acre of ground.

Oscar Blunt of Thomaston, Me., has 20 single-comb white Leghorn pullets, hatched in July, that have laid in thirty-five consecutive days, thirty-seven dozen of eggs.

George A. Quimby of Belfast, Me., has received a package by parcel post from Mayaguez, P. R., which proved to be a centipede preserved in alcohol, sent by his son-in-law. It is an extremely big, ugly looking specimen.

When J. L. Boynton of Center Montville, Me., was about to replace a rock which had been turned over near the corner of his barn, he found a silver half-dollar, dated 1832, lying beneath it. It was in good condition and the inscription on it could easily be read.

The original necklace worn in the latter part of the eighteenth century by Eunice Farnsworth, the first white woman resident of Somerset county, Me., is now in the possession of Gertrude Weston of Skowhegan.

Morton Corman of Lock Haven, Pa., is probably the youngest zoologist of record. Although but 5 years of age, he is every busy collecting specimens. His hobby in the summer is bumble bees, wasps, hornets, crickets and mosquitos. These he keeps in glass jars, and after learning what they thrive on, gives them regular meals of food. Just now he is interested in wild mice.

Before Mora, Leita and Max Murdock, children of the late J. T. Murdock of La Salle county, Illinois, can inherit under their millionaire father's will, they must appear before the Probate Court and swear that they have not smoked nor chewed tobacco nor partaken of intoxicating liquors as a beverage for two years previously.

John Hanton and Ben Albrecht of Chicago appeared before Municipal Judge Sabath to answer for their loitering on the street corner. "I might fine you," the judge told them, "but I believe that I'll just make you members of the police force instead. I shall assign you to the corners at Milwaukee and California avenues and you shall report to the Shakespeare-avenue station. Keep those corners clear and you will mitigate your sins."

Thomas A. Edison recently celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday, and says he still feels as if he were only 25 and is sure he is going to keep right at his work for a good many years more. He passed the day as he does the other 364 in his laboratory and offices, except that he yielded to the importunity to be a guest at a family dinner party in the evening.

Col. George R. Cecil, who served on the frontier in his early career and later in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and Alaska, has been retired for age. He was one of the crack rifle shots of the army at one time, taking part in the international match at Long Island in 1878.

J. E. Taylor of Washington holds the silent but invincible identification of every man who has enlisted in the United States Navy since 1907. He is chief of the Finger Print Bureau of the navy, and is fast becoming the terror of unscrupulous men who have proved unfaithful in their country's service. His files contain over 130,000 cards, each carrying the unfailing mark of identification of an enlisted man.

Col. George P. Scriven, who has been nominated to succeed Brig.-Gen. James Allen as chief signal officer of the army, has had a career of remarkable activity. He has been attached at different times to three branches of the military service, and has seen service in all parts of the world and participated in the front of every campaign which has been waged since his graduation from the Military Academy in 1878.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

A story of unusual honesty in business life is being told in the downtown district of New York. In the fall of 1896 a customer of one of the big banks had discounted a note for $1500. The man who presented the note was well known to the officers of the bank, and it was taken without question. On maturity the note went to protest with all other paper of the business concern of which the note maker was the head. In 1902 the Bankruptcy Court discharged the maker of the note, and he was relieved by law from the obligation.

The note passed into the files of the bank as a worthless bit of paper. To the surprise of the president of that institution, he received a letter a few days ago from the debtor, now residing in Germany, announcing that he had sent his check by express for $1500 in payment of the note with accrued interest. At the time of the note transaction the present president of the bank was assistant discount clerk, and as the original note passed through his hands he remembered the transaction perfectly. He wrote personally to the honest business man, thanking him for taking up his obligation, though relieved of payment by the law.

Mrs. Mary E. Culver of St. Louis has given $160,000 to the Christian University at Canton, Mo. This is in addition to several other previous endowments she has made to the school and brings the total endowment up to $200,000. The students, on learning of the gift from Mrs. Culver, voted to give $5000 towards a fund of $35,000 for a chair of modern languages. More than $2300 was pledged by students in subscriptions of $100 each. Many of the students who made these pledges are working their way through college.

Leaping into the cold swift current of the Mississippi River at New Orleans at a spot where the water has a depth of at least thirty feet, Deselina Cunningham, a negro woman, saved the life of a negro boy named Wilbur Jones. The child, with several others about his own age, was playing on a lumber barge at Gretna, on which the Cunningham woman lived, with her husband and children. While near the edge of the craft the boy lost his balance and fell backwards into the water, giving a scream as he did so. His companions also gave the alarm and the Cunningham woman rushed from her quarters and without a moment's hesitation plunged overboard. Strange as it may seem, the boy floated for several minutes, being carried downward by the rushing stream, and was always in view of his rescuer, who swam to his side and returned with him to the barge. By that time Adam Felix, a negro, whose home is in McDonoghville and who is employed at the fertilizer plant, reached the scene and assisted the woman and boy to the deck of the barge.

Headquarters of the World Peace Foundation are to be established permanently in Boston. An estate on Beacon Hill, purchased by Edwin Ginn, father of the idea, is to be the home of the society, and possibly of an international school of peace, with a staff of lecturers, writers and teachers to help educate the world in the ways of universal peace.

As a means of promoting peace among the nations Mr. Ginn said several years ago he would contribute $50,000 a year for the rest of his life, and had set aside $1,000,000 for the same purpose, to be conveyed in his will.

The heroism of a young engineering apprentice, Wilfred Strawson of London, who volunteered to have two square feet of his skin removed in order to save his sister's life, is being brought to the notice of the Carnegie Hero Fund trustees.

His sister, Rhoda Ellen Strawson, who is employed at the grammar school at Gainsborough, Lincolnshire, fell asleep before the fire, and awoke to find her clothes alight. Practically all her clothing was burned away before assistance came.

It was found at the hospital that the only hope for the girl would be to graft a large quantity of skin from another person on her wounds. A telegram was sent to her brother, and he consented at once to submit himself to the operation.

He suffered intense pain afterwards, but was happy to know that he had saved his sister's life.

"If she only gets well," he said in an interview, "I shall have the knowledge that I have saved her life, and that is something. My pain is nothing if she gets well."

His bravery is made the greater by the fact that he was indisposed owing to an injury to an eye when he volunteered.

Still attached to the school in which she taught for forty-three years, Miss Mary W. French has given $1000 to the Decatur (Ill.) High School as a scholarship fund. The interest is to be paid every year to the two students ranking highest in the four years' course.

"Oh, Pumpkin Pie!"

Oh, pumpkin pie!
Athwart thy face
An hundred fancies may I trace!
I see the glint of summer sun,
And twilight, when the day is done;
The sober peace of musing cows
Who in the meadow grasses browse;
The radiant glory of the morn
That sweeps across the nodding corn.
A thousand happy fancies start
When thou are nestling near my heart!

Oh, pumpkin pie!
I hear the breeze
That whispered in the maple trees;
I see the swaying fields of wheat,
And low across the land at night
I catch that ballad of delight—
The chant the cricket sings in glee,
And summer comes again to me!
Oh, pumpkin pie! Thus dost thou cast
Thy joyous glamor o'er the past!

Oh, pumpkin pie!
Within thy breast
Those gladsome summer fancies rest.
The golden sunshine and the dew
Have paid their tribute through and through;
The song the lark trilled in the air
Within thy form is echoed there;
And all these things of joy to me
Were caught and firmly held by thee.
Oh, pumpkin pie! Thanks, for all thou art!
I welcome thee unto my midst!

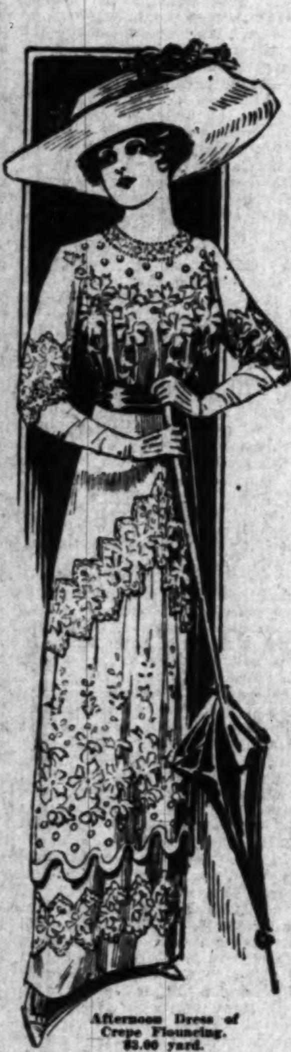
Lace and Embroidery CARNIVAL

—AT—

Lane's
327-29 S. BROADWAY



Afternoon Dress of Crepe Flouncing. $3.00 yard.

Tomorrow we start our third annual Lace and Embroidery Carnival. An event of importance we think to every Los Angeles woman. Especially so this season, as it promises to eclipse all former ones for the popularity of these beautiful fabrics. Dame Fashion has placed the stamp of approval on them for lingerie gowns and waists to a far greater degree than ever before, and as usual Lane's have anticipated your wants far in advance.

This showing will be not only a revelation of vast quantities, not only an exposition of this dainty merchandise, but it offers you an opportunity to buy in full matched sets, at prices that easily demonstrate their extraordinary value.

The laces are particularly pleasing—all the new weaves and patterns. Among them you'll find the new Craquelle, Paraguay and Teneriff laces as well as beautiful flat Venise, Cluny and shadow effects, popular silk-finish—in all widths from narrow bands, 1½ inches wide, at 10c yard, to Allovers and Flouncings, 45 inches wide, at $5.00 yard.

NATURAL DECORATIONS

CALIFORNIA homes seem particularly well-adapted to the introduction of natural effects in the decoration of many of their rooms.

The "out-door life," the "open-house," the inevitable breakfast-room, the sun-room, or, at least, the sunny living-room, all seem to invite a happy blending of the natural with the practical; and the bringing into our in-door home-life of a suggestion of the beauties of nature.

This would be impossible to an equal extent in any climate except one like our own; but with our wonderful advantages of sunshine and scenery, it really seems deplorable to find so many homes here decorated throughout in the severe, formal, stereotyped manner of a colder country.

Certain dignified restrictions are, of course, imperative for the more impressive houses and pretentious rooms; but there are so many of our simpler homes where that "touch of nature that makes the world akin" might be added to our in-door environments with delight and satisfaction.

The exquisite designs existent nowadays in wall papers and tapestries, artistic but inexpensive, leave no excuse for a crude adherence to old and uninteresting methods of decoration.

Let us convince you of the beauty and merit of our suggestions.

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD—END CATARRH

Instant Relief When Nose and Head Are Clogged from a Cold. Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Vanishes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane, which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

The Modellers.

I saw them molding from the mobile clay
Odd figures, each as fancy led or thought;
A face took form; a rose, a leaf were wrought,
And uncouth things that never saw life's day.
With skill diverse, in sober mood or play,
Beneath the fingers' touch, the dead clay caught
The spirit's inner spell; and outward brought
To sight before the eyes the unseen lay:
So each molder of his destiny.
His soul the clay, his deed and thought the touch
That shapes, and shaping, molds in beauty rare
A classic form of charm and mystery,
Or humbler form which dull eyes deem not much,
Yet which in life's great building has a share.
—[Arthur Wallace Peach, in Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Capt. Ruser, one of the best-known sea captains of the transatlantic service, states that not long ago he saw a genuine reptilian object twenty feet in length close alongside his ship, the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

Conrad Freeling, Thomas Gaffney and Frank Aldrich of Nome are traveling 2000 miles—part of the way by dog team—to attend the first session of Alaska's Legislature at Juneau.

Sergt. John M. Walsh, U.S.A., has arrived at Jefferson Barracks on foot after a 7000-mile tramp across the continent and back under orders to test army shoes. The sergeant left New York April 10 and is returning from California. Walsh is wearing the fourth pair of shoes he is officially testing.

James J. Hill, the veteran railroad builder, will be 75 years old next September, but he says he still has about five and a half years' more work laid out, after which he thinks he can find something else to do. He still appears to be in the prime of life.

Antoine Pollak, a Hungarian inventor, has arrived in this country to demonstrate a method of peculiarly rapid transmission of messages over telephone and telegraph wires.

L. C. Woodbury, who has made a fortune by raising silver foxes on his estate at Whitefield, N. H., has twelve acres devoted to pens for his precious colony, and on some of the finest animals he places a value of $50,000 each. He now has twenty-seven silver foxes, and, although they are confined in concrete-and-wire pens, a heavy guard is maintained about the place day and night. Woodbury is said to be the pioneer of this industry in the United States.

A Ready Saleswoman.

[Washington Star:] "An alert resourcefulness is the hallmark of the efficient Christmas salesman or saleswoman," said Jerome S. McWade, in one of his noonday talks to the business men of Duluth.

Mr. McWade, smiling, then added: "That was an efficient saleswoman to whom a man shrieked despairingly from the mob about a Christmas bargain counter:

" 'Help! Help! They've broken my arm!'

" 'Very good, sir,' the saleswoman said promptly. 'Splints and bandages, at greatly reduced prices, are to be found at our emergency counter, seventh floor center, ninth aisle to the left, north side.' "

At the Isthmus.

GREAT GATES IN PANAMA CANAL.

Gatun Lake Is a Dominating Feature.

Covers Hundred and Sixty-four Square Miles.

Over Which Vessels May Use Their Power.

[New York Times:] The Panama Canal does not, as it is generally thought, cross the isthmus from east to west. An official map issued by the government gives the general direction from northwest to southeast, the Pacific entrance near Panama being about twenty-two and a half miles east of the Atlantic entrance near Colon. It is a lake canal as well as a lock canal, its dominating feature being Gatun Lake, a great body of water covering 164 square miles, and occupying the northern half of that portion of the isthmus through which the canal passes. This lake is an elevated body of water, with a surface level maintained at from eighty-five to eighty-seven feet above sea level by the Gatun dam and locks on the Atlantic side, and the Pedro Miguel locks and dam on the Pacific side. The Culebra Cut is really an arm of the lake. On both Atlantic and Pacific sides there is an approach channel, which is an inlet of the sea up to the foot of the locks which lifts vessels to the level of the lake through which they are to pass.

The entire length of the canal from deep water in the Atlantic to deep water in the Pacific is about fifty miles. Its length from shore line to shore line is about forty miles. In passing through it from the Atlantic to the Pacific a vessel will enter the approach channel from Limon Bay which has a bottom width of 500 feet and extends to Gatun, a distance of about seven miles. At Gatun it will enter a series of three locks in flight and will be lifted eighty-five feet to the level of Gatun Lake. It may steam at full speed through this lake in a channel varying from 1000 to 500 feet in width for a distance of about twenty-four miles, to Bas Obispo, where it will enter the Culebra cut. It will pass through the cut a distance of about nine miles, in a channel with a bottom width of 300 feet to Pedro Miguel. There it will enter a lock and be lowered thirty and one-third feet to a small lake, at an elevation of fifty-four and two-thirds feet above sea level, and will pass through this for about a mile and a half to Miraflores. There it will enter two locks in series and be lowered to sea level, passing out into the Pacific through a channel about eight and a half miles in length, with a bottom width of 500 feet. The depth of this approach channel on the Atlantic side will be forty-one feet at mean tide, and on the Pacific side, where the maximum oscillation is twenty-one feet, the depth will be forty-five feet at mean tide. The mean sea level in both oceans is the same.

THE GREAT GATUN DAM.

Throughout the first fifteen miles from Gatun the width of the lake channel will be 1000 feet; then for four miles it will be 800 feet, and for four miles more, to the northern entrance of Culebra cut, at Bas Obispo, it will be 500 feet. The depth will vary from eighty-five to forty-five feet. The water level in the cut will be that of the lake, the depth forty-five feet.

Three hundred feet is the minimum bottom width of the canal. This width begins about half a mile above Pedro Miguel locks and extends about eight miles through Culebra cut, with the exception that at all angles the channel is widened sufficiently to allow a thousand-foot vessel to make the turn.

The Gatun dam, which forms Gatun Lake by impounding the waters of the Chagres and its tributaries, is nearly a mile and a half long, measured on its crest; nearly half a mile wide at its base, about 400 feet wide at the water surface, about 100 feet wide at the top, and its crest will be finished at an elevation of 105 feet above mean sea level or 25 feet above the normal level of the lake. It is in reality a low ridge uniting the high hills on either side of the lower end of the Chagres Valley so as to convert the valley into a huge reservoir. Of the total length of the dam only 500 feet, or one-fifteenth, will be exposed to the maximum water head of eighty-five to eighty-seven feet. The interior of the dam is formed of a natural mixture of sand and clay, dredged by hydraulic process from pits above and below the dam and placed between two large masses of rocks and miscellaneous material obtained from steam shovel excavation at various places along the canal.

The spillway is a concrete lined channel 1200 feet long and 285 feet wide, cut through a rock hill nearly in the center of the dam, the bottom being ten feet above sea level at the up-stream end and sloping to sea level at the toe.

Across the up-stream, or lake opening, of this channel, a concrete dam has been built in the form of an arc of a circle, making its length 808 feet, although it closes a channel with a width of only 285 feet. The crest of the dam will be sixty-nine feet above sea level, or sixteen feet below the normal level of the lake, which is eighty-five feet above sea level. On the top of this dam there will be thirteen concrete piers with their tops 115.5 feet above sea level, and between these there will be mounted regulating gates.

GATES TO REGULATE WATER.

Each gate will be of steel sheathing on a frame work of girders, and will move up and down on roller trains in niches in the piers. They will be equipped with sealing devices to make them water tight. Machines for moving the gates are designed to raise or lower them in approximately ten minutes. The highest level to which it is intended to allow the lake to rise is eighty-seven feet above sea level, and it is probable that this level will be maintained continuously during wet seasons. With the lake at that elevation the regulation gates will permit a discharge of water greater than the maximum discharge of the Chagres River during a flood.

Gatun Lake will impound the waters of a basin comprising 1320 square miles. When the surface of the water is eighty-five feet above sea level the lake will have an area of about 164 square miles, and will contain about 183,000,000,000 cubic feet of water. During eight or nine months of the year the lake will be kept constantly full by the prevailing rains, and, consequently, a surplus will be needed to be stored for the three or four months of the dry season. The water surface of the lake will be maintained during the rainy season at eighty-seven feet above sea level, making the minimum channel depth in the canal forty-seven feet. As navigation can be carried on in about thirty-nine feet of water, there will be stored for the dry season seven feet of water, making due allowance for evaporation, seepage, leakage at the gates, and power consumption, this would be ample for forty-[illegible] passages daily through the locks using them at full length, or about fifty-eight lockages a day when partial length is used, as would be usually the case, and when cross filling from one lock to the other through the central wall is employed. This would be a larger number of lockages than would be possible in a single day. The average number of lockages through the Sault Ste. Marie Canal on the American side was thirty-nine a day in the season of navigation in [illegible] which was about eight months long. The average number of ships passing was about one and a half per lockage. The freight carried was about 26,000,000 tons. The Suez Canal passed about twelve vessels a day with a total tonnage for the same year of 16,582,208.

EMPTYING LOCKS.

There will be six double locks in the canal, three pairs at Gatun, with a combined lift of eighty-five feet; one pair at Pedro Miguel, with a lift of thirty and one-half feet, and two pairs at Miraflores, with a combined lift of fifty-four and two-thirds feet at mean tide. The usable dimensions of all are the same—a length of [illegible] feet and a width of 110 feet. Each lock will be a chamber with walls and floors of concrete, and miter gates at each end.

The highest gates and the highest lock walls on the canal are those of the lower locks at Miraflores, as these locks are the only ones which have no intermediate gates.

The average time in filling and emptying a lock will be about fifteen minutes, without opening the valves so suddenly as to create disturbing currents in the locks or approaches. The time required to pass a vessel through all the locks is estimated at three hours; one hour and a half in the three locks at Gatun and about the same time in the three locks on the Pacific side. The time of passage of a vessel through the entire canal is estimated at ranging from ten to twelve hours, according to the size of the ship, and the rate of speed at which it can travel.

No ship will be allowed to pass through the locks under its own power, but will be towed through by electric locomotives operating on tracks on the lock walls. The system of towing provides for the passage through the locks of a ship at the rate of two miles an hour. The number of locomotives will vary with the size of the vessel. The usual number required will be four, two ahead, one on each wall, imparting motion to the vessel, and two astern, one on each wall to aid in keeping the vessel in a central position and to bring it to rest when entirely within the lock chamber. They will be equipped with a ship drum towing windlass and hawser, which will permit the towing line to be taken in or paid out without actual motion of the locomotive on the track. The locomotives will run on a level except when in passing from one lock to another they climb heavy grades. There will be two systems of tracks, one for towing and the other for the return of the locomotives. The towing tracks will have center racks or cogs throughout, and the locomotives will always operate on this rack when towing. At the incline between the locks the return tracks will also have rack rails, but elsewhere the locomotives will run by friction. The only crossovers between the towing and return tracks will be at each end of the locks, and there will be no switches in the rack track.

A ship to be raised to the lake level will come to a full stop in the forebay of the lower lock and prepare to be towed through one of the duplicate locks by electric towing locomotives. The water in the lower lock chamber will be equalized with the sea level channel, after which the miter gates will be opened, the fender chain lowered, and the vessel passed into the first chamber, where the water is at sea level. Then the miter gates will be closed. The rising steam gate valves at the outlet of the main culverts will be closed, while those above will be opened, allowing water to flow from an upper level into the lower chamber, which when filled will raise the vessel twenty-eight and one-third feet to the second level. This operation will be repeated in the middle and upper locks until the ship has been raised to the full height of eighty-five feet above the level of the sea. At Gatun, in the passing of a large ship through the locks, it will be necessary to lower four fender chains, operate six pairs of miter gates, and force them to miter; open and close eight pairs of rising stem gate valves for the main supply culverts and thirty cylindrical valves.

The Canal Zone contains about [illegible] square miles, about ninety-five of which will be under the waters of the canal and Gatun and Miraflores Lakes. It begins at a point three marine miles from mean low water mark in each ocean, and extends for five miles on each side of the center line of the route of the canal. It includes the group of islands in the Bay of Panama named Perico, Naos, Culebra and Flamenco. The cities of Panama and Colon are excluded from the Zone, but the United States has the right to enforce sanitary ordinances in those cities, and to maintain public order in them in case the Republic of Panama should not be able, in the judgment of the United States, to do so.

Of the 443 miles of zone, territory the United States owns about [illegible] and seventy-three are held in private ownership.

How an Elephant Was Weighed.

[Youth's Companion:] In India they often tell a story of Shahji, a Hindu Prince, who on a certain occasion showed himself almost as clever as Archimedes.

A high official had made a vow that he would distribute to the poor the weight of his own elephant in silver money. But how should he go about it to learn what the weight really was? All the learned and clever men of the court labored in vain to construct a machine of sufficient strength to weigh the elephant.

At length Shahji came forward and suggested a plan that was as simple as it was ingenious. He caused the unwieldy animal to be conducted along a stage specially made for the purpose into a flat-bottomed boat. Then, having marked on the boat the height to which the water reached after the elephant had weighed it down, he had the animal led out and stones substituted in sufficient quantity to sink the boat to the same mark. The stones were then taken to the scales and weighed one by one. Thus, to the admiration of the Court, Shahji discovered the true weight of the elephant.

Startling Secrets of The World's Most Famous Self-Made Beauty

Valeska Suratt, the Most Captivating Actress on the American Stage, the World's Greatest Exponent of Self-Made Beauty, to Unriddle Her Magic Art of Self-Made Loveliness.

Miss Valeska Suratt

VALESKA, the thrilling, the bewitching, wonderful Valeska, before whom thousands have abandoned themselves to the careening joy of an ecstatic half hour to listen to her and look upon her bubbling beauty, is to have a personal heart to heart beauty-chat every Sunday.

A great triumph has been scored in securing from Valeska Suratt herself what she has never before chosen to reveal; for a self-made beauty is Valeska, with a superb charm all of her own industrious making, by means that are new, refreshing, wonderful, deliciously effective.

Valeska Suratt is the new flower on the American stage, not the dolled, kinky wig variety of powder and rouge, which the round moon of the spotlight deceives into a resemblance of beauty, but like a marbled Venus in life, whose features faultless in line and texture can stand the scorching criticism of the sun. It is a maddening beauty, yet not born, but made.

With the lure of Broadway in her veins, that national pathway of wasted hopes, she became a histrionic climber to the top of the world's stage in a fraction of the time in which the ordinary star takes to make the dizzy trip. The emotional ecstasy of her acting carried her hearers into palpitating frenzy, and her name was made—Valeska of "The Whooping Cough," "The Red Rose," and the "Kiss Waltz." She has the reputation of being the most expensively gowned woman on the American stage, but whether it is the elegance of her raiment, or the twenty-karat diamond solitaire, that is the Suratt pride, the diamond ring which is the gift of Duke Boris of Russia, or the string of diamonds that encircles the left Suratt ankle, or the bewildering Suratt hats that magnetize the eye, the beauty of her face and form will be the most lingering of all your impressions.

Miss Suratt is known today as the greatest exponent of the art of self-made beauty. No one rivals her; no one equals her.

The experience and success of Miss Suratt, glorious as it is, demonstrates conclusively what most women have never before realized, that contour, complexion and texture of the skin may be so treated as to become incomparably beautiful in spite of the previous lack of beautiful lines, natural grace and charm.

The haggard, worn look, dull-looking eyes, the faulty poise of the facial muscles, the spotty complexion, the lack of form of bust, neck and shoulders may give way to a radiant fullness, and to the charm of skin texture that people call queenly and beautiful. Every woman, putting Miss Suratt's simple methods into practice, can achieve what she has believed never could happen to her.

These beauty talks will be truly Valeskian, told only as Valeska herself can tell them. She has graciously agreed to retain nothing but to tell everyone of her secrets, and every Sunday will be revealed her magic art of beauty-making.

By Valeska Suratt

WELL, my dear sisters, my first chat will not be about things that you would not do anyhow. It will be about things that are simple; things you can't forget; things that will require but a few moments of your time and which are merely in line with your ordinary toilet which you engage in every day in the year.

I sometimes wonder whether or not I am really the one who has found the real source of beauty-making—it has all come so easily, so quickly, so promptly, almost as at the touch of a fairy wand.

All that I had tried and used before were makeshifts and make-believes. I knew it, because when I would arise in the morning with hair disheveled, with drowsy eyes, and the ruby on my cheek had gone, and the pallor of the morning had come, all the work of the previous day had vanished and another day of struggling for twelve hours of beauty at the dressing-table lay before me. Now the mornings have no terrors for me. The beauty work that I did yesterday, last week, last month, last year, still remains for today, tomorrow and the future. I live in peace and happiness with the beckoning world before me. They receive me with open arms, and I love them.

Today I have picked out several of the most important of my beauty secrets, and I am sure if you will do exactly as I instruct you to do, you will, in the next few weeks, say with me, Eureka! Then your heart will palpitate with mine, and you will know.

Most important to the average woman is how to get rid of those tell-tale signs of age, Father Time's register, wrinkles! I have used the following treatment for several years, after I gave up the old, thread-bare advice that seemed to take an age to produce any result at all. I made up the treatment myself, and had several of my deserving friends use it.

Make up the treatment yourself as follows, obey instructions implicitly, and you will not be disappointed:

In a large bowl pour one-half pint of very hot water, not boiling. Place this bowl in a pan of water on a slow fire. In a few minutes add two ounces of eptol and continue stirring until all is dissolved. At first it will look like jelly, then it will start to cream. When it does this, remove it from the fire and stir constantly until cold. Add slowly two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Then keep it in an air-tight jar. You should be able to get eptol at any good drug store, and it should not cost you more than 50 cents. This will last quite a while.

Apply this cream every morning with the tips of the ten fingers, after you have washed your face thoroughly with warm water and soap. Plaster your face very liberally all over with it, around the eyes, on the forehead, on either side of the mouth, everywhere. After you have applied it, don't merely rub your face all over as though you were handling a baby's skin, but dig right in. Take up the flesh in your fingers and pinch it, squeeze it, roll it. Do this for a few minutes, until the cream disappears. Then apply your complexion powder. Do the same at night. This cream will not grow hair.

I am going to give you next my special secret for bust development. I can positively assure any woman, young or middle-aged that the bust can be developed luxuriantly in a comparatively short time. If this simple formula is faithfully followed, success sure and surprising is bound to result. Electricity, vacuum instruments, etc., are of no value whatever. I tried them out several years ago myself, and know.

In a half-pint of cold water, dissolve a half cup of sugar and two ounces of what is called ruetone. Mix well together. Then pour into a bottle. Of this take two teaspoonfuls three or four times a day in a half glass of water after meals. The ruetone you can get at the drug store for $1.00. This formula is safe, or I would not give it to you, of course. It gives very remarkable results in a few weeks' time.

Falling hair undoubtedly can be stopped at once by the following mixture and the hair be made to grow most luxuriantly. With a half-pint of water mix half a pint of alcohol. To this add one ounce of beta-quinol. Shake thoroughly, and it will then be ready for use. If you prefer, you can use imported bay rum instead of the water and alcohol.

The beta-quinol you can get at almost any drug store for not more than 50 cents. The ordinary prepared hair tonics which you buy in the stores usually cost you $1.00. But this formula makes one full pint of the best hair-grower and it costs you much less than a dollar.

This formula should be applied very freely after brushing the scalp generously for a few minutes all over. Rub the tonic thoroughly into the scalp with the finger tips.

Next Sunday I will give you several more of my beauty secrets.—[Advertisement.]

"One thing is essential—you must use my formulas liberally. If you try to be spare in applying them you rob yourself of their wonderful results."

A REMINISCENCE OF "PARSON" BROWNLOW.

BY MAJ. BEN C. TRUMAN.

Tennessee produced a goodly number of men who stayed courageously and steadfastly by the Union from the commencement of secession agitation until the close of the Civil War, and it raised nearly twenty regiments for the preservation of the Union. Andrew Johnson was the foremost and greatest of all. But Horace Mainard, Congressman from East Tennessee; William B. Stokes from Middle Tennessee, and Emerson Etheridge, from the Memphis district, all remained in their seats and steadfastly for the preservation of the Union. But the greatest and most violent fighter against secession and secessionists, next to Johnson, was William B. Brownlow, better known as "Parson Brownlow," editor of the Knoxville Whig. He was a fighter from head to foot, and could swear harder and oftener than any soldier in the Army of the Cumberland. He was a Virginian by birth (1805) and his father and two uncles were private soldiers of a Tennessee regiment in Gen. Jackson's army. His education, casually obtained in very ordinary county schools, had been imperfect, but as soon as his trade was learned he sought to increase his knowledge by regularly attending a pretentious seminary of learning. He entered the Methodist ministry in 1826 as an itinerant preacher and continued his studies. In 1832 he was chosen by the Holston conference in Philadelphia, and during the same year traveled a circuit in South Carolina and Georgia. He took strong ground against nullification and drew upon himself furious animadversion. At the same period he became engaged with a clergyman of another denomination upon slavery and in a pamphlet said that it would one day shake the government to its foundation.

"I expect," he said, "to see that day and not to be an old man at that. The tariff question now threatens the overthrow of the government, but the slavery question is one to be dreaded. While I shall advocate the owning of black men, women and children, I shall, when the battle comes, stand by my government and the Union formed by our fathers."

Mr. Brownlow began his political career in Tennessee in 1828, by siding with John Quincy Adams against Andrew Jackson. He advocated a strong and concentrated Federal government, and, as an ardent Whig, regarded Clay and Webster as his political standards. In 1837 he became editor of the Knoxville Whig, and from the vigorous and defiant style of his articles obtained the title of the "Fighting Parson." He engaged also in religious controversies and wrote several religious books. In 1858 he held a public debate in Philadelphia upon slavery with the Rev. Abram Payne of New York and defeated the institution. At the outset of the secession movement, in 1860, Mr. Brownlow advocated in his newspaper an unconditional adherence to the Union, as it was the best safeguard of southern institutions. On account of this he suffered much persecution and ceased publishing the Whig in October, 1861. He announced that he would not again print the newspaper until the State had become cleared of rebels, and avowed his determination never to take the oath of allegiance to the Confederacy.

"I shall go to jail," said he, "for my principles. I shall go because I have failed to recognize the hand of God in breaking up the American government, and the inauguration of the most wicked, cruel, unnatural and uncalled-for war ever recorded in history."

He was taken by friends to a place of concealment in the mountains of Tennessee, but was induced to appear at the Confederate military headquarters in Knoxville under promise of a safe escort to the Union lines. Upon his arrival there in December, 1861, he was arrested on a civil process for treason and thrown into jail. After a month's confinement he was released, but was immediately rearrested upon military authority and kept under guard in his own house until during the summer of 1862, when he came through the lines into Nashville, and it was my good fortune to escort the old loyalist into the presence of Andrew Johnson, then military Governor of Ten[illegible] shake hands for the good of the Union and speak for the first time [illegible], and see the two old enemies for many years. Shortly afterward the Parson lectured or made speeches upon the war in various cities in the North and wrote his autobiography, which became known as "Parson Brownlow's Book," which had an extensive sale. In September, 1863, he returned to Knoxville, which was then under Union sway, and again printed his newspaper, which lasted for a long time. In 1864, when Johnson had almost reconstructed Tennessee, he planned to have Brownlow elected Governor (and he was reelected in 1867.) He showed excellent executive ability, great honesty and firmness and was thought to be one of the best Governors the State had ever had. He was elected by the legislature to the United States Senate for the term beginning March 4, 1869, and at the expiration of the six years returned to the editorship of his journal.

Parson Brownlow was six feet in height, but of a spare, stooping figure. His face was dark and smooth and his intensely black hair was but silvered to the last. His aspect was grave and he laughed seldom. He prided himself upon never having played a card, taken a dram of liquor except for medicinal purposes, smoked a cigar or chewed. He never attended a theater or a horse race, and never courted but one woman, and she he married and had several children. Before leaving the Senate although Johnson had planned his Governorship, the old Parson again became bitter against the President (because he thought Johnson was too lenient toward those who had been in rebellion,) and voted for his impeachment.

There had never been in the South more bitter enemies than William G. Brownlow and Andrew Johnson—the one a resident of Knoxville and the other of Greenville, East Tennessee—the one a pro-slavery Whig and the other a pro-slavery Democrat. The proverbial detestation of uncontaminated water by his Satanic Majesty may possibly illustrate somewhat inadequately the tremendous hatred of Johnson by Brownlow, and which was in a measure returned, except that the editor of the Knoxville Whig used a club, so to speak, and the Greeneville tailor the knife. In other words, Brownlow was coarse and profane and Johnson polished and severe—at least, in comparison. Only a few weeks before the commencement of the secession movement Brownlow, while addressing a political meeting in East Tennessee, alluded to Johnson in his usual complimentary way, and wishing to brand his noble adversary with superlative stinginess, concluded by saying:

"Why, this man Andy Johnson would walk across the river which leads to hell on a rotten rail for a sixpence, and if the Angel Gabriel should come from heaven and offer him his soul's salvation for a sixpence he would hunt out one with a hole in it with which to close the bargain."

But the two men were true to the flag and to their country, and upon the occasion referred to I escorted Brownlow up the steps of the State Capitol of Tennessee and into the presence of Johnson—then Military Governor of Tennessee and brigadier-general of volunteers—and the two patriots met cordially and fraternally, for the first time in many years, and clasped hands across the bloody chasm that was then being made broader and deeper daily through the fury of civil strife. As a result of this meeting Johnson planned for the immediate reconstruction of Tennessee and obtained Federal permission for the resumption of its place in the Union; he then brought about the elevation of Brownlow as its Governor, as I have previously stated, had his son-in-law Patterson and his friend Fowler elected United States Senators, and sent Brownlow to Baltimore to see to it that he (Johnson) should be placed upon the ticket with Mr. Lincoln by the National Republican Convention of 1864, which was as neatly carried out as conceived. (And right here I may say that when Dan Sickles visited Tennessee, ostensibly to participate in the Atlanta campaign, early in 1864, I became aware that he really came from the White House to quietly inquire into Johnson's habits and qualifications, and to see if he was fitted for the second place on the national ticket with Mr. Lincoln, and learned afterwards that Sickles reported to Lincoln, who naturally favored Johnson, that the distinguished loyalist was the right man.) Upon the policy of reconstruction and rehabilitation these men (Brownlow and Johnson) again entered upon scenes of political discord with each other, which lasted as long as they lived, although neither again publicly indulged in personal vituperation of the other.

I saw a good deal of Parson Brownlow for some months after his arrival in Nashville at the time above mentioned, and found him to be one of the kindest, truest, best and most temperate of men at times. But he could occasionally scatter gems of profanity like shells upon a strand. He could erect pyramids of oaths that might reach to the mountain tops. He was the John L. Sullivan of swearers, and could knock out the whole Flanders contingent in a single round. He was indeed the sovereign of the realm of epithets and once said to me, "If there is anything that I pride myself on it is my ability to heap epithet upon epithet."

Parson Brownlow was not only a fighting editor and fighting minister, but he gave two fighting boys to the Union Army, his son James having been in at least 100 battles and foraging fights and skirmishes during the rebellion, for the most part in Middle and East Tennessee. I became very well acquainted with him in Nashville, especially after he had been wounded—he having been shot straight through both legs—and our acquaintance lasted many years. None of the Brownlows (male or female) favored any means of conciliation except that which should have its formulation in hemp—in other words, they all believed in the hanging of the so-called leaders of the rebellion who were living at its close.

Brownlow and his two sons proclaimed themselves Republicans immediately after the firing on Sumter. James died shortly after the close of the war and his brother died about a year ago, after having served a number of terms in Congress from East Tennessee. Brownlow had a grown daughter, who made it very warm for the Secessionists in Knoxville in 1861-2. She was arrested once by the noted rebel general, John Morgan, and kept in durance vile for quite a while. When Horace Greeley went on the bail bond of Jefferson Davis, Brownlow remarked: "I always thought Greeley was a damned fool, now I know he is. He and Davis ought to be hitched together and driven to hell by the devil and turned over to Judas Iscariot."

EACH HAD HIS PRICE.

Innocent Witnesses Who Failed to Get the Usual Fee for Services for a Railroad.

[Indianapolis News:] Chief Clerk Caldwell of the State Bureau of Inspection was at one time a district claim agent for one of the railroads of the State. He was sent out to inspect a cattle guard where a cow had been killed. The owner said the cow had crossed the guard and was killed on the railroad right of way, while the engineer of the train that killed the animal said the accident had occurred on the highway crossing.

"I took with me from a station near by a blacksmith and a farmer as witnesses," said Caldwell, "expecting to pay them $2 each for their time and trouble, the customary price. It took us half an hour to make our inspection, and when we returned to the village, I asked the blacksmith what I should pay him.

" 'Well,' he said, 'I value my time in my shop at 30 cents an hour, and I have been gone half an hour. You owe me 15 cents.'

"The farmer looked at the blacksmith in contempt.

" 'You ain't goin' to get off with me so easy as that,' he declared. 'Taint often us farmers git a chance to git even with a railroad, an' they're always browbeatin' us. No, you can't settle with me for 15 cents.'

"Then how much do you want?" I asked, wondering what kind of a Tartar I had caught.

" 'Well, you gotta pay me what I want or I don't go to no court.'

"I told him I was perfectly willing to pay his price if it was within reason, and asked him again to name it.

" 'By gosh, you owe me a quarter an' won't take a durn cent less,' was the ultimatum.

"I gave each of them a quarter and figured I had saved the railroad $3.50."

INVOLUNTARILY WEDDED.

Peculiar Predicament of a New Indian Agent Whose Curiosity Cost Him Fourteen Ponies.

[Youth's Companion:] On the old Rosebud Indian Reservation, in South Dakota, they still laugh over the peculiar predicament into which a new Indian agent once got himself.

The agent, an unqualified "tenderfoot," was inspecting an Indian school. Noticing that as soon as he entered the room every girl present brought her hair forward over her face he asked the teacher to tell them to throw it back so that he might see their faces. But this they refused to do, until after much urging, one girl did finally uncover her face.

After school was over the agent wondered at the strange actions of the girl who had shown him her face. She followed him to his house, entered after him and set about getting his dinner. As he spoke no Sioux and she no English he could get no explanation from her.

Finally, to his relief, the teacher rode up. Shaking with laughter, he asked the agent how he liked his new wife. Then the latter understood what he had done. In certain tribes of the Sioux Indians all a man need do in order to get a wife is to induce a girl to uncover her face. The agent had proposed in the usual way—and been accepted.

In vain did the agent plead that he already had a wife in the East; there was only one way to get out of it. It cost him the equivalent of fourteen ponies to persuade the Indian girl's father to take her back again.

AHEAD OF METCHINKOFF.

The Sour Milk Cure Is Mentioned in the Old Testament, and Byzantines Used It Curdled.

[Medical Journal:] Literary research has revealed that Prof. Elie Metchnikoff of Paris was not the first advocate of sour milk as a cure for many ills. He has never said he was.

"In a very interesting article on the origin of oriental curdled milk, Dr. N. Moissides of Constantinople, in Janus of July, speaks also of the mention of sour milk in the Old Testament, which Metchnikoff used to fortify his statement that the use of sour milk is one of the great secrets of prolonging life. Dr. Moissides remarks that Metchnikoff has followed the translation of Ebstein on medicine in the Old Testament, but with this translation our author disagrees, for the Septuagint, as well as Ostervald, used the word butter instead of sour milk. Of much more importance than sour milk during the Graeco-Roman and Byzantine times was curdled milk, oxygala, a word mentioned by many old writers, such as Strabo, Plutarch, the elder Pliny, Paul of Egina, and many others, down to Ptochoprodromos, a Byzantine poet of the twelfth century.

"The word of the old Greeks is still used in Greece, Cyprus and Turkey by modern Greek authors, while the Turkish word in Yagourte, derived from the verb Yagourmak, signifying fermented."

White Men in the Tropics.

[Harper's Weekly:] White governments encourage emigration to their vacant territories. At the same time, they wish to people these dependencies with colonists of their own race and fear encroachment from a colored one. In some places the bogeyman is yellow, while in others he is the negro. North Australia, where the mean temperature is tropical and the annual rainfall, as in Florida, contains only 24,000 inhabitants, 20,000 of whom are natives.

The problem of the white man's adaptability to tropical conditions is in a way skin deep, since it depends on his ability to withstand tropical sunlight, and this makes, the yellow man a formidable competitor. All races, inclusive of the blond, retain in the cells of their skins traces of the brown pigments of primitive man, which in races other than the white appear more noticeably in the hair and eyes. No race whose skin is incapable of resistance to sunlight can survive in a tropical climate.

"Sleeps Like a Mouse."

[Ave Maria:] We all use the expression "Sleeps like a top," but few know from what the term arose. It is a proverb of Italy. The Italian word topo means a mouse, and the proverb is "El dorme como un topo," or "He sleeps like a mouse."

Second Bigger Week

of J. J. Haggarty's Sale of Entire

HOSKING & GRAY STOCK

In spite of the rain, during the first of last week, hundreds of women came to the Sale, and hundreds of women obtained bargains the like of which they had never seen before. For a Haggarty Sale means more than just words. It means the highest quality of merchandise, the best style, sacrificed for merely a fraction of its real worth. And so, though we had intended to stop the sale this week, we shall, on account of the inclement weather which kept so many eager purchasers indoors, permit it to continue for another week. And furthermore, we shall make every effort to have the bargains of the second week far outshine those offered during the start of the sale.

You Know What a "Haggarty Sale" Means

NEW COATS, SUITS, DRESSES

==For Misses as well as Women

SPRING styles are here in all their glory! Every train from New York for the past week has brought us dozens of charming, clever, unusual garments until our Third Floor Women's Department has hundreds of styles represented in its spacious, well-lighted showrooms. Not many of each style, but a great variety; and every one is made so carefully and well that you'll admire it the moment you see it.

Concerning Coats

Coats are a specialty of ours—and we've lived up to our reputation with our new showing. The latest styles are here in profusion. Eponges (lined or faced with bright silk,) checks or plaids treated the same way, silks, covert cloth, and others. Navies, Copen Blue and Mixtures as well. They're at almost every price from $20 up.

About the Suits

"Designing with a touch of genius," might describe the work of the artists who planned the Spring suits we're now showing. They're stylish without being extreme; clever and yet always in good taste. Eponges, soft serges and wool poplins are among the popular fabrics. Bedfords, worsteds, etc., are here in many styles. Priced $25, $29.50, $35, etc. Some charming silk suits in every color, at higher prices.

The New Dresses Are—

both in wool and silk, and decidedly pretty. The wool dresses have bright colored collar and cuffs, the new draped skirt, etc., being in serges, navy, tan and black, and checks of every sort. Priced $15 to $25. Silks in Charmeuse and Crepe, at prices ranging upward from $22.50.

Short Coats For Misses

The new short coats in vivid colorings—red, green, blue, tan, etc., in serges, eponges and wool. They're the season's cleverest novelty; called the Bulgarian.

NATURE STORIES.

Cat Goes Back Sixty Miles.

[New York Herald:] That cats come back Robert Robinson, an engine driver on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, can affirm.

There has been a cat in the Robinson household classed as "undesirable." When Robinson's wife insisted that it be done away with Robinson "bagged" the cat and took it with him on his run last night.

As he was passing over a stream sixty miles from this city he hurled the bag into the water. The string broke and the cat came ashore, making its way to a railroad watchman's shanty near by. He put the homeless cat into an empty coal car in a freight train, which brought it into McKee's Rocks.

When Robinson arrived home this morning he found the cat under the stove and his wife sarcastic.

Dog Steals for a Pit Nag.

[Philadelphia Record:] Finding that the corn was being consumed with greater rapidity than usual at No. 6 Fire Station, Fire Chief Alleman of Altoona, Pa., accused the driver of overfeeding his team. But the driver denied it.

The corn continued to disappear, and several cobs were found each day in the stall of a certain horse. A watch was set, and it was discovered that Buster, a dog mascot, was carrying corn, an ear at a time, to the nag. The grain was then placed under lock and key.

Cow Adopts Pigs.

[Lincoln (Neb.) Journal:] When one cow of the fine herd of his farm near Pottstown, Pa., apparently failed to give any more milk several days ago, John Keyser of Norristown was mystified and went to the farm to investigate the cause. Going to the yard near the barn he discovered the cow nursing two little pigs, and when he made an effort to drive them away the boar turned on him to make an attack. Mr. Keyser had noticed that the two pigs were thriving rapidly of late.

Cat Dies for Her Young.

[New York Times:] An instance of a cat's devotion to her kittens is reported in the Brussels Patriote from Viel-Salm in the Ardennes Mountains.

Three kittens were trapped in a burning house. The mother went to the first floor, took up one of the kittens with her mouth, and carried it outside to a place of safety. She returned and fetched a second kitten and then went for the third, though the staircase had begun to burn. The flames spread, so the cat, still holding the kitten, went to a window and jumped to the street below. She was picked up with her back broken and her fur all scorched and died soon afterwards.

Tame Trout Bites a Man.

[New York Tribune:] Col. Harry C. Trexler, quartermaster-general of Pennsylvania and president of the board of trustees of the State Insane Asylum, is nursing a sore finger as the result of being bitten by a tame trout.

At his home, where he maintains a tiny trout stream, the colonel was teasing the biggest trout by dangling a large, juicy worm over the water. Finally, as he lowered the worm, the fish shot out of the water and seized both the worm and the colonel's finger. Col. Trexler had the wound cauterized.

CRANKS.

A prodigy, who has not missed Sunday-school in twenty years and has missed preaching service only once in all that time, is the phenomenon of the Third Baptist Church—Miss Sallie E. Holtzinger of St. Louis, Mo.

Ralph Gondor, a student at Lebanon Valley College, Pennsylvania, is paying his way and has started a bank account by setting up a barber chair, which he has placed in his room and is running in competition with the town barbers. Prices in his room are just one-half those charged in town, and one shop has already been forced to close.

In a wedding ceremony at the Holy Rosary Catholic Church of Reading, Pa., the bridegroom, Giovanni Pace, organist of the church, played his own wedding march while the rest of the bridal party entered the church and advanced to the altar. At the con sion of the march the bridegroom ceeded to the chan el rail and me bride.

Postmaster Barnett and his as ant, Miss Grace Mangrum, of Ow ville, Ind., have grown tired of ing stamps for the public, and hereafter insist that every one lick and affix the stamps to their letters.

James Bowley of Carey, O., recently died at the age of 80 bequeathed his chair, crutches canes to the town as trustee loaned to whoever needs them. with $21 was all that he had le a once large fortune. The money bequeathed to the church to be for his funeral expenses.

Sempre Giovine

Pronounced Sempray Jo-ve-nay—
Meaning: Always Young.

Sempre Giovine (meaning "Always Young") is justly called the Queen of Beautifiers and referred to as "The Little Pink Cake for Complexion's Sake."

The continual daily changing of the make-up among theatrical people is very injurious to the skin; consequently they highly appreciate an article that overcomes the evil effects of this make up and restores the skin to its natural and youthful appearance.

The care of their complexion is a deep study with them, and the hundreds of testimonials they are voluntarily sending us is a proof of their constant use of Sempre Giovine.

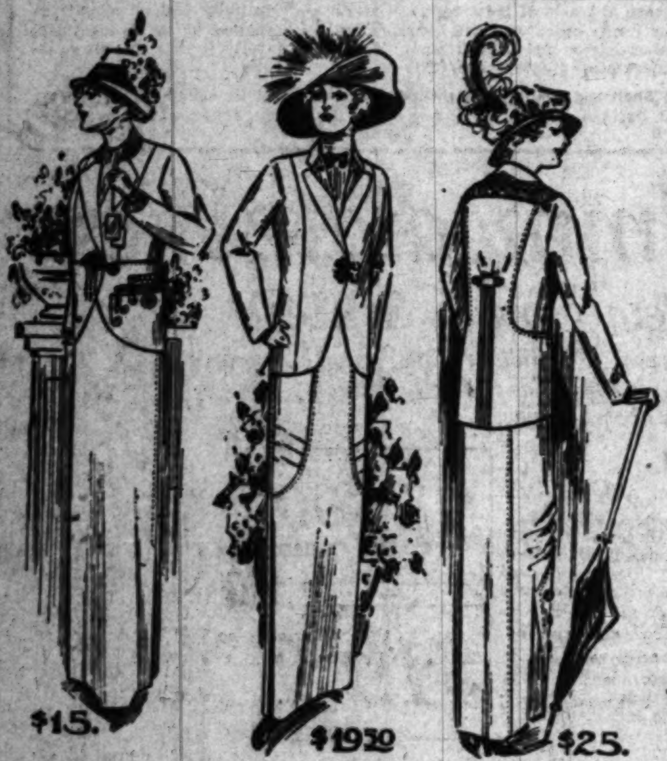
Wonderful New Spring Suits at $15.00—

As Well as $19.50 & $25



—The women of Los Angeles are fast learning the importance of this Garment section.

—If we were to tell you the number of spring suits sold already, you'd hardly believe it, and yet it's not surprising to us when you consider the fact that we have had practically nothing but "1913" suits to show for the past six weeks. And in addition to this, we put such emphasis on the values at $15, at $19.50 and at $25.

—We know that search where you will, you will find no better garments at these prices. We make it a special point to emphasize the values at these prices—and by value we mean the height of style, the best of finish, worthy materials, in other words, suits that any woman would be proud to possess and we proud to sell because it means winning your friendship.

—Nearly every day sees new garments arrive and nearly every day convinces us more that these suits at $15, $19.50 and $25 are really remarkable.

—Suits of mannish and French serge, Bedford cord, diagonal, poplin, shepherd checks and mixtures. Plain tailored styles and novelties.

Three Garments Pictured

THE SUIT AT $15—is of an all-wool serge with fancy collar and cuffs of moire. Note the new belt line effect. Coat is lined with peau de cygne. Suit fitted with shields and weights. Back of skirt has new tucked belt effect. Surprising value.

THE SUIT AT $19.50—is one of many at this price. This is a well tailored, fine serge garment in tan or light gray. Two-button effect with detachable white pique vestee. Back of coat trimmed with small pearl buttons. Three tucks on either side of skirt give the draped effect. We consider this an exceptional value and priced under its real worth at $19.50.

THE SUIT AT $25—is of smart mannish serge. Two-button style with detachable collar of fine batiste. The back of this garment is very striking. From the waist line down there are 7 rows of tucks and the skirt made to match. A very effective, practical garment that is really under priced at $25.

More of That 54 and 56-Inch Suiting $1.19

That Ordinarily Brings $1.50 to $2 yd.

—This splendid suiting measures 54 and 56 inches wide.

—Serges, whipcords and striped suitings.

—There is a big variety of navy, black as well as cream serges that are certainly exceptional at $1.75. $1.19 is an economy price. Aisle 4.

New Spring Suitings 59c

—These measure 42 inches wide. Even stripes and mixtures, gray and black, Royal and black, wistaria and black, brown and black and rose and black.

—Materials that were made to sell at a great deal more, specially bought and specially marked at 59c.

56-In. Novelty Suiting $1

—You'll want this new material for spring dresses. Pretty gray and tan mixtures as well as hairline striped effects. 56 inches wide. Priced $1 yard.

$1 Silk Serge Lining 65c Yd.

—36-in. silk serge lining, rich for coat lining. Not as heavy as cotton back satin, therefore more desirable.

—Prevailing colors for spring as well as cream and black. Usual price is $1. Our feature at 65c.

Sale of Hosiery Seconds For Women, Pair, 25c

—These are seconds of a much higher priced line of lisle, made with high spliced heel and double sole, good garter welts.

—25c is an exceptionally low price for hosiery that will give such splendid service.

50c Silk Boot Stockings at 29c

—These are in black, tan or white. They're marked regularly 50c, while the quantity lasts you can buy them at 29c.

—Made with high spliced heel and toe, double sole, deep garter welts. Tans mostly. Good assortment of sizes. Aisle 8.

Imported Silk Lisle Stockings 19c Pair

—This hosiery was made to sell at 50c. They are polka dot patterns on various colored grounds, no black. 100 dozen in the lot, 19c pair.

45-In. White Voile 25c Yard

—Just in time to be featured in this announcement, comes this special purchase of beautiful new white voile for summer dresses. A fine quality and an extreme width 45-inch.

—How long do you suppose this material will last at such a price. Come early, Third Floor.

Come See How to Dress Your Baby Without Pins or Buttons

NOW you need never let your little ones be tortured with pins or annoyed with buttons in undergarments again. For here is the new and far better fastening—the wonderful Twistless Tape.

Special Demonstration

We will show you this secret of safe, comfortable dressing for baby. Our obstetrical nurse, in charge of this special demonstration, will explain to you how this new twistless tape makes a practical, secure—yet simple and easy fastening which you can tie or untie with just a touch of the fingers. This Twistless Tape never curls, twists or kinks—does not get stringy in washing—but always stays flat, smooth and soft.

And now you can dress and undress your baby without turning it over even once. All the twistless tape fastenings are in front. Physicians and nurses recommend this correct, scientific way to dress baby.

Demonstration now in progress—

BY A PRINCESS OF THE REALM.

LIFE IN THE SENSUOUS "LAND OF THE AFTERNOON."

Time was when the Lenten wedding was entirely barred by religious superstition, and ominous indeed were the prophecies anent those daring to ignore the warning.

But three fashionable weddings have taken place in our community this last week, charming spring-time affairs that gave promise of naught but happiness. Both Miss Fanny Rowan and Miss Olive Trask braved the old dictum without a qualm. Truly your modern maid is practical to a degree and has small respect for tradition.

We were talking things over round the fire at the Country Club on that lovely wet day when the farmers rejoiced for their crops and the golfers rejoiced for their links. There is a wonderful exhilaration about the rains in California, their rarity doubtless imbuing them with a fascination unknown in damper climates.

Somehow we are never quite prepared for rain. Our clothes and equipages are wholly designed with a view to sunshine and warmth. So it generally happens that our wet days are reserved for fireside gossip and the long postponed sewing and letter-writing which we find it so hard to settle down to when the sunshine calls without.

And those huge fireplaces at the country clubs are a sure rendezvous. How we gossip! The wedding theme was uppermost this time, because most of the matrons present had been shocked by the various floutings of tradition.

Those yellow weddings, for instance! Both Ellen Bent and Fanny Rowan selected yellow for their wedding decorations—yellow that has symbolized jealously and cowardice through the ages!

And how practical are our modern brides! One little lady whose wedding was a recent affair, planned every last detail herself. Selected the music and ordained that "Believe me if all those endearing young charms" should be played at the exact moment of the lifting of her veil by the officiating priest! Explained in what order she desired to accept her bridal kisses, and insisted upon hot water bottles and extra blankets being packed in her trunk in case the country hotel where they would make their first stop was insufficiently provided with modern comforts!

In fact, science and system have invaded ever our weddings. Sentiment and romance are carefully organized and allowed for, and restricted to their proper departments. We cut out any parts of the marriage service which fail to entirely meet with our approval, and make over our vows to suit our particular temperaments.

Your modern maid acts upon the assumption that Knowledge is Power and proceeds to conduct her own affairs with a thoroughness that makes the bridegroom appear more superfluous than ever.

Really under modern conditions he is a mere walking-stick. He could be entirely dispensed with and hardly missed. Often he is frankly the "comic relief" in the drama, a detail inserted to please one section of the public taste. The most essential appurtenances of a wedding are bride and bridesmaids, church decorations, wedding presents, pre-nuptial social entertainments for the bride, and the trousseau.

For two months prior to the wedding the trousseau and the showers, the complimentary receptions for the bride, and the preliminary details for the event itself occupy every minute of the time. The sending of the invitations and the tabulating of the presents, the visits to the dressmaker and the rehearsal of all the sentimental, dramatic details receive the fullest personal attention from the bride. If anything, the prospective bridegroom is a bit of a nuisance and would be well advised to take a short holiday out of town.

But I believe a reaction against this organized, highly specialized wedding has set in. The thing was becoming altogether too theatrical and a simpler mode will surely soon be regarded as in better taste. With the advent of domestic science for society dames a saner era should be at hand.

And then we talked of President-elect Wilson's social austerity and his snub to the Chevy Chase Country Club of New York. One cannot but feel that Mr. Wilson is deliberately strewing his path with thorns. The courtesy of an honary membership to Chevy Chase has been a tradition with Presidents and Vice-Presidents since the club was founded. Therefore had they not offered Mr. Wilson the honarary membership they would certainly have appeared as slighting him, since his predecessors for many terms have enjoyed that privilege. Yet their courtesy, which involved no possible obligation upon the President in any way, has been brusquely flouted.

It would seem that the President-elect is confusing democracy with rudeness as so many lesser minds have done. It is an insult to the "plain people" to assume that he is emulating them by exhibiting mere bearish, gratuitous, arrogant incivility.

The social event of next month will be the opening of the new Midwick Country Club at Romona. It will be recalled that this club was founded nearly two years ago, with John S. Cravens, E. S. Armstrong, J. V. Eliot, Harry Robinson, Richard Neustadt, etc., as sponsers.

The clubhouse is charming and luxurious of design, but the great feature of the new club will be the grass golf links, five miles of course in turf, which, needless to say, will be an expensive but delightful luxury in California. Polo and tennis will also receive proper recognition and the former promises to create a social atmosphere of gaiety which no other game seems quite able to radiate.

Three Young Maids,

Who will dance in the Terpsichore's Carnival to be given at the Au in April for the benefit of the McKinley Industrial Home for Boys

[Photo by Matzene.]

In Social Circles, Squares and Triangles.

THE WEEK.

PARTIES, RECEPTIONS, DINNERS, WEDDINGS AND THE LIKE.

A RIVAL has sprung up for "Jappyland," which was presented last May at the Auditorium by 400 young society buds of this city for the benefit of the McKinley Industrial Home for Boys, and the several thousand interested witnesses of last year's sweet and tuneful opera will be even more profuse in their praise of the Terpsichorean Carnival, which will be seen at the same auditorium the 3rd, 4th and 5th of April.

Edward H. Coates, under whose direction the extravaganza was presented is responsible for the new entertainment and the same worthy cause will benefit by the proceeds.

Interest centers today on the liberal offer made by C. A. Canfield to duplicate dollar for dollar the receipts for every ticket or programme sold, which means just double that amount for the McKinley Home.

There will be two distinct operas—"A Night in Bohemia" and "A Night in Japan," the costumes and other special effects will eclipse in splendor any big performance ever staged in this city. Society has signified its intention of being present and each night the clever young amateurs will play to a crowded house.

"A Night in Japan" opens with a chorus of sixty Geisha girls wandering in the gardens adjoining the Emperor's Palace singing the grand operatic ensemble, "The Dawning Day," when the Emperor appears and welcomes Yen-How and his sixty little wives from the Chinese empire.

"A Night in Bohemia" is equally interesting and many clever numbers between acts will please the listeners. One of the most interesting will be the Yama girls who will be led by Miss Georgia Off, assisted by the Misses Irene Teetzel, Harriet Mail, Ione Thompson, Mary Newbert, Mary Patterson, Margaret Bache, Carolyn Bache and Elsie McMillan.

Marriage Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. John Getz of Glendale formally announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lillie Getz, to A. Cornwell, a merchant of Glendale. The ceremony occurred at the home, only immediate relatives and friends witnessing it. A profusion of pink and white carnations adorned the home. The young couple are passing their honeymoon in San Diego and will be at home to their friends after March 15 in their new bungalow in Glendale.

—o—

Costume Dancing Party.

Mrs. Joseph Goldsmith entertained with a dancing party Saturday evening at her home, No. 409 West Twenty-first street. The guests all came dressed as school children, and children's games were played. The ballroom was converted for the occasion into a bower of beauty by the use of American flags and red, white and blue bunting. In the dining-room, where refreshments were served cafeteria style following the dance, violets and acacia were used in an artistic decorative scheme.

Included were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jay, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Neubauer, Mr. and Mrs. William Saurett, Mr. and Mrs. N. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. —o—

Bride-elect Complimented.

Miss Marjorie Lowe, who has chosen April for her wedding to Lynn Darrow, was the complimented guest at a luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. F. J. Knight at her home in Elliott place. A mound of violets adorned the table and violet cards marked covers for Miss Marjorie Lowe, Miss Edna Lowe, Miss Elizabeth Lowe, Miss Amy Morrell, Miss Leah Phillips, Miss Florence Parmelee, Mrs. John Lowe and Miss Adah Wickersham. Following luncheon the guests made roses of chiffon and ribbon for the bride-elect.

—o—

Sorority Reception.

The Delta Delta Alumni Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega entertained the members of the Epsilon active chapter and their rushees with a reception Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Brown, No. 2031 Seventh avenue. The sorority colors—red and green—were carried out in decorating by the use of red carnations and ferns, these flowers ornamenting the table, where Mrs. E. Fellows poured tea. The hostesses presented a musical programme during the reception hours of 3 to 6, and forty guests were entertained.

Persian Tea.

Miss Harriett Gage entertained the members of the Occidental Women's Club with a Persian tea, served by native girls in their native costumes, yesterday afternoon. The tea was made in a copper samovar and served in glasses, with the filigree spoons. Dr. Coan, a missionary from Persia, sang some of their native songs and gave an address on "Persian Hospitality." Assisting the hostess were Miss Margaret Shedd, Miss Bertha Wilbur, Miss Edna Wilbur, Miss Myrtie Bubach, Miss Pearl Wiggins, Miss Byrd Rice, Miss Luella Rice and Mrs. Leffler. Acacia was used in a graceful decoration throughout the rooms, and an interesting feature of the afternoon was an exhibition of Persian curios.

—o—

For Mrs. C. S. Peyton.

Mrs. C. S. Peyton of Charleston, W. Va., has been entertained royally the past week. Mrs. Erasmus Wilson of Chester place entertained Wednesday in her honor with a luncheon of sixteen covers, and pink camelias were used as a centerpiece. Covers were laid for Mrs. Peyton, Mrs. C. Q. This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes a pint of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

How to Brown Hair Without Detection

Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Tint Hair Stain Can Be Applied in a Few Minutes Every Month.

There is a way of staining gray, faded or bleached hair any shade desired, from a beautiful rich brown to almost black, so that it is difficult, if not impossible, for even experts to detect that the hair has been treated in any way.

This preparation has the tremendous advantage over hair dyes of containing no silver, sulphur, lead or other poisons which invariably cause hair-falling. It has no odor, no oil, no sediment and no grease, and does not rub off on the clothing. It makes the hair grow out fluffy and luxuriant.

A liberal amount as a laboratory trial package of this Walnut-Tint Hair Stain, together with a booklet on hair, is sent by Mrs. Potter's Hygienic Supply Co., 1745 Groton Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio, in plain, sealed wrapper, if you will send 25 cents in stamps or coin, and if it is desired to continue the treatment, full-sized packages may be obtained at drug or department stores for $1.00 a package.

It is applied in a few moments with the comb, and it stains the hair evenly, from tip to root. It produces any shade desired, from a beautiful, rich brown, to almost black.

One bottle of this Walnut-Tint Hair Stain can last a year.—[Advertisement.

"Style hath her victories no less renowned than war"

¶ All is fish that comes to Fashion's net. Even war is made to serve the ends of style. Paris, with her eye on the bickering Balkans, sees only the odd and bizarre beauty of a costume that is a sort of silver lining to the cannonading and the carnage when Cross and Crescent meet. In a conflict of creeds, she has remembered that beauty is before and above all creeds. The cannon of war cannot silence the canons of art, and in this instance they have served only to unfold to Paris the beauties in the national dress of the Balkan peoples.

¶ The Balkan Blouse Suit is long waisted and short skirted. Dainty white collars are embroidered in odd Bulgarian colorings. The belt at waist, the sleeves and the skirt are effectively trimmed with raised hand-made satin embroidery. The Bulgarian ball buttons on the coat and for a brief interval on the skirt are in the oddest of colorings. And the newest, oddest, cleverest feature of all is a colored sash effect in the coat lining, improvised by the introduction of two narrow bands and one wide band of contrasting silk at the waist line.

¶ These Balkan Blouse Suits are made in all the fashionable materials for Spring, in plain black and white, in Copenhagen blue, tan, brown, copper, taupe, broken checks, white with black and navy with white stripes. And there is that excellence in workmanship and finish which indicates at a glance the quality of the tailoring. These suits have been made under our rigid supervision and they are not only beautiful in originality of design, but they are attractive from the viewpoint of fine tailoring alone.

Over-Night Relief for Constipation.

A Small Dose on Retiring and You Are Well and Happy by Morning.

It is only natural that the simplest of ailments should be the most general, and so we have a whole nation suffering from constipation and indigestion, for they are closely allied. But common as constipation is many people do not seem to know they have it. They will complain of headache, drowsiness or billiousness, all unconscious of the cause of the trouble.

You should have a full and free movement at least once a day. If you pass a day you are constipated, and the result will be that you will catch a cold easily or have a more serious ailment. To cure the constipation and forestall still graver trouble take a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night before retiring and by morning relief will come, without disturbance from sleep or any inconvenience.

Legions of people use it regularly in such emergencies, some of them formerly chronic invalids who have suffered from constipation all their lives. Mr. A. B. Danner, 326 Riley street, Harrisburg, Pa., says: "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gave me almost instant relief from stomach and bowel trouble. I now eat anything I want and sleep well." Many others will tell you that they have tried most things recommended for this purpose but have found Syrup Pepsin the only one always reliable. A bottle can be obtained at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by families already familiar with its merits.

MR. A. B. DANNER

Syrup Pepsin is mild, pleasant-tasting and non-griping. Mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet it is effective in grownups. It is for everyone who suffers from any form of stomach, liver or bowel trouble, constipation, dyspepsia, billiousness, etc. Its action will so delight you that you will forever avoid harsh cathartics, purgatives, pills and salts.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address — a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Wyman, Miss Gertrude Wyman, Mr. and Mrs. George Dilfer, Otto Mathie, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Christopher and Mr. and Mrs. John Deitrich.

Charity Affair.

Much interest is being shown by the society folks of Hollywood in the charity card party which is to be given Thursday evening, March 27, under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Children's Hospital. The affair is to be given for the benefit of the new hospital, which is being erected at the corner of Sunset boulevard and Vermont avenue.

Auction, bridge whist and five hundred will be the games for the evening. Already several tables have been made up for private parties. Mrs. Alexander B. Barret and Mrs. R. G. Brush have charge of the invitations. Tickets will be sold for 75 cents apiece, this amount to include refreshments.

Family Dinner.

Mrs. R. P. McJohnston of "Virginia Terrace," Franklin avenue, entertained with a family dinner last Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Richmond and daughter, Miss Helen Richmond of Seattle. A profusion of acacia blossoms was used about the rooms. Places were arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Barret, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. McJohnston, Mrs. Fannie Williams, Miss Richmond, Thomas Barret and Robert Jardine.

Santa Barbara Gossip.

Though it is the heart of the lenten season it is hardly noticeable in Montecito and Santa Barbara society circles, there being an unusual number of teas, dinners and other smart functions on the social calendar for nearly every day.

Mrs. Gardnier Hammond, formerly of Pasadena, now living in one of the pretty Montecito homes, gave a delightful dinner Wednesday evening to a large party of friends in the Santa Barbara Country Clubhouse. The decorations were exquisite, pink roses being the predominating flower. The guests were the Misses Hammond, Heffinger, Kinney, Spoor, Wetmore, Bull, Loring, Wheeler, McPike, Ogilvy, Cunnane, Henderson and Messrs. Burnett, Chase, Fernald, Ray, McGagg, Rogers, Seymour, Mann, Calef, Ogilvy, Frink, Edmunds, Cunnane and Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. R. Vail gave a dinner on Monday at their beautiful home on the Spring road in honor of their popular young niece, Miss Henderson of New York City, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Detroit, the latter spending the winter here. There was a large crowd of the social circle and all had a good time, Mr. and Mrs. Vail being ideal entertainers.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cobb entertained at their cosy home in Montecito in honor of Miss Carol Spoor, daughter of John A. Spoor of Chicago. Violets and jonquils were daintily arranged on a table set for twelve.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dupuy and Miss Eleanor Dupuy of Pittsburgh, Lady Darwin of Cambridge, Eng., and Mrs. William Spencer of Erie, Pa., were members of an automobile party that arrived at the Hotel Potter this week. Mr. Dupuy is president of the Crucible Steel Company of Pittsburgh.

The Misses Sue and Laura Brown of Oak Park are entertaining Miss Minnie Mattison of Ventura. A party was given at the Brown home Saturday evening in honor of their guest, the house being prettily decorated for the occasion. Those present were Miss Mattison, Miss Krallman, Miss Ellen Bird, Miss Mabel Lewis, Messrs. Hilton, Horn, James, W. S. Porter, Roger Brown and Richard Thompson.

The wedding next week of Harry B. Gregory of this city and Miss Mary Quivey, a talented actress who has appeared on the Coast a number of times in the past few years, is one of the interesting topics in the social world. Miss Quivey is a sister of Grace Van Studdiford, who first became prominent in theatricals in her appearance with the "Bostonians." The marriage will take place at the home of the bride's parents in North Hampton, Ind., on March 6, following which the couple will take a honeymoon trip to Honolulu, returning to Santa Barbara in April. Mr. Gregory is very popular in local society circles, the members of which rejoice over the fact that his fiancee will add to the musical element of the smart set. Mr. Gregory is the general agent here for the Santa Fe, his father being the assistant general passenger agent of the same road, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Informal Afternoon.

Mrs. M. C. Nason entertained a few friends at her home on Sunset boulevard informally in honor of her sister, Mrs. A. G. Nason of San Francisco, who was her guest for the week. Prizes for bridge went to Mrs. E. F. Bogardus and Miss Smith.

To Return.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Birkel of No. 2366 South Figueroa street are expected home today from San Francisco, where they have been for a fortnight.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirschner, No. 2646 Kenwood avenue, formally announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Phyllis Kirschner, to G. Garfield Barnet, formerly of New York City. They will be at home to their many friends Sunday, March 9, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Whist Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Long, No. 611 West Temple street, entertained Saturday with a handsome dinner party. Enchantress carnations in a Japanese basket, the handle tied with large bows of pink ribbon, embellished the center of the table. Favors were pink satin doll pin cushions suspended from the electrolier overhead in a basket, and place cards were white hearts with pink miniature pictures in the center. Following dinner, whist was enjoyed. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Neice, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gier, Mr. and Mrs. John Eichner and Mr. and Mrs. George Van Auhen.

Ocean Trip.

A party of local persons left for Australia last week, planning to stop over at Honolulu and Samoa. Included were Mr. and Mrs. H. Dumont, Mrs. Sophie Cressaty, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Patterson and son, Mrs. Hoff Kollar, Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wild, P. A. Garvie, Mr. and Mrs. Winkelman, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blacksherer, Mr. and Mrs. H. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Perkins, Miss Chessie Bailey, Dr. D. Stewart, Dr. G. L. Gates, Charles Gilmore, Mrs. E. W. Gilmore, H. J. Lawrence, F. H. Franklin, William Lee, A. J. Ball, John Hinde, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Brown, Mrs. E. F. Moore, Mrs. Eva Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sparrow, Miss Gertrude Ross, Mr. A. L. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. J. Moos.

Evening Affair.

XI Chapter, Zeta Tau Alpha of U.S.C., entertained with an evening party at their sorority lodge, No. West Thirty-sixth street. Red carnations, tiny hearts and cupids were used to decorate and many enjoyable games were played during the evening. Included were Dr. and Mrs. Stowell, Dr. and Mrs. Bogardus, Mr. A. J. Patton, Miss Mason, Miss Calvert, Miss Nell Crabbe, Miss Zesta Batty, Miss Mary Pogue, Mildred Wheeler, Miss Naida Osborn, Miss Beulah Baird, Miss Lillian Blackstrand, Miss Joyce Amis, Miss Underwood, Miss Pauline Fredericks, Miss Bertha Bond, Miss Mary Clark, Miss Helen Williams, Miss Kelliwoda, Miss Sarah Patton, Miss Grace Stevenson, Miss Lois Stribling, Miss Alma Squires, Miss Belle Paxton, Miss Ethelwyne Smith, Miss Summers and Messrs. Eugene Ralph La Porte, Howard J., Frank R. Cornell, Ralph J., Harry McLain, Arthur Chase, Emery Foster, Phil Wharton, Maxwell, Fred Teschke, Harold Loud, Fred Shaver, Albert Fred Draper, H. L. Dennis, Smith, William Miles and Newell.

Plan to Wed.

Mrs Marie Blondeau of El avenue and Sunset boulevard formally announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Louise beth, to Irving Henry Malin, Mr. and Mrs. John Malin of Los road. The date of the wedding not been set, but is expected to place early in the spring.

Interesting Afternoon.

The members of the Daughters of the American Revolution were guests of Mrs. Philo J. Beveridge at her home on Hollywood boulevard Washington's Birthday from 3 to 5 o'clock. Narcissus and ferns used to decorate the different. After an interesting talk on the

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. If, after you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

a Lovely Garden of Beautiful Wash Fabrics

Flowers in bloom bring to mind clothes needs for Summer and our "Aisle of Cottons" is a fascinating place to find them!

The newer weaves are here in profusion. The color combinations originated in the minds of artists.

The qualities are pre-eminently superior and the prices are moderate in the extreme.

Textures range from the filmy, gauzelike fabrics to those of heavier, sturdier weave. Whatever the modes demand in wash goods for Spring, you will find ready for your choosing at the Great White Store.

—Scotch Zephyr Ginghams, 25c—Plain shades and in the season's most attractive patterns. Fadeless colors.

—Linen Pongee, 29c—an exquisite fabric for the ultra smart suit or one-piece dress. All the new shades.

—Para Suitings, 25c—a new hard finished weave in brown, tan, gray, blue and lavender. Very effective.

—40-in. Striped Voiles, 29c—come in all the wanted shades. Nothing more dainty for the Summer costume.

85c White Bordered Voile 50c

42 and 45 inches wide and will cut to best advantage. Have satin stripe borders.

—White Crepes, 18c to $1.25—Bedford, plain, crinkle and striped effects. In demand for dresses and lingerie.

—White Embroidered Swisses and Batistes, 35c to $1.50—In figured and dotted patterns. Very sheer and dainty.

—White Ratine, 39c to $2.00—Plain and fancy. Many imported. The new crepe-ratine combination included.

—White Satin Stripe Voiles, 35c—Sheer, perfectly woven and of exceptionally good quality. You will like this.

Ratine Open Work Flouncing 90c

Beautiful, indeed, and an exceptional value! 45 inches wide. See it.

—Dresden Silk Crepe, 39c—exquisitely rich in its blending of pastel shades. A soft, clinging weave.

—White Pique, 25c—a variety of welts. You will marvel at the low price we have put on this excellent grade.

Ratine de Luxe, Much Favored 85c

40 in. wide, with pronounced nub effect. Pink, blue, tan, lavender, pongee shade, and white.

[illegible] Japanese Crepe, Yard, 29c—Stripes, checks, plaids and plain shades. Remarkably pretty and serviceable. Noted for their sun and tub-proof qualities. Unequaled for one-piece dresses, kimonos, etc. Plain shades are extensively used for draperies.

The New Linen Bourette, Yard, 39c—A decidedly novel tub fabric especially adaptable for the suit or separate skirt. In the natural linen shade—an unmistakable linene weave with a dash of color—blue, lavender or cardinal. Extremely pleasing.

Popular Oriental Ratine, Yd., 39c

A remarkable value in this sought-after fabric! Excellent weight and in all the favored shades, both plain and striped effects. When you note the quality, the price lowness will prove a genuine surprise.

[illegible] Egyptian Tissue, Yard, 15c—A fine, sheer, exquisitely dainty weave that comes in a choice range of stripes, checks and plaids. In all the popular colors, and there's a wide variety to select from. You'll want some of your Summer waists and dresses to be of this material.

—[illegible] Dress Linen, 65c—natural shade. Extra heavy, perfectly woven and will wear and wear and wear!

Black and White Shepherd Checks, 25c—Full yard wide. An exceptionally fine quality that closely resembles the more expensive English fabric. Nothing smarter or in greater demand for present modes.

—Ramie Cloth, 15c—closely resembles the imported Ramie linens. 34-in., in practically all shades.

Pekin Striped Bedford Pique, yd. 25c

—This effect is in especial favor for the new season. A heavy, firmly woven quality of Bedford pique in vari-colored stripes that will make notably smart suits or one-piece dresses.

Heavy All-Linen Suitings 50c

Full yard wide, heavy, wear-resisting quality. Pink, blue or natural shade.

LONDONERS SNUB EX-KING MANUEL

Former Monarch Studying East End Problems.

American Fits up Ball-Room as Skating Rink.

Servian Prince School-Mate of Prince of Wales.

BY LADY MARY MANWARING.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, Mar. 1.—Ex-King Manuel of Portugal is once more honoring London with his presence, but society (with a capital S) is not honoring him with many invitations. So Manuel, who cannot endure playing the part of the modest violet, has turned his attention to the problems of the East End.

He has been sampling the eating houses of the very poor, eating "bubble and squeak" (stewed pig's head) at 6 cents the dish and the Cockney's "two-eyed beefsteak" (red herring) for just 2 cents. "He ate a 'two-eyed beefsteak,'" one account says, "and pronounced it delicious." As dinner invitations are lacking and the French dancer still wears Manuel's pearls (purchased at the cost of his throne) it is possibly well to investigate ways of overcoming the high cost of living.

AMERICAN HOSTESS POPULAR.

One of the American hostesses in London who are always thinking up novel entertainments is Mrs. Peter Kerr Smiley, the wife of a clever young Unionist member of Parliament. Mrs. Peter has just taken possession of a famous London mansion, No. 31 Belgrave square, formerly the town house of a noble Scottish family, and the big ballroom is being fitted up as a skating rink. Skating parties are to be given, or skating dances, rather, as Mrs. Peter has adopted the two-step and old-fashioned polka to the necessities of the roller skate. The younger members of society are enthusiastic over the idea, and invitations are sure to be snapped up eagerly.

Prince Paul, nephew of King Peter of Servia, arrived from Belgrade recently, and has since gone up to Oxford University, where he will be an alumnus of Christ Church. Should he come into contact with the Prince of Wales—which he is pretty sure to do—the two Princes may between them help to solve a difficulty which may make for a return to more cordial relations between this country and Servia. Prince Paul comes to Oxford without any of the stain left by the murders of King Alexander and Queen Draga, for he was but 10 years old at the time, and had never been in Servia in his life. He is the only son of that Prince Arsene Karageorgevitch who has been fighting so gallantly for his country against the Turks, and as, until King Peter's accession, he himself had only been in Servia once in his life, he certainly had no hand in the dastardly deed by which the head of his family secured a return to their former greatness.

THE SERVIAN DYNASTY.

"There is a horrible fascination about the Servian dynasties, and there are few more extraordinary narratives in the history of the royal houses of Europe that the way by which King Peter of Servia reached his blood-stained throne. His Majesty has now reigned nine years, and he may be said to be the representative of a dynasty of assassins. For hundreds of years Servia was a portion of Turkey, with Governors (who were almost Princes) of her own. From these the two rival lines of the Obrenovitch and the Karageorgevitch rose above their compeers, and became in turn ruling Princes of Servia. They were both peasant dynasties, and so they remain to this day, for King Peter of Servia has not a drop of European royal blood in his veins. Hence the ideas of the rival Servian dynasties were oriental in character, and their history through the last few generations has been amazing. "Kara George" means "Black George," and the name was well earned. The first of the Black Georges murdered his own father less than 100 years ago. In 1813 Kara George was driven from Servia by the Turks, and he fled to Austria. And the recent affair of King Alexander and Queen Draga is not yet forgotten. Through the murder of that King and Queen Peter climbed to the throne to war upon Turkey.

TO SELL HISTORIC CASTLE.

An historic building, known as Fort Castle, was put up for sale at Ayr, but there was no bid. The castle formed part of the Church of St. John, built early in the thirteenth century, and has many historical associations. Within its walls the Scottish Parliament met the year after Bannockburn and settled the succession to the Scottish crown. At the end of the fifteenth century James IV used to visit the church and make offerings at the altar, and during the reformation John Knox preached from the pulpit. Oliver Cromwell, during his sojourn in Scotland, used the building as an armory, and public indignation was so loud that the Protector proffered substantial monetary assistance (1000 marks, Scots) towards building a new church. Efforts have been made locally to raise funds for the preservation of the castle, but these have not so far materialized.

WEDDED UNDER GOLD CANOPY.

Son of Baron Edmond Rothschild of Paris Marries Dorothy Pinto of Carlton Gardens.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] The Central Synagogue was filled with a distinguished company this week to witness the wedding of James, the elder son of Baron Edmond Rothschild of Paris, and Dorothy, the only daughter of Eugene Pinto of Carlton Gardens.

The ceremony was solemnized beneath a canopy of gold embroidered white satin festooned with white flowers and supported by gold poles.

MME. POINCARE CHARMS AMERICANS IN PARIS.

Wife of the New President Is Youngest First Lady of France That Country Has Had and Is Always a Welcome Guest at Fetes at the Elysee—Her Beauty Is of the Italian Type and Eyes are Like a Child's.

BY PAUL VILLIERS.

[BY CABLE AND FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE OVERLAND TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 1.—An interesting and delightful woman is Mme. Poincare. She has already made a charming impression, and at the fetes to be given next week at the Elysee, she will have the pleasure of meeting many Americans for the first time.

Mme. Poincare has one among many advantages over her predecessors at the palace of the French President. She is the youngest first lady France has been blessed with. Until quite recently, she lived comparatively in seclusion, receiving only the very intimate and more distinguished friends of her husband—chiefly foreign statesmen and their wives. She is a remarkably handsome woman, of a strong Italian type—a fine figure and most beautiful eyes. Indeed, her eyes are wonderfully childlike in their expression of innocence in repose. She is devoted to domestic pets and has a Siamese cat and diminutive toy terrier, both of which would win all kinds of prizes if they were exhibited at the international shows. Her favorites, however, are her song birds, of which she has quite an aviary.

HOPE TO REDUCE MURDERS.

The increase in the number of murders due to jealousy and passion in France has attracted the attention of the French legislators, and a bill has been drawn up by Dr. Peyroux and other deputies to deal with the question.

It is pointed out that the number of acquittals in cases of this kind is due to the fact that the juries will not convict because they consider that the sentences which by law must be passed are too severe. Dr. Peyroux proposes to allow the term of imprisonment for homicide in such cases to be reduced to five years. It is also proposed to introduce a law permitting the judges to take part in the deliberation of the jury with a view to guiding them in their verdict. During February there were thirteen crimes of this nature in the Department of the Seine alone.

POLICEMAN STOPS CLIMBER.

It was an extraordinary sight that the policeman saw as he made his round in the early hours of the morning beneath the sonorous arcade of the Rue de Rivioli. A gentleman, top-hatted, and well-groomed, was mounting, painfully, but with decision, the rungs of a ladder that some plumber or plasterer had left resting against a pillow which faces No. 226. "Now, what is the meaning of this?" asked the officer, sternly enough, but not unimpressed by the evident opulence of the nocturnal acrobat.

"As you see, officer," was the reply, "I am taking a little exercise. My doctor has recommended climbing for my liver, so I come here every night." "Just a little too thin," thought the skeptical officer, who requested the climber to come along with him and "come quickly."

At the police station there was a change of front. It was love, not hydiene, stated this elderly Romeo, that had set his feet on the rungs of the ladder outside No. 226. For in that twice-blessed house lived the charming actress, Mlle. Eve Lavalliere. Auguste Deschamps was the gentleman's name, and he was a man of the world—"as you can see," he said, throwing open his silk-lined overcoat and displaying a white shirt of impeccable luster.

PRINCE FEARS ASSASSINATION.

Czarevitch Limps Around With Aid of Crutch.

Police Frustrate Attack on Austria's Emissary.

Tibet Annexes Chinese Province of Kam.

BY GEORGE FRAZER.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] The little heir to the throne of Russia is now able to limp around on a crutch. He is to be taken to the South of Europe or to Egypt next week attended by Prof. Enderlen, the Berlin specialist who was called to Tsarskoe Selo in the hope that he might be able to operate and bring about a partial cure at least.

Prof. Enderlen operated upon a Russian actress, Mme. Anastasia Vielseva, whose husband is Col. Biskupski of the Don Cossacks. Transfusion of blood from the veins of the husband to the leg of the singer "saved her life, undoubtedly," an official report states.

Gen. Dimbladge, Governor of Yalta, who recently saw the Prince and talked with him for about an hour, says his leg is badly bent above the knee and he seemed weak and very fearful of further attack on the part of nihilists. "I was awfully bad when at Spala," said the little son of the Czar to the general, but I think I am much better now. I do wish I were not a Prince, or, at least, in some country where people are not so very cruel." Have I done them any harm? he asked, wistfully.

M. De Witte has presented the Prince with a handsome new motor car, but he is afraid to ride in it, lest he be recognized and destroyed by bomb or dynamite.

POLICE FRUSTRATE COUP.

By the merest stroke of good luck the Russian police succeeded in frustrating an intended attempt upon the life of Prince Gottfried von Hohenlohe, the bearer of the autograph letter from the Austrian Emperor to the Czar. The police were informed the evening before the arrival of the Prince in St. Petersburg, that a meeting of the National Association of the Russian people had taken place, at which it was resolved to assault the Prince, as the meeting declared that under no circumstances would it accord with Russian interests to come to an understanding with Austria-Hungary.

At the close of the meeting, a committee with the title, "The Sharp Hundred," was constituted to deliberate on the manner of attack. At this moment, the police entered and arrested all present. On the evening of the arrival of the Prince, the station was occupied by the secret police and gendarmerie, and entry to the platform was only allowed to members of the Austro-Hungarian Embassy. For the personal security of the Prince, fifty secret police have been placed on duty, who remain unceasingly in his neighborhood.

TIBET ANNEXES PROVINCE.

M. Djordjieff, the special envoy of the Dalai Lama in Tibet, has arrived in St. Petersburg on a special mission similar to, if not absolutely identical, with that of the Mongolian embassy, which is still here seeking protection against China. In fact, Tibet and the new independent government of the Mongols at Urga are united by treaty obligations entailing mutual support in religion, trade and finance and also in arms whenever either of them has enough troops to talk about in this connection.

Russia is lending several millions to Urga and Tibet expects analogous help. Between Urga and Lhasa there is to be free trade and general banking operations.

M. Djordjieff was formerly a Russian subject, well known as an emissary from the Dalai Lama to these parts before England intervened in Tibetan affairs. He has recently had time to ventilate his views in the St. Petersburg press. His journey from Lhasa began in October. He was nearly four months on a camel's back before striking the Siberian railway, the worst part of the road having been the 2000 miles between Lhasa and Urga.

The object of the visit, he says, is to discuss certain questions affecting both Tibet and Mongolia. According to M. Djordjieff's account, the Chinese have plundered and ruined the people of Tibet and half-burnt the town of Lhasa. While the Chinese troops were ravaging the country for six months last year, the English only looked on and gave no help. The entire province of Kam, which was formerly Chinese territory, with 4,000,000 of Chinese, is now united with Tibet, the Chinese inhabitants having willingly become Tibetan subjects. M. Djordjieff brought several important documents from the Dalai Lama.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BURLINGTON (N. C.) March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Baroness von Radeck has returned to the United States to attend the funeral of her mother at the family home in Burlington.

She will remain here for a short time before returning to Europe. Her husband did not accompany her.

Some question was raised by New York society papers about the correctness of the Baron's title at the time he married the beautiful young widow. He has visited New York and was introduced to society by Tom Beatty, who was at one time the social secretary of Senator Brice.

MILITANTS IN ENGLAND FACE LONG TERMS.

Mrs. Pankhurst's Associates Committed for Trial Under Act Which Makes It Felony to Set Fire to Buildings Devoted to the Public Use.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 1.—Militant suffragettes connected with the burning of buildings in public parks are liable to "penal servitude for life." This was the announcement of Travers Humphreys, public prosecutor, in asking the magistrate at the Kew Police Court to commit for trial Miss Lillian Lenton and Miss Joyce Locke. The two were arrested February 20 for setting fire to a pavilion in the Kew botanical gardens.

"I make my charge," said Mr. Humphreys, "under the malicious damage act which makes it a felony punishable by penal servitude for life for any person to fire a building belonging to the king or devoted to public use."

MISS LENTON RELEASED.

At the hearing only Miss Locke appeared, Miss Lenton having been released owing to ill-health, after carrying out a hunger strike. Mr. Humphreys said the prison physicians reported that she would have died unless released.

The magistrate protested that the procedure was an extraordinary one. Prisoners, he continued, sometimes are released from prison, but not from custody. He immediately issued a warrant for her arrest.

MISS LOCKE FORCIBLY FED.

Miss Locke, who also started a hunger strike while detained, was forcibly fed. She pleaded that she was too ill to conduct her defense, but the cases proceeded and she was committed for trial at the Assizes. Bail was fixed at $5000 on the promises of the accused that she would refrain from any agitation pending her appearance before the jury.

A young woman who was arrested on the all-England tennis grounds at Wimbledon last night, with bags containing inflammable materials in her possession, refused to give any information about herself in Police Court. She was remanded for further investigation. The police testified that they found five cans of paraffine and other combustibles near the grand stand.

AVIATOR LOST IN SKIES.

German Airman Has Narrow Escape From Death In Flight to London.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

ESSEN (Germany) March 1.—Lost in the skies, Josef Suvelack, a well-known German airman, had a narrow escape from death while attempting an adventuresome flight in his monoplane from this city to London. He ascended during a dense low-lying fog. After piercing the fog and reaching a high altitude, his compass got out of order. As he could not see the earth he attempted to steer by the sun, but after an hour's flight, lost his bearings and determined to land. He glided down through the banks of fog and then noticed that he was over the North Sea.

A storm was blowing and spray from the waves was drenching his aeroplane before he could succeed in starting the motor again, and rising away from danger. He turned his machine around and, soon after, the fog cleared, enabling him to make his way to Deventer, Holland, where he landed after a voyage which had lasted 1 hour and 45 minutes.

Semi-official Article Praises Germany's Love of Peace and the Invincibility of the Kaiser's Realm.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

VIENNA, March 1.—[Special Dispatch.] In a semi-official article the Neue Wiener Tageblatt, an organ of the Foreign Office, praises Germany's love of peace. The paper says:

"Germany stood by us at those moments when Austria was the object of most unjust attacks and never let us feel her superiority. She always was our powerful and strong friend upon whom we could depend with certainty.

"Fortunately, Germany's strength is so great that all hostilities against her must shatter. The present perfect tranquility of Germany is not due to any anxiety on her side, she being well aware of her strength. This we know and this adds to our strength."

Premier Admits Existence of Election Fund, But Says Opposition Also Had One While in Power.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

BUDA PEST, March 1.—Answering an interpellation in the Chamber, Premier Von Lukaos said he had never denied the existence of an election fund, but he had never received money from transactions whose proceeds belonged to the State. When the opposition was at the helm of the government he also had had an election fund. Therefore, the present attitude was disgusting hypocrisy. The campaign of calumny had begun because he declined a compromise of the opposition wishing to participate in the formation of a new Cabinet.

The opposition in the Chamber of Deputies whose term of exclusion expired yesterday will not make appearance again until the new election reform bill will come up.

LADY TOWNSEND WRITES CINEMATOGRAPH DRAMA.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 1.—The Marchioness of Townsend has struck out into a new line of enterprise for the peerage. A four-act play that she has written, entitled "A Strong Man's Love," has been accepted and shortly will be produced in London by a large cinematograph company.

Lady Townsend, who is an exceptionally beautiful woman, with masses of wavy auburn hair, was the daughter of a London barrister, and both she and her father figured largely in an inquiry that was brought before the courts shortly after her marriage as to whether her husband was capable of managing his affairs.

Lady Townsend has a certain reputation as a poetess, but is best known for an amusing book of maxims which she published not long ago.

DEMANDS PAY FOR TREASON.

RUSSIAN BARON HOLDS CLAIM AGAINST JAPAN.

Tries to Pass Three Checks Aggregating Seventy Million Dollars, Which He Says Is Price Paid Three of Czar's Officers for Selling Plans of Port Arthur.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 1.—An amazing story is related in a Geneva dispatch to the Excelsior which has to do with the Russian Baron Ygor Tilinsky, now at Zurich. The baron declares that he holds a claim on the Japanese government for $70,000,000. According to him three Russian staff officers of revolutionary tendencies sold the plans of the Pacific fortresses, including Port Arthur, to the Japanese government at the outbreak of the Japanese-Russian war. For political reasons they desired the defeat of Russia.

They received in payment three checks amounting to a little more than $23,000,000 each, payable at Tokio on March 22, 1916.

The officers contracted to remain in the service of the Japanese until the checks were paid.

CHECKS TURNED DOWN.

Baron Tilinsky and a partner named Schwetki went to Zurich in 1912 and endeavored to raise money on the checks through a local financier. Negotiations were opened with banks in London, Amsterdam and Dresden, but they refused to make any advances without seeing the original contract.

In the meantime, according to the story, the Japanese embassy learned of the affair and reported it to Tokio. The Consul at Zurich was instructed to investigate. The Russian government also took up the matter and sent the Russian military attache at Berne to Zurich to make inquiries.

Buenos Ayres Newspaper Declares Argentina Will Keep Its Hands Off Mexican Questions.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BUENOS AYRES, March 1.—El Diario, commenting on reports that there had been an exchange of telegrams between the Chancellors at Buenos Ayres, Santiago, Chile, and Rio de Janeiro and the government at Washington respecting common action in Mexico, strongly opposed all intervention in international questions in any South American country. It declared that Argentina always has defended the autonomy of independent countries.

The paper adds that if the "South American countries embark on such an adventure as would open the door to ulterior expansion by foreign nations it would constitute a danger to the stability of South America."

TAFT PRAISES WILBUR WRIGHT.

CABLES TRIBUTE TO LATE AVIATOR TO HERRICK.

American Ambassador to France Attends Luncheon in Paris and Indorses Plans for Memorial to Be Erected Where He Made an Early Flight.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, March 1.—The memory and attainments of the late Wilbur Wright were honored here Wednesday by a message from President Taft and by speeches delivered by many distinguished Frenchmen. The occasion was a luncheon at which Myron T. Herrick, the American Ambassador, had as his guests the committee of Frenchmen in charge of arrangements for erecting a memorial to the aeroplane inventor on the Plain of Avours near Lemans, where he made some of his public flights.

TAFT'S MESSAGE.

Mr. Herrick read a cable dispatch from Secretary of State Knox which said:

"President Taft desires you to express to the French committee his interest in the undertaking to commemorate the first aeroplane flight made in France by his countryman, the late Wilbur Wright, and to assure those gentlemen that this mark of respect will serve not only as a monument to his achievements and memory, but also to the ever-increasing friendly relations between the United States of America and France."

MAYOR OF LEMANS' MESSAGE.

A message from the Mayor of Lemans said:

"In truth, our city owes this evidence of esteem and recognition to the man who, the first in Europe, flew like a bird over the Plain of Avours. It was thus that Wilbur Wright made the city of Lemans known throughout the world. If centuries hence our city should have disappeared it would still live in the memory of men, for they would say that it was at Lemans that the first man-bird flew from earth."

Menelik, Oft Reported Dead, Is Very Much Alive.

Battleship Renown Is Saved From the Junk Heap.

Dutch Minister to America May Go to London.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, March 1.—After being killed by the African correspondents for the sixth time, the aged Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia has once more come to life. The recent cable forwarding a dispatch from Addis Ildeba, the Abyssinian capital, telling of his passing away and of the succession to the throne of Prince Lidj Yasu, is declared to have been a hoax. The constitutional foe of English imperialism in Africa is now said to be very much alive; so much so that he ordered the native officials who circulated the story to be "burned by degrees and feasted upon his own roasting flesh." Menelik first died in 1877, in the course of a tribal fight with a rival ruler. He again died in October, 1908, and after a number of minor deaths, which were not taken seriously, he died for good in March, 1910—so much so that the semi-official Paris Temps gave him a two-column obituary. In December, 1911, he again died, and once more in February, 1912. Menelik was crowned Negus of Abyssinia in 1889, having previously been King of Shoa. His life was disturbed by many palace intrigues, his wife, the Empress Taitu, proving particularly troublesome as a political factor. There was also much strife over the question of the succession. In 1908 Menelik took to motoring, and he showed great keenness in the new pastime.

SAVED FROM JUNK PILE.

It is understood that the battleship Renown, in which Their Majesties made their trip to India some years ago, is not to be sold out of the service, but will be used as a target ship by a battleship of the home fleet. The Renown, which was recently paid off an dis now in charge of a care and maintenance party, was for several years used as a training ship for stokers at Portsmouth, but she was relieved of that duty about a month ago by the large cruiser Argonaut. She is now at moorings at Portsmouth Harbor. The Renown was completed in 1897, and is thus a comparatively modern ship. She was designed as a vessel of "moderate displacement"—12,350 tons—and cost $2,500,000. She was outclassed almost from the first. The vessel has been out of the first line since Lord Fisher, whose flagship she was in the Nort American and Mediterranean fleets successively, reurned home, and is probably the worst investment as an armored fighting vessel the British nation ever made. Now, while the majestics of earlier construction are still retained in the fleet, she is to serve as a target and be battred to pieces in the cause of naval science.

MAY GO TO LONDON.

It is reported that Dr. Louden, at present Dutch Minister at Washington, will shortly be transferred to the Court of St. James. A strong representation has been made by the Dutch colony in London to the government of the Hague to relieve the present minister and send Dr. Louden here in his place.

BACKWARD BRITONS.

There are yet in England many old country folk so strongly prejudiced against modern ideas of locomotion that they have never yet got aboard a train. A proof of this—in a comparatively small country as England is, dotted with railway depots—a strange fact has just been furnished by Thos. Porter, a horse dealer of Felsted, Essex, hale and hearty at 73 years of age. A few days ago he took his first ride on a train, and thus he tells about it:

"I was born in the village and ever since I can remember anything I have been driving about the roads all over Essex with corn from the farms on which I worked. But until this time I had never been on a railway train. I had to ride a horse into Braintree to the veterinary surgeon's, where I left it. Instead of walking ten miles home to North End Farm, Felsted, I thought I would try a train ride. So I paid for a ticket from Braintree to Felsted. I asked some people in the train whether I could get in, and they all said "Yes." I smoked a pipe before the train started. Then it went off at a pace. I liked it all fairly well, except the bridges we went under. I thought it dangerous pace to run under the bridges, so I closed my eyes each time. I don't know now that train riding is any better than my wagon. But it certainly is faster, and not so safe."

RECALLS STRANGE OLD LAW.

Purchase of Cowdray Park by British Lord Is Subject to Ancient Statute of "Borough English."

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, March 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Weetman Dickinson Pearson (Lord Cowdray) is a business man. He is president of the firm of S. Pearson & Son, Ltd. He is 57 years old and has two sons living.

In 1881 he was married to Annie Cass, a daughter of Sir John Cass. When Lord Cowdray purchased Cowdray Park he bought it subject to a strange old law, which has always governed its succession, no matter who have been its owners. It is a law known as "Borough English," and provides that in the event of the owner of Cowdray Park dies without making any will or settlement the place should not go to the eldest but the youngest son. This law is traced back to ancient times.

Financing Bigger Army.

BERLIN, March 1.—Secretary of the Treasury Kuehn is visiting the Ministers of Finance in Bavaria, Wuertemburg and Baden in order to discuss the best means covering the costs of increasing the army. The costs may amount to 150,000,000 marks a year.

Brains Crowded His Scalp.

[Youth's Companion:] One day, when Prof. Powell was hearing the class in anatomy, he was describing the manner in which the various muscles of the scalp perform their several functions, says ex-Gov. Theodore T. Geer, reminiscent of his school days in "Fifty Years in Oregon." To make the subject clearer, the professor told the members of the class to move their scalps by aid of the muscles without moving the head, and proceeded to lead the way by giving a personal demonstration.

He had a shaggy head of hair, and could turn his scalp almost half-way round his head. The success that attended his maiden effort was so astonishingly complete that it brought forth a roar of laughter, in which the professor heartily joined, although his mouth was where his right eye usually was and his ears were under his chin.

When order was finally restored each member of the class tried it, with varying degrees of success; but Tom Niklin's effort was a hopeless failure, although his superhuman attempts to move his scalp were as laughable as Prof. Powell's grotesque success had been. Finally, after the poor fellow had made all the oblique grimaces the class could endure, the professor said:

"Thomas, what is the matter with your head?"

"I don't know, sir," replied Tom, "unless I am the only one in the room whose head is so full of brains that they crowd his scalp."

KAISER WANTS BIGGER ARMY.

There Will Be Opposition in the Reichstag.

Canal From Rhine to Dutch Frontier Is Favored.

Germany Decides to Protect Birds of Paradise.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, March 1.—The country is still awaiting the publication of the details of the coming armament bill—the third in as many years—but enough already has been learned to make it certain that the government will ask for a sum exceeding $25,000,000.

It is recalled that last year's bill, which brought an increase of some 29,000 men in the peace standing of the army called for about $18,500,000 a year for five years, and the coming bill is expected to add from 45,000 to 50,000 men to the army on a peace footing.

It is believed that the government this year will ask that provision be made to retain the 40,000 or 50,000 able-bodied recruits who are excused yearly from service because there is no place for them in the army. Probably eighteen regiments, which now have but two batalions each, will be filled out by the addition of a third battalion, and it is proposed also to strengthen the cavalry divisions.

What the attitude of the Reichstag will be toward the new demands is not known, but it is certain that there will be some opposition.

"PARSIFAL" FREE TO ALL.

That the movement in Germany to preserve Wagner's "Parsifal" for Bayreuth for all time would not succeed, despite the fact that the Crown Prince headed the signers of the petition and that the Emperor was believed to favor it, had been generally expected and predicted, but the majority against it was much greater than had been looked for. Only five members of the thirty making up the Petition Committee of the Reichstag voted to report favorably.

The strongest arguments against a special law were that comparatively few persons would be able to enjoy the opera each year, and that it could not be protected in foreign countries. The result would be that it could be heard by opera lovers everywhere except in Germany.

The day following the committee's decision, Director Martersteig of Leipsic announced that he would stage "Parsifal" on January 4, 1914, four days after the copyright expires. Otto Lohse will direct the production and the principal roles will be sung by Max Krueger and Frau Ruesche Endort.

PLAN GREAT CANAL.

The decision of the Belgium government to build a great canal from Antwerp to Liege in order to supply that port with Belgium coal in place of the English article, has been seized upon in Germany as a strong argument for building the projected canal from the lower Rhine along the Dutch frontier to the North Sea at Emden.

It is suggested in this connection that the Belgium canal be extended from Liege to the Rhine, thus making a great internal waterway from Antwerp to Emden. At a recent meeting of the Budget Committee of the Prussian Diet the Minister of Public Works and Railways said the government was deeply interested in the Rhine-Emden project, and this remark has given the friends of it renewed hope for its realization. They argue that the new canal must be made spacious enough to accommodate vessels of 6000 tons in order to enable it to compete successfully with the Rhine, which can carry vessels of only 3000 tons.

Of course, the chief argument for building a connection from the Rhine to the Belgium canal at Liege is that it would give much cheaper transportation for German iron and steel to the seaboard. Antwerp is the chief exporting point for German steel, but the long railway haul is a great handicap to the export business.

The famous birds of paradise are henceforth to have in their struggle for existence against the women of the world the protection of the German government. The number of these birds in German New Guinea having been greatly reduced by the plume hunters, the colonial authorities have just decided to quadruple the export duty on their skins from that colony. It is hoped that this will considerably reduce the demand for the feathers of the bird, and make it possible to prevent the species from becoming extinct.

ENGLASD'S MEASURERS.

Are Buried in the Masonry of the House of Commons and Officially Examined Every Twenty Years.

[London Mail:] The speaker, the president of the Board of Trade and the chief commissioner of the office of works will shortly take part in an interesting ceremony at the House of Commons. This is the testing of the standard yard and standard pound in official use with the final and indisputable standards that are buried away in the House of Commons.

In 1852 a hole was solemnly made in the masonry by the side of the staircase leading to the committee-rooms of the House, and in the cavity was immured the standard yard and pound. It is necessary to keep subsidiary standards for frequent testing of other measures, and these are deposited in a building near the House known as the jewel tower.

For fear that heat or cold should cause expansion or contraction of the official yard, the temperature in the room is kept equable by the most delicate mechanism. Should it rise, a lamp is automatically lit as a warning, and even the bodily heat of a person entering the room causes this signal to flash out.

But in spite of these precautions there is a fear that somehow the official measures in use might vary, so every twenty years they are taken with great care to be compared with the stndards in the Hopse. The chief commissioner of the office of works is charged to roll away the stone. Out come the standards, and the president of the Board of Trade compares them. The speaker sees that the stone is duly laid again and the structure of the House suffers no damage.

What is to happen if the standard yards vary by a hair's breadth apparently has not been provided for. 1892.

MYSTERIES OF SARGASSO SEA.

WEIRD EXPERIENCE OF AN ITALIAN VESSEL.

Blown by a Gale Into the Calm Waters Where It Floated for Weeks With Half Wrecked Boats, Trunks of Trees, Seaweed and Water Serpents.

[New York Times:] J. F. Whitney & Co., agents for the Italian bark Herat, have been informed that the bark put in at Bridgetown, Barbados, after one of the strangest and most mysterious passages in marine history. Although she has not traveled far, as the gull flies, she had yet sailed, the child of whimsical circumstance, thousands of miles.

The Herat, a proper 100A1 bark, according to Lloyd's, of 1394 tons net register, left Gulfport, Miss., on July 19, for Buenos Ayres. Her sailing route took her out over the Gulf, through the Yucatan Channel, between Cape Catoche and Cape San Antonio, and across the Caribbean to the southward of the Windward Islands, and so on down the great highway for sailing craft to the mouth of the Platte, some 7000 miles away.

She had always been a fair sailer. On her last previous trip south she had made the passage from New York to Argentina in only seventy-eight days, and there was no reason to believe she would fall behind her record. Capt. Bertolotto was daily looked for at Buenos Ayres; he was expected to make better time, in fact, for Gulfport, Miss., is not as far from the Platte as is New York by several hundred miles.

Her agents were daily looking for her in the mouth of the Platte when they were surprised to receive a cable that after 104 days at sea she had reported at Barbados for a fresh supply of stores, all her provisions having become exhausted and her crew put on short rations.

Where had she been? What had she been doing all this time?

Only Capt. Bertolotto could answer these questions. He has answered them in a log of surpassing interest.

Only once after leaving Gulfport had the Herat been reported. That was in July in the Gulf of Mexico, but the latitude and longitude was not given. Some hundreds of miles out from the lumber port of his departure Capt. Bertolotto, after passing the 100 fathom curve, encountered a westerly blow, which bore him after a long delay, to a but rarely traversed part of the Gulf of Mexico, which is directly to the northward of the Yucatan Channel, between Cuba and Yucatan.

After another terrific blow, which, however, was of short duration, the skipper found himself with fore upper-top's'l razored by the gale into whip-lashes, within the area of a sudden and unexpected calm—a sea within a sea—an astonishing expanse of dead water.

Outside, the waves had been rolling and undulating like the froth on a boiling kettle, but now the lumber-laden vessel was in a floating city of surcease, abounding in driftwood, trunks of trees, overturned and half-wrecked boats, logs from Yucatan, orange trees from Florida, ribs of wrecked ships with clinging barnacles, and, most astounding of all, a derelict schooner, scarcely showing her jibboomless bowsprit above the grassy water, while her heavier stern, submerged, dragged below the after part of the slimy hull, encrusted with shells and green with sea growth The derelict, protruding its snout like a turtle from the lifeless water, had been so long a creature of the currents and stagnant areas in turn that all traces of her name and hailing port were obliterated.

Sea birds hovered around the awesome "backyard" of the gulf, while water serpents sunned themselves upon the low-lying cbigns of ancient wreckage or slipped, splashing gruesomely, into the almost-hidden waters.

The Italian seamen crossed themselves in their trepidation, for never had they beheld sights so weird and awesome. Clark Russell never imagined anything more terrible.

The Herat began a remarkable circling. Weather conditions arose the direct opposite of those that had driven the lumberman into the dead spot—a dead, flat calm. Two branches of the Gulf Stream, flowing about their business in opposite directions, at that season of the year in which the Herat had been traveling, impinged upon the "dead sea" in such a fashion that, even within the vast expanse of the stormy gulf, the waters whirled, sweeping the powerless ship around and around.

The bark was in the little Sargasso Sea, the little-known "Central Sea," but temporary in its semi-yearly existence, but nevertheless a scientific reality. Last August the "Central Sea" existed longer than ordinarily, with accompanying calms whose serenity could not be broken by the adjoining areas of northers with their rapid rise of barometer.

The water in which the ship was now caught was of a greenish, muddy tint, greatly discolored, and was cold. It seemed as though the waters of the Mississippi, while passing across the Gulf, had been collected and held imprisoned in the circular sea by its enforced rotary movement. From it for a score of days, there was no escape for the imprisoned ship. The two opposing branches of the Gulf Stream waltzed the Herat between them night and day. The northwest branch flowed from Yucatan Channel across the Gulf almost to the Delta of the Mississippi, off which it mingled with the main Gulf Stream and in this stronger current flowed to the southwest and so on out through the Straits of Florida to the sea.

Outside, the surrounding surface was tossing in waves, strong breezes fanned the normal waters and sailing conditions were natural, but within the little Sea of Sargasso everything was lifeless save for fowl and reptile and the swirling, circling current. No sail nor trace of smoke from friendly steamer varied the horizon beyond the bounds of the bewitched, somnolent watery oval.

Days had passed into weeks until Sunday had twice come and gone before metereological events so shaped themselves as to liberate the Herat from her singular and horrible circular, aimless voyaging, during which her hands could do naught but tease the lifeless airs above by hauling the mainyards around, constantly pulling on braces, and by the crew whistling, praying and swearing.

During his plight, in which he would have welcomed the worst hurricane that the stormy gulf could produce, it was maddening to study the effect of the waters of the Mississippi upon the natural seas. The river water appeared to act like oil in smoothing down the sea.

In their enforced imprisonment, provisions going, simulating the Flying Dutchman's endless voyage, the crew became almost insane, feeling that something had cursed and doomed them forever to sail round and round.

Fifty sunrises and fifty sunsets had come and gone since they left port, and they should by that time have been off Cape San Roque. And a big hole had been made in her stores.

On the morning of the twenty-first day in the enchanted circle, the weather having remained monotonously fair and hot, there came evidences of a fearful norther, the darkening effects of which and the rippling up of the gulf could be seen beyond the mile stretch between the circling ship and the outer rim of the "dead center."

The storm proved to be of such violence that it broke over the confines of the uncanny "Central Sea," sending along the living derelict with a swifter motion. The effect was like that of an army breaking ranks, for muddy water, debris, wreckage and vegetation began to travel suddenly eastward, making a fearful commotion and an unopposed exit from the in-sea. The Herat, which had begun to accumulate sea growth and barnacles, was caught in the mighty eastward movement, and before the skipper, almost mad from the uncanniness of his position, could get stripped down to fore lower tops'ls and one jib, he was bowling along, free of the whirlpool, toward the inner Florida coast by the combined effort of the norther and the swirling current.

By porting his helm and swinging his yards around, hauling in his fore-braces, he headed to the southward before it was too late. He passed to the windward of the Dr Tortugas, negotiated the Yuca Channel and traversed the Caribb Sea, passing out between the Le Antilles and the Dragon's Mouth. had intended to take the Cape Roque track, but another great nado blew him so far to the nor west and beyond the limit of northeast trades that in disgust returned to Barbados, a port he left during the previous year May 16.

Previously he had consumed twenty-two days in making Gulf thence, whereas now he had 104 days to sail and waste the distance from Gulfport to Barba

Mrs. B. B. Bush of Elevado drive entertained at the Valley Hunt Club last evening with a dinner dance given for her daughter, Miss Beatrice Bush, who is as yet not formally introduced into society, but is a member of the junior society set. Covers were laid for twenty of her young friends and Trask's orchestra furnished music in the ballroom, which was beautifully decorated with potted bay trees and greenery. Daffodils were used on the dinner table, where a yellow and green color scheme was charmingly carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Wetherby gave a prettily-appointed dinner Monday evening at their home on South Madison avenue, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Caldwell of Omaha. Mrs. Caldwell, who is the sister of Mrs. Albert E. Carroll, and Miss Louise Hugus, was formerly Miss Nellie Hugus, and lived in Pasadena during her girlhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Folsom of South Orange Grove avenue are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Murray Bartlett, and her husband, Dr. Bartlett, who is president of the University of the Philippines and lives in Manila. Wednesday evening Mr. Folsom gave an elaborately-appointed stag dinner at the Valley Hunt Club, complimentary to Dr. Bartlett and M. S. Wightman, private secretary to Gov. Gilbert of the Philippines. Covers were also laid for Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Dr. John Willis Baer, Dr. James A. B. Scherer, Dr. Charles Frederick Holder, Rev. Leslie E. Bervard, George W. Stimson and Samuel T. Clover.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunter of Grant street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Hunter, and Fred C. Adams, the marriage to take place this spring. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Burr of North Los Robles avenue announce also the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jessie Grace Burr, and Charles J. Ritzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ritzel of North Marengo avenue.

Mrs. Bruce Lee Dray of St. John avenue was the hostess Tuesday at a prettily-appointed luncheon given at the Rose Tree Tea House. Parma violets and jonquils adorned the table where covers were laid for Mmes. Walter Schuyler Volkmar, John H. Hobbs, Kenneth Merrill Avery, John Avery, Frank H. Gilcrist, William Grant Fitch, Misses Flora Rhees and Mary Manning.

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman of Los Angeles and the well-known author, Miss Zona Gale, were the guests of honor at an elaborate banquet given Thursday evening at Hotel Green by the Washington Heights Club. Mrs. Elihu Morris, president of the club, assisted by Mmes. Louis Mitchell, Willis Eason, Evelyn White, S. D. P. Randolph and I. N. Smith, received the guests, and others assisting were Mmes. A. A. Underwood, M. M. Williams and Bertha Reese.

Mrs. La Fayette Lamb of Hotel Maryland gave a bridge luncheon Wednesday at the hotel when covers were laid for sixteen. The floral decorations were unusually charming, spring flowers being used to carry out a delicate color scheme of pink and white. Those present were Mmes. Artemus Lamb, H. D. Rockefeller, Frank H. Gilcrist, Charles H. Hill, W. J. Barton, Margaret Donney, A. F. Gartz, J. B. Stubbs, Charles Warner, Charles Curtis, C. H. Alden, Russell McCoy, Eastman and Salisbury.

Miss Francis Hogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Hogan, celebrated the twelfth aniversary of her birth at the home of her parents on North El Molino avenue, Wednesday, by giving a prettily-appointed dinner party which was followed by a box party at the theater. The young girls who enjoyed the hospitality were Misses Helen Staats, Helen Rothenberg, Helen Reed, Dorothy Grosse and Dorris Osting.

Mrs. Frank H. Gilcrist and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Merrill Avery, entertained with an auction bridge party at the Pasadena Country Club, Friday afternoon. Tables were provided for forty players and a number of friends came in later for tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ryrie entertained at Annandale Country Club Wednesday with a prettily-appointed luncheon, where covers were laid for fourteen, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. George Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Kuhl, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhl and Miss Leishman.

Among novel social affairs of the week was the dance and swimming party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Huelett C. Merritt on Terrace drive. Dancing was enjoyed by a party of young people in the great New England kitchen and a cafeteria supper was served in the dining-room. The swimming pool was at the disposal of the guests and many took advantage of the opportunity of enjoying a swim. Among those present were Miss Rosalin Merritt, the young hostess; Misses Sally Polk, Agnes Whitaker, Edith Runyan, Eloise Watson, Pearl and Gretchen Herrig, Josephine Lacey, Kathleen Spring, Kathryn and Estelle Johnson, Marguerite Winston, Jean Meade, Kathleen Glasgow, Alice Cline, Messrs. MRS. WALTER R. SEBREE gave an exceedingly smart bridge luncheon at her home, "Resolano," in Oneonta, last Saturday, complimenting Mrs. W. E. Borah of Washington, D. C., wife of Senator Borah of Idaho. Guests were seated for luncheon at small tables on which were handsome lace luncheon cloths, embellished with brass baskets filled with My Maryland roses. Hatchet cards, adorned with a miniature of George Washington, marked covers. Auction bridge was the pleasure of the afternoon, following luncheon, and tables were arranged in the artistic living-room, which was attractive with branches of peach blossoms and pink stock. Scores were kept on cards hand-painted with colonial dames, and prizes fell to Mrs. Vail and Mrs. Rhone. Those invited to meet the complimented guest were Mrs. A. B. Cass, Mrs. Carl McStay, Mrs. Ernest V. Sutton, Mrs. Edward F. Hobert, Mrs. William Tompkins, Mrs. W. F. ONE of the most enjoyable functions of the past week was on Washington's Birthday, when Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Conard entertained at their home with a most delightful tennis party. A "Round Robin tournament" was started in the morning, lunch was served at 1 o'clock, and tennis was resumed during the afternoon, the victors being Miss Edith Blumer and Harold Davenes, who won the largest number of games and who were awarded the prizes, which were tennis racquet presses. A delicious supper later was served at small tables, and in the evening five hundred was played, favors being won by Mrs. Burton Andrews, Miss Fanny Scott and Messrs. Bourke and Davenes. Among those present were Mmes. Burton Andrews, and Bourne, and the Misses Edith

For Gray Hair

It Can Be Darkened Very Cleverly by Using This Simple Formula.

In this age, when one's personal appearance counts for so much, and when both the social and business world puts a ban upon everything that denotes the approach of age, it becomes a matter of duty to those whose hair is turning gray to adopt some rational means of darkening it, thus hiding the traces of Time. An excellent, yet very simple solution of the problem is to procure at the drug store an ounce of bay rum, a quarter-ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound, and at home you can dissolve the Barbo Compound in seven ounces of water, afterward adding the other two ingredients. This makes a remarkably effective mixture for darkening gray hair, and at the same time removing dandruff and other ills of the scalp, besides making the hair soft, glossy and "young lookin." It darkens the beard as well as the hair. It is applied once a week until the hair is darkened, then every two weeks. It does not rub off or color the skin, and is much more satisfactory than the common dyes and stains.—[Advertisement.

Wise Women Will Avoid This Pitfall

Four years ago, our most valuable textile invention, the semi-elastic Lastikops Webbing, was introduced—first in the form of hose supporters, later as part of several Nemo models. It was such a marvelous success that the demand for Nemo Corsets with Lastikops features has become prodigious. Women have learned that some elastic parts are required to make a very long corset comfortable.

Here's the PITFALL: Other manufacturers, having become experts in imitating Nemo ideas, are pursuing their usual tactics by making imitations of Nemo Lastikops Corsets, but; having nothing new or better, they are compelled to use the same old, feeble elastics which were discarded as worthless years ago—the same old elastics which gave you all your hose-supporter trouble.

Lastikops Webbing, and all other Nemo elastic fabrics are used ONLY IN NEMO CORSETS. This is to warn you against throwing your money away on imitations. Insist upon seeing the LASTIKOPS trade-mark on all elastics and in the corsets. That is your only Guarantee of Safety. BE WISE!

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

FOR THE HAIR

There is no surer way to increase one's natural charm and personal appearance than by devoting a reasonable amount of time to the care of the hair.

Hair that is dry, brittle, stringy and uneven is unsightly and manifests the presence of dandruff. Nothing destroys the natural beauty of the hair more surely than dandruff which is now known to be due to a germ.

For the eradication of dandruff and to stop falling hair one should use Newbro's Herpicide regularly and intelligently. This wonderful prophylactic keeps the hair and scalp absolutely clean and healthy. It increases the beauty and luxuriance of the hair as nothing else will. A mass of natural, fluffy, snappy hair, as a frame for the face, adds much to one's attractiveness.

Beautiful women everywhere, people of discriminating tastes with a knowledge of and a desire for the good things of life, use and recommend Newbro's Herpicide. They know that by so doing they are improving their appearance as well as their hair and "need never fear the light." Herpicide not only destroys dandruff and keeps the hair from falling out but stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. The odor is exquisite, the feeling delightful and cooling.

FROM THE PINE WOODS

HYOMEI'S Aromatic Air Is Guaranteed to Relieve Catarrh or Cost Nothing.

HYOMEI is nature's true remedy for catarrh. There is no stomach dosing in using HYOMEI, no more than there is when you go to the mountains or the seashore to get relief from lung troubles.

When using the HYOMEI treatment, the air you breathe is like that on the mountains high above sea level where the pine woods fill the air with aromatic healing that gives health and strength to those suffering from diseases of the respiratory organs. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the healing balsams of HYOMEI reach the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, destroying all catarrhal germs and giving quick relief.

HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) has performed almost miraculous cures of catarrh, often restoring health in chronic cases that had given up all hope of recovery. Its best action is at the start of the disease when the breath is becoming offensive, and when discharges from the nose, droppings in the throat and frequent sneezing, sniffling or spasmodic coughing begin to make life a burden. At the first symptom of catarrhal trouble, such as sniffling and hawking, use HYOMEI and see how quickly you get relief.

The complete outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles, if later needed 50 cents, and is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. Druggists everywhere.—[Advertisement.

On Saturday Mrs. James Allen entertained in Los Angeles with a very prettily-appointed luncheon at the Hotel Alexandria, and a box party at the Morosco Theater, where they enjoyed seeing Nat. THE marriage of Miss Blanche S. Charlesworth to Charles A. Russell of Los Angeles was celebrated Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Rev. and Mrs. M. Mitchell on Broadway by Rev. Mr. Mitchell. Only the bride's parents and the father of the groom were present. After a short honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Russell will live in Los Angeles.

Mrs. L. Culler gave a birthday dinner Sunday evening at her home on the Esplanade in honor of S. Platner of Auburn, Ind., who with Mrs. Platner and daughter, Miss Joy, has been spending the winter in California. In the center of the table was a small fish pond with various sized papier mache fishes which were fished out by the guests as a reminder of Mr. Platner's favorite pastime while here. Each guest received a favor of a tiny papier mache bullfrog and a large birthday cake with forty-four candles graced one end of the table. Mr. and Mrs. Platner and Miss Platner will leave for their home in Auburn next Wednesday.

Mrs. P. C. Ridgley entertained the Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Broadway.

Miss Helen Courtright of Long Beach and Miss Elizabeth Riddell of Los Angeles were guests of Miss Lois Clegg Sunday.

San Bernardino.

A LARGE company was entertained Wednesday evening by Dr. and Mrs. M. P. Savage at their beautiful home in The Palms, auction bridge being the pastime, while the interior of the home was most handsomely decorated in pink carnations and hyacinths, with greenery as a contrast. The places at the card tables were marked with dainty place cards in the prevailing color tones, pink for the ladies and blue for the gentlemen. The ladies' favor, a crystal tile with silver ornamentation went to Mrs. W. H. Swan, while the gentleman's favor, a silver backed hat brush, went to Dr. E. H. Lyman. Following the whist play, refreshments were served at two large tables. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Savage were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hanf, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Horowitz, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wood, Dr. and Mrs. E. Scott Blair, Mrs. Pauline Powell of Mendota, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Swan, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Conger, Mrs. Harry R. Peacock of Bakersfield, Mrs. Winfield Scott, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Lyman, Mrs. H. M. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Harbison, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hartzell, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Curtis, Miss Helen Ham, Miss Helen Porter, Miss Margaret Savage, William Guthrie, John Ralphs, Jr., and Leander Schlosser.

The musical afternoon at the Woman's Club, Wednesday, under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Stiles brought out a large audience of the women of the city who were not in the least disappointed. The numbers were well arranged, the vocalists being Miss Minnie McQuilken, soprano, and Miss Marjorie Hooper, contralto, with Miss Hervey of Redlands as accompanist. The Temple Orchestra, Leon Eckles, Dan Zimmerman and Miss Eastman, also rendered several selections. The affair served as the debut for Miss McQuilken before a home audience, though her excellent ability as a vocalist has been known for some time.

Mrs. A. M. Ham and Mrs. B. F. Bledsoe were hostesses at an elaborate function in honor of State Treasurer and Mrs. E. D. Roberts at the Elks' Club, Tuesday evening. The elaborate supper was served in the Dutch room, spring blossoms ornamenting the table. Matrimonial whist was the game of the evening, Mrs. I. H. Curtis and Mr. Roberts receiving the favors, while guest favors were also bestowed on Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts returned to Sacramento Wednesday, after a week spent with their home town folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Bartley Shaw, whose marriage occurred last week in Oakland, returned home Sunday morning and were guests Sunday at a happy reunion at the home of the groom's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Mark B. Shaw, where an elaborate dinner was served. They will reside here.

Mrs. Frances Ham Grow entertained the Tuesday Afternoon Club at her Ninth-street home, Mrs. C. A. Lothrop receiving the prize at auction bridge. Mrs. Harry B. Ham, Mrs. Harry Peacock of Bakersfield and Miss Helen Porter were club guests for the afternoon. A dainty luncheon was served after the play, jonquils being used for decoration.

The marriage of Miss Louise Delor and Richard J. Oehl occurred Monday at the home of the bride's parents on Court street, Rev. Mark B. Shaw officiating. The young people are both well known and will make their home in San Bernardino.

ADORNED in the buds and blossoms of early spring the country home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Dedrick presented a dainty appearance on Wednesday last when at high noon they gave in marriage to George Cecil Lawrence of Imperial, their daughter, Mary Amanda. Only relatives were present to witness the celebration of the nuptials and the ceremony was simple, Rev. Nicholson of the Methodist Church reading the lines of the marriage servie for the couple, who were unattended. White crepe meteor and messaline fashioned the wedding frock of the bride. An elaborate dinner followed the shower of felicitations after which the bridal couple left for a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles. Their home is to be in Imperial, where the groom is engaged in business.

Beautifully appointed and ranking among the larger social affairs of the season was the military whist afternoon given Saturday at the spacious M. O. Hert residence and presided over by Mrs. Hert and Mrs. R. L. Riley as hostesses. Decorations in a floral and patriotic motif were used in abundance through the rooms and society in general congregated within the attractive setting. Handsome prizes were awarded those who had "battled" most bravely, and as shadows lengthened a daintily served luncheon was partaken of while the guests still surrounded the card tables.

As an informal but pretty courtesy to her house guest, Miss Margaret Wilcox, a theater party at the Crescent was given Wednesday evening by Miss Gertrude Zempleberg, the guests numbering those of an intimate coterie of which the honoree was a member prior to the departure of her family for Los Angeles. After the performance the company returned to the Zempleberg residence for refreshments and an hour or so of music and fun, those to participate in the pleasant phases of the affair being the Misses Margaret Wilcox, Thelma Riley, Helen Garner, Thelma Isbell, Bertha Hartley, Mildred Bunnell, Lenna King and the hostess.

ONE of the smartest affairs of the spring season was the bridge luncheon at which Mrs. W. A. Bean presided over at the Sunnyside Country Club Tuesday afternoon, in compliment to two attractive visitors in town, Mrs. Henry Avilla of San Francisco, and Mrs. J. D. Davidson of Nashville, Tenn. Particularly effective were the appointments for the luncheon, two large round tables being employed to seat the guests, and the ornamentations were delightfully attractive. A huge mass of yellow bulb flowers in different shades of yellow were prettily combined with lacy ferns. Shaded candles lent a soft light over the scene, and gold-monogramed cards scheduled the names of the luncheon guests. Following the luncheon course, bridge was enjoyed, and handsome prizes were awarded to those holding the highest scores. Among those who had the pleasure of accepting Mrs. Bean's hospitality were Mmes. J. D. Davidson, Henry Avilla, Frank H. Short, DeWitt Gray, B. F. Shepard, Calvin Hill, Charles S. Riege, Harry J. Azusa.

FOREMOST among the events in local society the past week was the brilliant reception given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellswood C. Thomas on Saturday evening, February 22, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. About 200 invitations were issued. On entering, the guests were assisted to the cloakroom and parlor by Messrs. C. Leslie Smith and Matthew James Coffin, who assisted the gentleman, and Mrs. Robert E. Smith and Miss June Clark, who assisted the ladies. On entering the parlor the guests were introduced to the bride and groom and to a few old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, who had come to Azusa to celebrate with them. Among these friends were Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Lucas of Alhambra and Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Mennette of Los Angeles. The house was elaborately decorated with long festoons of asparagus ferns, smilax and delicate sprays of pepper leaves which were suspended from the chandeliers. Mingled with the greenery were red hearts pierced with white arrows and suspended from the chandeliers were clusters of small white bells. The lights were shaded with red, the whole producing a very beautiful effect. The dining-room was decorated with a great number of American flags very attractively arranged. An immense wedding cake was cut and each guest was served with a generous slice. The young ladies who served refreshments were: Misses Mary Cain, Irene Rogers, Margaret Rogers, Ruby Miller, Rachel Atkinson, Muriel Atkinson and Irene Bouldin. A very fine musical programme was given during the evening by the Misses Clark and Ellis and Messrs. Clark, Granville and Bouldin. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Juanita Mennette of Los Angeles and Sylvester Seago. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas received many beautiful pieces of silver.

EASTERN STAR ladies made the occasion of Washington's birthday anniversary one to be remembered by the members through the unique entertainment which was held on that evening. An elaborate dinner was served, after which five hundred was enjoyed. Mrs. Frank Ohaver captured the ladies' prize and Marion Coltrin the prize for gentlemen. The committee was composed of Mrs. J. H. Coolman, Mrs. C. E. Paige, Mrs. W. W. Nash, Mrs. C. D. Griffiths, Mrs. P. L. Nash, Mrs. J. A. Peters, Mrs. A. W. Feist, Mrs. Malcolm McCarthy, the Misses Haley and Victoria Reynolds.

In compliment to Miss Pearl Dancer's fifteenth birthday anniversary a unique party was given this week at her home. Games, music and conversation caused the evening to pass speedily and refreshments were served. Those who responded to the invitations were Misses Helen Schilling, Myrtle and Helen Spear, Myrtle Brote, Ollie Barstow, Nettie Height, Ethel Kendall, Myrtle Delay, Ethel Brouse and Nellie Bogart, and Messrs. Roy Harris, Otto Hollingsworth, Wilbur Spear, Harold Lockbridge, Arthur Bowles and Jo Kimball.

"Aunt Almira's Album" was an entertainment of the old-fashioned kind that was given at the Presbyterian Church on Washington's Birthday evening by the Pastors' Aid Society. The monologue was delivered by Mrs. W. W. Nash and she was assisted in the album by Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Mussey, Miss Carolyn Jennings, Mr. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ohaver, William Warren, Miss Ada Blanchard, Ed Blanchard, Miss Cora McKirahan, the Misses Hale, Miss Myrtle Maxfield, Miss Helen Bainbridge, Miss Gertrude Hulce and William Colver. Mrs. George S. Phillips and Miss Katherine Lipke took part in the musical programme.

ONE OF the most beautifully appointed social functions of the season was the dinner given Tuesday evening complimentary to Mrs. W. C. Kelsey of Chicago. Mmes. Loomis and Robert Laird of Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McGregor were the genial host and gracious hostess. Pretty jonquils with graceful yellow acacias graced the center of the handsomely-laid table. Besides the honored guests, the happy company included Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Utz, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas McHugh, Mmes. Maude Montgomery and T. H. Van Frank.

The artistic bungalow home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas McHugh was the scene of a pretty auction bridge party Thursday evening, given as a farewell courtesy to Mrs. W. C. Kelsey of Chicago. Mrs. Kelsey has been the guest of her parents and brother, Dr. McHugh and Mrs. McHugh, since December and will return East Sunday. The guests were Messrs. and Mmes. H. L. MacRae, J. D. McGregor, Ehrhorn, George Wood, Mmes. Maude Montgomery, Loomis, Robert Laird, T. H. Van Frank, Dr. and Mrs. Owen of San Bernardino, A. B. Paddock.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Rice and son, of Cleveland, O., were honorees at a dinner Tuesday evening, given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rice. At the prettily-laid table were seated Mr. and Mrs. William Burrington and son, Edward, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Messenger, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rice and daughter, Olive, Miss Harriet Rice, and the guests of honor.

MRS. O. A. ALLEN of San Bernardino and Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Rockwood and son Allen of Fresno have been spending the week in Mrs. Allen's cottage on Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Huntington and children motored from Los Angeles last Friday for a week-end stay in their home on Bay Island.

Mrs. W. G. McVicar of Corona and J. A. Wilson of Riverside were guests of Mrs. E. Wilson the early part of the week.

G. A. Hanson of Upland has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Little for several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Wold returned to Pasadena on Monday after spending the week-end at their Bay Island home.

Mrs. S. R. Jumper and Mrs. Horace Little spent the day Thursday in Los Angeles and purchased new books for the Ebell library.

Mrs. Caroline Schnitker arrived from Los Angeles Wednesday for several days' stay in her home on Lindo avenue.

GARDEN SAGE DARKENS GRAY HAIR SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL

Restores Its Luster, Prevents Scalp Itching; Dandruff and Falling Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. While it is a mussy, tedious task it well repays those whose hair is turning gray, faded and streaked.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and luster of your hair and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody chooses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautiful dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. It certainly helps folks look years younger and twice as attractive, says a well-known downtown druggist.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Elizabeth" writes, "Kindly publish again the prescription for stomach disorders and constipation. I have misplaced the letter giving the ingredients."

Answer: Go to your druggist and ask for tablets triopeptine and take according to directions, and you will soon be entirely cured of all stomach trouble and constipation. This is the best treatment known for all kinds of stomach trouble.

"Anna" says: "I am nervous, hysterical and very thin due to overwork. What can I take to regain my vitality?"

Answer: You will gradually regain your original strength by using a tonic of hypophosphites comp. 1 oz.; tincture cadomene comp. 1 oz. Mix and take a teaspoonful before meals. This is the best system tonic that I know of.

Mrs. F. R. asks: "I am troubled with a large goitre and am very fleshy, so much so that I am uncomfortable. What do you advise me to do?"

Answer: Five-grain arbolone tablets should be taken regularly. If this is done your goitre and abnormal fat will gradually be reduced. These tablets are sold in sealed tubes, with full directions for home use.

"Edna T." writes: "I wish you would recommend a remedy for kidney and liver trouble. I have dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and also twinges of rheumatism."

Answer: I have received many letters from people who have used the following remedy and been greatly benefitted, such as you mention. Get three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets), and take according to directions given. They are sold at any well-stocked drug store and are thoroughly reliable.

"Louise"—Get the following prescription filled and give 10 to 15 drops in water before meals to cure your little boy of bedwetting: Comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; tincture rhuseromatic, 1 dram; and tincture cubebs, 1 dram. This should be given one hour before meals.

"Helen" writes: "My nostrils and throat are badly affected with catarrh and my breath is offensive. I also suffer a great deal with headache and pain in my eyes. Can anything be done to help me?"

Answer: Antiseptic Vilane powder has been prescribed with great success and the number of letters received daily from the hundreds of grateful people who have been cured of catarrh would indicate its curative value. Get from the druggist a two ounce original package of Vilane powder, mix a level teaspoonful with an ounce of vaseline or lard and apply well up in the nostrils twice a day. Also use the following in connection with the above to thoroughly cleanse the nostrils: Use one-half teaspoonful of the Vilane powder to a pint of warm water, snuff the water through the nostrils several times a day and your catarrh should soon be cured. To prevent a return this should be used occasionally.

"Tom M." writes: "I am only twenty years old, but my hair is falling out very rapidly. My scalp is covered with dandruff. What can I get to cure it?"

Answer: To cure dandruff and stop falling hair use plain yellow minyol. This you can get at any well-stocked drug store in 4 oz. jars, and if used regularly it will cure any scalp disease and prevent premature baldness. Many people have reported a cure by using two or three applications.

"J. W." writes: "I should be the happiest woman in the world if I could find a true remedy to help me gain flesh. I have regular features, but I am so thin that I am homely. Can you give me a prescription?"

Answer: I receive daily so many gratifying letters from users of three grain hypo-nuclane tablets. These little tablets can be bought at any up-to-date drug store in sealed packages. Full directions are given. I advise that you begin taking them at once and continue their use for several months and you will gain flesh. Many people report that a two months' treatment will increase their weight from 15 to 30 pounds. Hypo-Nuclane tablets will also improve your complexion, giving you rosy cheeks and lips and an increased sparkle to the eyes.

"American Girl" writes: "For some years I have been troubled with rheumatism. I have tried almost every 'cure,' but they did not help me."

Answer: The best known prescription for the cure of rheumatism is: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla, 5 ozs. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful at meal time and at bed time, and you will not only be relieved, but cured, if you continue its use for a short time.

"Frank S." writes: "I would like to have the formula for a reliable cough cure as I have a very severe cough which is becoming very annoying."

Answer: The best remedy that I know of for coughs and colds is made by mixing a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence mentho-laxene with a home-made sugar syrup. You will find full directions on the bottle how to make and use. This will make a full pint of the finest and cheapest cough medicine obtainable.

Inexpensive—Sanitary Floor Coverings

Every housekeeper is vitally interested in the great problems of the day—Sanitation and Economy.

The question of floor coverings naturally receives much thought. Cotton and woolen coverings accumulate dust and germs which add to the housewife's burdens.

Cover YOUR floors with CREX, that wonderful product of nature. It is sanitary—cheerful—inexpensive—wears well—is easy to clean and will satisfy.

There are rugs, runners and carpets for every room in the house, as well as the porch.

Best dealers carry a varied assortment. Why not go to-day and look at the artistic designs and beautiful color combinations.

Refuse imitations. Insist on the original and genuine with the name woven (almost invisibly) in the side binding on rounded edge, as shown in illustration. It's your PROTECTION and stands for HIGHEST QUALITY.

Write for "The Story of CREX" and catalogue of numerous patterns in life-like colors.

$10 SPENT AT BRENT'S

insures you the immediate possession of $100 worth of furniture—enough to neatly furnish a home. You pay the remainder in easy installments—and have the benefit of good, up-to-date furnishings all the time you are paying for them. Then, too, you buy at right prices—you save right there. Would $10—or $100—in a savings bank at 4% interest, do as much for you? Think it over.

BRENT'S

Store Open on Saturday Nights

During the past three years we have studiously refrained from keeping our store open on Saturday evenings, in compliance with a verbal agreement made among business houses at that time. Now, however, we find a large number of our competitors back in the old rut; we have, therefore, decided to keep our store open every Saturday evening until 9 o'clock. One-half our force of clerks will be on duty; these clerks will be given one-half day's freedom during the week following their night duty, to avoid hardship on their part. I trust the public will appreciate our position.

Respectfully,
E. J. BRENT, Proprietor BRENT'S Great Credit House.

Classified Liners.

Times Classified Rates: The rate for inserting Want Ads. in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue, 1½c per word each insertion; minimum charge, 15c; except under following classifications, the rate for which is 2c per word daily; 2½c per word Sunday; minimum charge, 30c daily; 35c Sunday: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," "Church Notices, Miscellaneous," "Stocks and Bonds," "Physicians," "Medical," "Detectives," "Sanatoriums," and "Baths and Massage."

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 15 words.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 8 o'clock Saturday night. Other classified "Wants," "To Lets," etc., received over counter or by telephone until 11 p.m. Saturday. Ads. received after closing hours for each division will be inserted under heading, "Too Late to Classify," rate 1½ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 90,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times," Main 8200, Home 10391, any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept 'phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

ONE-TIME NOTICES—

(This classification is especially intended to cover announcements wherein the ELEMENT OF TIMELINESS is an essential feature, such as urgent notices of all kinds, assessment, dividend and company-meeting notices, fraternal society notices (funeral notices excepted,) special bargain offers, with notices calling attention to advertisements in some other part of the paper, and all events to occur on any certain early date named. No standing advertisements accepted for this classification.)

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,

NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.

STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY. A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 29 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in all affairs of life. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, talents, environments, about children, relatives, when and where to travel, what to seek or avoid, when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES of these events for the FUTURE.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Schuman-Heink, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Senator Smoot, Baron Rothschild, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Sembrich, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hopper, Maxine Elliott, Ethel Barrymore, etc.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED work must not be classed with other readers. Therefore do not waste your money on the idiotic advice and warning of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychics—those doing dishonest work.

PROF. ALTHOUSE gives expert PALM readings with each astrological reading.

DR. J. A. LARSEN writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory thing I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and reliable of any reader in the United States."

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting or HOROSCOPES and in HAND reading has brought him a LARGE AND SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention given. STRICT PRIVACY. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE solicited.

Daily and evenings; Sunday, 10 to 2.
STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.

PERSONAL—

MRS. MASSON,

the noted palmist of London, Eng., may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. (over Owl Drug Store) by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigation along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED, WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions, and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

FIRST-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

HENLEY.
HENLEY.

LOS ANGELES, NOTED SUCCESSFUL SEER.

HIS ADVICE HELPED TO MAKE LOS ANGELES WHAT IT IS TODAY.

THE OLDEST PSYCHIC IN THE CITY, TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

317 W. THIRD, NEAR HILL.

Before you go into anything of importance or undertake anything serious—in business or love, or marriage, or before you make any change—you should consult the master mind of psychic.

DON'T FORGET.

If you contemplate consulting a psychic, several things should be taken into consideration—ABILITY, the HONESTY of methods, the FAIRNESS of dealings, the HIGHER degree of work, the ACCURACY of each prediction, the COMMON SENSE used with it, the INTEREST taken in each case, the RESPECT shown to each caller, the fact of SECRECY in consultation, the FEE charged for services.

LARGE PATRONAGE.
A satisfied patron is his best advertisement.

DON'T GET EXCITED BEFORE READING THIS!

Your REAL reason for buying a second-hand car is that you want the same grade of car that your Associates are using, but you don't feel like spending the money for a new one. You DON'T want a cheap, low-grade car, or you wouldn't be studying the Second-Hand Column. Your idea is to get the best looking car for your money. Therein lies the weakness of the average purchaser; usually aided and abetted by the women folks of his family who naturally consider only the outward appearance of a car. Most of you seem to have the idea that if you can only find the RIGHT PLACE, you can get considerably more car that you pay for. Generally speaking, THIS NEVER HAPPENS, and your common sense will tell you so if you don't get excited. Second-hand brokers say they are keen to get hold of a buyer who is looking for "something for nothing," as they always have a few lemons on hand for this class of trade and feel no compunction over "slipping the hooks into them," figured on the basis, I suppose, of "Dog eat Dog." The market is full of cars listed at from $200 to $500 less than they are APPARENTLY worth, accompanied by all kinds of reasons for selling, ranging from the recent "Cold Snap" to the "High Cost of Living." In nine cases out of ten, however, the REAL reason is that the owner is confronted with the prospect of an expensive overhauling job, knowing that his car is about "all in," and would rather put a few hundred dollars more into the deal and get a new car. Now right here is where WE come in. We know the car's REAL value. It's our business to know it. If we take it in trade, it is for a low enough price so that we can afford to rebuild it properly before selling it again. If we don't get the car at our valuation, WE DON'T MAKE THE DEAL. That's clear enough, isn't it? When we rebuild the car, we REVERSE the usual operation in that we make it as good—or better—than it looks. Sounds rather philanthropic, don't it? But it isn't. It's good business policy, that's all. We are responsible to any man to whom we sell a car and gladly assume the responsibility for several reasons, it being only necessary to give you two of them to illustrate our point: First, because we would HAVE to stand back of any car we sold whether we wanted to or not. Second, because our trade on NEW APPERSON JACKRABBIT CARS must necessarily depend largely upon our obtaining the confidence of SECOND-HAND BUYERS, so as to enable us to find a ready market for old cars taken in on new ones. We could sell 300 NEW APPERSON CARS in the next sixty days if we could market second-hand cars as fast as they are offered to us in trade. Our Rebuilt Cars are all MECHANICALLY PERFECT. We GUARANTEE them all to be EXACTLY AS REPRESENTED at time of sale. That's as far as we can go. You can SEE the rest of the proposition when we look at the car. We always have a few on hand. Let's get acquainted.

We also have a Mercer and Durocar, both of which have been put in PERFECT MECHANICAL CONDITION in our own shops.

CADILLAC MOTOR CARS,
12TH AND MAIN.

FOR SALE—DON'T BE MISLED BY SO-called puncture-proof protectors, we have the only puncture-proof inner casing that is sold, guaranteed 100 per cent. puncture-proof, equally blowout-proof, and gives you an additional mileage out of your tire to more than pay for the inner casing, lasts indefinitely with proper inflation. We have them now in use over 3½ years the same set, and the user would not take $500 for them if he could not purchase a new set, you change them from one tire to another. Come and we will give you his name. The puncture-proof inner casing stands for economy, increased mileage 100 per cent., blowout-proof 100 per cent., and makes motoring a pleasure, you can travel not hundreds of miles, but thousands of miles without ever changing a tire, just keep your tire well pumped up to something near standard pressure, a duty you owe your tire under all circumstances. 22,256 miles from one single tire. How is that for service? Sold only by the NON-PUNCTURE INNER CASING CO., 1342 South Main st.

Tragedy.

WOMAN'S AUTO RUNS DOWN AND KILLS BABY.

MARGARET BOETSCH, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boetsch, No. 311 East Forty-ninth place, was almost instantly killed by being knocked down and run over by an auto driven by Miss Frances Loftus, No. 2725 West First street, near the corner of Central avenue and Twelfth street, shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The baby died less than half an hour later in the office of Dr. E. R. Hanlon, No. 1156 South Central avenue, where it was taken in an unconscious condition.

Mrs. Boetsch was attempting to reach a north-bound Central avenue car at the time of the accident. Mother and child were walking hand in hand when Miss Loftus drove slowly up in her new machine. Mrs. Boetsch jumped forward to avoid being struck. Her baby's hand slipped out of hers, leaving Margaret standing directly in front of the machine.

A front fender struck the baby, knocking her to the pavement. Before Miss Loftus could stop her car the front wheel had passed over the little one's body. Bystanders carried the child to D. Hanlon's office, less than half a block distant. He quickly discovered internal injuries which had placed the baby beyond hope of surgical help.

Miss Loftus is a daughter of William M. Loftus, an oriental rug dealer, No. 729 South Broadway. She recently returned from Boston, where she took a course in music. Miss Loftus is a Stanford University graduate, a member of the class of 1911, and a member of the Pi Beta Phi Society.

Miss Loftus became so hysterical following the accident she was unable to give her version of the affair. She almost collapsed at the Central Station, where she went, accompanied by Miss Louise Carter, to make a personal report.

In the machine with Miss Loftus were Miss Carter, Mrs. H. Sharp and Miss Frances Estes, the latter of No. 2946 Dorchester street.

Considerable Snake.

PYTHON CHASES NOBLES A MILE.

BOA CONSTRICTOR SCATTERS ALL AL MALAIKAH.

Seeking to Steal a Kiss from One, His Intentions Are Mistaken and Lodge Men Practicing to Be Regular Spotted Circus Folks Go Right Away from that Place.

It was all right so long as the Shriners held on to the python. When they let go was when trouble began.

Nobles Cal Yarnell, Cy W. Grant, Darrell Condley, Eddie Lingenfelder, Harry Jack, H. S. Turner, Tommy Bridges, Bill Bush and Harry G. Holabird of Al Malaikah Temple were performing with a twenty-five-foot boa constrictor at Venice yesterday, preparatory to their public appearance at the Shrine circus that begins the 10th inst. Yarnell, arrayed in a specially-made bespangled circus suit, essayed to hold the monster's head. The other Shriners were doing the things Yarnell was telling them.

Suddenly the python twisted its head around, opened its mouth and ran its long tongue to within an inch of Yarnell's cheek. Yarnell dropped the reptile and started to run. His assistants, thinking that that was their cue, followed suit. So did the python. So did the other nobles. The huge boa, free for the first time since it [illegible] tore out of the animal barn, dodged a Short Line trolley car and a couple of automobiles, and proceeded at a gallop to the Venice Police Station.

Meantime the regular snake charmer of the Barnes circus and several hands pursued the python. Through the yard, across the railroad and down the thoroughfare which is the Venice midway, squirmed the great snake, straight for the postoffice. A string of people at the general delivery window ran out of the building in a panic. A Venice policeman came running up, revolver in his hand, but just then the circus people arrived and overpowered the python.

The Shriners mentioned, plus Nobles "Snapper" Ingram, LeRoy Edwards, Bernal Dyas, Marion Gray, Jack T. Tehen, Sterling S. Booth, W. W. Copp, Dave Smith, J. S. King, and Harvey Crane, practiced at the circus quarters for four hours yesterday. They rehearsed stunts with elephants, tigers, leopards, panthers, camels, lions, hyenas, nylghaus, llamas, bears, orang-outangs, and other strange beasts, but there were no further accidents.

MISERY LOVES COMPANY CASH.

Lonesome Bandit Holds Up Two Grocery Stores.

Patrons and Proprietors in No Hurry to Move.

White Handkerchiefs Hide a Much-Sought Face.

Two clean white handkerchiefs were soiled by "Misery," the bandit who loves company, in his Saturday-night tour of the small grocery stores in the residential districts. Whenever "Misery" starts to loot a cash register he uses a clean white handkerchief for a mask, covering the lower features of his face.

His first call was at No. 1522 West Tenth street, where David Mellinkoff and his 10-year-old daughter Lilly were serving customers with a Saturday-night rush. About ten patrons of the place were pointing out their selections at the various counters when "Misery" opened the door. In his hand was the customary gun. Over his face was spreading the white handkerchief, releasing itself from the fresh folds with a jerky motion.

Mellinkoff was so busy at the sugar bin that he did not notice the man's arrival, while Lilly was picking out ten bananas that were not too green to suit a woman buyer. "Misery" marched over to Mellinkoff, surprised that man by placing the muzzle of the revolver against the shopkeeper's white apron, and shouted for everyone in the place to raise their hands and stand at attention.

Then he tacked to the cash register, pushing L. C. Blaklee, No. 925 Gratton street, out of the way to clear his path. Blaklee didn't resent the shove but was surprised into words. After "Misery" had taken five or six dollars from the register, Blaklee said, "You're not afraid of company, are you?"

"'Misery' loves company," answered "Misery," and walked out.

About the time it takes to make a quick transfer and a car ride to Forty-sixth street and Vermont avenue, "Misery" appeared at J. Gavagan's grocery. The second handkerchief was shaken from fold's, tied over his mouth, and still tumbling into disguising ness when he walked in upon Ga gan. The proprietor was at with his clerk, J. P. Oberstreet, delivery boy, Abe Gaylor, filling ders.

"Misery" was in a hurry; up to Oberstreet, ordered the to hold up hands and started for cash register. Oberstreet's were covered with molasses, it impracticable for him to them. Gavagan had his hands with a coffee grinder, which he tinued to turn. As no one toward him "Misery" started ward the cash register. Ga kept grinding coffee until the was all ground, and then kept grinding anyway.

"Misery" took $25 from the register drawer. He overlooked five-dollar bill which Gavagan out of the risky register as "Misery" left and put in his for safekeeping. After he through with his duties, "Mi hastened away.

Oberstreet and Gavagan both that "Misery" was very nervous. agan was still turning the handle his empty coffee grinder when agreed on that truth with Oberst And "Misery" ran away leaving soiled handkerchief on the street front.

Both Mellinkoff and his pa and Gavagan and his assistants the same description of the It is that of a man 35 years weighing 150 pounds, 5 feet 6 tall, dressed in gray suit and slouch hat.

"CAESAR" FIRST NIGHT BY AMATEUR PLAYERS

WEALTH, FAME, charm and other attributes pale beside the lure of a strong appetite, according to the comedy of Morris Barrings, "Caesar"—which was staged for the first time in this city by the Amateur Players' Club last night, under the direction of Alfred Allen in the magnificent colonial ballroom of the Capt. William Banning residence at Hoover and Thirty-first street.

So, like the events of today in the whirl of social life, were the happenings of ancient Rome, as portrayed in this comedy of many quips and considerable satire, that the audience of nearly 500, gathered to witness the presentation, was convulsed with merriment. It struck home so truly that it served, also, as the occasion for pertinent remarks about past occasions in local society.

The story of the comedy has to do with an invitation to numerous friends to dine at the home of the Caesars, Julius and his wife, Calpurnia, which characters were faithfully costumed and well-acted by Dr. Thomas J. Orbison and Mrs. William K. Thompson, respectively.

On the same date, Luculius, famous for the sumptuous dinners prepared by his imported chefs, had also planned a dinner. Rare offerings from distant lands, gastronomic treats to tickle the palate and bring to the jaded appetites of even con seurs, were a lure that could overcome, and so, one after the friends of Julius and Cal Caesar sent their regrets, Brutus, last of them all. at this, the Caesars finally their pride and also attended the cullian repast.

Miss Aileen McCarthy and Marie d'Autremont took the court ladies, who were attached cially to the train of Calpurnia. Gladys James, who took the Miss Georgia Off, because of the ter's indisposition, and little Dorothy Lillian Wellborn, were ing girls who entertained the household.

The play was the first afforded for trying the spacious which Capt. Banning built into ballroom. It was illuminated of the effects of a real stage accessories, although not auth ly Roman, were of such an old that only antiquarians could given its proper dating.

Prior to the play, the Quintette, under the direction Adolph, Tandler, rendered a ful suite from a famous German poser. The Amateur Players' chestra played the music attend the play, after which the entire dience remained to dance into small hours.

FACT AND COMMENT

The flooded condition of many portions of the city following the recent heavy rains emphasized anew the need of an adequate system of storm drains covering the whole of Los Angeles. Some districts, already well protected, suffered little, if any, from the record-breaking downpour. In other sections the storm waters, unconfined and without any avenue of escape, rushed over streets and lawns, tearing away large chunks of real estate and dashing tumultuously into cellars. Many citizens were literally marooned in their homes and thousands suffered the inconvenience of being forced to wade, knee-deep, through swirling water to board their cars. Traffic itself was tied up in many quarters for more than a day. There are many persons in Los Angeles, in fact, who do not join any too lustily in the hallelujah chorus of the farmers and horticulturists when it pours as hard as it did a week ago.

Great as is the necessity for a more extensive storm drain system, however, it is a fact worthy of note that many property owners must attribute the ruin of their newly-installed lawns to a failure to make such provision as lay easily within their power to prevent much of the damage. No builder should think of putting in a lawn during the rainy season unless he counts on making the extra expenditure called for by a proper system of roof flushing gutters and downspouts to carry away the water that beats down upon his own house. The water that dashes from the roof of the average low, wide, California bungalow that is not thus equipped, is equivalent to a miniature Niagara and has erosive qualities that are astonishing to the uninitiated. The new lawn, so critically fussed over by the Jap, disappears as if by magic under such a flood and the perfectly level front yard assumes the general topography of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado in almost no time at all. The proper tinning of a house is an important item even in Southern California, and it is poor economy for any builder to overlook it.

What's in a Name?

A writer in the Rochester Post and Express gives Californians something to think about when he editorially deplores the substitution of the commonplace type of names prevalent in American cities for the old-time Spanish names and title of the Golden State. If they are worrying about this too-common California practice back in New York, it is indeed high time California itself was awakening to the fact that the romance associated with its Spanish days is one of its biggest assets. This is most strikingly brought home in the eastern paper's editorial, which is full of friendliness for California and of sound sense. Part of what the Rochester writer says follows:

"A few years ago some ignoramus in the Legislature of California proposed that the beautiful Spanish names, which in the words of Charles Warren Stoddard, 'make a railroad time-table of California read like a litany of the saints', should be Americanized. His one reason for advocating the change was that people could not understand them when they were spoken by the conductors on the trains. As if one could understand the names of the streets in New York City, of the stations anywhere, when called out by conductors.

"A well-chosen name is a sort of description. The Saxons and Romans were adepts at this art. What is Knutsford but the ford of Canute, and Frankfort, but the ford of the Franks? The English drove out the Acadians, but the old French names still cling. The Creole life of old Louisiana is still attested by many a charming place name. One of these days some member of the Louisiana Legislature will propose that they, too, be given up for American substitution.

LEADS BAY CITY.

Los Angeles Again Eclipses San Francisco in Building Activity. Permits Show Gain Over Year Ago.

The report of the Chief Inspector of Buildings for February, showed a decided gain in the number of permits issued in comparison with the corresponding month of 1912, and a loss in point of valuation. From February 1, to February 28, inclusively, 1210 permits were granted, these for buildings the total cost of which will be $1,693,582. The figures for February, 1912, were 1155 permits and $2,152,963 valuation.

Los Angeles again led San Francisco, both in the number of permits issued and in the construction outlay, the totals for the Bay City for February being, 454 buildings and $1,298,450 valuation. Los Angeles will have to roll up an exceptionally good total during March to beat San Francisco, as it is almost certain that the northern city will grant a permit for the construction of a proposed $600,000 addition to the St. Francis Hotel during the coming month.

ERECTING HOUSES.

The Home Seekers' Building Corporation has started work on a number of new buildings, including the following: Five-room bungalow for Etta Bennett on Angelus avenue; five-room bungalow for Martha Beall on East Thirty-third street; Swiss chalet for Josephine Voss at Huntington Park; double flat for Gregor Lohman, Sunset boulevard; two flats for Peter Stone on New England street near Washington street. Plans are under preparation for the following: Sixteen-apartment building for Mr. Kraft on Wright street near West Pico, and three-story brick building for Mrs. Tompkins on Sixth street near Westlake Park.

The Modern Trend.

TENANTS DEMAND BRICK BUILDINGS.

OLD-TIME FRAME APARTMENTS OUT OF DATE.

Structures of Four Stories and Over Replacing Smaller Improvements Owing to the Growth in Land Values—Many Fine Places Now Under Construction.

The growing demand of apartment-house dwellers for greater safety for themselves and their personal possessions and for a higher class of accommodations than were afforded in the old-time frame structures is being increasingly manifested in this city. The typical apartment structure built today is the four-story class "B" brick building, and apartments of the class "A" fireproof type are becoming more and more common.

The fact that most builders improving comparatively close-in sites erect four-story apartment structures is easily explainable. Those tenants who do not demand absolutely fireproof construction are more and more coming to insist that the apartment buildings they inhabit shall at least have brick exterior walls. Four stories is the limit to which the class "C" type of brick building can be built and land in Los Angeles is becoming too valuable to improve with the three-story brick apartment, when the extra story of the same kind of construction is allowed.

The builder who wants to go above four stories must adopt a more expensive kind of construction. If he wishes a five-story structure he must get more steel into the framework of his building and follow the requirements of what is known as the class "B" construction. This type of building is becoming more and more popular with investors and promises soon to be almost as generally adopted as the class "C" type. Class "A" or absolutely fireproof construction must be followed by those who would build apartment-houses of six stories or over. The tendency in Los Angeles is ever toward the more metropolitan types and the frame apartment is doomed.

One of the notable apartments just started in this city is a structure of the class "B" type and five stories in height, which is being erected as an addition to a five-story apartment recently completed at the southeast corner of Second and Flower streets. The Apartment Building Company, of which Julius R. Smith is the manager, is back of the project, and F. J. Bergmeyer is the architect. The improvement will have a frontage of forty-eight feet and will contain eighty-five rooms.

The same architect has just completed plans for a four-story apartment to be erected by the same building company on the west side of Figueroa street between Fourth and Fifth streets. The structure will be 60x153 feet in size and will contain 104 rooms. It will be handsomely faced with pressed brick, with artificial stone trim, and will be modernly appointed throughout.

At Nos. 612 to 614 St. Paul avenue there is now nearing completion an attractive apartment-house of the class "C" type planned by C. C. Rittenhouse and which is the property of F. B. Harbour, a retired merchant from Paducah, Ky. The structure, four stories in height, will contain 120 rooms, divided into fifty-six apartments. It is 55x171 feet in size. The front is faced with glazed brick and the entrance will be in marble and tile. The rotunda is unique in that it ascends through two stories, opening into reception-rooms on both floors. These rooms, together with the lobby and parlors, will be in mahogany. In the basement of the building are to be amusement and billiard rooms and a library. Elevator service from the basement to the roof garden will be provided. The owner will manage the place.

Rittenhouse is now completing plans for an apartment-house of similar size and construction which is to be erected at Nos. 673 to 675 St. Paul avenue for M. E. Blasier, recently of Utica, N. Y. This building will contain 116 rooms in two, three and four-room apartments, and will be finished and appointed in the same high-class manner as the Harbour Apartments. Blasier bought the site from Dr. M. F. Spinks several weeks ago for a reported consideration of $20,000 cash, Charles C. Barnett & Co. acting as agents in the transaction. Blasier will personally manage the property.

MANSION FOR PALISADES.

A notable transfer of the past week in the Santa Monica district was the purchase by Willis H. Booth, vice-president of the Security Savings Bank, of a lot at Palisades. The lot, which is 107x211 feet, is located at the corner of Ocean avenue and Margarita street, and commands a splendid view of the ocean. It will be the site of a beautiful residence. J. J. Davis, vice-president of the Santa Monica Land and Water Company, made the sale. Booth is now in New York and will begin building operations immediately upon his return.

TRADES CLOSE-IN SITE.

East Fourth Street Property Exchanged for Residence Holdings and Cash Balance—Both Investors.

Forty feet frontage at Nos. 227 to 229 East Fourth street, improved with a two-story brick building, was sold during the past week by R. S. Oakley to Joseph Livingston for a reported consideration of $36,000, or at the rate of $900 a front foot. Livingston bought for investment.

The deal was partly of the nature of an exchange, Livingston transferring to Oakley 50x140 feet on the north side of Fifteenth street, 140 feet east of Central avenue, and 76x151 feet at the northeast corner of Twenty-ninth and Orchard streets. The Fifteenth-street site is improved with a good house and was valued at $5500. The second lot is without improvement and went in at $12,500. The balance in the transaction was paid in cash.

BIG TRACT OPENED.

The formal opening of the Hannah rancho at Strathmore, between Lindsay and Porterville, yesterday, marks the beginning of extensive development work in that section. The first buyers in the tract were L. C. Rice, and son, of Tropico, who expect to establish a large olive nursery on their purchase. The W. R. Patterson Realty Company is the selling agent.
